SHRI BAHADUR SINGHJI SINGHI

BY

Acharya Jina Vijaya Muni

On the 7th of July 1944, Babu Shri Bahadur Singhji Singhi left his mortal coils at the comparatively early age of fifty-nine. His loss has been widely felt. His aged mother received this rude shock so ill that she did not long outlive him. His worthy sons have lost an affectionate and noble father, the industrialists and businessmen of the country one of their pioneers, the large number of his employees a benevolent master, scholarship one of its best patrons and the poor people of his native district a most generous donor. To me his loss has been personal. My contact with him was a turning point in my life. Whatever I have been able, during the past fifteen years, to achieve in the field of scholarship is due directly to him. The financial assistance with which he backed up my activities was the least of his contributions. But for his love of scholarship with which he inspired me, this chapter of my life would have been entirely different. To his sacred memory I am penning these few lines. This volume is brought out in his memory.

Babu Shri Bahadur Singhji was born in Azimganj, Murshidabad, in Vikram Samvat 1941, in the ancient family of the Singhis, who were of old the treasurers of the Mughal emperors. The family had passed through many vicissitudes of fortune and in the 17th century it migrated from Rajaputana to Bengal, but thanks to the energy and enterprise of Singhiji's father, Babu Dalchandji Singhi, the family firm became a very flourishing concern.

At an early age Singhji joined the family business and by pushing ahead with father's enterprises, succeeded in making the firm the foremost in the mining industry of Bengal and Central India. Besides he also acquired vast zamindaries and had interests in many industrial and banking concerns. This early preoccupation with business affairs prevented his having a college education. But Singhji was studious and introspective by nature. Unlike many other wealthy men who spend their money and time in such fads as the races, the theatres, and the like, he devoted all his spare time to study and cultural development. He acquired an excellent command over several languages. Art and literature were the subjects of his choice. He was very fond of collecting rare and invaluable specimens of ancient sculpture, paintings, coins, copperplates and inscriptions. His manuscript collection contained a large number of rare works of historical and cultural importance, among which mention must be made of a unique manuscript of the Koran which was handed down from Baber to Aurangzeb and bears the autographs of all of them. It is recorded therein that it was considered by them all as more valuable than the empire. His numismatic collection, especially of Kushan and Gupta coins, is considered the third best in the world. He also had a good and large collection of works of art and historical importance. Singhji was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts (London), a member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal, the Bangiya Sahitya Parishad, the Indian Research Institute and a Founder-Member of the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan. He was also the President of the Jain Swetambara Conference held in Bombay in 1926. Though he had made no special study of law he was well up in the legal matters. On one occasion when he found that his lawyers were not properly representing his case he himself pleaded out the case successfully, much to the surprise of the bench and the bar who took him for an accomplished advocate.

Though a highly religious and leading figure in the Jain community he had an outlook which was far from sectarian. More than three fourths of the six lakhs and over of his donations were for non-Jain causes. More often than not he preferred to give his assistance anonymously and he did not keep a list of his donations even when they were made in his name. To the Chittaranjan Seva Sadan Calcutta, he gave Rs. 10,000/-, when Mahatmaji had been to his place for the collection of funds; to the Hindu Academy, Daulatpur, Rs. 15,000/-, to the Taraqi-Urdu Bangala 5000/-, the Hindi Sahitya Parishad 12,500/- to the Vishud-dhanand Sarasvati Marwari Hospital 10,000/-, to several maternity homes 2,500/-, to the Benares Hindu University 2,500/-, to the Jiaganj High School 5,000/-, to the Jiaganj London Mission Hospital 6,000/-, to the Jain Temples at Calcutta and Murshidabad 11,000/-, to the Jain Dharma Pracharak Sabha Manbhum 5,000/-, to the Jain Bhavan, Calcutta, 15,000/-, to the Jain Pustak Prachar Mandal, Agra, 7,500/-, to the Agra Jain Temple 3,500/-, to the Ambala Jain High School, 2,100/-, for the Prakrit Kosh 2,500/-, and the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan 10,000/-. At the Singhi Park Mela held at his Ballyganj residence in which Viscount Wavell, then Commander-in-Chief and Lord John Herbert, Governor of Bengal and Lady Herbert participated, he donated Rs. 41,000/- for the Red Cross Fund.

The people of the district of Murshidabad, his native place, will ever remain grateful to him for having distributed several thousand maunds of rice at the low price of Rs. 8/- when rice was selling at Rs. 24/- in those terrible years of 1942-52, himself thereby suffering a loss of over three lakhs. In May-June 1944 he again spent Rs. 50,000/- for the distribution of cloth, rice and coins for the people of that place.

My close association with Singhiji began in 1931, when he invited me to occupy the Chair for Jain Studies which he was starting at the Vishvabharati. Due to unfavourable climatic conditions of Shantiniketan I could not continue to work there for more than four years, but during those years was founded the Singhi Jain Series. During the period of ten years of my principalship of Gujarat Puratattva Mandir, Ahmedabad, and even before that I had been collecting materials of historical and philological importance and folk-lore etc. which had been lying hidden in the great Jain Bhandars of Patan, Ahmedabad, Baroda etc. I persuaded Singhiji to start a series which would publish works dealing with the vast materials in my possession, and also other important Jain texts and studies prepared on the most modern scientific lines. On the works of the Series he spent through me more than Rs. 75,000/-. During this long period of over a dozen years he not even once asked me as to how and for what works the amount was spent. Whenever the account was submitted he did not ask for even the least information, but sanctioned it casting merely a formal glance on the accounts sheets. But he showed the most discriminating interest in the matter that was being published and on the material and manner in which they were being brought out. His only desire was to see the publication of as many works as possible during his lifetime. In May 1943 at my instance he gave over the Series to the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan. In September 1943 I had been to Calcutta to negotiate the purchase, for the Bhavan, of a well-equipped library of a retired professor. Singhiji casually asked me what arrangements had been made for meeting the cost. I promptly replied that there was no cause for worry as long as donors like himself were there. He smiled; he had decided. Eventually he persuaded me to go in for the Nahar Collection which was a still more valuable one. He did not live long enough to present this literary treasure to the Bhavan; but his eldest son and my beloved friend, Babu Shri Rajendra Singh has fulfilled his father's wish though he was totally ignorant of it and has got this unique collection for the Bhavan and spent Rs. 50,000/- for the purpose.

By the end of 1943 his health began to decline. In the first week of January, 1944, when I went to him at Calcutta in connection with the work of the Bharatiya Itihasa Samiti I found him extremely unwell. Notwithstanding his ill-health he talked to me for more than a couple of hours on the day of my arrival there. The first thing he said in the course of this lengthy, though very sweet talk, was to give me a mild reproof for undertaking the long and tedious journeys to Calcutta, Benaras and Cawnpore in spite of my ill health. He discussed with absorbing interest the details of the Samiti's proposed History of India, a subject of great interest to him. Our talks then drifted to the subject of the History of Jainism in which connection also he expressed his opinion about the material to be utilised for such a work. At the termination of our talks, which this time lasted for over three hours, I found him much exhausted and drooping in spirits.

On the 7th January his health took a turn for the worse. On 11th January I went to take leave of him, which he, full of emotion, gave with a heavy heart, exclaiming "Who knows whether we shall meet again or not?" I requested him to take heart and remain buoyant. He would be soon restored to normal health. But while I was stepping out of his room, my eyes were full of tears and his last words began to eat into my heart. Ill-luck prevented our second meeting. That lofty and generous soul finally left its mortal habitat at mid-day on 7th July, 1944. May his soul rest in peace !

His sons, Babu Rajendra Singh, Babu Narendra Singh and Babu Virendra Singh are treading in the footsteps of their revered father. During the past year on the Singhi Series alone they have spent over Rs. 20,000/-. I have already mentioned how Babu Rajendra Singh purchased for the Bhavan the valuable Nahar collection. Babu Narendra Singh has also spent Rs. 30,000/- for a foundation of a Jain Bhavan at Calcutta. Babu Rajendra Singh and Babu Narendra Singh have also very generously promised me to continue to meet all the expenses of the Singhi Jain Series and requested me to bring out as many works as possible, at whatever cost so that this unique series founded and cherished by their late lamented father may continue to bring to light the invaluable treasures of Jain literature and culture.

In recognition of his unique assistance the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan has decided to perpetuate Singhiji's memory by naming its Indological library after him. Further, one of its main halls will bear his name. The Bhavan's Jain Department will also be known as the Singhi Jain Shikshapith.

GENERAL EDITOR'S FOREWORD

I am very happy to present to the world of scholars Vol. II of Prof. P. K. Gode's "Studies in Indian Literary History", which is being published as the fifth volume of Shrī Bahādur Singhji Singhī Memorial Series established in the sacred memory of my esteemed friend the late Bābu Shrī Bahādur Singhji Singhī, the noble founder of the Singhi Jain Series.

The present volume is a continuation of Vol. I of Prof. Gode's Studies, which I had the pleasure to keep before the scholars assembled at the session of the All-India Oriental Conference held at Ahmedabad from 30th October to 1st November 1953. In my Foreword to Vol. I of these studies I have duly indicated the reference value of Prof. Gode's articles both on the literary history and the cultural history of India and the necessity of publishing all of them in a book-form with exhaustive Indices of the type published by me in the two volumes of his studies now appearing in the Singhi Jain Series. I feel confident that the Committee of scholars formed in July 1951 for the express purpose of collecting funds for the publication of the remaining volumes of Prof. Gode's Studies will get the necessary financial support from all scholars and learned bodies to enable the Committee to publish these volumes expeditiously under the editorial care of Prof. Gode himself.

In bringing out the two volumes of Prof. Gode's Studies in the Shrī Bahādur Singhji Singhī Memorial Series I feel doubly happy as these volumes not only enrich this Series, which commemorates the name and fame of my noble friend the late Shrī Bahādur Singhji Singhī, but provide a dependable compass to all new explorers in the field of Indian literary history. Prof. Gode's researches in the history and chronology of Sanskrit and Prakrit works have given a direct stimulus to the critical editing of some of these works. While studying the history of an author and his works Prof. Gode lays bare all available manuscript material pertaining to these works. Any scholar, who is interested in the critical editing of unpublished texts, can examine this manuscript material and choose some work or works for critical editing. The history and chronology of the selected text and its author which are required for his Introduction will be found ready made in Prof. Gode's paper on the pertinent author and his works. Apart from this aid to the critical editing of texts rendered by Prof. Gode's papers on literary history every historian of Sanskrit literature will have to recognise their direct service to the cause of the history of Sanskrit literature as observed by the late Dr. A. B. Keith in one of his letters to Prof. Gode. The writing and publication of more than 250 research papers of acknowledged merit in the field of Sanskrit literary history alone speaks volumes for Prof. Gode's firm devotion to Sarasvatī, which has been the main stay of his life and sustained literary activity of more than 37 years. It is the firm conviction of Prof. Gode that no comprehensive history of Sanskrit and Prakrit literature can be written unless the history of every author and his works in this field is proved and recorded. I fully endorse this conviction and wish Prof. Gode long life and plenty of energy to continue his studies in the fields of literary and cultural history of India. The details of the technique of productive research developed by Prof. Gode will be found in his Introduction to Vol. I of his studies. Independence of thought and judgment characterises all the writings of Prof. Gode. In fact it has been the motive force of his life and dynamic literary activity of more than three decades. I strongly hope that the lesson of this exemplary literary activity will not fail to inspire the younger generation of scholars in this country to undertake and execute new plans of research in the fields of study selected by them.

In concluding this brief Foreword I have to convey my best thanks to Prof. Gode for his willingness to allow me to publish in two volumes a major part of his articles on Indian Literary History and in particular for his arduous editing of these volumes during the last four years. I have also to thank heartily my esteemed friends Babu Rajendra Singh Singhi and Babu Narendra Singh Singhi, the two worthy sons of my affectionate friend Babu Bahādur Singhji Singhi for their continued benefaction in promoting the cause of the Singhi Jain Series, in which the two volumes of Prof. Gode's writings are being published. Finally I have to thank Shri S. R. Sardesai, the Manager of the Samarth Bharat Press for the efficient and careful printing of these volumes in spite of all difficulties encountered by him especially at the commencement of the work.

POSTSCRIPT BY THE GENERAL EDITOR

In my foreword to the first volume of Prof. Gode's Studies in Indian Literary History (Shri Bahādur Singhjī Singhī Memorial Series No. 4) the present volume was announced as shortly forthcoming. But due to certain unavoidable difficulties of the press, the original time schedule was disturbed, for which I crave indulgence of the learned admirers and eager subscribers of the Singhī Jain Series.

But to-day looking at the matter from another point of view, I rather feel that the hidden hand of the favourably disposed Destiny must be at work behind that delay in the publication of this fifth volume, and consequently instead of having a sense of regret I am now somewhat happy about it. And here is the reason for such a change in my reaction. It was about five weeks since I had received from Prof. Gode the final proofs of the preliminaries of this second volume for approval, but due to prolonged indisposition I could not attend to them. Three days back as I came to Bombay from my peaceful forest resort at Chanderia, I brought these proofs with me, intending to glance through them and return them as early as possible. Accordingly to-day while I was taking them up, quite casually I happened to throw a glance at the calendar. It was the seventh of July ! And instantly sad memories welled up in my mind. From the very first sentence of the biographical sketch of Shri Bahādur Singhjī Singhī given by me a few pages further, the reader will find that the seventh of July is the day of passing away of that noble friend of mine and a day of mourning and sorrow for me. It was on the seventh of July 1944 that that noble soul's journey through this mortal world ended and he left for that divine abode from where nobody ever returns. And since that day ten years have rolled down — imperceptibly as it were ! To-day is Singhījī's tenth anniversary.

Every time on his anniversary, I am in the habit of praying for the great soul or of putting on record my loving reminiscences of him and in some such way I keep green his sacred memory. To-day over and above offering the usual inner prayer for him, I am getting this quite unexpected opportunity of penning these few lines by way of dedication in this fifth volume that commemorates his name. And hence, as I said at the outset, I feel that the little delay in publishing the present volume has been amply compensated. It looks as if some hidden purpose was working to bring about this welcome coincidence of the appearance of the fifth volume of the memorial series just on the tenth anniversary of Singhiji.

As I have stated elsewhere my original design was to publish such a memorial volume every year, but who can hope to have every one of his designs fulfilled? Man has to cultivate the spirit of resignation. Accordingly also so far as the future continuation of this memorial series is concerned, I cannot hope, expect or presume anything with a semblance of definiteness. For the body that has stood me in good stead continuously for the last twenty-five years in shouldering the General Editorship of the Singhi Jain Series, now feels weary. The journey's end appears nearing. I feel, therefore, little inclination for any fresh undertaking. The work of editing several other texts in the Singhi Jain Series still stands at various stages of completion. To see the successful end of that task before the end of this life would provide the last satisfaction of having fulfilled a long cherished desire.

INTRODUCTION

On the Vijayā-Daśamī day (17th October 1953) the printing of Vol. I of my Studies in Indian Literary History was completed by the Samarth Bharat Press and some copies of it were sent by me to Muni Shri Jinavijayaji at Ahmedabad, where a session of the All-India Oriental Conference was held from 30th October to 1st November 1953. The publication of this volume along with that of other volumes in the Singhi Jain Series was announced at this Session and scholars assembled at Ahmedabad had an occasion to see the completed volume after my labour on it for the last four years. In Muniji's Foreword to this volume he has referred to the printing of Vol. II of my Studies in Literary History. This volume could not be released on the Vijayā-Daśamī day as the printing of the Indices to it was not then completed. This printing has now been finished and I have great pleasure in presenting it to the world of scholars with all its short-comings for which I crave the indulgence of the learned readers.

In the selection of articles reprinted in the present volume, I could not follow the relative chronological order which I have generally followed in the first volume as the offprints of all my papers on Literary History were not available with me. The editors of some of the journals and volumes, in which these articles originally appeared, were not able to supply me any offprints of my articles published by them especially during the period of the world-war. The first volume contains articles on authors and their works from about A. D. 500 to A. D. 1300. The second volume contains articles on authors and their works between c. A.D. 1200 and 1800. This is a broad plan adopted by me for the reprinting of my articles in the two volumes. The exhaustive Indices to these volumes prepared by my friends Dr. A. D. Pusalkar and Prof. N. A. Gore enhance the reference value of these volumes and I record here my most grateful thanks to them for their labour of love spent so ungrudgingly in the preparation of these Indices, a work of considerable merit and importance for research students in the field of Indian literary history. I myself hope to benefit by this labour in my future studies in this field.

The present volume is a continuation of Vol. I of my studies. The two volumes together comprise more than 1000 pages of my research output out of a total of about 3500 pages so far published by me in the form of articles during the last 37 years. In his kind Foreword to Vol. I of my Studies, Muni Shri Jinavijayaji has expressed a hope that the remaining volumes of my studies in Indian Literary and Cultural History excluding the articles in the two volumes kindly published by him in the Singhi Jain Series as an act of personal friendship, will be brought out by my friends and learned bodies in the near future. In this connection I am happy to announce that in July 1951 a Committee was formed in Poona with the express purpose of collecting funds for the publication of my writings in a book-form with Principal J. R. Gharpure, B. A., LL. B., as President, Dr. R. N. Dandekar, M.A., Ph.D., as Treasurer and Professors Dr. A. D. Pusalkar, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D., and N. A. Gore, M.A. as Joint-Secretaries. This Committee has collected some money and about six months ago the work of printing Vol. III of my Studies in Indian Literary History was started in right earnest. The Committee hopes to bring out this volume as early as possible. I cannot adequately express my sense of gratitude to all the members of this Committee for their appreciation of my humble work in the field of Indology coupled with an intense desire to put it in a permanent book-form.

With the publication of the present volume I complete happily my promise to Muni Shri Jinavijayaji about an expeditious editing of the two volumes, which he undertook to publish in the Singhi Jain Series some years ago. This meritorious and brotherly undertaking of Muniji has proved to be the auspicious harbinger of a further undertaking in this line as I have indicated above. But for the self-less and enlightened editorship of Muniji the Singhi Jain Series, in which the two volumes of my studies appear, would not have made its present distinguished progress, which owes so much to the pious liberality of the late Babu Bahadur Singh Singhi, the noble and illustrious founder of this series, who was noted throughout his life for his great love of learning coupled with a broad outlook on life and literature. It is a pleasure to find his two worthy sons BABU RAJENDRA SINGH SINGHI and BABU NARENDRA SINGH SINGHI upholding their revered father's renown and carrying out his pious wishes in promoting the sacred cause of the Singhi Jain Series with their unstinted benefaction and co-operation. I cannot adequately express my sense of gratitude to my esteemed friend MUNI SHRI JINAVIJAYAJI and BABU SHRI RAJENDRA SINGH SINGHI and BABU SHRI NARENDRA SINGH SINGHI for the publication of the two volumes of my studies in the Singhi Jain Series, which by its numerous and varied publications has endeared itself to Indologists all over the world.

In the Introduction to Vol. I of my studies I have indicated clearly the method followed by me in my studies as also their nature and limitations. The fields of study explored by me need many more explorers better equipped with the means of research than myself. I shall feel amply rewarded if my labour of more than 36 years in the fields of Indian literary and cultural history creates in the minds of the younger scholars an intense desire to carry on unbroken lifelong research in these fields. Indology needs at present no dilettante and slipshod research but devoted and sustained work by genuine lovers of research in the fields selected by them. The taper of research temporarily lighted in the Post-graduate classes of our Universities but extinguished with the acquisition of a degree cannot illumine the path of Indology. Prize-winners in our Universities appear and disappear every year. Very few of them follow the academic traditions of reputed scholars of the previous generations or create any traditions by their own work of acknowledged merit. In my own work I have followed the traditions of scholars in our province like Sir R. G. Bhandarkar, Dr. V. S. Sukthankar, Dr. P. V. Kane and others, who in their respective fields of study have done monumental and exemplary work worthy of our reverence and admiration.

In the Introduction to Vol. I of my studies I have thanked all my friends at the B. O. R. Institute and outside, whose goodwill and co-operation have facilitated my studies in diverse ways. It is, therefore, needless to thank all these friends individually in this brief Introduction. I hope, however, to enjoy their goodwill and co-operation in the same manner as hitherto. In conclusion I have to thank Shri S. R. Sardesai and Shri V. V. Patankar of the Samarth Bharat Press for the efficient printing of the present volume and Shri. S. N. Savadi and Shri G. N. Shrigondekar of the B. O. R. Institute for their help in seeing this volume through the press. In particular their unstinted help in the correction of the proofs of the Indices to both the volumes of my studies deserves my special thanks.

The first volume of my studies is dedicated fittingly to my Guru the late Dr. P. D. GUNE and his affectionate friend and my friend and benefactor MUNI SHRI JINAVIJAYAJI. The present volume is dedicated to the loving memory of my parents and sisters to whom I owe my entire being as they carried out my entire school and college education at great sacrifice to themselves.

STUDIES IN INDIAN LITERARY HISTORY
VOL. II

1. Oldest dated Manuscript of Sāyaṇa's Commentary on the Sāmaveda*

While examining the manuscripts in the Limaye collection¹ acquired by the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, in 1938, I found in it a Ms of the Sāmavedārthaprakāśa by the celebrated Sāyaṇācārya. It consists of about 235 folios (size — 11½ in. × 5 in.) and is written on thick country paper, which though old is well preserved. I was particularly interested in this Ms² because of its early date of copying which is recorded on the last folio 235 in the following colophon :—

“ इति श्रीमद्वाजाधिराजपरमेश्वरवैदिकमार्गप्रवर्तकश्रीवीरबुक्कभूपालसाम्राज्यपुरंधरेण
सायणाचार्येण विरचिते माधवीये सामवेदार्थप्रकाशे उत्तरा ग्रंथे एकविंशोऽध्यायः ॥
॥ छ ॥ संवत् १५२० वर्षे चैत्र शु १ ग(गु) रौ लिखितं ॥ शुभं भवत ॥ छ ॥ ”

* Annals (B. O. R. Institute), XX, pp. 145-152.

1. This collection was presented to the Institute by Mr. Shambhuraō Govind Limaye of Aṣṭe (Satara Dist.). It contains about 450 Mss. An ancestor of Mr. Limaye of the name Sakho Anant Limaye, who flourished between A. D. 1800 and 1840 had a passion for collecting Mss. He was in the employ of Mahadevabhat Patvardhan, the son of Parashurambhau Patvardhan, the renowned ancestor of the Raja of Sangli. He appears to have been a Phadaṇṭis or Finance Secretary of Mahadevabhat Patvardhan as he is called in the colophons of some of the Mss in the Limaye collection as “Sakhopant Limay Aṣṭekar Phadaṇṭis.” Vāñcheśvara alias Kuṭṭi Kavi composed his commentary on the Hiraṇyakeśisūtra at the desire of Sakhopant Limaye between A. D. 1816 and 1828 (Vide my article on Kuṭṭi Kavi, Annals Vol. XX, pp. 9-20). It is remarkable that Sakhopant Limaye maintained his interest in Sanskrit learning in tact inspite of the demolition of the Maratha Empire that was then taking place between 1800 and 1840 A. D.

2. This Ms contains Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Uttarārcci of the Sāmaveda (21 chapters). The colophons of the several adhyāyas will be found on folios 13, 24, 34, 50, 63, 75, 89, 99, 112, 126, 134, 147, 158, 165, 172, 182, 188, 196, 210, 228, 235. The date

The above colophon agrees with the colophons in the edition of this work published in the Bibliotheca Indica.¹ The Mss used for this edition are briefly mentioned by the editor in his Sanskrit Introduction to Vol. V of this Edition.² He does not, however, record any dates of the Mss used by him. I have no means of examining the Ms material used for the other editions of this work referred to in the British Museum Catalogue.³ It appears, however, that the Mss of Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Sāmaveda are not numerous. Aufrecht records about 16 Mss in his Catalogus Catalogorum viz. Part 1, p. 709—I.O. 1283, 3004, 3005⁴ Khn. 2, Ben. 16, 17, of this Ms as found recorded in the colophon quoted above would be equivalent to Thursday, 31st March 1463 A.D. (Vide Indian Ephemeris, V, p. 128). The tithi and the week day recorded in the Ms read “शु १ गुरौ” which ought to read “शु ११ गुरौ” as “शु १” would give us Monday 21st March 1463, while “शु ११” gives us Thursday, 31st March 1463. Evidently the writing of “१” for “११” and “गुरौ” for “गुरौ” is due to scribal error.

1. Bib. Ind. New Series Vol. I, 1874 (Calcutta, A. S. B.) ed. by Satyavrata Sāmāśramī (vide p. 936); Vol. II, (1876); Vol. III. (1876), Vol. IV, (1877); Vol. V (1878).

2. Out of the 4 Mss used by Sāmāśramī one belonged to Pandit Rāmaśāstri of Benares, another belonged to Gauḍasvāmī, the guru of the Editor (at Benares) and the remaining two Mss belonged to the Editor himself. No details of these Mss have been recorded by the Editor.

3. Sanskrit, Pālī and Prākṛit Mss (Supplement for 1906-1928) by L. D. Barnett, London, 1928, pp. 1197-1198. These editions may be briefly indicated here:—(1) 1912—Edn. by Rajakumar Veda-tīrtha with notes and Bengali Translation. (2) 1919 ed. by Durgadāsa Lahiri with Beng. Trans. and notes, (3) 1906 — Reprint of Rev. J. Stevenson's Eng. Tran. of the text pub. at London (1842); (4) 1907 — Griffith's Trans. 2 Edn. Benares ; (5) — 1914 Ed. by V. V. De, Jagatpur, Text, Commentary and Beng. Tran. (6) 1917 — Ed. by Surendranatha and Revatikanta, Text, comm. and Beng. Tran. etc.

4. Vide India Office Mss Catalogue, Part I (Vedic Mss), 1887, p. 16 — No. 1283^b is styled as “ modern ” while Nos. 3004 and 3005 are also modern, being “ copied for Bombay Government. ”

Brl. 40, Burnell¹ 11^b, Rice. 62, Peters² 2. 178, W. 1424;³ Part II, p. 283 — Ulwar⁴ 223, 226. Out of the above Mss I have examined about ten as described in Catalogues and find that no dates for them are recorded in their descriptions. The Berlin Ms represented by Aufrecht's entry "W. 1424" is dated Śaka 1772 = A. D. 1850 and hence has no chronological value. The remaining four Mss viz. Khn. 2. Ben. 16. 17, Brl. 40 and Rice 62 are not available to me and hence I am unable to say if any of them bear any dates. Judging, however, by the paucity of the Mss of Sāyana's commentary on the Sāmaveda and also the paucity of early dates for these Mss I am inclined to think that the Ms of the Limaye collection bearing the date Samvat 1520 or A. D. 1463 is the oldest dated Ms of the Sāmavedārthaprakāṣa of Sāyana and as such should be extremely useful to scholars interested in a critical edition of this commentary.⁵

It would now be useful to record the dates of Mss of Sāyana's commentary on the R̥gveda. Fortunately my friend Mr. N. S. Sontakke, the Editor of the Poona Edition⁶ of the R̥gveda has done this work to some extent. He gives us a detailed account of the Mss procured by him for his edition. The following tabular statement will show clearly the chronology of the dated Mss used by Mr. Sontakke :—

1. Vide Burnell's Cata. of Tanjore Mss, Part I, London, 1879, p. 11^b — No date recorded.

2. Report II (1884) by Peterson, p. 178 — No date recorded. This Ms is from the list of Ulwar Mss.

3. Weber's Cata. of Berlin Mss, 1886, p. 16 — Ms No. 1424, dated Śaka 1772 = A. D. 1850.

4. Cata. of Ulwar Mss by Peterson, Bombay 1892, p. 9, No. 223 — 2 copies (No dates recorded). No. 226 (No date recorded, though No. 225, the text of Sāmavedasamhitā, is dated Samvat 1675 = A. D. 1619).

5. Mr. M. M. Patkar of the B. O. R. Institute has prepared a specimen list of variants (Vide Appendix) as found in this Ms after comparing it with the text of Sāyana's commentary on the Sāmaveda as published in the Bibliotheca Indica edition of 1874-78. From these variants collected by him from this Ms for Chap. I, of Uttarārcci — commentary it appears that they materially differ from those in the Biḥ Ind. Edition.

6. R̥gveda with Sāyana's commentary (Vaidika Samśhodhan Mandal, Poona, Vol. I, 1933) Introduction, pp. 1-3.

It would be seen that the earliest dated Ms of Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Ṛgveda bears the date Samvat 1609 = A. D. 1553. These two Mss belong to the B. O. R. Institute (Govt. Mss. Library) and were copied 90 years later than the Ms of Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Sāmaveda in the Limaye collection.

The Oriental Institute Baroda, possesses some dated Mss' of Sāyaṇa's commentaries in addition to those recorded in the above statement. These are as follows :—

In the above statement the Ms of Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Śatapathabrāhmaṇa (No. 10412) is dated A. D. 1522. This copy was written 59 years later than the copy of Sāyaṇa's Sāmavedārthaparakāśa (dated A. D. 1463) in the Limaye collection.

I close this note on the oldest dated Ms of the Sāmavedārthaparakāśa with a request to scholars for reporting to me any Mss of Sāyaṇa's commentary on the Sāmaveda or the Ṛgveda copied earlier than A. D. 1463.

APPENDIX¹

The following specimen list shows the variants of the text of the Sāmavedaparakāśa as found in the Bibliotheca Indica Edition of 1874-78 and the oldest dated Ms of the work in the Limaye collection of the B. O. R. Institute copied in A. D. 1463.

2. Texts sanctioning the Study of Yoga by Women and their Chronology*

Brahmānanda, the author of the commentary Īyotsnā on the Haṭhayogapradīpikā of Svātmārāma yogī gives the following opinion of the sage Mataṅga¹, which supports among other things the study of Yoga by women :—

“ महर्षिमातङ्गः—

‘ अग्निष्टोमादिकान्सर्वान्विहाय द्विजसत्तमः ।
योगाभ्यासरतः शान्तः परं ब्रह्माधिगच्छति ॥
ब्राह्मणक्षत्रियविशां स्त्रीशूद्राणां च पावनम् ।
शान्तये कर्मणामन्यद्योगाज्ञास्ति विमुक्तये ॥ ’

I have traced this quotation given by Brahmānanda in a work called Yogacintāmaṇi composed by the Royal Preceptor or Rājaguru of Gajapati Pratāparudradeva² of Orissa (A. D. 1497-1539) with the following variants :— मतङ्गः for मातङ्गः ; यज्ञान् for सर्वान् ; and शूद्रस्य for शूद्राणां. This quotation appears on folio 3 of a MS of the Yogacintāmaṇi in the Govt. MSS Library at the Bhandarkar Institute, Poona (No. 220 of 1882-83). This fact makes it clear that the Īyotsnā knew the work Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvaramiśra as we find it in a MS form. The following references in the Īyotsnā corroborate our conclusion :—

“ अत्र योगचिन्तामणिकाराः यद्यपि

‘ ब्राह्मणक्षत्रियविशां स्त्रीशूद्राणां च पावनं । शान्तये कर्मणामन्यद्योगाज्ञास्ति विमुक्तये ’ इत्यादि पुराणवाक्येषु प्राणिमात्रस्य योगोऽधिकार उपलभ्यते तथापि मोक्षरूपकं फलं योगविरक्तस्यैव भवति । ” etc.

The above reference is important as it gives the name of the work from which the extract is taken and criticized, besides mentioning the opinion of sage Mataṅga traced by me in a MS of the Yogacintāmaṇi.

“ इति चिन्तामणेर्वाक्यं स्वारस्यं भजते नहि ” (Possibly योगचिन्तामणि is meant in the expression ‘ चिन्तामणेर्वाक्यं ’).

Then again the following verse which I have found on folio 15 of the B. O. R. Institute MS of the Yogacintāmaṇi referred to above is also found in the Īyotsnā on p. 175 of the printed edition without any variants :—

“ मैत्रेयी सुलभा शार्ङ्गी शाङ्गिली च तपस्विनी ।

स्त्रीत्वे प्राप्ता परां सिद्धिमन्यजन्मसमाधितः ॥ ”

The above evidence is sufficient to establish the mutual chronological relation of the Īyotsnā and the Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvara Miśra. Though Īyotsnā is a very late commentary, the antiquity of sage Maṭaṅga’s opinion sanctioning the study of Yoga by women is proved in the first instance owing to its being quoted by the author of the Yogacintāmaṇi 400 years back and secondly owing to the fact of this sage Maṭaṅga being quoted with some respect as an ancient authority on the question.

We have tried to trace the above verses quoted by the Īyotsnā in the MS of the Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvaramiśra because Shri Yogendra has referred to this commentary on the Haṭhayogapradīpikā as one of the authorities supporting the study of Yoga by women. We have shown in an Appendix to this article that this commentary is quite modern. In fact the references to and quotations from the Yogacintāmaṇi and numerous other works show the modern character of the composition of the commentary. It is, however, useful to enable us to understand the Yoga practices current or known in Brahmānanda’s time.

Before we proceed to consider other authorities in support of the study of Yoga by women we must distinguish the work Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvaramiśra from another work of the same name, viz. the Yogacintāmaṇi of Harṣakīrtisūri, the pupil of Candrakīrtisūri. This latter work is purely a treatise on medicine and has nothing to do with Yoga. The Jain Sūri Candrakīrti belonged to the Nāgapura Tapāgaccha and was contemporary of Salem

Shah who was Emperor of Delhi between 1545 and 1553 A. D.¹ Candrakīrti was the author of a commentary on the Sārasvata-prakriyā of Anubhūtiśvarūpācārya. It appears, therefore, that Godāvaramiśra wrote his work Yogacintāmaṇi (on Yoga) between A. D. 1497 and 1539 while Harṣakīrti wrote his work Yogacintāmaṇi (on Medicine) ² say after 1550 A. D. or in the 3rd quarter of the 16th century. It mentions a preparation against phiraṅgaroga or venereal disease (p. 277, verse 346). This reference to phiraṅgaroga corroborates Sir P. C. Ray's statement in his History of Hindu Chemistry (Vol. I, Intro. p. 1) that this 'disease of the Portuguese' was introduced into India about the middle of the 16th century, i.e. about 1550 A. D.

Among the other authorities quoted by Shri Yogendra on the question at issue is the Yogasārasaṃgraha of Vijñānabhikṣu, according to which the path of Yoga is disclosed mainly to the grhastha or householder (vide p. 184 of Yoga Personal Hygiene). According to Winternitz (G. I. L. Vol. III, p. 457) this writer flourished in the 2nd half of the 16th century, i.e. between A. D. 1550 and 1600. Prof. Keith, however, gives a date for this author which is quite late. He states that Vijñānabhikṣu wrote about 1650 A. D.³ It will thus be seen that the difference between the dates of Godāvaramiśra and Vijñānabhikṣu, who wrote the Yogacintāmaṇi and the Yogasārasaṃgraha respectively, varies from about 50 to 150 years respectively. The Īyotsnā of Brahmānanda and the Yogasārasaṃgraha of Vijñānabhikṣu are divided by a difference of about 300 years if we take Winternitz's date of Vijñānabhikṣu to be correct. The chronological order of the three works would, therefore, be as follows:— (1) Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvaramiśra (between 1497 and 1539 A. D.), (2) Yogasārasaṃgraha of Vijñānabhikṣu (between 1550 and 1600 A. D.,) and (3) Īyotsnā of Brahmānanda (between 1850 and 1875 A. D.). The above autho-

"श्रीमत्साहित्यसंलेखभूमिपतिना समानितः सादरं । सूरिः सर्वकलिदिकाकलितधीः श्री-चंद्रकीर्ति प्रभुः ॥"

2. A printed edition of Harṣakīrti's Yoga-Cintāmaṇi published (Ahmedabad) in 1912 with a Gujarati Commentary by Purohit Purna-chandra Sharma is in the possession of Shri Yogendra. It mentions चंद्रकीर्ति in the colophon as also in the following verse:—

"श्रीसर्वज्ञप्रणम्यादौ चंद्रकीर्तिगुहं ततः । योगचिन्तामणिं वक्ष्ये बालानां बोधहेतवे ॥"

3. History of Sanskrit Literature, p. 489.

rities though quite late are sufficient to prove how the reaction against the prejudices of Brahmanism about continence or brahmacharya as the condition precedent for an efficacious study and practice of Yoga was completed gradually.

The Haṭhayogapradīpikā of Svātmārāma Yogī maintains, however, its Brahmanical predilections in favour of brahmacharya. Compare the following passages and contrast them with Vijñāna-bhikṣu's opinion cited above, viz., that the path of Yoga is disclosed only to the gṛhastha or householder :—

“ ब्रह्मचर्यरतस्यैव नित्यं हितमिच्छाशनः ।
मण्डलाद् दृश्यते सिद्धिः कुण्डल्यभ्यासयोगिनः ॥ ”

“ चित्तायत्तं नृणां शुक्रं शुक्रायत्तं च जीवितम् ।
तस्माच्छुक्रं मनश्चैव रक्षणीयं प्रयत्नतः ॥ ”

It appears to us from the foregoing passages in the Haṭha-yogapradīpikā of Svātmārāma Yogī that its author has not shaken off his Brahmanical inclinations characteristic of some of the Smṛtis in the matter of the importance of brahmacharya.

The Jyotsnā quotes very often another authority, viz., a work on Yoga called Yogabīja (vide Appendix). According to this authority Yoga can be practised both by males as well as females.¹ We have not examined the antiquity or chronology of this text but will do so on a later occasion. As regards the passage from the Mahābhārata quoted by Jyotsnā in support of its opinion we may observe that the text of the Great Epic varies in its antiquity in its different portions and hence no definite conclusion about the antiquity of a single passage can be arrived at with any claim to certainty.

Brahmānanda gives us in the following introductory verses the purpose with which the commentary was written by him :—

“ गुरुं नत्वा शिवं साक्षाद्ब्रह्मानन्देन तन्यते ।

हठप्रदीपिकाज्योत्स्ना योगमार्गप्रकाशिका ॥

हृदानीतनानां सुबोधार्थमस्याः

सुविज्ञायगोरक्षसिद्धान्तहार्दम् ।

मया मेरुशास्त्रिप्रमुख्याभियोगात्

स्फुटं कथ्यतेऽस्थान्तगूढोऽपिभावः ॥ ”

It appears from these verses that Brahmānanda was a disciple of one Meruśāstri. We also learn from Aufrecht's Catalogus Catalogorum (Part I, p. 388b) that this मेरुशास्त्रि was alive in 1859, A. D. and that Brahmānanda wrote other works also, viz :—

- (1) त्रिपुरार्चनरहस्य (compare त्रिपुरासारसमुच्चय in the above list);
- (2) आनन्दलहरीटीका भावार्थदीपिका ; (3) शाकानन्दतरंगिणी and (4) षट्-चक्रदीपिका.

It appears that he was a devotee of Siva as he makes an offering of the Jyotsnā commentary to this God in the following verse at the end of the commentary :—

“ सद्यद्योतनकरी तमःस्तोमविनाशिनी ।

ब्रह्मानन्देन ज्योत्स्नेयं शिवाङ्घ्रियुगुलेयिता ॥ २ ॥ ”

Aufrecht puts a work called Hāthapradīpamañjarī against the name of Meruśāstrin in his catalogue (Cat. Cata. part I, p. 467a).

I have identified the reference to Jñāneśvara's commentary on Chapter VI of the Gītā made by Brahmānanda in his Jyotsnā in the following lines :—

P. 73. — “ मूलबन्धे जालंधरबन्धे च कृते नाभेरधोभाग आकर्षणाख्योबन्धः स्वयमेव भवति इति ” — This is a Sanskrit paraphrase of the Ovis in Marathi by Jñāneśvara, viz., 208, 209 and 210 of Chapter VI. Mr. M. P. Oka in his संस्कृत ज्ञानेश्वरी (1929) translates ovi 210 as under ;—

“ स्वाधिष्ठानोपरिप्रान्ते नाभिस्थानतले च यः ।

बन्धो भवति तं पार्थ विदुराकर्षणाभिधम् ॥ २१० ॥ ”

As regards Yogabīja mentioned by Brahmānanda in the Jyotsnā Aufrecht (Cata. Cata. I, 477) records three MSS of the work, viz., (1) Bik. 570 ; (2) Radh. 28 ; (3) ; N. W. 424. The Bikaner Catalogue of MSS on p. 370 describes its MS of Yogabīja as under :— “ No. 1233 — (10 folios). A summary of the rules of conduct to be observed by yogis. It is ascribed to the God Īśvara or Śiva. It may be a part of a Purāṇa. ”

3. Date of Sārasvatapradīpa of Bhaṭṭa Dhaneśvara*

Aufrecht¹ refers to only one MS of a commentary on the Sārasvatapradīpā by Bhaṭṭa Dhaneśvara viz. "Bd. 555." This MS is the same as No. 555 of 1887-91 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. It is dated Samvat 1653 ("संवत् १६५३ वर्षे अश्विनमासे शुक्लपक्षे अष्टम्यां तिथौ रविवारे") which corresponds to 20th September 1596 A. D.² The MS consists of 68 folios, the first 2 folios having been lost previous to its acquisition in 1887.

About this commentator Dr. Belvalkar³ remarks :— "Dhaneśvara — He wrote his commentary with the avowed object of correcting Kshemendra. As a consequence he comes after Kshemendra and before 1595 A. D. when one of the MSS of Dhaneśvara's commentary was copied. He has written as mentioned in the prastāvi of five stanzas at the end of the तद्धित section of the commentary, a ṭīkā on the Mahābhāṣya called Chintāmaṇi, a new grammar for beginners called Prakriyāmaṇi and a commentary on a stotra from the Padmapurāṇa."

Obviously the passage referred to by Dr. Belvalkar containing the names of the works written by Dhaneśvara appears as under on folio 39 of the MS in question :—

“ यश्च व्याकरणं चक्रे धनेश प्रक्रियामणि-

यस्य कौशिकगोत्रे यः शेषनागं च जन्मना ।
गुरुं चक्रेष्ययन तस्थेन कोत्र समो भवेत् ॥ ५ ॥ ”

On folio 15 Dhaneśvara refers to himself in the following manner :—

“ इति श्रीमहाभाष्यकृतशेषनाग' कुलदैवतपंडितधनेश्वर ”

an expression which is analogous to the purport of verse 5 in the above extract. शेषनाग is apparently the name of the author of महाभाष्य commonly ascribed to पतञ्जलि.¹ Dhaneśvara's gotra appears to be कौशिक as stated in verse 5. In the colophon on folio 3 he calls himself by such epithets as “ वैयाकरणगजेन्द्रासिंह ” and “ न्यायशास्त्रपारंगत. ” His proficiency in grammar is sufficiently vouched by the present commentary. As regards his mastery of the न्यायशास्त्र we are sufficiently acquainted with it on folio 31, where he refers to the पञ्चधर्मतावाद of the “ चिंतामणि अनुमानखंड ”, which is obviously a reference to गंगेश's तत्त्वचिंतामणि, assigned to c. 1200 A. D.²

Dhaneśvara refers to the following works and authors in his present commentary :—

1. चिंतामणि अनुमानखंड — fol. 31.
2. पीतांबर — fol. 34, 36, 14, 27, 33. 37.
3. पीतांबरशिष्य — fol. 9.
4. रामचन्द्राचार्यैः — fol. 41, 15, 40, 41, 68 (रामचंद्रमतम्).
5. महाभाष्यकृत — fol. 15.
6. भाष्यकाराः — fol. 14, 51 (भाष्यकार), 53 (श्रीमद्भाष्यकारः) 36.
7. महाभाष्य — fol. 23, 38, 15.
8. भाष्यपातञ्जले — fol. 38.
9. रामकलशव्याकरणे — fol. 8.

13. प्रसादकारैः — fol. 16, 25 (प्रसादकारेण).
14. पदमंजरीकारैः — fol. 16.
15. नरेन्द्राचार्यैः — fol. 27.

1. शेषनाग as the author of प्राकृतव्याकरणसूत्र has been mentioned by Keith. History of Sanskrit Literature, p. 434.

2. Belvalkar : Systems of Sanskrit Grammar, General Index, p. 143 (शेषराज see Patañjali).

3. Keith : History of Sanskrit Literature, p. 484.

16. क्षेनाकैः — fol. 29.
17. पद्माक्षपुराण — fol. 38.
18. काशिकाकारैः — fol. 40, 51 (काशिकार).
19. हरदत्तमिश्रैः — fol. 40.
20. वर्धमानमिश्रैः — fol. 41.
21. धातुपाठ — fol. 41.
22. शाकटायन — fol. 56.

पीतांबर (No. 2 in the above list) has been introduced by such expressions as “अत्र पीतांबरो ब्रूते” (fol. 14), “अत्र पीतांबरः” (fol. 27), “इति पीतांबरः” (foll. 33, 37). Dr. Belvalkar does not mention any grammarian of this name in his Systems of Sanskrit Grammar. The India Office Library Catalogue¹ records, however, two grammatical works by पीतांबरशर्मन् viz. (1) Sārasaṅgraha an elementary grammar based on Kramadīśvara's San̄kṣiptasāra and (2) Chātravyutpatti, a versified abstract of Rāmāyaṇa in nine Sargas exemplifying the verse-section of Sārasaṅgraha. Possibly Dhaneśvara may be referring to either of these two works of Pītāmbara. On folio 34 of the present MS he refers to a disciple of पीतांबर as having copied the present commentary for the author :— “इति पंडितधनंशरविरचिते सारस्वतप्रदीपे क्षेमेन्द्रखंडने पीतांबरशिष्य-लिखिते स्वरांताः पुष्टिगाः संपूर्णाः” If this statement is correct we may presume पीतांबरशिष्य to be a contemporary of Dhaneśvara and in that case we shall have to suppose that पीतांबर was an elder contemporary of Dhaneśvara. But these conclusions need to be corroborated by other independent evidence.

The reference to “रामचंद्राचार्यैः” (No. 4 in the above list) is very important for purposes of fixing the limits for Dhaneśvara's date. From the five references to रामचंद्राचार्य noted by me, I have identified that on folio 41, where Dhaneśvara refers to Rāmacandra-cārīya as under :— “अत एवोक्तं रामचंद्राचार्यैर्भूतानद्यतन परोक्षवृत्तेर्द्धातो-रिद्धिः” This quotation is found on page 34 of Vol. II of the Prakriyākaumudī (Bombay Sanskrit Series Edition, published by the B. O. R. Institute in 1931). Mr. K. P. Trivedi, the editor of this work, assigns Rāmacandra to “the latter half of the 14th Century” i. e. between A. D. 1350 and 1400. The present MS of Dhaneśvara's commentary is dated 1596 A. D. and hence we are able to fix the limits for his date, which are A. D. 1400 and 1596.

1. Descriptive Catalogue, Part II (1889), pp. 229-230—Mss. Nos. 846, 847.

2. Prakriyākaumudī (B. S. Series) Intro. p. xliv.

These limits can be narrowed down still further because Dhaneśvara refers in his work to प्रसादकार in two places (vide No. 13 in the above list). We know that विट्ठल, the grandson of रामचन्द्र, wrote his commentary on the प्रक्रियाकौमुदी called प्रसाद and evidently this commentary is referred to by Dhaneśvara in the two places pointed out above. As the author of the प्रसाद commentary is the grandson of रामचन्द्र we must add at least 50 years to the date of रामचन्द्र to arrive at Viṭṭhala's date, which, therefore, may be fixed at about 1450 A. D. and as Dhaneśvara quotes the प्रसादकार as authority a period of at least 25 years must have intervened between Dhaneśvara and प्रसादकार. We may, therefore, tentatively fix A. D. 1475 as the probable earlier limit for the date of धनेश्वर. Now deducting 50 years from the date of the MS Sārasvatapradīpa viz. A. D. 1596 we may fix A. D. 1475 and 1546 as the probable limits of Dhaneśvara's date or roughly we may say that he flourished in the 1st quarter of the 16th Century. This conclusion will affect the date of Kṣemendraṭippaṇa, which must, therefore, be not later than the middle of the fifteenth century.¹

1. Dr. Belvalkar who was evidently not aware of the reference to प्रसादकार in Dhaneśvara's commentary remarks about Kṣemendra's date :—"Kṣemendra could not have lived later than the first quarter of the 16th Century." (Systems of Sanskrit Grammar, p. 98).

4. Yogacintāmaṇi of Śivānanda Sarasvatī*

(AN ENCYCLOPÆDIC COMPENDIUM OF YOGA TEXTS AND ITS CRITICAL ANALYSIS)

Aufrecht in his *Catalogus Catalogorum*¹ records the following Manuscripts of a work on Yoga called the Yogacintāmaṇi :—

Part I—(1) Hall, p. 12 ; (2) L. 2538 ; (3) Khn, 58 (Commentary by Haridīkṣita) ; (4) B. 4. 2 (5) Ben, 67 ; (6) Bik 568 ; he also states that it is quoted by Sundaradeva (W. p. 196) and that there is a commentary by Bhavānīśahāya on some work of this name (N. W. 436).

Part II—(1) Bhāu Dāji, 66, 114 ; (2) C. U. add. I714 (fragmentary) ; (3) Commentary by Durgādāsa Vācaspati — Stein 132.

This work should be distinguished from other works of the same name on medicine, by Harṣakīrti* (after 1550 A. D.) and by Dhanvantari³ and from another Yogacintāmaṇi on Yoga composed by Godāvaramiśra, who calls himself as the Rājaguru of Gajapati Pratāparudradeva of Orissa (A. D. 1497-1539) and a manuscript of which has been preserved in the Government MSS Library at the Bhandarkar O. R. Institutte, Poona (No. 220 of 1882-83) and a critical analysis of which we shall present later. In the present article we shall deal mainly with Śivānanda's Yogacintāmaṇi which is now available in a published form.⁴

In the colophons of the four chapters of this work, Śivānanda describes himself as the pupil of परमहंसपरिव्राजकाचार्यश्रीरामचन्द्रसदानन्दसरस्वती.

He appears to have modelled his Yogacintāmaṇi on the Yogacintāmaṇi of Godāvaramiśra referred to above and enlarged his compendium of Yogic texts. The scope of Śivānanda's work appears to be identical with that of Goḍāvaramiśra's as will be seen from the following comparison of the pertinent passages stating the scope of the respective works :—

The scope of both the Yogacintāmaṇis, is, therefore, quite identical so far as the above statements go, viz., the treatment of Hāṭhayoga excluding its psychical side as elucidated in the Vedānta texts on the one hand and the Hāṭhayoga of the extreme type as propounded by the Kāpālikas or Leftists. The second extreme is avoided because it is contrary to श्रुति and स्मृति.

We have observed already that Śivānanda's work is a topical compendium of Yoga texts in four chapters. This is evidenced by his own statement on p. 2 :—

“ नानाग्रंथपयोधिर्मध्यपतितं श्रीयोगचिन्तामणिम् ।

निश्शेषार्थसमर्थकं यतिशिवानन्दः करोति स्फुटम् ॥ ४ ॥ ”

For fixing the date of the present work, the reference to "विद्यारण्यश्रीपादाः" (item No. 46 in the above list) furnishes us with one terminus to Śivānanda's date. This is evidently a reference to the celebrated विद्यारण्य¹ the brother of Sāyaṇācārya (about 1360 A. D.) to whom many works are assigned by Aufrecht.² We may, therefore, fix about 1450 A. D. as one terminus to the date of Śivānanda. The other terminus to Śivānanda's date will have to be fixed on the strength of references to this Yogacintāmaṇi in subsequent works, some of which may be noted below :—

- (1) Weber in his Catalogue of Berlin MSS. (p. 196) describes a work called हठतन्त्रकौमुदी by सुंदरदेव son of Govinda. This work quotes the following works and authors on Yoga:

(1) योगचिन्तामणि, (2) शिवसंहिता, (3) शिवगीता, (4) दत्तात्रेययोगशास्त्र, (5) वायव्रीय संहिता, (6) योगयाज्ञवल्क्य, and (7) गोरक्ष. It is not clear which योगचिन्तामणि is meant in the above references — whether Śivānanda's or Godāvaramiśra's. We do not also know the date of सुंदरदेव referred to above. If this सुंदरदेव is identical with सुंदरदेव, the author of a work on anthology called सूक्तिसुंदर, (MS B. D. 65 described on p. 345 of B. B. R. A. S. MSS Catalogue by Velankar, Vol. II) then his date is between A. D. 1644 and 1770 as proved by me elsewhere.³ But this identity has not yet been proved.

- (2) The dates of the commentaries on the work by हरिदीक्षित and "Bhavanīśahāya" referred to by Aufrecht may also furnish us with the other terminus to Śivānanda's date but the MSS of these commentaries are not available for study.

- (3) Brahmānanda in his commentary called Jyotsnā (T. P. H. Edition, 1933, Adyar) p. 53, quotes from योगचिन्तामणि as under :—

(A) "यथा च उक्तं योगचिन्तामणौ — 'प्राणायाम एव अश्वासक्रमेण वर्धमानः प्रत्याहारध्यानधारणासमाधिषड्वैः उच्यते'"

1. Sources of Vijayanagar History by S. K. Aiyangar, p. 3 — विद्यारण्य died in 1387 A. D.

2. Cf. Cata. Catalogorum, Part I.

3. Poona Orientalist, Vol. I, No. 2, p. 52 f.

This quotation is identical with the following lines on p. 28 of शिवानन्द's योगचिन्तामणि —

“ अत एव प्राणायामेवाभ्यासक्रमेण प्रत्याहार-धारणा-ध्यान-समाधिशब्देन उच्यते ”

(B) Another quotation for identifying the योगचिन्तामणि quoted by Jyotsnā of Brahmānanda is the following on p. 52 (T. P. H. Edition) :—

“ एतद्ब्याख्यातं योगचिन्तामणौ — ‘ निद्रावशंगतस्य पुंसो यावत्कालेन एकः श्वासः गच्छति आगच्छति च तावत्कालः प्राणायामस्य मात्रा इति उच्यते, इति ”

This quotation is identical with the following lines in शिवानन्द's योगचिन्तामणि, p. 29) :—

“ निद्रावशंगतस्य पुंसो यावत्कालेन एकश्वासो गच्छति आगच्छति च तावत्काले प्राणायामस्य मात्रा इति उच्यते । ”

It is, therefore, clear that the Jyotsnā is quoting from शिवानन्द's योगचिन्तामणि and not from गोदावरामिश्र's as presumed by me¹ on the strength of a passage “महर्षिमातंगः अग्निष्टोमादिकान् यज्ञान्...विमुक्तये” then found in Godāvaramiśra's योगचिन्तामणि but which is also found in Śivānanda's योगचिन्तामणि on page 57. Evidently Śivānanda has borrowed the passage from Godāvaramiśra for he has modelled his treatise on the lines of Godāvaramiśra's work as stated above.

In the foregoing critical analysis of Śivānanda's work the following points have been made clear :—

- (1) Śivānanda's Yogacintāmaṇi is an almost encyclopædic compendium of Yoga texts affording useful literary strata for the history of Yoga literature.
- (2) Śivānanda chronologically stands midway between Godāvaramiśra (Circa 1497-1539 A. D.) on the one hand and Brahmānanda (about 1869 A. D.) on the other. At any rate he flourished after A. D. 1450 in view of his reference to “ विद्यारण्यश्रीपादः ”
- (3) Śivānanda excludes like Godāvaramiśra the Hāṭhayoga²

1. Cf. Yoga, the Journal of the Yoga Institute, Bombay, Vol. III, pp. 17-20.

2. It may be here mentioned that there really is nothing like extreme variety of Hāṭhayoga. The indecorous teachings and rituals adopted by the followers of the left path (वाममार्ग) or Kāpālikas could of the extreme variety which conflicts with सुति and स्मृति. The Haṭhayogapradīpikā of Svātmārāma Muni appears to combine both Haṭhayoga and Rājayoga.

hardly be termed Yoga or, for that matter, Haṭhayoga in any sense. It is, therefore, unfortunate that a few indiscreet authors, old and new, have often misunderstood and misinterpreted the Tantra and Śaiva ritualism as a part of Haṭhayoga. The disassociation of Haṭhayoga from such cults was continually emphasized from the earliest period of the great epic (Mahābhārata) to this day. Vide Yoga, Vol. II, pp. 101, 102 — Ed.

5. Identification of Virabhānu, the Patron of the Poet Bhānukara*

In my note in the Calcutta Oriental Journal (Vol. I, pp. 197-199) I recorded some data for the identification of king Virabhānu, the patron of the poet Bhānukara. Since this note appeared more evidence has been forthcoming and the problem of the identification of Virabhānu may now be regarded as well nigh settled.

Peterson¹ mentions a king Virabhānu of the Vāghela dynasty in the following comments :—

“ No 101 of A 1883-84—in the present collection there is a copy of a metrical commentary on the Sūtras of Vātsyāyana by a royal author who fortunately gives us his date and lineage. He belonged to the Vaghela dynasty and wrote “in the year 1633.” His name was Virabhadra. He was the son of Rāmachandra, who was the son of Virabhānu, who was the son of Vīrasinha, who was the son of Śālavāhana, the founder of the line.”

The genealogy indicated in the above comments is presumably based on the following verses appearing at the beginning of Ms No 101 of A 1883-84 now in the Govt. Mss Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona :—

“ वंशः कंसद्विष इव जयति वघेलस्य भूभुजां मान्यः ।

On the strength of the genealogy recorded in the above extract and the date of composition of this work Kandarpa-Cūdāmaṇi recorded in the colophon viz. the (Samvat) year 1633 indicated by the chronogram “हरलोचनहरलोचनरसशशि” (फाल्गुनशुक्लप्रतिपदि) corresponding to A. D. 1577 I was inclined to identify king Virabhānu with the king Virabhānu, the patron of the poet Bhānukara, who according to Dr. Hara Datta Sharma was a “contemporary of Sher Shah (1540-1545).” Accordingly I wrote to Dr. Sharma indicating the nature of my hypothesis. In the meanwhile Dr. Hiranand Shastri, Director of Archæology, Baroda, to whom I had sent a copy of my note on Virabhānu was kind enough to write to me as under in a private communication dated 15-5-35 :—

“Re. Virabhānu I draw your attention to my Memoir on the Baghela Dynasty of Rewa which will show that this Virabhānu is identical with the hero of the Virabhānūdaya Kāvya noticed there. This Kāvya is now being published by the Rewa authorities with my critical analysis.”

I have since studied Dr. Shastri's above Memoir published in 1925 and am convinced that king Virabhānu, the patron of the poet Bhānukara is none other than Virabhānu of the Vaghela dynasty mentioned in Peterson's comments on the Kandarpa-Cūdāmaṇi composed in A. D. 1577 by Virabhānu's grandson Virabhadra. As pointed out by Dr. Shastri this Virabhānu is identical with the hero of the Virabhānūdaya-Kāvya, the subject of his Memoir under reference.

I am further informed by Dewan Bahadur Pandit Janaki Prasad of Rewa that there is also a MS of a work called Viracampū bearing on the life of Virabhānu. I hope the Rewa authorities will publish this work and make it available to scholars.

The genealogy of Virabhānu as recorded in the extract from the Kandarpa-Cūḍāmaṇi given above is only partial but is confirmed by the following complete genealogy found in the Virabhānūdaya-Kāvya and recorded by Dr. Shastri on p. 10 of his Memoir:—

When the edition of the Virabhānūdaya Kāvya is published with Dr. Hirananda Shastri's critical analysis it will throw a flood of light on King Virabhānu and his personality. In the meanwhile I note here some historical information from Dr. Shastri's Memoir under reference:—

The date of the MS of the Virabhānūdaya Kāvya is Samvat 1648 (= A. D. 1591). This poem consists of 12 cantos. The first and last page of the MS are marked with seals, containing the date of the seal viz. 965 (= 1558). Virabhadra was at Delhi when his father Rāmachandra died in 1592, and he died in 1593 A. D. i. e. one year after his father's death. Virabhānūdaya Kāvya informs us that Virabhadra was born in the lifetime of Virabhānu and that on the occasion of his birth Humayun sent suitable presents and congratulations to his grand-father Virabhānu, whom he regarded as his brother. Virasimha, the father of Virabhānu was also regarded as brother by Babur. Rāmachandra succeeded to the throne when Virabhānu expired in 1540. The poem Virabhānūdaya Kāvya was composed by one Mādhava, son of Abhayachandra after the birth of Virabhadra and in the lifetime of Virabhānu, his grand-father as also of Humayun, the Mogul Emperor. As Virabhānu died in 1540, this poem must have been written about that very year. The MS of the poem was written 51 years after the date of composition of the poem. The poem also contains the genealogy of the Vaghela dynasty as recorded above. King Virabhānu had a long reign and Rāmachandra continued to rule as a Yuvarāja till the former retired to Prayāga after the death of his grand-son Virabhadra. Rāmachandra was very much enamoured of Tansen, the renowned musical prodigy who attended Akbar's court in 1562 and passed his days with him in happiness.

The date of composition of Kandarpa-Cūdāmaṇi of Virabhadra viz. A. D. 1558 agrees with the date of Virabhadra's seal referred to above viz. A. D. 1577 as also the date of his death viz. A. D. 1593. It remains for us now to identify the reference to Virabhadra's exploits at a place called Laṅkā described in the following verse appearing in the Rasikajivana of Gadādharaḥṭṭa :—

“ लङ्काधामनि वीरभानुनृपतेः प्रेक्ष्य प्रतापोदयं
प्रत्यागारमधीनीरजदृशो भूयो हुताशम्रमात् ।
क्षुभ्यद्वाणि विधूतपाणि विगल (बीविस्थल — ?) प्रसल्लद-
बाष्पश्रेणि विलोलवेणि दयितं कण्ठस्थले बिभ्रति ॥ ”

In the absence of the text of Virabhānūdayakāvya I am unable to identify or verify the above reference to Laṅkā and Virabhānu's exploits at this place, in case the verse has a definite reference to a historical event in the career of King Virabhānu, the hero of the Virabhānūdayakāvya. I, therefore, await with eagerness the publication of this historical Kāvya, which as Dr. Hirananda Shastri informs us, “possesses considerable literary merit evincing high descriptive power.”

1. IHQ, Vol. X, p. 483 — Dr. Sharma quotes two verses of the poet Bhānukara in which King Virabhānu, his patron, is referred to. The verse quoted above is one of these two verses.

6. Prof. P. P. S. Sastri, and the Date of Vādirājatīrtha*

Prof P. P. S. Sastri, in his Introduction to Vol. III (Sabbāparvan) of the Southern Recension of the Mahābhārata, p. xi, makes the following remarks about the date of Vādirājatīrtha and his commentary on the Mahābhārata —

“Reference has already been made to the Lakṣālamkāra of Vādirāja, the contemporary of Vāgīśatīrtha, one of the apostolic successors of Ānandatīrtha the great dualistic philosopher. Vādirāja died in ' 1261 Śaka or 1339 A. D. (Vide R. G. Bhandarkar's Collected Works, Vol. II, p. 7.²) The Lakṣālamkāra is very valuable as it may possibly turn out to be the earliest dated commentary on the Mahābhārata. ”

Being interested in the chronology of the commentaries on the Mahābhārata I felt much interested in the above remarks of Prof. Sastri about Vādirājatīrtha's date and began to read some of the works of this erudite philosopher with a view to gathering chronological data. To begin with I perused his Tīrthaprabandha-kāvya from a Ms in the Govt. Mss Library at the Bhandarkar Institute (No. 622 of 1882-83). This poem contains description of the places of pilgrimage and the deities presiding over them in different parts of India. In particular I was much impressed by Vādirāja's description of (1) the Vithobā of Pandharpur³ (Sholapur

2. In Duff's Chronology of India (1899) this date for Vādirāja has been incorporated as under on page 210 :—

A. D. 1339 — Ś. 1261 — Death of Vādirāja, said to be same as Kavindra, 8th successor of Ānandatīrtha in the Madhva Sect ” (Bhandarkar's Report 1882-83, pp. 8, 203).

District) and (2) Mahālakṣmī of Kolhapur.¹ Further while describing the पम्पाक्षेत्र on the banks of the Tuṅgabhadra river Vādirāja was found to refer to god विठ्ठल.² This reference roused my curiosity still further as the verse containing this reference contains the tradition current in the Maratha country about the transfer of the image of Viṭhobā from Pandharpur to Vijayanagar on the bank of the Tuṅgabhadra. I found this tradition referred to in one of the Maratha Chronicles.

Malhar Ramrao Chitnis in his *Life of Shivāji*¹ composed in A. D. 1811 states that the image of Viṭhobā was transferred from Pandharpur to Vidyānagar or Vijayanagar as the Vijayanagar kings were great upholders of Hinduism and full of devotion to Gods and Brahman. Later in the same context he mentions the names Jñāneśvara and Bhānūdāsa without mentioning the retransfer of the image back to Pandharpur.

Mr. K. N. Sane, the editor of the above Bakhar of Chitnis in his notes on the above mentioned passage of the Bakhar in question makes the following remarks².—

“Rāmrajā of Vidyānagar transferred the Viṭhobā of Pandhari to Vijayanagar from whence he was brought back by sage Bhānūdāsa of Paithāṇa (see Mahipati's Bhaktivijaya chapter 43) It was possible in the reign of Kṛṣṇadevarāya (1509-1530) that Viṭhobā was taken from Pandhari to Vidyānagar. It is likely that the

* In a Sanskrit inscription dated Śaka 1159 (= A. D. 1237) in Viṭhoba's temple at Pandharpur the story of the boon to Puṇḍalika is referred to with the only difference that पुण्डरीक is there called a Sage or मुनि (Bombay Gazetteer, Vol. XX, p. 420). Vādirāja also refers to पुण्डरीक as मुनि.

Compare also the following remarks of John Wilson in his article “ Ancient Remains of Western India (J. B. B. R. A. S., Vol. III, Jan. 1850) p. 87— “ The celebrated temple of Viṭhobā near Pandharpur is supposed to be a Buddhist structural temple now appropriated by the Brahman. It certainly has the appearance of great antiquity. The oversight of the distinction of caste among the natives who frequent this shrine, when in the presence of the idol, would seem to indicate some compromise with the Buddhists. In villages near Pandharpur we have noted other ancient temples probably Buddhist which are entirely forsaken and which bear the marks of violence probably Brahmanical or Musalman.”

temple of Viṭṭhalasvāmi at Vijayanagar may have been commenced during his reign. The construction of this temple was completed about A. D. 1542 during the reign of Acyutarāya, the brother of Kṛṣṇadevarāya (vide Sardesai's Musalmani Riyasat, page 200, section 51). At that time Rāmarāya, the son-in-law of Kṛṣṇadevarāya, was the Prime Minister of the state and he continued in that capacity from 1542 to 1565 A. D. As he was practically in power he is called "Kirīṭi Rāmarājā" in the Chitnis Bakhar.¹

According to the tradition referred to in Mr. Sane's foregoing

1. Vijayanagar Third Dynasty by Prof. N. V. Ramanayya, Madras, 1935 — व्यासतीर्थ the greatest exponent of Madhvaism had much influence with Kṛṣṇadevarāya (p. 322). He set up the image of नरसिंहस्वामी in the courtyard of Viṭṭhala temple at Hampi (p. 323) and died a little later in A. D. 1532.

On p. 439 Prof. Ramanayya observes:—"He (i. e. Kṛṣṇarāya) must have undertaken to reconstruct the Viṭṭhalsvāmi temple during the last years of his reign which he was obliged to leave unfinished at the time of his death" "The construction of the Viṭṭhalsvāmi's Temple is usually attributed to Kṛṣṇadevarāya but he could not have built that temple as it existed even in the time of Devarāya II. We learn from Haribhaṭṭa, who lived in the first quarter of the 16th century that Proluganṭi Tippana, one of Devarāya's officers built a bhogamaṇṭapa for Viṭṭhala at Hampi."

Dr. B. A. Saletore in his Social and Political Life in the Vijayanagar Empire, Vol. II (1934), p. 163 observes:—"Acyutarāya's gift of Suvarṇameru was commemorated in a Sanskrit verse composed by Vōduva Tirumalamma (A. D. 1533) and inscribed in the Viṭṭhal Temple at Hampi."

Mr. A. H. Longhurst in his Hampi Ruins (1917), p. 124 remarks:—"The temple was never finished nor consecrated. In all probability the work was stopped by the destruction of the city in 1565, but tradition gives another reason and says that it was built specially for the famous image of Viṭhobā at Pandharpur in Sholapur district of Bombay but that the god having come to look at it, refused to move, saying that it was too grand for him and that he preferred his own humbler home." (A fine photograph of Viṭṭhala Temple at Hampi appears on p. 126 of Mr. Longhurst's book showing its architectural grandeur).

remarks the transfer of Viṭhobā to Vijayanagar took place in the middle of the 16th century, while if the date of Vādirājatīrtha was correct, this transfer would appear to have taken place before A. D. 1339, the date of Vādirāja's death, as given by Prof. P. P. S. Sastri on the authority of Sir R. G. Bhandarkar. The difference between the dates for this tradition being more than 200 years it could not but raise doubts in my mind about the date of Vādirāja as recorded in the Succession Lists of the High Priests of the Madhva Sect,¹ as recorded by Sir R. G. Bhandarkar in his Report for 1882-83 (p. 203 onwards). I also reported this contradiction between the two dates to my friends Prof. S. V. Dandekar, M. A. of the S. P. College, Poona, who has made a special study of the literature about the Viṭhobā of Pandharpur as also Dr. B. A. Saletore, M. A., Ph. D. of the same College. The former told me that the tradition known to him pertained to the 16th century, while the latter informed me that the date for Vādirāja in the list published by Sir R. G. Bhandarkar was definitely wrong. I thereupon asked Dr. Saletore to state his evidence on the strength of which he considered Bhandarkar's date A. D. 1339 for Vādirāja's death as definitely wrong. He was kind enough to send me a note recording epigraphic evidence in support of the date A. D. 1571 for Vādirājatīrtha and I have great pleasure in reproducing it here in extenso :—

Vādirāja of Uḍipi —

Vādirāja Svāmi's date can be determined from the following stone inscription found in the Kaṭṇanahaḷḷi grāma, Soraba Hobli in front of the Veṅkaṭarama temple. It relates the following :

1. The unreliability of these lists has been made clear by Prof. B. N. Krishnamurti Sarma of the Annamalai University in Nov. 1935 issue of the Anna. Univ. Journal, pp. 96-118. According to him the dates of accession and demise of Madhvācārya and his first five successors are as follows :—

	Birth	Exit
Śrī Madhvācārya	A. D. 1238	1317 A. D.
1. Padmanābhatīrtha	1318 (accession)	1324
2. Narahari Tīrtha	1324 „	1333
3. Mādhava Tīrtha	1333 „	1350
4. Akṣobhya Tīrtha	1350 „	1365
5. Jayatīrtha	1365 „	1388

That when the Rāja-paramēśvara Tirumala Rāya Mahārāya was on the throne in his residence at Penugonḍa, and Keladi Sadāśiva Rāya Nāyaka's (Agent) Rāma Rāja Nāyaka (was over the Banavase Twelve Thousand), Rāma Rāja Nāyaka made to Kṛṣṇadeva of Uḍipi, to the parama-haṃsa Vādirāja-tirtha-śrīpāda and to Raghunidhi-tirtha-śrīpāda, the grant of an agrahāra with a stone śāsana as follows (details given) on the date specified (which is the following :—śri jayābhyudaya Śalivāhana Śaka-varuṣa 1493 neya Prajōtpatya-samvatsarada Kārttika suddha 15 Kruttikā janana-yōgadallu).

(E. C. VIII. Sb. 55, p. 10, p. 23 text.)

The date works out to A. D. 1571, November the 1st Thursday when the nakṣatra was Bharanī and not Kṛttikā. This was a Paurṇimā (Swamikannu, Indian Eph. V, p. 345.)

From other sources we know that Vādirāja's favourite disciple was the well-known Kanaka Dāsa, the Non-Brahman (Bedar) devotee of Kṛṣṇa. Kanaka Dāsa's dates are circa 1550-1570."

In addition to the above direct inscriptional evidence for Vādirāja we find two more inscriptions' one of A. D. 1614 and the other A. D. 1613, in which Vādirāja and his pupil are mentioned. There are in all 40 inscriptions at Uḍipi, the seat of Madhva Maṭha. Two of these refer to Vādirāja and his pupil :—

"No. 231—110 of 1901—(Kanarese). On another slab built into the same wall (i. e. North wall of the Kṛṣṇa Maṭha). A record of the Vijayanagar King Vīra Veṅkaṭa Pati (1) recording in Śaka 1536 (= A. D. 1614) (Pramādin) the grant of the village of Huvinkere by Venkaṭappa Nāyaka of Keladi while वेदवेद्यतीर्थ, pupil of वादिराजतीर्थ was the priest of the temple. See Nos. 234 and 235 below. वादिराज was a man of great erudition and wrote several works.²"

"No. 235—114 of 1901—(Kanarese). On another Slab built into the same wall. A record in Śaka 1535 (= A. D. 1613) Pramadin mentioning वादिराजतीर्थ and his pupil and providing for offerings."

1. Rangacharya : Madras Inscriptions, Vol. II, pp. 870-871.

2. There is a Ms of a work called रत्नसंग्रह by रघुनाथाचार्य in the India Office Library (No. 6051 — Keith's Catalogue Vol. II, p. 659). It is "an anthology of the views of Vādirāja" compiled by his pupil Raghunātha.

In view of the foregoing epigraphic evidence it is difficult to believe in the accuracy of the Madhva Maṭha lists published by Sir R. G. Bhandarkar so far as exact chronology is concerned. If Vādirāja was living in A. D. 1571 as proved by the Sorāba Hobli inscription mentioned above it is perfectly natural for him to refer to the transfer of the image of Viṭhobā to Vijayanagar in the line “तुंगातीरगतोऽसि विट्ठल” in the verse 13 of his तीर्थप्रबन्धकाव्य quoted above and hence there is no sort of contradiction or anachronism involved in the reference.

A question may be raised whether there was another वादिराज-तीर्थ in the Madhva line of succession distinct and separate from the वादिराजतीर्थ referred to in the inscriptions mentioned above. The Madhva lists published by Sir R. G. Bhandarkar already alluded to by me show only one वादिराजतीर्थ and it was this वादिराज-तीर्थ that composed a commentary on the Mahābhārata. There is a Ms¹ of भारततात्पर्यनिर्णयटिप्पणी (भावप्रकाशिका) in which वादिराज gives the derivation of his own name in the following verses :—

“ प्रणम्य नृहरिं मध्वगुरुंश्चान्यान्यथामति ।

महाभारततात्पर्यनिर्णयार्थः प्रकाशयते ॥

वादी मध्वो यस्य राजा सोऽहं तस्य कृपाबलात्।

वादिराजेन स्वशक्त्या ब्रूणे वरणयामि तत् ”

We may, therefore safely conclude that there was only one Madhva philosopher of the name वादिराजतीर्थ and that he flourished about the 2nd half of the 16th century and that the date A. D. 1339 of his death recorded in the Madhva succession lists is definitely wrong.

Prof. P. P. S. Sastri on pp. XIV-XV of his Introduction to the Sabhāparvan (Vol. III) of the Southern Recension of the Mahābhārata states that the Ms¹ of Vādirāja's commentary used by him records the following date when the copy was made by the scribe Narasimha :—

“ तारणे वसरे चैव माघे शुक्ले च पञ्चमी ।

बुधवारं नारसिंह इदं लिखित पुस्तकम् ॥ ”

Prof. Sastri observes that “ The earliest date for the above is 30-1-1465 A. D. and the latest date satisfying the other particulars is 25-1-1645 A. D. ”

1. Madras Cata. No. X, p. 3620.

As the date 30-1-1465 A. D. cannot satisfy all particulars mentioned by the scribe, we have to reject it and adopt the date 25-1-1645 A. D. which as Prof. Sastri states satisfies all particulars. This later date is perfectly in harmony with our date for Vādirāja viz. 1571 A. D. If Vādirāja wrote about 1571 it is natural to have a copy of his work in A. D. 1645.

In view of the facts recorded in this note it is difficult to accept an early date for Vādirājatīrtha as Prof. P. P. S. Sastri has done in the extract from his Introduction to one of the Mahābhārata volumes quoted by us already. In case Prof. Sastri succeeds in establishing on incontrovertible grounds an earlier date for Vādirājatīrtha I shall be very glad to know the independent evidence, if any, on the strength of which his conclusion may be based. For the present at least the inscriptional evidence recorded by me in this note compels me to reject all conjectural and other data gathered on the question so far.

7. Āpadeva, the Author of the Mīmāṃsā-nyāyaprakāśa and Mahāmahopādhyāya Āpadeva, the Author of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā and the Smṛticandrikā — are they identical?*

Aufrecht¹ records only one MS of a mīmāṃsā work called the Adhikaraṇacandrikā by Mahāmahopādhyāya Āpadeva, viz. "L 1911" which is the same as No. 1911 described by Rajendralal Mitra in 1880.² In Appendix A³ to his Notices of Sans. MSS containing a list of MSS purchased by him for the Govt. of India among the Mīmāṃsā works No. 1911 is not included.⁴ It appears, therefore, that this big work of Āpadeva represented by a single complete MS has remained in private possession since 1880 and may have been lost, though let me hope that some scholar at Darbhanga interested in the study of Mīmāṃsā makes a strenuous effort to

The General Secretary, Royal Asiatic Society, Bengal in his letter No. 323 of 24th March, 1938, informs me as follows:—"You are informed that the particular MS (= Adhikaraṇacandrikā) which was noticed by R. L. MITRA in the Notices of Sanskrit MSS, Vol. V, was never in the possession of the Society, while in his tour he came to know of the existence of this manuscript and most probably he collected information about it by going directly to the place of its deposit."

Particulars of this MS as given by Rajendralal Mitra on p. 229 of Vol. V of his Notices are as follows:—"Substance, country-made paper 14 × 3½ inches, Folia 112, Lines 6 on a page. In the absence of this only MS of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā it is difficult to say anything authoritatively about the author of this work or the work itself. Let me, however, record in this paper some evidence which goes to disprove that Āpadeva the author of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā is identical with Āpadeva, the author of the very popular Mīmāṃsā work called the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa otherwise called Āpadevī.¹ The genealogy of Āpadeva, the author of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa as recorded by his son Anantadeva in his work *Smṛtikaustubha*² is as follows :—

1. Edited by Mahāmahopādhyāya Vasudeva Shastri Abhyankar in the Govt. Ori. Series (Bhandarkar O. R. Institute, Poona, 1937) with an original Sanskrit commentary called Prabhā (pages 31 + 288). The work has been edited by Dr. Ganganath Jha in the Pandit, 26 (1904) Nos. 2, 4, 7, 8, pp. 1-48; 27 (1905) Nos. 2-8, pp. 49-226 and by Chinnaswami Sastri in the Chowkhamba Sanskrit Series, Benares, 1925 (with an original Sanskrit Commentary). See also another edition of the work by M. M. Lakshman Shastri and Sitaram Shastri, Chowkhamb. Sans. Series, 1921. For a critical student of Mīmāṃsā the English translation of the work by Prof. Franklin Edgerton of the Yale University would be found very useful as it contains the transliterated Sanskrit text, a glossarial index together with a critical Introduction and Bibliography (Pub. by the Yale University Press, 1929).

Aufrecht¹ makes the following entry in his Catalogus Catalogorum regarding the works of Āpadeva, the author of the Mīmāṃsā-nyāyaparakāśa :—

“आपदेव, son of Anantadeva, grandson of Āpadeva father of Anantadeva, pupil of Govinda.

“ This can hardly be the same as the well-known Maratha poet — Saint Eknāth, although he lived at Pratiṣṭhāna (Paithan) also ‘ on the banks of the Godāvari ’.” This Eknātha died in 1609 and apparently had only one son, named Hari.*

[* See Justin E. Abbott, Ekanāth, Poona, 1927. For Ekanāth’s only son, Hari see pp. 211 ff.; for the date of Ekanāth’s death, p. 263. — It is, however, extremely likely that the coincidences of name and location are not entirely meaningless; that is the poet-Saint Eknāth belonged to the same distinguished family as his (younger?) contemporary, our Āpadeva.”]

As Prof. Edgerton has raised his doubts about the identity of the two Ekanāths it may be worthwhile examining this question in detail on the basis of available evidence.

2. The Gov. MSS Library (at the B. O. R. Institute) possesses the following MSS of Āpadevi ;—

(i) No. 576 of 1884-87 dated Samvat 1716 (= A. D. 1659). The Colophon reads :— “ संवत् १७१६ समये अश्विन शुक्ल प्रतिपदि लिखितमिदं ”

These chronological details give us Wednesday, 7th Sept. 1659 as the date of this copy. (See Indian Ephemeris).

(ii) No. 588 of 1884-87 — a well-written copy, though not very old.

(iii) No. 142 of 1871-72 — on folio 1a of this MS we have the endorsement “ देवभट्टस्य दत्तं and on folio 60 it is endorsed “ गोविंद दशपुत्रेण लिखितमिदं ” — not very old.

(iv) No. 380 of 1899-1915 — appears to be old.

(v) No. 374 of 1899-1915 — an incomplete copy, though old.

(vi) No. 626 of 1886-92. — a good copy, not very old — complete.

(vii) No. 625 of 1886-92 — written in very small characters — complete — appears to be old.

I am concerned in this paper with the work called the Adhikaraṇacandrikā represented by only one MS as stated above. Let us now see if this work on Mīmāṃsā is the work of the author of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa.

Both the works viz., the Adhikaraṇacandrikā and the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa deal with Mīmāṃsā. This is the only common point on the basis of which Aufrecht has ascribed both the works to the author of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa as can be seen from his catalogue entry quoted above. Besides this identity of subject the same name Āpadeva must have also led him to identify one Āpadeva with the other. I am inclined to doubt this identity on the basis of the following particulars which show both the points of identity and difference revealed from the evidence available to us :—

Author of Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa	Author of Adhikaraṇacandrikā
(1) Identity of the name Āpadeva (the colophons of MSS of Mim. Ny. Prakāśa mention the name Āpadeva as the author of the work). (2) This Āpadeva is called the son of Anantadeva in the colophons (इति श्रीमद्वन्तदेवसूनुना आपदेवेन कृतं मीमांसान्यायप्रकाशसंज्ञकं प्रकरणं etc.) (3) This Āpadeva was a worshipper of Kṛṣṇa. In verse 1 of Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa he bows to Govinda or Kṛṣṇa.	(1) The colophon of the only MS of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā mentions Āpadeva as the author of the work. • (2) This Āpadeva is called Mahāmahopādhyāya but his father's name is not recorded (the colophon reads :— “ इति महामहोपाध्यायमीमांसकश्री- आपदेवकृतअधिकरणचन्द्रिका सं- पूर्णा ” (3) This Āpadeva was also a worshipper of Kṛṣṇa. In verse I of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā he bows to Nandanandana.

“ यत्कृपाकेशमात्रेण पुरुषार्थचतु-
ष्टयम् । प्राप्यते तमहं वन्दे गोविन्दं भक्तवत्सलम् ” compare also the last two verses :—

“ काहं मन्दमति केयं प्रक्रिया भाट्ट-संमता ।
तस्माद्वक्तुर्विलासीयं गोविन्दगुरु-
पादयोः ॥
ग्रंथरूपो महीयोयं वाग्व्यापारः सु- शोभनः ।
अनेन प्रीयतां देवो गोविन्दो भक्त-
वत्सलः ॥ ”

- (4) This Āpadeva is not called Mahāmahopadhyāya in any of the colophons of the Mīm. Nyā. Prakāśa MSS examined by me.

Verse 1 reads :—

“ इन्द्रिराहृदयानन्दं कुलेन्द्रीवर-लोचनं ।
सानन्दं परमानन्दं वन्देऽहं नन्द-
नन्दनं ॥ ”

- (4) This Āpadeva is called both “Mīmāṃsaka” and “Mahāmahopādhyāya” in the only MS of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā described by R. Mitra.

I am inclined to believe that the author of the Mīmāṃsā work called the Adhikaraṇacandrikā represented by a single MS is Āpadeva I in the genealogy given by Anantadeva in his Smṛtikau-stubha and who was the grandfather of Āpadeva II, the author of the Mīm. Nyā. Prakāśa. The study of mīmāṃsā appears to have been a family heritage. As stated by Prof. Edgerton¹ Anantadeva, the father of Āpadeva II was himself a famed specialist in Mīmāṃsā as well as a pious devotee of Kṛṣṇa.² We may, therefore,

On p. 23 Prof. Edgerton draws our attention to the only passage in the Āpadevī in which Āpadeva II refers to his own father (Anantadeva) as an authority (अस्मत्तातृचरणास्तु एवमाह — p. 141 of B. O. R. Institute edition) “This passage is of particular interest because it is the only place in the entire work where the author expressly claims originality for the arguments set forth.”

conclude that Kṛṣṇa was a family deity from Āpadeva I to Āpadeva II, and that the study of Mīmāṃsā also continued without a break for at least three generations.

It appears that the Mīmāṃsaka Mahāmahopādhyāya Āpadeva composed another work called the Smṛticandrikā. This work also is represented by a single MS described by Rajendralal Mitra.¹ The following points of identity revealed from the recorded description of the MSS of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā and the Smṛticandrikā indicate the identity of authorship in respect of these works :—

Mitra in the list of MSS purchased for Govt. of India and it was in a decayed condition in 1882. The chances of its recovery from the descendants of Gopīvallabha Bhaṭṭāchārya are very remote, unless a new copy of it has been prepared and preserved in the family collections of MSS.

The points of identity in respect of the two works, viz., the Adhikaraṇacandrikā and the Smṛticandrikā recorded above are, I believe, sufficiently convincing to warrant an inference that these two works were composed by the same author. I have, however, expressed my doubts¹ about the identity of this author Mahāmahopādhyāya Āpadeva with his namesake, viz., the author of the Āpadevī. These doubts can be cleared if we succeed in recovering the only MS of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā as also that of the

1. Mr. P. V. Kane makes the following entries in his Hist. of Dharma. I (1930) about स्मृतिचन्द्रिका and its author आपदेव :—

Page 668 — स्मृतिचन्द्रिका by आपदेव मीमांसक. On काल, मलमास, व्रत, आन्हिक, विवाह, and other संस्कार, स्त्रीधर्म, आश्रमधर्म, अन्येष्टि, आशौच, भ्रातृ (N. VI, 301).

Page 682 — आपदेव son of अनन्तदेव. He was father of अनन्तदेव author of स्मृतिकौस्तुभ and so flourished about 1600-1650 A. D. author of स्मृतिचन्द्रिका, ब्रह्मपद्धति.

Smṛticandrikā. Though we have no evidence to estimate the dates of both these works for want of evidence we have more stable chronology for the author of the Āpadevī, viz.. Āpadeva II.

Prof. Edgerton¹ records the following evidence regarding the date of Āpadeva II :

- (1) Anantadeva, the son of Āpadeva II wrote a commentary on his father's Mīmāṃsā-Nyāya-Prakāśa. This commentary is called Bhāṭṭālamkāra.
- (2) Khaṇḍadeva in his Bhāṭṭadīpikā criticized both the Mīmāṃsā-Nyāya-Prakāśa as also its commentary Bhāṭṭālamkāra as specifically stated in the Prabhāvalī, a commentary on the Bhāṭṭadīpikā (composed in 1708 A. D.)² by Śambhubhaṭṭa, pupil of Khaṇḍadeva.
- (3) Khaṇḍadeva³ died at Benares in A. D. 1665.
- (4) We are, therefore, justified in assuming the early part of the 17th century as the approximate date of Āpadeva.

Mr. Kane⁴ assigns Āpadeva to the period 1600 to 1650 A. D. because he was father of Anantadeva, who flourished in the "third quarter of the 17th century."⁵

The conclusion arrived at by Profs. Edgerton and Kane regarding Āpadeva's date on independent grounds finds further corroboration from MSS as follows :—

- (1) The Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, has a MS of the Mīmāṃsā-Nyāya-Prakāśikā, viz., No. 576 of 1884-87. This MS was copied in Śaṃvat 1716 (Āsvina Śukla Pratipadi) i.e., on 7th September, 1659. As this is almost a contemporary copy of the work, scholars interested in textual criticism¹ may find it useful.

- (2) A work called the *Rudrapaddhatt*² is ascribed to Āpadeva II. In 1871 one Mr. Bālabhaṭṭa of Surat had a copy of Rudrapaddhati of Āpadeva containing 55 leaves (12 lines on a page). The age of the MS is 1662 which appears to be a Samvat year because Bühler³ who noticed this MS gives us to understand that "If no remark is added the era in which the MSS are dated, is Samvat." The age 1662⁴ recorded in Bühler's list must, therefore, be Samvat 1662 (= A. D. 1606). Presuming the correctness of Bühler's entries we must look upon this copy of Rudrapaddhati as the oldest dated MS of a work ascribed to an author of the name Āpadeva, even if we doubt the identity of this Āpadeva with the author of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa. In case we succeed in getting incontrovertible evidence to prove the identity of the author of the Rudrapaddhati with the author of the Mīm. Nyā. Prakāśa we shall be in a position to take the date of Āpadeva II to the last quarter of the 16th century. At present, however, the B. O. R. Institute MS of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprakāśa copied on 7th September, 1659 provides the best MS evidence for the date of Āpadeva II.

On the basis of evidence recorded above the following conclusions may be arrived at :—

- (1) The works Adhikarāṇacandrikā and the Smṛticandrikā are composed by the same author, viz., Mīmāṃsaka Mahāmahopādhyāya Āpadeva.

1. As Prof. Edgerton has constituted his text on the basis of three printed editions (Vide Intro. to Āpadevi, p. 1) I recommend this MS to him for a critical edition of this useful text which appears to me a desideratum in spite of the numerous editions now available.

3. Cata. of Sanskrit MSS (in private libraries of Gujarat, etc.) Fascicule I, 1871, p. 2.

4. Ibid., p. 235.

- (2) The author of the Mīmāṃsānyāyaprahāṣikā (also called Āpadevī) appears to be different from the author of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā and the Smṛticandrikā.
- (3) It may be tentatively suggested that there is a possibility of the author of the Adhikaraṇacandrikā being identical with Āpadeva I, the grandfather of Āpadeva II (author of the Āpadevī) but this suggestion needs more evidence than what has been incidentally recorded in this paper.

8. Appayadīkṣita's Criticism of Āryabhaṭa's Theory of the Diurnal Motion of the Earth (Bhūbhramavāda)*

Appayadīkṣita, who is assigned to "the third and fourth quarters of the 16th century" ¹ refers in the following passages² to Āryabhaṭa and his theory regarding the earth's motion.—

स्वर्गपृथिव्योः परस्परसुपजीव्योपजीवकभावस्य तुल्यतया स्वर्गो न प्रतिष्ठा पृथिवी
प्रतिष्ठेति व्यवस्थितोक्त्ययोगात् । किं तु निश्चलत्वमिह प्रतिष्ठाशब्दार्थः । तच्च ज्योतिश्च-
क्रान्तर्गतत्वेन भ्रमति स्वर्गे नास्ति अस्ति तु पृथिव्यां पृथिवी प्रतिष्ठेति श्रुत्यन्तरात् ।
आर्यभटाद्यभिमतभूभ्रमणाविवादानां श्रुतिन्यायविरोधेन हेयत्वात् ”

* Annals (B. O. R. Institute), Vol. XIX, pp. 93-95.

1. Dr. S. K. De : History of Sanskrit Poetics, Vol. I, p. 266. According to Dr. De the extreme limits of Appaya's literary activity are 1549 and 1613 A. D. "Veṅkaṭa, author of the Viśvagūṇādarśa and a grandson of Appaya tells us that he hailed from Kāñci (or Conjeveram)." Compare the following reference to Kāñci in the Vedāntakalpataruparimala :— "काञ्च्या को मार्ग इति प्रश्ने मार्गग्रहणोपायतया तत्तत्प्रदेशस्थितगिरिनदीकाननादि सदभावस्यापि सहवचनदर्शनात् etc."

2. Vide p. 201, of the Vedāntakalpataruparimala, edited by Rāmaśāstri Tailaṅga (Vizianagaram Sanskrit Series, Benares, 1895). Appaya wrote this commentary on the Vedāntakalpataru of Amalānanda who flourished c. A. D. 1250 (Vide J. N. Farquhar : Outlines of Religious Literature of India, Oxford, 1920, pp. 368, 222). Amalānanda resided at Nasik-Tryambak as will be seen from the description of the place in the following verse occurring in the Vedāntakalpataru :—

“ अस्ति किल ब्रह्मगिरिनामा गिरिवरः
त्रैयम्बकजटाजूटकलनाय विनिर्मिता ।
पाण्डुरेव पटी भाति यत्र गोदावरी नदी ॥
सकुसुमफलचूतबद्धधर्मद्युतिकरपातवनालिषूपजाते ।
तमसि हरकिरीटचन्द्रनुजे धवलनिशा इव भान्ति बासराणि ॥ ”

Evidently Appayadikṣita was a firm believer in the stability (prati-ṣṭhā) of the earth and rejects categorically the theory of the only Indian astronomer who believed in the diurnal motion of the earth,¹ which is mentioned in the following verse quoted by Mr. S. B. Dikshit :—

“ अनुलोमगतिर्नैस्थः पश्यत्यचलं विलोमं यद्वत् ।
अचलानि भानि तद्वत् समपश्चिमगानि लंकायाम् ॥ ” (गोलपाद्)

Mr. Dikshit further states that this verse regarding the theory of Āryabhaṭa pertaining to the diurnal motion of the earth has been wrongly interpreted by his commentator in his work called Bhaṭṭaparakāśikā as follows :—

“ भानि कर्तृभूतानि अचलानि भूमिगतानि वस्तूनि कर्मभूतानि विलोमगानीव प्राचीं दिशं गच्छतीव पश्यति ”

Mr. Dikshit records that the date of Sūryadevayajvan, the author of the commentary Bhaṭṭaparakāśikā is not known but he is likely to be later than Bhaṭṭotpala² (A. D. 966).³ Brahmagupta, however, in his Brahmasiddhānta or Brahmasphuṭasiddhānta (composed in Śaka 550 = A.D. 628) has found fault with Āryabhaṭa's theory about the diurnal motion of the earth in the following verse :—

“ प्राणेनैति १ कलां भूर्यदि तर्हि कुतो व्रजेत् कम्पवान् ।
आवर्तनमुष्ण्याश्चैव पतति समुच्छ्रयाः कस्मात् ॥ ”

(Brahmasiddhānta, Chapter XI).

Appaya Dikṣita comments on these verses as follows in his commentary ° Parimala (P. 147, lines 11-12) :— “ नासिकात्र्यम्बकस्थाने निवसद्भिः आचार्यैः अयं ग्रन्थः कृतः इति प्रसिद्धिः । अतस्तत्रत्यगिरिनिदीवर्णनं कृतम् ’ [Vide p. 20 of Intro. to Vedāntakalpataru, Part I, (Vizia. San. Series, Benares, 1895)]

1. Vide History of Indian Astronomy (in Marāṭhī) by S. B. Dikshit (Poona, 1896) p. 195.

2. Ibid. p. 95.

3. Ibid, p. 234 — Bhaṭṭotpala in his commentary on the Bṛhajjātaka of Varāhamihira records its date as under :—

“ वैत्रमासस्य पंचम्यां सितायां गुरुवासरे ।
वस्वष्टाष्टमिते शाके कृतेयं विवृतिर्मया ॥ ” (८८८)

4. प्राण = $\frac{1}{4}$ of a pala.

According to Mr. Dikshit Āryabhaṭa believed in the diurnal motion of the earth only. It does not seem from his works that he believed in the earth's revolution round the Sun.¹ Āryabhaṭa was born in Śaka 398 (= A. D. 476) and it is creditable that he anticipated the theory of the diurnal motion of the earth about 1500 years ago in spite of a carping critic like Brahmagupta,² who was then ignorant of the law of gravity, later discovered by Sir Isaac Newton in A. D. 1665, and hence tried to ridicule Āryabhaṭa in the line "आवर्तनमुर्व्याश्चेत् न पतति समुद्र्याः कस्मात्." Appayadikṣita's grounds for rejecting the भूभ्रमवाद of Āryabhaṭa have no astronomical tinge whatsoever. A staunch believer as he was in the श्रुति-प्रामाण्य he rejects the भूभ्रमवाद because it is opposed to श्रुति. Copernicus (1473-1543 A. D.) apparently preceded Appayadikṣita (1550 to 1600 A. D.) while Sir Isaac Newton (1642-1727 A. D.) followed him. The great Vedāntin, however was compelled to dismiss the भूभ्रमवाद of Āryabhaṭa and others in a summary manner because it was opposed to the statement of the श्रुति viz., 'पृथिवी प्रतिष्ठा.'

Śrīpati, the author of the Siddhāntaśekhara, wrote his work Dhruvamānasam in Śaka 978³ = A. D. 1056. Makkibhaṭṭa wrote a commentary on the Siddhāntaśekhara in Śaka 1299⁴ = A. D. 1377. Makkibhaṭṭa follows Āryabhaṭa in his theory about the diurnal motion of the earth in commenting on verse 39 of Sādhanaḍhyāya of the Siddhāntaśekhara.⁵ We are informed by the learned editor of the Siddhāntaśekhara that Varāhamihira, Brahmagupta, Lalla as also Śrīpati had no respect for the theory of Āryabhaṭa about भूभ्रमण or the diurnal motion of the earth. It seems, therefore, that

1. Copernicus (1473-1543 A. D.) a Polish astronomer, propounded the theory that earth and other planets revolve round the Sun. This theory though now a truism gave rise to a keen controversy among the Roman clergy of the time.

2. Dikshit : History of Indian Astronomy, p. 197 — Brahmagupta had no good word for Āryabhaṭa :— "जानात्येकमपि यतो नार्यभटो गणितकालगोलानां । न मया प्रोक्तानि ततः पृथक् पृथक् दूषणान्येषां ॥ ४३ ॥ आर्यभट-दूषणानां संख्या वक्तुं न शक्यते "

4. Ibid. p. 25.

5. Ibid. p. 26.

Makkibhaṭṭa, the commentator of Sripati's Siddhāntasākhya, was the only writer of repute to uphold Āryabhaṭa's view.¹

1. As contrasted with this dogmatic view of Appaya the following statement of Śaṅkarācārya reflects the correct attitude of a philosopher towards matters within the ken of our senses :— “ न श्रुतिशतमपि शीतोऽग्निरप्रकाशो वेति ब्रुवन् प्रामाण्यमुपैति ” (Vide p. 5 of Indian Culture and its Claims, a paper read by Pandit Srikrishna Joshi at the Foundation Ceremony of the Benares Hindu University, 1916 — I am indebted to Mr. Chandra Shekhar Pant, M. A. of Lucknow for this reference). Aufrecht records a work called “ भूअसबादनादयः प्रादित्तः ” by scholars in Sihor (C. C. I, p. 415^a).

9. Date of the Prāyaścitta-candrikā of Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa, Son of Narasimha Dīkṣita— Before A. D. 1543*

Prof. P. V. Kane makes the following remarks about a work on Dharmaśāstra called the Prāyaścitta-Candrikā :—

“ प्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका by विश्वनाथभट्ट; mentioned by दिवाकर in his प्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका and in स्मार्तप्रायश्चित्तोद्धार ॥ ”

As Prof. Kane assigns Divākara (Kāla) to the period A. D. 1620 to 1670, we may assign Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa, the author of the Prāyaścitta-Candrikā to a date earlier than A. D. 1600.

Ben 8, NW. 18, Sūcīpatra 36 — "Stein 21."³

As the Jammu MS of the Prāyaścitta-Candrikā is dated Samvat 1556 or A. D. 1600, the date of composition of the work is evidently much earlier than A. D. 1600 but we have no means of determining the earlier limit exactly.

In the Catalogue of the Sanskrit Manuscripts of the Punjab University, however, there is a dated MS of the Prāyaścitta-Candrikā which appears to me to be the oldest dated MS of this work. It is dated Samvat 1599 = A. D. 1543⁴ as will be seen from the following colophon⁵ appearing on its last folio :—

“इति श्रीनृसिंहदीक्षितस्तु विश्वनाथविगच्छिता श्रौतप्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका समाप्ता ॥ संवत् १५९९ समये पौषवदि १३ चन्द्रकह पुस्तक लिखा ॥ श्रीविश्वनाथाय नमः ॥ शुभमस्तु ॥”

If the above date is correct, we are in a position to push back the date of the Prāyaścitta-Candrikā before A. D. 1540, if not earlier.

The chronological data recorded above may now be tabulated as follows :—

1. Vide p. 91 of Part I of I. O. Sanskrit MSS Cata. (1887)—MS No. 15726 — “written in Devanāgarī in the latter part of the 17th Century.”

2. Vide p. 108 of Bühler's Fascicle. III of Cata. of MSS in Private Libraries (1872). The MS No. 239 of प्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका of विश्वनाथ-भट्ट is dated 1756 (Samvat) = A. D. 1700.

3. Vide p. 21 of Stein's Cata. of Jammu MSS (1894), MS No. 2556 of श्रौतप्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका is dated Samvat 1656 = (A. D. 1600.)

4. Vol. I (1932), Page 55 — [“452 प्रायश्चित्तचन्द्रिका (बौधायन) by विश्वनाथ, नृसिंहदीक्षितपुत्र, 50 leaves, 1000 Granthas — “सं 1599”]

5. The date corresponds to Wednesday, 3rd January 1543 (vide p. 288 of Indian Ephemeris. Vol. V.).

6. I am thankful to the Librarian, Punjab University Library, Lahore, for his kindness in sending me a copy of this Colophon.

On the strength of the above data, I am inclined to believe that the PC by Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa may have been composed before A. D. 1500 as we have the oldest dated MS of the work copied in Śaṃvat 1599 or A. D. 1543.

10. Date of Subhāṣitamuktāvalī*

Prof G. V. Devasthali in his *Catalogue of Sanskrit and Prākṛta Manuscripts*¹ in the Library of the University of Bombay, describes a MS of सुभाषितहारावली of हरि (No. 2266) as follows :—

“The Subhāṣitahārāvalī or simply Hārāvalī is an anthology containing about 200 verses divided according to the compiler’s own account, into 32 chapters (Maṇis). In our MS, however, only 13 are clearly marked. The colophon at the end reads Subhāṣitamuktāmaṇi as the title of the work, which is obviously incorrect. This work² is noticed at Peters. Report II. No. 189, where it is ascribed to Hari Kavi, brother of Cakrapāṇi. Hari Kavi was a poet of the Deccan and acquainted with the literature of the whole of India. He quotes from Akabariya Kālidāsa (a poet patronised by Akbar) and from Jagannātha Paṇḍita’s Bhāminīvilāsa. He cannot, therefore, have flourished before the latter half of the 17th century A. D. See Krishn. p. 387 f.” The foregoing remarks roused my curiosity because I had read in 1935 the only MS of सुभाषितहारावली² of हरि कवि (No. 92 of A 1883-84) available in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute. Through the favour of Dr. P. M. Joshi, Librarian, University Library, Bombay, I got on loan the MS of “सुभाषितहारावली of हरि” described by Prof. Devasthali. On examining this MS I found that it was entirely a different text from that available in the B. O. R. I. MS No. 92 of A 1883-84 and consequently its chronology, as suggested by Prof.

* Indian Historical Quarterly, 1946, pp. 55-59.

1. Vol. II. 1944. p. 772.

2. The Subhāṣitahārāvalī of Hari Kavi, brother of Cakrapāṇi is represented by the only MS in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute viz No. 92 of A 1883-84. This सुभाषितहारावली has nothing to do with the “सुभाषितहारावली of हरि” described by Prof. Devasthali. Evidently Prof. Devasthali has not read my paper on “Hari Kavi, alias Bhānubhaṭṭa, a court-poet of king Sambhāji and His works (संभु-राजचरित composed in A. D. 1685, हैहयेंद्रचरित and its Commentary, and सुभाषितहारावली). See Annals (B. O. R. I.), Vol. XXVI (1935), pp. 262-291.

The MS mentioned by Peterson in his Report, II, p. 189 is identical with No. 92 of A 1883-84 (सुभाषितहारावली of हरि कवि). It consists of more than 150 folios.

Devasthali's remarks perhaps on the presumption that the Bombay university MS No 2266 and the B. O. R. I. MS No. 92 of A 1783-84 are identical, is also wrong.

The Bombay University MS No. 2266 is dated Śaka 1707 (= A. D. 1785) and though this date harmonises with the chronology suggested by Prof. Devasthali there is another evidence which contradicts it. In fact there is a MS. of an anthology called सुभाषितमुक्तावली in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute viz. No. 819 of 1886-92. It is identical with the Bombay University MS No. 2266. The text of this MS is identical with that of the Bombay University MS. It begins with "श्रीगणेशाय नमः ॥ स्फुर्जन्मोहमहान्धकार etc. " The colophons of the different chapters or Maṇis in this Ms begin with "इति सुभाषितमुक्तावल्यां" in the following manner —

Folio 3—"इति सुभाषितमुक्तावल्यां हरेर्गुणग्रामवर्णनो नाम प्रथमो मुक्तामणिः "

Folio 4—"इति सु० मुक्तावल्यां लक्ष्मीप्रशंसनो नाम द्वितीयो मुक्तामणिः "

It would appear from these colophons that the title of this anthology is सुभाषितमुक्तावली, though in the first three verses² at the beginning the author tells us that he has strung together this हारावली of different मुक्तामणिस. Whatever be the exact title of the work, whether, सुभाषित मुक्तावली or सुभाषितहारावली, one thing is clear that this anthology is in no way connected with the सुभाषितहारावली of हरि कवि alias भानुभट्ट, the court-poet of the Maratha king Sambhaji, the son of Shivaji the Great.

The following table shows the topics of the 32 chapters of this anthology :—

1. The colophons of the Bombay University MS No. 2266 also mention the title of the anthology as "सुभाषितमुक्तावली" (see folios 2 and 3 of this MS).

In the Catalogue of Indic MSS in U. S. A. by H. I. Poleman, 1938, p. 106, he mentions a fragment (No. 2229) of a work called सुभाषितमुक्तावली (folios 3-1). I cannot say if this work is identical with the anthology before me.

2. I quote below the first 3 verses of the anthology :—

" ॥ श्रीगणेशाय नमः ॥

स्फुर्जन्मोहमहान्धकारनिकरप्रद्योतनद्योतिनीं
वाग्देवीमतिव्यवर्द्धितपदां वृक्षारकाणां गणैः।

It will be seen from the above table that the total verses of this anthology come to $311 + 249 = 560$. The MS ends as follows :—

“संवत् षड्दशाशीनितमे' वर्षे चैत्रमासे शुक्लपक्षे द्वितीयायां श्री...ग्रामवासिनो जी...प्रयागस्य सुतवेणिना.....मुक्तामणिः ॥ शुभं भवतु ॥ श्रीरस्तु ॥”

Verses 4 to 13 describe the contents of the 32 मुक्तामणि or chapters and end with the remark “इति ग्रन्थानुक्रमणनिरूपणं.”

1. This date viz. Samvat 1680 (चैत्र शुक्ल द्वितीया) will correspond to Monday, 21st April 1623 (vide Indian Ephemeris, vol. VI. p. 48).

I interpret the chronogram सद्दशाशीति as equal to Samvat 1680 = A. D. 1623 and this date harmonises with the present condition of the MS and its calligraphy.

The authorship of the anthology is ascribed to हरि by Prof. Devasthali. I have failed to find any mention of this author in the B. O. R. Institute MS No. 819 of 1886-92 or the Bombay University MS No. 2266, which is incomplete. If the date A. D. 1624 of the B. O. R. Institute MS of the work is correct we may reasonably infer that this anthology was composed prior to A. D. 1600 and consequently it would be an anachronism to connect it with Hari Kavi who composed his Sambhurājacarita in A. D. 1685.

The earlier limit to the date of this anthology can be fixed if we can find in it some datable verses. Unfortunately this anthology does not record the names of the authors or works, to whom it is heavily indebted for its 560 verses. Incidentally one श्रीनिवास-कवि is referred to on folio 3 in the following verse at the end of chapter 2 (हरेः गुणग्रामवर्णनं) :—

“ नाभितस्तव सरोजभूरभूत् तत्सुतेयमबला सरस्वती ।
तत्प्रसादलवणेशगर्विताः श्रीनिवासकवयोऽपि किं विदुः ॥ १४ ॥ ”

Scholars who have closely studied the history of our Subhāṣitas may be able to identify this verse and its author श्रीनिवासकवि. Without a comprehensive Pratīka index to all Sanskrit Subhāṣitas, their chronology must remain vague and undetermined. It is hoped that some of our research institutes would devote their attention to the compilation of such a Pratīka index, which would provide a compass to those who navigate in this ocean of Subhāṣita literature. Many problems of literary chronology will be solved automatically by such a Pratīka index and strengthen the work done in this field by individual workers like myself.

Before closing up this paper I record below the MSS of anthologies bearing the name सुभाषितमुक्तावली :—

Aufrecht makes the following entries in his Catalogus Catalogorum regarding सुभाषितमुक्तावली and its MSS :—

In view of the above manuscript material for the anthology under reference, any scholar interested in Sanskrit anthological literature can undertake a critical edition of it and procure MSS from other sources as well, if available.

11. Śṛṅgāra-kallola, a Love-poem by Rāya-bhaṭṭa and its Rare Manuscript dated A. D. 1602*

Aufrecht records only one MS of a work called Śṛṅgāra-Kallola (= SK) by Rāyabhaṭṭa viz. CC. III, 137—"Peters, 6 p. 28."

This MS is identical with MS No. 362 of 1895-98 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B O. R. Institute, Poona. It consists of 11 folios (10 lines to a page, 36 letters to a line). The MS is written in Devanāgarī characters on country paper, which is old in appearance but well preserved. It begins:—

“ॐ ॥ श्रीगणाधिपतये नमः ॥

भनुनयति गिरीशे द्वाक्यपावर्त्तितांग्याः

The MS ends :—

“अहं सासैवाहं तद्धिमिति लोकव्यग्रहति

न जाने प्रेमाणं परमिह ततो नापि विरहम् ।

* Adyar Library Bulletin, Vol. X, Part 3, pp. 185-188.

1. In the top-margin before the beginning of the text we find the following verse recorded in a slightly different hand-writing from that of the MS :—

“अधरे नववीटिकानुरागो नयने कज्जलमुज्ज्वलं दुकूलं ।

इदमाभरणं नितंबिनीनामितरं मूषणमङ्गदूषणानि ॥ १ ॥”

This verse is identical with verse 29 on p. 263 of सुभाषितरत्नभाण्डागार, N. S. Press, Bombay, 1911. Evidently it has nothing to do with the text of the शृंगारकल्लोल.

रहस्यं नो जानास्त्रिखिलमिदमार्गगमिगमं

छ ॥ ॥ छ ॥ ॥ छ ॥ संवत् १६५८ वर्षे आषणशुदि ९ भाँमे लिपितं मुकुंदेन ॥
श्रीः ॥ छ ॥ ”

It is clear from the above colophon that the MS was copied by one Mukunda in Samvat 1658 = A D 1602. This date of the MS of the SK of Rāyabhaṭṭa enables us to conclude that Rāyabhaṭṭa flourished definitely before A. D. 1602 or even before A. D. 1550.

I have not come across any quotations from the SK except the two verses mentioned as Rāyabhaṭṭa's (रायभट्टस्य) in the anthology Padyaveṇī of Veṇidatta, who composed his Pañcatattva-prakāśikā in A. D. 1644.¹ These two verses are Nos. 311 and 351 in the critical edition of the Padyaveṇī by Dr. J. B. Chaudhuri. They read as follows :—

“ ३११. एकाङ्गि विनिधाय कान्तचरणे तजानुवेशे परं
लीलोद्भितमध्यसा करयुगेनाऽऽबध्य तत्कम्पराम् ।

रायभट्टस्य ”

Dr. Chaudhuri states (p. 113 of Intro. to Padyaveṇī) that these two verses “ appear to have been culled from this work viz.

1. Vide p. 79 of Padyaveṇī (Introduction) ed. by J. B. Chaudhuri, Calcutta, 1944.

the SK of Rāyabhaṭṭa, a MS of which has been noticed by Peterson in his Sixth Report. This MS is identical with MS No. 362 of 1895-98 described by me in this paper. I have verified Dr. Chaudhuri's surmise and found it correct. The text of the two verses reads as follows in the MS of the SK dated A. D. 1602 before me. :—

folio 3—verse 15 *

“ एकाग्रि विनिधाय कांतचरणे तज्जानुदेशे परं
लीळोदंचितमध्यमाकरयुगोनावर्ज्यं तत्कंधरां ।
वक्षस्तस्य धनोद्धतस्तनभरेणापीड्य गाढं रसा- दास्यं धन्यतमस्य पूर्णपुलका चंद्रानना चुंबति ॥ १५ ॥ ”

folio 4 — verse 27

“ प्रस्थाने शकुनानि संतु सततं भद्रं तवोऽज्जुंभता-
मादायेप्सितमाशु तातचरणाभोजं समालोक्येः ।
बाचेऽहं विधिमत्र हंत जविनामग्रेसराणां मम
प्राणानां प्रिय मा स्मभूयथि भवद्विष्टेष्वलक्ष्मागमः ॥ २७ ॥ ”

The identity of the two verses quoted as रायभट्टस्य by Venīdatta with those numbered 15 and 27 in the SK of Rāyabhaṭṭa¹ has now been clearly established. As Rāyabhaṭṭa flourished long before A. D. 1602, the date of the MS of his SK, it is natural that he should be quoted by a subsequent anthologist who flourished about A. D. 1644. In the colophon of the MS of the SK before us Rāyabhaṭṭa is called “महाकवि” and his present poem is called “सुकविरचना” in the last verse 104. We must, therefore, search for any other works of this poet, if they can be traced in any libraries, private or public. For the present the B. O. R. Institute MS of the Śṛṅgāra-Kallola remains as a unique MS of Rāyabhaṭṭa's only available work. As this poem is written in a delightful style with elegant diction it deserves to be published early. I have, therefore, persuaded Prof. N. A. Gore of the S. P. College to edit it and I hope he will publish it in some journal at an early date.

1. Rāyambhaṭṭa, author of यतिसंस्कारप्रयोग mentioned by Aufrecht (CC. I, 526) is evidently a different person (from Rāyabhaṭṭa the author of the SK).

12. A New Approach to the Date of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita*

According to Dr. Saletore¹ Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita is to be assigned to “the last quarter of the Sixteenth and the first quarter of the Seventeenth Century” i. e. between A. D. 1575 and 1625. According to Rao Bahadur Bambardekar² Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita was born about A. D. 1570 and died about A. D. 1635.

* Annals of S. V. Oriental Institute, Tirupati, 1940, ‘Vol. I, pp. 117-127.

1. Vide Karnatak Historical Review (January-July 1937):—“No evidence is forth-coming to suggest that Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita was a Senvi Brahmin. As regards the age in which he lived we learn from the opening verses of Tattva-Kaustubha that he wrote it at the order of Keladi Venkaṭendra (Keladi Venkaṭendrasya nirdeśāt Viduṣām mude). (Read Hultzsch, Report on Sanskrit Mss of South India, II, Intro. Pp. xii, 122, Madras, 1895-1896). The ruler Venkaṭendra mentioned here is to be identified with king Venkaṭapa Nāyak I, who ruled from A. D. 1582 till A. D. 1629 (Rice: Mysore and Coorg from the Inscriptions, p. 157). King Venkaṭapa Nāyak was noted for the patronage he gave to learned men (Read Keladi Basavarāja, Śivatattvaratnākara, Kallola VI, Taraṅga XIII. Ed. by B. Ramarao and Sundara Sastri, Mangalore, 1927; cf. S. K. Aiyangar, Sources of Vijayanagar History, p. 345). He himself seems to have composed a commentary in Sanskrit on the Śiva Gītā of Padma-purāṇa (Trien. Cata. of Mss in the Govt. Ori. Mss Library, Madras, p. 2623). We have, therefore, to assign Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, who calls himself the son of Srimad-vidvan-mukuta-māṇikyā Lakṣmīdhara Bhaṭṭa in the Tattva-Kaustubha to the last quarter of the Sixteenth and the first quarter of the Seventeenth Century A. D.”

2. Vide p. 349 of Bhaṭṭoji-dikṣita, 1939 (Bombay). On p. 341 the author makes the following remarks about the chronology of Śeṣakṛṣṇa, Appaya Dikṣita, Bhaṭṭoji and Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāya:—

“The are no satisfactory means of determining definitely the chronology of Śeṣakṛṣṇa, Appaya, Bhaṭṭoji and Jagannātha. The

I propose now to point out some facts regarding Bhaṭṭoji's date, which have not been recorded either by Dr. Saletore or Rao Bahadur Bambardekar but which go to support the probable chronology for Bhaṭṭoji given by them.

It appears that an author of some some Vedānta works called *Nṛsiṃhāśrama*¹ was the guru of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita and that one of this guru's works was commented upon by Bhaṭṭoji. According to descendants of Appaya state that he lived from A. D. 1554 to 1626 (72 years) while other writers state that he flourished between A. D. 1520 and 1593. Śeṣakṛṣṇa lived before A. D. 1600 while Jagannātha is supposed to have lived before A. D. 1660. The period of Jagannātha's literary activity is given as A. D. 1630 — 1660. There is a Ms of Jagannātha's Citramīmāṃsākhāṇḍana dated A. D. 1652¹— 1653, from which it appears that the present belief of Jagannātha's direct opposition to Appaya is baseless. Bhaṭṭoji is said to have lived from A. D. 1576 to A. D. 1634 or 1640 or 1650. If we base our arguments regarding the rivalry between Bhaṭṭoji and Appaya on the several dates given above we are inclined to think that some of the present beliefs regarding the relations of these two writers are positively baseless as they give rise to anachronisms. Hence we must rely on documentary evidence only in our investigation of this problem."

1. Vide p. 353 of Bambardekar's Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita. On p. 305 some information about Nṛsiṃhāśrama is recorded:— नृसिंहाश्रम was the guru of Bhaṭṭoji. Bhaṭṭoji composed a commentary called विवरण on the work तत्त्वविवेक of नृसिंहाश्रम. This very नृसिंहाश्रम was the guru of Rāṅgoji bhaṭṭa, the younger brother of Bhaṭṭoji. Rāṅgoji in his work, अद्वैतचिन्तामणि refers to नृसिंहाश्रम as guru ("तदुक्तं श्री नृसिंहाश्रम-गुरुचरणैः")

Aufrecht (CC I. 305) makes the following entry about नृसिंहाश्रम and his works in his Catalogue:—

"नृसिंहाश्रम pupil of गीर्वाणेन्द्रसरस्वती and जगन्नाथाश्रम guru of नारायणाश्रम:—

(1) अद्वैतदीपिका; (2) अद्वैतपञ्चरत्न (Oppert, 5878); (3) अद्वैतबोध-दीपिका (Oppert. 4808); (4) अद्वैतरत्नकोश; (5) अद्वैतवाद (K. 114); (6) तत्त्वबोधिनी संक्षेपशारीरकटीका; (7) तत्त्वविवेक Completed at पुरुषोत्तमपुर in 1547; (8) पञ्चपादिकाविवरणप्रकाशिका; (9) भेदधिकार; (10) वाचारम्भण (Hall p. 137); (11) वेदान्तविवेक B. 4.96, See above तत्त्वविवेक."

Rao Bahadur Bambardekar the name of this commentary¹ is तत्त्वविवेक-विचरण while according to Aufrecht its name is तत्त्वविवेकदीपन-व्याख्या or तत्त्वविवेकटीका-विचरण. The colophon of a MS of तत्त्वविवेकदीपन dated A. D. 1618 states that this work was composed by नृसिंहाश्रम (folio 147-MS No. 566 of 1886-92) while Hall states that तत्त्वविवेकदीपन² is a commentary on the तत्त्वविवेक of नृसिंहाश्रम by an unnamed disciple. In the list of Bhaṭṭoji's works recorded by Bambardekar (p. 354) we find the entry "तत्त्वविवेकदीपनव्याख्या." If we are to believe in the testimony of the colophon of A. D. 1618 which clearly states that the work was composed³ by नृसिंहाश्रम, the work तत्त्वविवेकदीपन is a work of नृसिंहाश्रम himself and that Bhaṭṭoji wrote a commentary on this work of his guru. It is, however, stated by Dr. Das Gupta in his *History of Indian Philosophy*⁴ that N (= नृसिंहाश्रम) was "a teacher of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita" and that Bhaṭṭoji wrote the

1. Aufrecht (CC I, 220) records the following Mss of this commentary :—

"तत्त्वविवेकदीपनव्याख्या or तत्त्वविवेकटीकाविचरण or वाक्यमाला by Bhaṭṭoji. Hall, p. 156, K. 120."

Hall, (p. 156) records a Ms of तत्त्वविवेकदीपन which is a commentary on the तत्त्वविवेक of नृसिंहाश्रम by an unnamed disciple.

Some dates of Mss recorded by Hall may be noted here :—

A. D. 1615 — Ms of तत्त्वविवेक of नृसिंहाश्रम dated Samvat 1671. (Hall p. 155).

A. D. 1676 — Date of a Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's आशौचनिर्णय (Hall, p. 156) dated Samvat 1733.

A. D. 1735 — Date of a Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's तिथिनिर्णय (Hall p. 156).

A. D. 1618 — B. O. R. Institute Ms No. 566 of 1886-92 of तत्त्वविवेकदीपन was copied in Samvat 1674.

It ends :— "इति श्रीमद्वेदांतसिद्धांतसाराभिज्ञश्रीमन्नृसिंहाश्रममुनिप्रणीते तत्त्वविवेकदीपने द्वितीयः परिच्छेदः ॥ वेदाश्वरसभूषण्ये हायनं विक्रमाकृतः । शुचिकृष्णद्वितीयायां वासरे गुरुसंज्ञिते । पूर्णानंदाश्रमेणैतल्लिखितं स्वेष्टसिद्धये etc."

2. Aufrecht makes the following entry about तत्त्वविवेकदीपन (CC, I, 220) — "तत्त्वविवेकदीपन by a pupil of नृसिंहाश्रम (नारायणाश्रम?). W. p. 182., Hall, p. 156, K. 118. Ben. 83, Radh. 5. NP. III, 122. Oppert II, 9394."

3. Ms of तत्त्वविवेकदीपन No. 566 of 1886-92 — Folio 98. "इति श्रीवेदांतसिद्धांतसाराभिज्ञ श्रीमन्नृसिंहाश्रममुनिप्रणीते तत्त्वविवेकदीपने प्रथमपरिच्छेदः" A similar colophon for 2nd Pariccheda occurs on⁵ folio 147.

4. Vol. II (1932), p. 54.

“वेदाम्ततत्त्वदीपन-व्याख्या which is a commentary on the commentary तत्त्वविवेकदीपन of नारायणाश्रम (a pupil of नृसिंहाश्रम) on the latter's work, वेदाम्ततत्त्वविवेक.” Whether the तत्त्वविवेकदीपन is the work of नृसिंहाश्रम or of his pupil नारायणाश्रम, its MS of A. D. 1618 should naturally have a special value for us in considering the chronology of नृसिंहाश्रम and his pupils (1) नारायणाश्रम and (2) भट्टोजिदीक्षित, who were evidently contemporaries of each other and junior contemporaries of their common guru नृसिंहाश्रम, who composed his तत्त्वविवेक in A. D. 1547¹ as stated by Aufrecht. The chronological relation of these two pupils with their guru may be represented as follows :—

If नृसिंहाश्रम was living in A. D. 1547 as proved by the date of composition of his तत्त्वविवेक we are unable to accept the date A. D. 1500 for नृसिंहाश्रम given by Dr. Das Gupta,³ and the period of N's

1. The B. O. R. Institute Ms of तत्त्वविवेक (No. 278 of 1895-98) contains the chronogram of the date of composition viz. Samvat 1604 :—

“अह्ने वेदवियद्रसेन्दुगणिते पौषासिते श्रीदिने ।
रक्षो नामनि पूरुषोत्तमपुरे ग्रथे मुदाचीकरत् ॥”

2. नारायणाश्रम's commentary on नृसिंहाश्रम's भेदधिकार is represented by a dated Ms (No. 123 of A 1883-84) in the Govt. Mss Library). It was copied in Samvat 1710 (= A. D. 1654) at Benares.

3. History of Indian Philosophy, Vol. II (1932), p. 216 — “Nṛ-siṃhāśrama Muni (A. D. 1500) was a pupil of Gīrvāṇendra Sarasvatī and Jagannāthāśrama and teacher of Nārāyaṇāśrama who wrote a commentary on his Bhedadhikkāra. He wrote many works etc.”

If a work like Tattvaviveka is composed by its author in A. D. 1547 we may at the best suppose that he was born about A. D. 1500 but his literary activity must be presumed to lie a few years either way from A. D. 1547 i. e. say between A. D. 1530 and 1560 or so.

literary activity must be assigned to the middle of the 16th century say between A. D. 1530 and 1560 and consequently the literary activity of his pupils Bhaṭṭoji (= B) and Nārāyaṇāśrama (= NA) must lie in the last quarter of the 16th Century i. e. between A. D. 1575 and 1600. This inference harmonizes with the date A. D. 1618 in which year a MS of N's pupil's work came to be written as we have seen above. It is also possible to suppose that this pupil was living when the Ms was copied in A. D. 1618, though his guru नृसिंहाश्रम may not have lived upto A. D. 1618.

The date " A. D. 1500 " for Nṛsimhāśrama has also been given by Pt. Siddheswar Shastri Chitrav in his Madhyayugīna Caritrakośa pp. 501 (1937).

1. Vide Indic Mss in American Libraries by Dr. H. Poleman (American Ori. Society) 1939. Dr. Poleman records the following dated Mss of Bhaṭṭoji's works :—

A. D. 1677 — आशौचनिर्णय (Saṁvat 1733) (Ms No. 3026). cf. A. D. 1676 — date of Hall's MS of this work.

Page 155 — A. D. 1754 — तिथिनिर्णय (Saṁvat 1810) (Ms No. 3102) (cf. A. D. 1735 — date of Hall's Ms of this work).

In a work called अद्वैतसुखा (Ms No. 143 of 1902-1907) composed by लक्ष्मणपंडित in Saṁvat 1719 (— A. D. 1663) we find a reference to शब्दकौस्तुभ (of Bhaṭṭoji) :— folio 61 — " इति सूत्रे च शब्दकौस्तुभे च. " Bhaṭṭoji wrote शब्दकौस्तुभ a voluminous commentary on Pāṇini's Aṣṭādhyāyī.

The Boldeian Library contains a Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's त्रिस्थलीसेतु dated Saṁvat 1732 (= A. D. 1676)—Vide p. 286 (Ms No. 1514) of Catalogue Vol. II (Winternitz and Keith) Oxford, 1905.

The following dated Mss of the Praudhamanoramā of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita at the B. O. R. Institute are important for Bhaṭṭoji's chronology :—

No. 657 of 1883-84—Saṁvat 1713—A. D. 1657.

No. 331 of 1895-1902—Saṁvat 1708—A. D. 1652.

A Ms of Siddhāntakaumudī (No. 36 of 1907-15) is dated Saṁvat 1727 = A. D. 1671.

Ms Libraries in India and outside. They are dated A. D. 1664, 1676, 1677, 1735, 1754 etc. These dates would enable us to state that Bhaṭṭoji flourished before A. D. 1650. This limit does not, however, help us very much in the matter of Bhaṭṭoji's chronology. Hara Prasad Shastri, however, gives us a surer criterion to fix the age of Bhaṭṭoji to whom and to whose son, Vatsa-Rāja salutes in his work called the Vārāṇasīdarpaṇapra-kāśikā composed in Saṁvat 1698 (= A. D. 1642). A still better criterion for fixing the limit for Bhaṭṭoji's date is furnished by the date of composition of a work called शब्दशोभा by नीलकंठ शुक्ल, a pupil of भट्टोजि (" भट्टोजिदीक्षितछात्रः ")² This date is Saṁvat 1693 or

1. Vide, p. 175 of Descriptive Catalogue of Kāvya Mss (Vol. VII), Calcutta (A. S. B.), 1934.—वाराणसीदर्पणप्रकाशिका—The author and the commentator of this work are one and the same person वत्सराज.

"The text is not yet found. It was composed in Saṁvat 1698 (संवत् षोडशाष्टनवतितमे वर्षे) as appears from the commentary on the last verse. Herein lies the importance of the Ms under notice as affording a surer criterion to fix the age of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita to whom and to whose son the author salutes at the beginning as his gurus."

Dr. Belvalkar (Systems of Sanskrit Grammar, p. 48) states that सत्वरज्जा a disciple of वीरेश्वर (= भानुजी) son of भट्टोजी दीक्षित wrote in 1641 A. D. I believe that this सत्वरज्जा is the same as वत्सराज the author of the वाराणसीदर्पणप्रकाशिका.

2. Ms of शब्दशोभा (No. 183 of A 1882-83) ends as follows :—

“शुक्लजनार्दनपुत्रो वृष्ठाचार्यस्य दौहित्रः ।

This Ms was copied in Saṁvat 1736 = A. D. 1680. The verses recorded above which contain the parentage of the author and the chronogram (त्रि-नव-षड-एक = Saṁvat 1693) are not found in two other Mss of शब्दशोभा in Govt. Ms Library at the B. O. R. Institute viz.:—No. 494 of 1884-87 and No. 84 of 1866-68.

A. D. 1637 and hence 5 years earlier than Vatsarāja's work of A. D. 1642.¹

We are now in a position to fix two sure limits to Bhaṭṭoji's date viz. A. D. 1547* when his guru नृसिंहाश्रम composed his तत्त्वविवेक at पुरुषोत्तमपुर and A. D. 1637, when his pupil (छात्र) composed his work शब्दशोभा. Bhaṭṭoji must stand chronologically midway between his guru and his pupil as shown below :—

नृसिंहाश्रम —→ pupil भट्टोजि —→ pupil नीलकंठ शुक्ल (wrote (wrote तत्त्वविवेक in A. D. 1547— शब्दशोभा in A. D. 1637
Ms dated 1615 — and another —Ms dated A. D. work in 1558 A. D.) 1680.)

Now the exact period of Bhaṭṭoji's life can be determined only if we can determine the exact periods of the lives of नृसिंहाश्रम and नीलकंठशुक्ल. I shall now tabulate some of the present views regarding Bhaṭṭoji's date :—

1. Dr. Saletore's view	A. D. 1575-1625	This view depends on the identification of Keladi Veṅkatendra with Veṅkaṭapa Nāyak I (A. D. 1582-1629) — Karnātak Hist. Review , 1937
2. Rao Bahadur Bambardekar's view	A. D. 1570-1635	Vide page 349 of "Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita" (1939)
3. Prof. P. V. Kane's view	i. A.D. 1575-1650 ii. A.D. 1560-1620 iii. First half of the seventeenth century	P. 716 of History of Dharmaśāstra , Vol. I P. 517 do P. 454 do

1. Aufrecht (C C I, 395) states that Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita "is quoted by नीलकंठ in the आचारमयूख." According to Prof. P. V. Kane नीलकंठ's literary career falls between A. D. 1610 and 1645 (Hist. of Dharma. I, 440). If the exact date of आचारमयूख is determined it will give us a more exact limit to Bhaṭṭoji's date than what is furnished by the period A. D. 1610-1645 to which the आचारमयूख evidently belongs.

2. Prof. B. N. Krishnamurthi Sarma states that Nṛsiṃhāśrama "wrote one of his works in 1547 and another in 1558" (Vide p. 666 of NIA—Jan. 1940). This statement is against the date A. D. 1500 for Nṛsiṃhāśrama given by Dr. Das Gupta and supports my view about Bhaṭṭoji's date recorded in this paper.

4. Dr. S. K. Belvalkar's view	About A. D. 1630	Vide pp. 46-7 of Systems of Sanskrit Grammar (1915)
5. Prof. S. P. Chaturvedi's view	C. 1600 A. D.	P. 742 of Mysore Oriental Conference Proceedings , 1935
6. Dr. A. B. Keith's view	Seventeenth century	P. 430 (fn. 4) of History of Sanskrit Literature (1928)
7. Dr. M. Winternitz's view	About A. D. 1625	History of Indian Literature (German) Vol. III, p. 394

The above table shows the unstable state of Bhaṭṭoji's chronology. We have, however, indicated in this paper two sure dates on the strength of which the period of Bhaṭṭoji's life can be determined. As Bhaṭṭoji's pupil Nīlakaṇṭha Śūkla¹ wrote a work in A. D. 1637 after having studied Grammar under Bhaṭṭoji (अभ्यस्त-सन्दर्शात्: भट्टोजिदीक्षिततत्वात्:) we may allow a period of about 20 years between this pupil and Bhaṭṭoji. On the other hand if we allow a period of 20 years between Bhaṭṭoji and his guru Nṛsiṃhāśrama who wrote a work in A. D. 1547 the period of Bhaṭṭoji's life would be "A. D. 1557 to A. D. 1627" i.e. a period of 70 years. This period arrived at on the strength of the dates of Bhaṭṭoji's guru and pupil gives independent corroboration to the following views of scholars regarding Bhaṭṭoji's age :—

1. On p. 454 of P. V. Kane's History of Dharmasāstra I, (1930) we read "Nīlakaṇṭha Śūkla wrote a work in Saṃvat 1663. Here "1663" is a misprint for "1693".

Vide., Cata. of Vyākaraṇa Mss (A. S. B., Calcutta, 1931) Vol. VI, Preface, p. CV ff. —

March 1514 — Birth of Nārāyaṇabhaṭṭa, whose son Śaṅkarabhaṭṭa was the guru of भट्टोजि.

A. D. 1586 — Death of Rājā Vīra-vala. शेषकृष्ण the guru of भट्टोजि wrote his प्रक्रियाप्रकाश at the request of this Rājā for the education of his son कल्याण (Prakriyāprakāśa, v. 35). Perhaps कल्याण and भट्टोजि read together.

About A. D. 1580 — भट्टोजि finished his education.

A. D. 1636 — Composition of सन्दर्शना (Leipzig Cata. 760) by नीलकण्ठ a direct disciple of भट्टोजि. M. M. Haraprasad Shastri states that the date "A. D. 1630" given by Dr. Belvalkar for Bhaṭṭoji is wrong.

- (1) P. V. Kane—"A. D. 1560-1620"—60 years.
- (2) B. A. Saletore—"A. D. 1575-1625"—50 years.
- (3) W. A. Bambardekar—"A. D. 1570-1635"—65 years.

I agree with Sir R. G. Bhandarkar's view regarding Bhaṭṭoji's date' in so far as he states that "Bhaṭṭoji lived after the third quarter of the 16th Century" but it is difficult to agree with him when he states that "Bhaṭṭoji's literary activity must have begun at the earliest about the year 1631 A. D. i. e. he might safely be understood to have flourished about the middle of the Seventeenth Century." If this conclusion is accepted it is difficult to reconcile it with the facts recorded in this paper and in particular with the fact that Bhaṭṭoji's guru Nṛsiṃhāśrama composed one of his works in A. D. 1547. To make Bhaṭṭoji of A. D. 1650 a contemporary of his senior of A. D. 1547 would be allowing him a span of life exceeding even the normal span of "three score years and ten."

We have taken A.D. 1637 (= Śaṃvat 1693) as the later terminus for Bhaṭṭoji's date but I think, we can push back this limit to A. D. 1633 (= Śaṃvat 1689) which is the date of a Ms² of Bhaṭṭoji's शब्दकौस्तुभ recorded by M.M. Haraprasad Sastri. If this date is genuine we have before us the earliest dated Ms³ of Bhaṭṭoji's

1. R. G. Bhandarkar: Report (1883-84), Bombay, 1887, p. 51—Bhandarkar states that in the तिथिनिर्णय Bhaṭṭoji mentions several authors and works :—

अनन्तभट्ट, अपरार्क, कालादर्श, ज्योतिर्निबन्ध, त्रिस्थलीसेतु, नारायण, नारायणवृत्ति on आश्वलायन, निर्णयदीपिका, निर्णयामृत, पृथ्वीचन्द्रोदय, प्रतापमार्तण्ड, प्रयोगपारिजात, भार्गवार्चनचन्द्रिका, मदनपारिजात, माधव, रामार्चनचन्द्रिका, विश्वरूपनिबन्ध, सर्वज्ञ-नारायण, स्मृतिचन्द्रिका, स्मृतिदर्पण, स्मृतिरत्नावलि, स्मृतिसंग्रह, स्मृत्यर्थसार, हरदत्त, हेमाद्रि.

त्रिस्थलीसेतु is a work of नारायणभट्ट. The dates of this author given by Prof. Kane are "about A. D. 1550-1560." (Vide., p. 556 of Hist. of Dharma. I).

2. Cata. of Grammar Mss (A. S. B. Calcutta, 1931) p. 11 "4224 A — The same (= शब्दकौस्तुभ by भट्टोजिदीक्षित), country-made paper, 9 × 4 inches. Folia 44 — lines 13 on a page; character, Nāgara.

"Date Śaṃvat 1689. Appearance old." The Ms contains the 3rd adhyāya upto the end of the 3rd āhnika of the 2nd pāda."

3. We have already referred to other dated Mss of Bhaṭṭoji's works bearing the dates A. D. 1652, 1657, 1664, 1671, 1676, 1677 etc.

Śabdakaustubha and consequently we can adjust Bhaṭṭoji's period of life and literary activity between or about two sure chronological outposts viz. A. D. 1547 and A. D. 1633—a period of 86 years.

As a result of the data recorded in the present paper we get the following series :—

नृसिंहाश्रम	→	pupil भट्टोजि	→	pupil नीलकंठ
A. D. 1547-1558		(Ms of his शब्दकौस्तुभ is dated A. D. 1633).		A. D. 1637

I shall close this paper by recording below the chronological data about Bhaṭṭoji referred to in the foregoing paragraphs :—

A. D.

1500 —Date of Bhaṭṭoji's guru Nṛsimhāśrama according to Dr. Das Gupta.

1547 —Nṛsimhāśrama wrote Tattvaviveka at Puruṣottamapura and another work in A. D. 1558.

1615 —Date of a Ms of Tattvaviveka referred to by Hall.

1618 —B. O. R. Institute Ms of Tattvavivekadīpana by Nārāyaṇāśrama, pupil of Nṛsimhāśrama.

1633 —Date of a Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's Śabdakaustubha (R. A. S. Bengal).

1637 —Bhaṭṭoji's pupil Nīlakaṇṭha writes Śabdaśobhā.

1642 —Reference to Bhaṭṭoji by Vatsarāja.

1652 —Date of Ms of Praḍhamanoramā of Bhaṭṭoji (at the B. O. R. Institute).

1657 — —Do—

1663 —Bhaṭṭoji's Śabdakaustubha mentioned by Lakṣmaṇa paṇḍita in his Advaitasudhā.

1664 —Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's Āśaucapraṅkaraṇa (in America).

1671 —Ms (B. O. R. I.) of Bhaṭṭoji's Siddhāntakaumudī.

1676 —Ms of Bhaṭṭoji's Āśaucanirṇaya referred to by Hall.

13. A Rare Manuscript of the Vedabhāṣya-sāra of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita*

In the list of works recorded by Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum under the entry ' " भट्टोजिदीक्षित " ' no work of the name " वेदभाष्य " or " वेदभाष्यसार " is recorded. Rao Bahadur W. A. Bambardekar also makes no mention of any such work in his recent work² on Bhaṭṭoji while giving a complete list³ of Bhaṭṭoji's works. In view of these facts and in view also of the absence of reliable data regarding Bhaṭṭoji's life and personality I was interested to know from Pandit Raghunātha Kṛṣṇa Pāṭankar of Rajapur⁴ that he has come across a rare MS of the Vedabhāṣya-sāra of Bhaṭṭoji. Pandit Pāṭankar was also kind enough to send me a copy of this MS made by himself together with a description⁵

3. I note here for ready reference the names of 34 works ascribed to Bhaṭṭoji as given by Rao Bahadur Bambardekar :

अद्वैतकौस्तुभ, आचारप्रदीप, आशौचनिर्णय, आन्हिकम्, कारिका, कालनिर्णयसंग्रहम्, गोत्रप्रवरनिर्णय, चतुर्विंशतिमुनिवरव्याख्या, चन्दनधारणविधि, जातकालङ्कार, तत्त्वकौस्तुभ, तत्त्वविवेकदीपनव्याख्या, तन्त्रसिद्धान्तदीपिका, तन्त्राधिकारनिर्णय, तर्कामृतम्, तिथिनिर्णय, तिथिनिर्णयसंक्षेप, तिथिप्रदीप, तीर्थयात्राविधि, त्रिस्थलीसेतुसारसंग्रह, तैत्तिरीयसंध्याभाष्य, दशश्लोकीव्याख्या, दायभाग, धातुपाठनिर्णय, प्रायश्चित्तविनिर्णय, प्रौढमनोरमा, बालमनोरमा, भट्टोजिदीक्षितीय, भट्टोजिभट्टीय, मासनिर्णय, लिङ्गगानुशासनसूत्रवृत्ति, शब्दकौस्तुभ, श्राद्धकाण्ड, सिद्धान्तकौमुदी. The authorship of Bhaṭṭoji in the case of many of the above works is well known. It is worth while examining doubtful cases.

4. In the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency. Pt. Pāṭankar is associated with the Sanskrit Pathashala at Rajapur. There is a Collection of Sanskrit MSS at this Pathashala.

5. The MS of Vedabhāṣyasāra is old and in a decaying condition. It was procured by Pt. Pāṭankar from his guru, the late Bālaśāstri Māṅkar of Khārepāṭaṇ at some distance from Rajapur. The full name of Bālaśāstri is "Bālakṛṣṇa Lakṣmaṇa Māṅkar."

of the original.' Realizing the importance of this work for the history of Sanskrit literature in general and for the history of Bhaṭṭoji's works in particular, I take this opportunity of thanking Pandit Pāṭankar for the materials for this paper sent by him and at the same time acquainting all students of Sanskrit literature with the contents of this work in brief.

The copy of the Vedabhāṣyasāra before me consists of 16 foolscap pages (about 29 lines to a page) and begins as follows :—

वागीशाद्याः सुमनसः सचर्यानामुपक्रमे ।

ये नत्वा कृतकृत्याः स्युस्तं नमामि गजाननम् ॥ १ ॥

The colophons of the 12 vargas of the work are as follows :—

1. The original MS is now deposited with the Sanskrit Patha-shala Rajapur.

2. Pandit Pāṭankar's remarks on this manner of mentioning the author of the Vedabhāṣyasāra may be noted here :—

"दीक्षितैः स्वीयव्याकरणग्रंथे श्रीवेदभाष्यकाराणां माधवाचार्याणां यत्र स्वमत-समर्थने समुल्लेखः क्रियते तत्र "वेदभाष्यकाराः" इति सादरं उच्यते, यत्र तेषां खण्डनं तत्र "यत्तु माधवेनोक्तं" इति सामान्यतो ह्येकवचनं विधीयते." If this observation is correct we must regard the great grammarian as a "Singular" controversialist in line with other great Pandits of his age.

 „ 14—“ दशमो वर्गः ”
 „ 15—“ एकादशो वर्गः ”
 „ 16—“ इति द्वादशो वर्गः ॥ शिवायनमः ॥ ”

The evaluation of the present work must be left to the students of Sanskrit grammar as the comments of Bhaṭṭoji set forth herein are preponderantly grammatical. That the present work is Bhaṭṭoji's own production is proved by verse 3 quoted above, which explicitly states that Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita has composed this Sāra on the basis of the Vedabhāṣya of Mādhavācārya. In the history of the commentators of the Veda this work of Bhaṭṭoji though brief may have its own place in view of Bhaṭṭoji's reputation as a grammarian. My interest in the present work is purely of a historical nature as I have been studying of late the historical background of Bhaṭṭoji and his pupils and have published so far¹ some papers pertaining to this field.

Bhaṭṭoji refers to the following works and authors in his Vedabhāṣyasāra :—

- (1) माधवाचार्यं p. 1.
- (2) वेदभाष्य (माधवाचार्यरचितं), p. 1.
- (3) भाट्टादिमते, p. 1.
- (4) विवरणाचार्यादिमते, p. 1.
- (5) महाभाष्य, p. 1.
- (6) स्मर्यते, p. 1.
- (7) सूत्रकार, p. 2.
- (8) ऋग्विधान, p. 2. *
- (9) श्रुतेः, p. 2.
- (10) प्रातिशाख्यात्, p. 3, 7.
- (11) तैत्तिरीयाः, p. 3.
- (12) हरदत्तः, p. 5.
- (13) यास्कः, p. 7, 8.

1. These papers are: (1) A new Approach to the Date of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita (Annals, Tirupati, S. V. Ori. Institute, Vol. I, pt. 2 pp. 117-127) and (2) Varaṇarāja, a Pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita and His Works — Between A. D. 1600 and 1650 (Festschrift Prof. P. V. Kane, 1941, pp. 188-199). I have projected a paper on Nīla-kaṇṭha Śukla, another pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita who wrote between 1637 and 1656 A. D.

(14) उत्तररत्ने,¹ p. 14. (" पक्षसी तु स्मृतौ पक्षावित्युत्तररत्ने ")

I have recorded above whatever data could be gathered from the copy² of the MS supplied to me by Pandit Raghunātha Śāstrī Patankar and I now leave it to scholars to see if the present MS is a fragment of a larger work of Bhaṭṭoji of the title Vedabhāṣya-sāra or is a complete work by itself. It is also necessary to examine other works of Bhaṭṭoji with a view to seeing if he quotes this *Vedabhāṣyasāra*³ in any of them.

1. " उत्तररत्ने " is possibly a mis-reading for " उत्तरतन्त्रे ", vide my note on उत्तरतन्त्र (Annals, B. O. R. Institute, Vol. XXI, 1940, p. 133 footnote 1). उत्तरतन्त्र is part of a lost work on lexicography. It is mentioned by Nārāyaṇa Dikṣita in his commentary on the Vāsava-dattā, which I have assigned to the period " between A. D. 1250 and 1550 ". See also Aufrecht CC, I, 63. Bhaṭṭoji's reference to उत्तरतन्त्र evidently supports my evidence. उत्तरतन्त्र is not recorded by Prof. Rāmāvatāra Śarmā in his list of Kośas (Pages LV-LXII of Intro. to Kalpādrū-Kośa, Vol. I, G. O. S. Baroda, 1928). Perhaps someday we may recover this lexicon.

2. Since this paper was drafted Pt. Paṭankar has sent me the original MS of the Vedabhāṣyasāra. It consists of 9 folios (Size; $11\frac{1}{2}'' \times 4\frac{1}{4}''$); 14 lines to a page, 55 letters to a line. The MS is written legibly on country paper. It is quite old and worn out. It appears to be about 250 years old and may belong to the 17th century.

3. Dr. V. Raghavan of the Madras University of whom I inquired about other MSS of this work writes on 3-7-1941 : " We are not able to find any other MS of a Vedabhāṣyasāra by Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita."

14. Lolimbarāja and His Works *

According to Dr. A. B. Keith¹ Lolimbarāja's Vaidyajivana is a late medical work of the 17th Century.

The *Madhyayugīna Caritrakośa*² assigns Lolimbarāja to A. D. 1633.

Mr. Krishnamachariar³ states that Lolimbarāja belonged to Harihara's court, but he does not state when this Harihara flourished.

Aufrecht makes the following entries about Lolimbarāja and his works :—

CC I, 546 — लोलिम्बरज Son of Divākara, client of Harihara, Son of Sūrya :—

2. Ed. by S. Chitrava Shattri, Poona, 1937, p. 721. — This Kośa states that Lolimbarāja was the son of Dinakarabhaṭṭa Joshi of Junnar (Poona District). He had married a Muhammedan girl of the name Ratnakalā. He composed a work on medicine called Vaidyajivana and a commentary on the Bhāgavata called Harivilāsa. He composed some songs as well. His real name appears to have been Tryambakarāja. He calls himself "Kavipātashah."

3. Vide p. 216 (section 129) of Classical Sanskrit Literature, 1937. "To Harihara's court belonged Lolimbarāja, son of Divākara a descendant of Sūryapaṇḍita. In Harivilāsa (Kāvyamālā, Bombay) in 5 Cantos and in Sundara Dāmodara he describes the history of Kṛṣṇa ending with the death of Kāṁsa. He was a great physician and his works on medicine, written in excellent poetry are much admired."

I shall now try to record the chronological data gathered from the available MSS of the works of Lolimbarāja mentioned by Aufrecht in the foregoing entries.

(1) Harivilāsa

About Harivilāsa Dr. A. B. Keith¹ observes :— “about 1050 Lolimbarāja wrote his Harivilāsa which in Canto iii gives the usual descriptions of seasons and in IV of Kṛṣṇa.” If Lolimbarāja wrote about A. D. 1050 a poem of the name Harivilāsa he must be different² from another Lolimbarāja who composed his Vaidyajīvana in the 17th Century as stated by Keith elsewhere (p. 511).

Aufrecht states (C C I, 761) that the Harivilāsa Kāvya is quoted by Puruṣottamadeva in his Varnadeśanā. If this statement is correct it supports Keith's statement that Lolimbarāja wrote the Harivilāsa about 1050 A. D. because the date of Puruṣottama³ as given by Prof. Rāmāvatāra Śarmā is about the 1st half of the 12th Century.

I shall now examine some of the available MSS⁴ of the text of

1. Sanskrit Literature, p. 137 — Footnote :— “Ed. KM. 62. The date C. 1000 ascribed by Bhandarkar p. 20 is dealt with by Pischel (Die Hofdichter des Lakṣmaṇasena, pp. 37 f.). Cf. Fleet Bombay. Gaz. i, 2. 563.”

2. Aufrecht (C C I, 546) evidently supports the identity of the two Lolimbarājas : (1) author of Vaidyajīvana and (2) the author of Harivilāsa by including both these works under one entry.

3. Vide p. xxii of Intro. to Kalpadrakoṣa, Vol. I, Baroda, 1928. Sarvānanda (1159 A. D.) refers to Puruṣottamadeva in his Amara-koṣaṭīkā.

4. The Tanjore MSS Library contains 5 MSS of the Harivilāsa (Vide pp. 2854 ff. of Tanjore MSS Cata. Vol. VI, 1929).

MS No. 3857 does not contain verse 96 at the end of Canto V of the printed Kāvya-mālā Edition. This verse contains a reference to the poet as रत्नकलारमण.

MS No. 3858 contains the verse “श्रीमान् ब्रह्मरत्नो ... चिरम्” giving the genealogy of King Hari, the patron of the author.

MS No. 3859 does not give the verses containing the reference to रत्नकलारमण.

the Harivilāsa as found in the Kāvyamālā Edition (1895), Part XI (pp. 94 to 133). This examination may give us some dates of the MSS of this poem as also the date of composition of the poem as recorded in the MSS :—

MSS Nos. 8860 and 8861 are incomplete.

The Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute contains the following MSS of the Harivilāsa :—

(i) No. 78 of 1871-72 — ends —

“ नानागुणैरवनिमंडनमंडनस्य । श्रीसूर्यसुहृदिभूमिभुजो नियोगात् ।

त्रैलोक्यकौतुककरं क्रियते स्म कार्य । लोलिबराजकविना कविनायकेन ॥ ५४ ॥

इति श्रीमत्सूर्यपंडितकुलालंकारहरिहरमहाराजोद्योतितलोलिबराजविरचिते हरिविलासे महाकाव्ये कंसवधो नाम पंचम सर्गः ”

Date of the copy is recorded as “ रमवेदेष्टुभूषाके १५४६ ” = A. D. 1624.

(ii) No. 467 of 1884-87.

(iii) No. 468 of 1884-87 — “ हरिविलासः संपूर्णः किं त्यक्वेत्यारभ्य तदास्तां चिरमित्यन्तं पद्यद्वयं हरिविलासमुद्रणान्तावसरे श्रीहरिचन्देति प्रसिद्धमहाधनिक-पुस्तकागारोपलब्धं ततश्च हरिहरमहाराजस्य पितामहो हामरसशर्मा गयागिरिनिवासी मौन्यु-पनामको भार्गवगोत्रोद्योऽवगतः जननी च हरिहरमहाराजस्य येल्लहम्बिकेति भूमिकायामनुक्त-मपि स्मर्तव्यमिति शमिति । ”

(iv) No. 487 of 1887-91 does not contain verses 96 and 97 at the close of Sarga V (printed text). It does not contain the two verses beginning with “ किं त्यक्त्वा ” and ending with “ चिरम् ” found in some MSS as substitutes for verses 96 and 97 of the printed text.

(v) No. 204 of 1879-80 does not contain verses 96 and 97 referred to above. It does not contain the two verses beginning with “ किं त्यक्त्वा ” etc. ending with “ चिरम् ”. It ends as follows :—

“ काव्यं हरिविलासाख्यं ये पठिष्यन्ति केचन ।

तेभ्यः श्रीहरिरत्रैव द्रव्यं दास्यति दैन्यद्वत् ॥ १ ॥

शके मिते बाणनभः शरैर्दुभिः सुभानु संवत्सरकोत्तरायणे ।

अमोघमासस्य च शुक्लपक्षे कलौ कृतं काव्यमिदं जगन्मुदे ॥

इति । हरिविलासः ॥ ”

The above verse gives Śaka 1505 = A. D. 1583 as the date of composition of the poem (Vide IHQ, Dec. 1936 pp. 719-20 of Mr. Patkar's article).

The foregoing examination of the MSS of the Harivilāsa gives us the following chronology :—

A. D. 1583 —Date of composition recorded in a verse found in two MSS at the B. O. R. Institute, one of these MSS being copied in A. D. 1622.

A. D. 1622 —Date of MS (No. 204 of 1879-80).

A. D. 1624 —Date of MS (No. 78 of 1871-72).

In the Kāvya-mālā Edition of this poem we find the following verses' before the last verse “ नानागुण....कविनायकेन ” :—

The date of copying of the MS is “ संवत् १६७९ ” “ शाके १५४४ ” = A. D. 1622-3.

(vi) No. 377 of 1884-86 — This MS ends as follows :—

“ किं त्यक्त्वा वसतिर्बलिद्वितितले पातालमेवाश्रितं
भो भोगीश्वर हं तत्र सततं मां क्लेशयन्त्यर्थिनः ।

सुभानुसंवत्सरकोत्तरायणे ।

The above colophon is important as it contains (1) the genealogy of the author's patron from King हरि of गयाचलगिरि and (2) the date of composition of the poem viz. 1505 = A. D. 1583 found in MS No. 204 of 1879-80.

1. The editor of the Kāvya-mālā states that in some MSS the

“सुजनैः कुजनैरपि रत्नकलारमणस्य कवेः कविताश्रयणात् ।
 रमणीभणितं सुरलीरणितं भ्रमरीभणितं नृणवद्गणितम् ॥ ९६ ॥
 भतसी कुसुमोपमेयकान्तिर्यमुनाकूलकदम्बमूलवर्ती ।
 नवगोपवधूविनोदशाली वनमाली वितनोतु मङ्गलानि ॥ ९७ ॥”

These verses are not found in any of the B. O. R. Institute MSS including MS dated A. D. 1624 (No. 78 of 1871-72). Verse 96 contains a reference to the poet as रत्नकलारमणस्य कवेः i.e. as husband of रत्नकला, which is significant in view of the MS of रत्नकलाचरित (med.) recorded by Aufrecht viz. I O. 2079 and B. 4. 234.

It is possible to surmise that the verses 96 and 97 found in the Kāvya-mālā edition of the Harivilāsa and containing the epithet रत्नकलारमण with reference to the poet are a later interpolation.

(2) Commentaries on the Harivilāsa

MS No. 182 of 1902-07 — This is a MS of a commentary on the 1st Sarga of the Harivilāsa (by Raghunātha) called Subodhinī.

following two verses are found in place of verses 96 and 97 adopted by him in the printed text :—

“किं त्यक्त्वा वसति बले क्षितितले पातालमेवाश्रितं
 भो भोगीश्वर हन्त तत्र सततं मां क्लेशयन्त्यर्थिनः ।
 अस्ते कोऽपि हरिर्गयाचलगिरौ क्षमापालचूडामणि-

 आसीत्तस्य सुतः सुरासुरकृतिं येहहाम्बिकायां चिरा-
 ल्लेभे श्रीहरि नाम रत्नमवनीमध्ये तदास्तां चिरन् ॥”

The genealogy of the patron of the author of the Harivilāsa as given in the above verses is as follows :—

हरि (King at गयाचलगिरि)
 द्वारस (a द्विज of मौनिभार्गवकुल)
 रविपण्डितः
 × येहहाम्बिका
 Son
 हरि (patron of लोलिवराज author of हरिविलास)

Raghunātha states that our poet Lolimbarāja was a resident of Junnarapattana or the town of Junnara and was an incarnation of the goddess of the place Satyaśṛṅga.¹ It appears from this statement that the commentator Raghunātha was aware of the association of Lolimbarāja with Junnar in the Poona District but as we don't know the date of Raghunātha it is difficult to determine the exact antiquity of this association.

MS No. 425 of 1884-87 — This is a commentary by Bhaṭṭa Kamalākara, son of Caturbhujā. It is called *Sāhitya Saccandrikā*². As the MS is fragmentary it is difficult to make any immediate use of it for chronological purposes.

I have noticed the above commentaries³ on the Harivilāsa

1. Vide verses 4 and 5 on folio 1 which read as follows :—

“सत्यशृंगनिवासिनी भगवती लीलावतारोभव-
च्छ्रीमज्जुनरपत्तनाधिवसतिर्लोलिंबनामा कविः ।
तत्काव्ये भगवत्प्रिये हरिविलासाख्ये मया टिप्पणं

हरिविलासकाव्यस्य श्रीलोलिंबराजकवेः कृतौ ।

On folio 12 the commentator explains “लोलिंबानां” “वैद्यानां” and quotes a lexicon in his support :— “लोलिप्रस्तु चिकित्सकः इति केशवः” । In the colophon he refers to his guru व्यवकराज (“श्रीमत्त्र्यंबकराजगुरुचरणप्रसादे प्रेरितः”).

2. On folio 14 we have the following Colophon :—

“इति श्रीमच्चतुर्भुजसुतभट्टश्रीकमलाकरविरचितायां साहित्यसचंद्रिकायां हरिविलास-व्याख्यायां प्रथमसर्गः समाप्तः ।

Colophon of II Sarga reads as follows :—

briefly because Aufrecht records only two commentaries on this poem only one of which is available to me viz. that by Kamalākara noticed above.

(3) Ratnakalā Caritra

Only two MSS of the Ratnakalā Caritra have been recorded by Aufrecht. The MS in the India Office Library¹ is described as “a dramatic poem of 81 verses (mainly Prākṛit) by Lolimbarāja.” This MS is dated Samvat 1708 = A. D. 1651. The interlocutors in this dramatic poem are Lolimmarāja, Ratnakalā a Sakhī, a budhī (?), Daūlata and Ātmārāma. Bühler records a MS² of the Ratnakalā Caritra but he has included it in the works on Medicine.

As the poem appears to have been composed in Marāṭhī its author may have been a resident of Junnara. He may also be

1. Vide, p. 1491 of Vol. VII of Ind. Office Mss Catalogue (1904), Ms No. 2079c. Verse 1 at the beginning refers to the author :—

“ जयति धरणिपीठे लाललोलिम्मराजः । ”

Verse 83 at the end also contains a reference to the poet :—

“ लोलिम्मराजरचितैर्विधैर्विचित्रैर्-
वैदग्ध्यवद्विरहरत्नकलाचरितैः । ”

The specimens of the Prākṛit as recorded in the catalogue may be given here :—

last verse— “ अतिरत्नकलाचरित्रजाले identical with the रत्नकलारमणकवि' referred to in the verses 96 and 97 which appear to me to be an interpolation substituted in the Hari-vilāsa in place of the verses giving the genealogy of the patron of the author with some particulars, which yet remain to be identified.

Lolimbārāja the author of the Ratnakalācaritra referred to above appears to be identical with Lolimbarāja about whom the following particulars are recorded in Marāṭhī sources :—

In the History of Marāṭhī Literature called the *Mahārāṣṭra Sārasvata*² by V. L. Bhave some account of poets of the " 16th Century " is recorded. This account furnishes the following particulars about Lolimbarāja :—

Lolimbarāja is known as the author of a commentary in Marāṭhī on the 10th skandha of the Bhāgavatapurāṇa. He was a resident of Junnar.³ His surname was Joshi and his descendants are still living in Junnar province. He wrote a Sanskrit work on medicine called the Vaidyajīvana. Many songs attributed to him are found in literature and in some old MSS. He was a well-known saint being included among the saints like उद्धवचिद्धन, रङ्गनाथ and शिवराम. Devadāsa⁴ also refers to him.. The account of his early

1. The Vaidyajīvana contains references to रत्नकला as follows :—

"अबले कृत कामबले चलहक् कमले कमलातनुरत्नकले " I. 74.

"अपि रत्नकले कलानिधे कुशले कोकिलकामलस्वरे " I. 79.

"अयि रत्नकले नीलनलिनछन्दने क्षणे " III. 12.

"रत्नकला कृते मूलं गवाक्ष्या. " etc. III. 43.

"अयि रत्नकले कुङ्कुमाकलहंसकलहंसकलत्रसमानगते " IV. 46.

The Commentator Harinātha (A. D. 1674) explains the name " रत्नकले " as " रत्नजातिश्रेष्ठे " (fol. 30 of Ms No. 913 of 1887-91). This explanation as also his explanation of रत्नशृङ्ग as हिमालय (fol. 4) is indicative of the fact that he (as early as A. D. 1674) was not aware of the biographical particulars about the Deccani Lolimbarājā. In verse 22 of Vaidyajīvana a medical preparation is named after रत्नकला " चूर्णं रत्नकलाभिधं गुडपयोयुक्तं etc).

3. Raghunātha in his Commentary on the Harivilāsa calls लोलिंबा's resident Junnar (" जुन्नरपत्तनाधिवसति: लोलिंबनामा कवि: ")

4. Bhave quotes the following reference to Lolimbaraja in Devadāsa's work :—

life is very interesting. He was the son of Divākarabhṭṭa.¹ In his younger days he was of a gay temperament and given to enjoyments. From a work called लोलिबराजआख्यान it appears that he married a beautiful young Mahomedan girl whom he named रत्नकला.² He was extremely attached to her. After her death his outlook on life changed- He then became a devotee of सप्तशृङ्गभवानी³

“ लोलिबराजें करितांस्तवन । मस्तकीहून काढिलें जीवन ।
भक्तवत्सल तूं भगवान । महिमा कोण वर्णू शके ॥ ”

Mr. Bhave mentions two Marathi authors of the name देवदास, one of these two was the pupil of Saint Rāmadāsa, while the other was “ चैतन्यशिष्य (Mah. Sārasvata, p. 285.)

1. In the Colophons of Mss of Vaidyajiṇana Lolimbaraja is called दिवाकरसुनु. This parentage is supported by the following verse towards the close of Vilāsa V of the Vaidyajiṇana (Ms No. 1093 of 1886-92, folio 33^a) :—

“ आयुर्वेदवचोविचारसमये धन्वन्तरिः केवलं
सीमा गानविदां दिवाकरसुप्तांबोधि त्रियामापतिः ।
उक्तं सः कविताकृतां मतिमतां भूभृत्समाभूषणं
कांतोक्त्या कृत वैद्यजीवनमिदं लोलिम्मराजः कविः ॥ २४ ॥ ”

The following editions of the Vaidyajiṇana have been published :—(1) Bombay, 1874 ; (2) Edition with Dīpikā of Sukhānanda and Bhāṣyānīṣṭi of Mihiracandra (Sanskrit and Hindi, Venkateshwar Press, Bombay, 1920).

2. Mr. Bhave quotes the following verses from लोलिबराज आख्यान (p. 169) :—

“ ज्याची कीर्ति जगत्रई प्रगटली मन्दाकिनीचेपरी ।
जो एके घटिकें शंभर नवीं पद्ये विनोदें करा ।
ज्याला ‘ कविपातशाह ’ पदवी विद्वज्जनी दीवली ।
तो हा रत्नकले ! तुला विनवितो लोलिबराजः कवी ॥ ”

3. Raghunātha in his Commentary on the Harivilāsa refers to this goddess and our author's devotion to her as follows :— ‘ सत्य (स) शृङ्गनिवासिना भगवती लीलावतारोऽभवत् ’ (v. 4 at beginning of MS No. 182 of 1902-07).

The Vaidyajiṇana refers to सप्तशृङ्ग in verse 2 at the beginning as follows :—

and after some penance came to be very much respected by the people. His work "Vaidyajīvana" was composed in Śaka 1555 (= A. D. 1633). — Mr. Bhawe then describes a MS of Vaidyajīvana with him as follows :—

All the verses in this MS¹ are in Marāṭhī. The work is narrated to his beloved. The work ends with the line:—"इति श्रीलोलिम्बराजग्रन्थ वैद्यजीवन संपूर्ण"

One त्र्यम्बकराज² is often mentioned in this work. Can we surmise if त्र्यम्बक was the name of the author himself?

Lolimbarāja is referred to by many authors.

(4) Camatkāracintāmaṇi

The Bikaner MS of this work has been described by Rajendralal Mitra.³ He describes it as a work "on practice of medicine. By Lolimbarāja, Son of Divākara Paṇḍita." The parentage of the author given in the colophon⁴ of this MS is Vide p. 433 of Pangarkar's History of Marathi Literature, II (1935). सप्तशृङ्ग is situated to the north of Nasik. The image of the goddess at this place is 12 ft. high, with 18 arms.

1. So far we know only the Sanskrit work Vaidyajīvana. The Marāṭhī Vaidyajīvana referred to by Mr. Bhawe may be a Marāṭhī translation of the Sanskrit original by the author himself or by रघुनाथ, the Commentator of the Harivilāsa, who mentions त्र्यम्बकराज as his गुरु in this Harivilāsaṭīkā while Mr. Bhawe informs us that the Marāṭhī Vaidyajīvana contains numerous references to one त्र्यम्बकराज.

2. Raghunātha in his commentary on the Harivilāsa refers to one त्र्यम्बकराज as his guru (see MS No. 182 of of 1902-07).

3. Catal. of Bikaner MSS, Calcutta, 1880, p. 635.

identical with that given in the MS of the Vaidyajivana.¹ Burnell² describes a MS of Camatkāracintāmaṇi, but he does not say anything about the authorship of the work, perhaps owing to the incomplete nature of the MS.

(5) Vaidyāvatamsa

Burnell³ describes a MS of this work and states that it is a work by Lolimbarāja. He does not say anything about the parentage of this author.

The above work described by Burnell is identical with the work⁴ Vaidyāvatamsa at the B. O. R. Institute, viz. No. 601 of

The name "लाललोलिम्बरज" given in the above Colophon is exactly identical with "लाललोलिम्भराज" in the following line of the रत्नकलाचरित्र (I. O. MS) :—

"क्षणमरि तुम्हि आणा लाललोलिम्भराजः"

1. In verse 3 of Vaidyajivana, Lolimbarāja refers to दिवाकर as follows :—

"दिवाकरप्रसादेन रोग्यारोग्यं समाहया ।

समासेन वयं कूर्म वाक्यं सदैवजीवनम् ॥ ३ ॥"

"Recent. The abstract in red is mostly in Mahratta."

According to लोलिम्बरज आख्यान referred to by Br. Bhave Lolimbarāja was given the title कविपातशाह (ज्याला कविपातशाह पदवी विद्वजनी दीधली) Compare this statement with the above line from Vaidyāvatamsa viz. "कविकुलमुलतानो लालिलोलिम्भराजः"

1899-1915. This MS is dated Śaka 1724 = A. D. 1802. The work contains 155 stanzas in all, out of which 7 are devoted to the description and properties of the tobacco plant तमाखू. These stanzas bear numbers 56 to 62 and are followed by the statement that they have been taken from some other work.¹

The name of the work has, however, not been indicated in the MS. These verses appear to me to be an interpolation for the reason that the description of the तमाखू plant as found recorded in them presupposes the plantation² of tobacco in India about which no definite evidence for the period 1600 to 1625 A. D. or so has been available, though references to its importation into India have been recorded. Aśad Beg (died 1626) on a mission from Akbar to Bijapur about A. D. 1603 saw tobacco for the first time. In A. D. 1617 Emperor Jahangir forbade its use as it had very bad effect on the health of many people. In 1660 Tavernier speaks of its growing in large quantities near Barhanpur.¹ The third MS. of the Vaidyājīvana as recorded in the Ujjain MSS² Catalogue is incomplete.

2. Vide article on tobacco in Hobson-Jobson, 1903, p. 925. About A. D. 1604-05 — “ In Bijapur I had found some tobacco. Never having seen the like in India I brought some with me and prepared a handsome pipe of jewel work. His Majesty (Akbar) was enjoying himself after receiving my presents his eye fell upon the tray with the pipe and its appurtenances : he expressed great surprise and examined the tobacco etc.” In the beginning the tobacco was imported into India and was considered an article of curiosity. A gold tobacco-box was presented by the King of Siam in A. D. 1622 to Mr. Richard Fursland, “ the President of the English nation ” at Jaccatra (vide p. 297 of the Journal of the Siam Society, August, 1938).

(6) Vaidyājīvana

I am not aware of the authority on which Mr. Bhavé³ made his statement that the Vaidyājīvana was composed in A. D. 1633 (śaka 1555). Prof. Velankar states that Bühler⁴ records a MS of the Vaidyājīvana which is dated Samvat 1664 (= A. D. 1608). If this date of MS is correct it conflicts with the above date of composition of the Vaidyājīvana given by Mr. Bhavé, viz. A. D. 1633.⁵ Harinātha's commentary⁶ on the Vaidyājīvana was composed in Samvat 1730 = A. D. 1674. We may, therefore, safely put about A. D. 1650 as one terminus to the date of Lolimbarāja.

Though MSS of all the commentaries on the Vaidyājīvana are not available to me for examination, I may record here the following dates gathered from the MSS of the work in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute.

VĴ with Rudrabhaṭṭa's Comm.	178	A 1882-83	1822	1687	1766

It will be seen from the above table that the oldest dated MS of the VJ at the B. O. R. Institute is dated A. D. 1766, but this date of MS is of no use in our chronology of Lolimbarāja's works. In the Catalogue of Ujjain MSS a MS¹ of the VĴ with Rudrabhaṭṭa's Commentary dated Śaka 1728 (= A.D. 1806) has been recorded.

Kielhorn² records two dated MSS of the VĴ; one is dated Samvat 1810 = A.D. 1754 while the other of the commentary of Jñānadeva or Dāmodara is dated Samvat 1669 = A. D. 1613. If this date of a MS of VĴ, viz. A.D. 1613 is correct it supports the date A.D. 1608 of a MS of the text of the VĴ, recorded by Bühler. The cumulative effect of these two dates would enable us to push back the date of Lolimbarāja before A. D. 1600³. This conclusion

2. C. P. MSS, Nagpur, 1874, p. 221 — MS No. 74 — वैद्यजीवन सटीकम् — Samvat 1810 and MS 75 — वैद्यजीवनटीका of Jñānadeva or Dāmodara — Samvat 1669.

3. Mr. Pangarkar (in his History of Marathi Literature, Vol. II (1935), pp. 603-4) repeats the date of composition of Vaidyajiṇana viz. Śaka 1555 (= A. D. 1633) given by Mr. Bhawe. He further states that Lolimbarāja's Chronology lies between Śaka 1500 and 1570 i.e. Between A. D. 1578 to 1648, a period of about 70 years. According to Mr. Pangarkar Ratnakalā was the daughter of the Yavana Subhedār of Junnar.

based on the actual dates of MSS makes it impossible for me to believe in the accuracy of the statement of Mr. Pangarkar that Lolimbarāja flourished between A.D. 1578 and 1648.

The evidence recorded so far about Lolimbarāja's works leads me to divide it into two sections: (1) Evidence about Lolimbarāja, the author of the poem Harivilāsa and (2) Evidence about Lolimbarāja the author of Vaidyajivana and other works. The details of this evidence may be best represented as follows :—

Lolimbarāja I	Lolimbarāja II
(1) Author of Harivilāsa-kāvya (= HK). (2) Composed HK in A. D. 1583. The verse recording the chronogram for this date is found in two MSS of the HK, one of them being copied in A.D. 1622. (3) In the HK the author refers to himself, only as “लोलिबराज कविनायक” in the concluding verse of every Sarga in which he also states that he composed the poem HK by order of king हरि. (4) MSS of HK are dated as follows :— A. D. 1622 — No. 204 of 1879-80 A. D. 1624 — No. 78 of 1871-72. (5) Except the name Lolimbarāja the HK gives no information about the author. Verses 96 and 97	(1) Author of the following works :— (i) Vaidyajivana = VJ. (ii) Vaidyāvataṃsa = VT. (iii) Camatkāracintāmaṇi = CC (iv) Ratnakalācarita = RC and other Marāṭhī works. (2) The following chronology of the MSS of this author is available :— A.D. 1608 — MS of VJ. A.D. 1613 — MS of VJ-Comm. of Dāmodara. A.D. 1651 — MS of RC (I O. MS) A.D. 1674 — Harinātha composed Comm. on VJ. A.D. 1766—MS of Rudrabhaṭṭa's Comm. on VJ. (3) The parentage of this author is given in the CC as दिवाकरपण्डितसूनु. (see Colophon) and in the VJ (in the text and in the Colophons). (4) No reference to the patron king is found in the works referring to the poet as रत्नकलारमण are spurious.

Lolimbarāja I

- (6) Verses 96 and 97 at the end of the printed edition of the HK are spurious as they are not found in any of the 8 MSS of the HK examined by me. On the contrary the verses recording the genealogy of the patron of our author are supported by the following MSS : —

(i) Ms referred to in No. 468 of 1884-87.

(ii) No. 377 of 1884-87 which records the date of composition viz. A.D. 1583.

(iii) MS referred to by the Editor of the Kāvya-mālā Edition of the HK in the footnote at the end of the poem.

(iv) Tanjore MS No. 3858 contains the verse " श्रीमान् लहामरसो etc. "

- (7) There is no evidence in the HK to prove that its author belonged to the Mahārāṣṭra. On the contrary, the patron king of this author hailed from a place called गयाचलगिरि. This king's genealogy is as follows : — हरि-लहामरस रवि-पण्डित (m. येल्हांविका) son हरि (patron of the author of the HK).

This line belonged to मौनिभार्गवकुल which is called a द्विजकुल.

Lolimbarāja II

Vj, VT, CC, RC. This omission stands in vivid contrast with the name of king Hari referred to many times in the HK of Lolimbarāja I.

- (5) Ratnakalā, supposed to be the wife of this author is referred to in the RC which bears her name in the Vj in which she is addressed by name in some verses and in the Marāṭhī work लोलिबरज आख्यान, in which our author is called कविपातशाह.

In the VT the author calls himself कविकुलसुलतान as also कविपातशाह (v. 155).

- (6) The reference to the place सप्तशृङ्ग is found in verse 2 of Vj (this may be the सप्तशृङ्ग to the north of Nasik). This author belonged to the Mahārāṣṭra. The commentator Harinātha (A.D. 1674) having no knowledge of the सप्तशृङ्ग hill near Nasik wrongly explains the expression "सप्तशृङ्गास्पदं" as "सप्तशृङ्गे हिमालये एव आस्पदं स्थानं यस्य तत्" (fol. 4 of MS 913 of 1887-91). Rudrabhaṭṭa explains the expression as "सप्तशृङ्गाख्यः पर्वतः etc." (fol. 3 of MS No. 463 of 1895-98).

I hope the evidence recorded in this paper about Lolimbarāja and his works will enable scholars' to clarify some of the issues raised in this study but which still require more evidence to enable us to arrive at definite decisions. I have tried to put together whatever information I could get from the sources so far available to me with a view to helping a more detailed examination of the several works of Lolimbarāja than what I have been able to carry out in the preparation of this tentative study.

1. Since this paper was drafted Dr. V. Raghavan of the Catalogus Catalogorum office, Madras University, has sent to me the information recorded by his office regarding Lolimbarāja and his works. Some of this information may be recorded here :—

- (1) Edition of Harivilāsa-Kāvya (Pandit, II) — Here the editor makes Lolimbarāja a contemporary of Bhoja.
- (2) There are numerous MSS of the Harivilāsa, in none of which we find the chronogram (= A. D. 1583) found in the B. O. R. Institute — 2 MSS.
- (3) In the Vaidyajivana Lolimba describes himself as proficient in Vaidyaka, Kāvya and Music. No MS of a music work of Lolimba has yet been found.
- (4) In the South Indian MSS of the Vaidyajivana (Trien. Cata. No. 2221, 2371, 2844 (a) the work is called "Sadvaidyajivana."
- (5) In Madras MS No. 2371 referred to above the colophon says that Lolimba was the son of king of Muñja of Vidarbha.
- (6) Rudrabhaṭṭa, the commentator on the Vaidyajivana, was the son of Koneribhaṭṭa who was doctor to one Khān Khān and Rudra himself wrote under Mirrkhān. If the identity of these two Khānas is proved we may have some external datum for Lolimba's date limits. — I am thankful to Dr. Raghavan for the information sent by him.

A BIG ANTHOLOGY OF ŚṚṄĀRA VERSES BY RĀMA
AND ITS RARE MANUSCRIPT DATED A. D. 1556

Recently I sent for publication a paper on the date of an anonymous anthology of the title Subhāṣita-muktāvalī composed some time before A.D. 1600. While examining MSS in the Government MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute under this title I came across the following MS which is dated Sanvat 1612 (= A.D. 1556) and hence very useful to the students of the history of Sanskrit Subhāṣita literature :—

No. 92 of 1883-84 (सुभाषितमुक्तावली—शृङ्गारालाप), folios about 82, appearance old, well preserved, णट्टमात्राs used occasionally. The MS begins :—

The foregoing description of the rare MS of the शृंगारालाप of सुभाषितमुक्तावली discloses the following facts about this work and its importance :—

(1) The total number of verses in this big anthology on Love (Śṛṅgāra) is about 1145 as can be seen from the following table :—

Chaptar	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	IX	X	XI	Total
Verses	105	104	111	101	102	102	102	106	109	100	103	= 1145

This is perhaps the biggest anthology on Love devoted to Śṛṅgāra alone.

(2) The date of this MS No. 92 of 1883-84 (शृंगारालाप) is Samvat 1612 = A.D. 1556, as recorded in the olophon at the end.

(3) The MS was written by one याज्ञिक राम in his own hand (स्वहस्तेन) and for his own study (स्वस्मै पठनाय). राम gives the genealogy of his याज्ञिक family as follows :—

मदन (याज्ञिक)

Son

धरणीधर

Son

कामा

Son

हाना

Son

गणेश

Son

राम (who copied the MS in A.D. 1556)

(4) As regards the name of the author I have to state that I could not trace his name anywhere except in the following verse on folio 55 at the end of the 7th Chapter of the शृंगारालाप :—

“ इदं शतं पुण्यकृतात्मनो (ति !) प्रियं

प्रतीक्षणं चैव विलोकनीयं ।

मयोद्धृतं सादरकेण नाम्ना

रामेण चेदं कुलीनेन नूनं ॥ ”

The author states that this 7th Chapter of 100 verses or so was composed by him, of the name राम (मया...नाम्ना रामेण उद्धृतं) of a respectable family. Evidently this राम is the author of the entire anthology of 1145 verses.

(5) We have seen above that राम गणेश of the याज्ञिक family copied this MS in A.D. 1556 with his own hand and for his own study. It is possible to suggest that this very राम (याज्ञिक) is identical with कुलीन राम, the author of the शृंगारालाप. He has recorded the genealogy of his कुल for six generations. This fact perhaps explains why he calls himself कुलीन in the verse quoted above. If the above identity is accepted this very याज्ञिक राम becomes the author of this rare anthology and the date of its composition becomes identical with A.D. 1556, the date of the copy before us. Possibly this is an autograph copy of the anthology compiled by राम याज्ञिक from several previous works.

(6) Rāma, the author of this anthology, has taken care to tell us in 8 verses (verses 99-106 at the end of Chapter VIII) that Śṛṅgāra or Love is holy (पवित्र). It is the giver of pleasure and prosperity (सुखद and पुष्टिवर्द्धन.) It indicates good fortune (सौभाग्यद). In fact the author believes that Love is the essence of life and consequently an anthology devoted to Śṛṅgāra is the best anthology ("अतोहि परमुत्कृष्टो शृंगारस्य तु संग्रह."). A man loses all interest in life without Love ("शृंगारेण विना राजन् जायते रसनिस्पृहः"). The author, therefore, exhorts his readers to read his present collection of Śṛṅgāra verses (शृंगारसंग्रह) frequently for pleasure and profit.¹

(7) As Love is the central theme of this anthology the author appropriately invokes the God of Love at the beginning of each Chapter with varied epithets such as मकरध्वजाय, कुसुमशराय, मत्स्यलाङ्घनाय, जगन्मोहाय, कामप्रदीपाय, मनोभवाय, पुष्पचापाय, etc. He is confident that this anthology will stimulate love among married couples as it is an elixir in the absence of which a man must remain ever thirsty ("लोके प्रसिद्धं तथा रम्यं दंपत्योः प्रीतिवर्द्धनं। न पिबेदमृतचेदं संसारे सन्धो भवेत् ॥ ३॥")

(8) The author does not record the names of the works from which he has drawn for his anthology. I note below some names of works and authors which came to my notice during my study of the शृंगारालापः—

- रामनाटक — fol. 26, 65, 76
- शृंगारतिलक — fol. 34, 48
- रघुवंश (तृतीयसर्ग) — fol. 48
- कुमारसंभव — fol. 52, (रतिविलाप) 103
- राम (author himself) — fol. 55
- मेघदूत — fol. 66
- बिलहण — fol. 73
- कालिदास — fol. 73, 78

1. Compare Plato's remarks on Love :—

"Love is the eldest, noblest, and mightiest of the gods, and the chiefest author and giver of virtue in life and happiness after death."

(Vide p. 255 of Dictionary of Quotations, by. Rev. James Wood London, 1922).

The name of बिल्हण in the above list enables us to fix about A.D. 1100 as the earlier limit to the date of शृंगारालाप as the Kashmirian author बिल्हण, who is probably identical with बिल्हण mentioned here, flourished between A.D. 1030 and 1100.

As regards शृंगारतिलक from which our author quotes on folios 34 and 48 I have to point out that it is identical with शृंगारतिलक of रुद्र or रुद्रभट्ट as the following evidence will show :—

Verses 81 and 82 on folio 48 of शृंगारालाप MS read as follows :—

“ शृंगारतिलको नाम ग्रंथोयं ग्रथितो मया ।
व्युत्पत्तये निषेवन्ते कवयः कामनिश्चयं ॥ ८१ ॥
कामनी काव्यकथा कीदृक् वैदग्ध्यं को रसागमः ।
किं गोष्ठी विबुधैः सार्द्धं शृंगारतिलकादते ॥ ८२ ॥ ”

These verses are found at the end of B. O. R. Institute MS of शृंगारतिलक of रुद्र (No. 217 of 1882-83) as follows :—

“ शृंगारतिलको नाम ग्रंथोयं रचितो मया ।
व्युत्पत्तये निषेवन्ते कवयः कामिनः स्वयं ॥ ८२ ॥
काम्या काव्यकथा कीदृक् वदग्ध्ये को रसागमः ।
किं गोष्ठीमंडनं हंत शृंगारतिलकादते ॥ ८३ ॥ ”

It is clear from the above verses, which are practically the same in the MSS of शृंगारालाप and शृंगारतिलक of रुद्र that the author of the anthology is indebted to रुद्र for these verses. The B. O. R. I. MS of शृंगारतिलक which contains these verses is dated Samvat 1654 = A.D. 1598. The work has been printed in the Kāvya-mālā Series Pt. III, 1887.

The identity of रुद्र or रुद्रभट्ट, the author of शृंगारतिलक, with रुद्रभट्ट the author of काव्यालंकारसूत्र who flourished in the first-half of the 9th Century has been questioned by some scholars, but Dr. J. B. Chaudhuri¹ observes that “as early as 1200 A.D. Rudraṭa and Rudra, authors of the Kāvya-lamkāra and the Śrīṅgāra-tīlaka, were considered to be identical.”

The present MS of शृंगारालाप dated A.D. 1556 is very important as all verses in it are earlier than this date. Without a Pratīka

1. Vide p. 113 of Intro. to the Padyavenī of Venīdatta, Vol. I, Calcutta, 1944. Vide article on रुद्रट्ट (A. D. 800-850) in मध्ययुगीन चरित्रकोश, by S. Chitrav, Poona, 1937, p. 710.

Index to all the verses in this big anthology it is impossible to trace them to their sources. On a cursory comparison of some of these verses with those in the सुभाषितरत्नभाण्डागार (N.S. Press, 1911) I find them recorded in this compendium but unfortunately this record is useless for our purpose as the sources of these verses are not indicated by the compilers.

It is difficult to edit this anthology on the basis of the single MS but this task would be easy if a Pratīka Index to the entire anthology is first prepared and then used for tracing many of the verses in earlier sources. Such an Index would give us a chronological control over the material incorporated in this anthology and in this way the work of reconstructing the history of our Sanskrit anthological literature would be facilitated. My friend Dr. E. D. Kulkarni, M.A., Ph.D., has agreed to my suggestion for the preparation of such a Pratīka Index and let me hope that he will start his work on it in the near future.

The rare MS of the Śṛṅgārālāpa described here discloses the following evidence regarding the chronology of this anthology :—

(1) Most probably Rāma, the author of the anthology, is identical with Rāma Yājñika who copied the whole MS in his own hand in A.D. 1556. If this statement is correct, the date of this work is A.D. 1556.

(2) Even if the above identity of the author and the scribe is not accepted we can assign the anthology to the period, A.D. 1100—1556, as it mentions Bilhaṇa of the 11th Century on the one hand and is represented by a MS of A.D. 1556 on the other. More evidence in support of these limits can be furnished only when the several verses in the anthology are traced to their sources.

16. The Chronology of the Works of Mahīdhara, the Author of the Vedadīpa and Mantra-Mahodadhi — Between A. D. 1530 and 1610 *

Aufrecht¹ records several works of Mahīdhara "Son of Rāmabhakta, grandson of Ratnākara, pupil of Ratneśvara, a son of Keśava" who "lived at Benares." These works include works of Mahīdhara composed in A. D. 1539 (Mantramahodadhi) and in A. D. 1597 (Viṣṇubhaktikalpalatāprakāśa). Besides these works Aufrecht records under महोदधिर the works Rudrajapabhāṣya, and *Vedadīpa*² on Vājasaneyisaṃhitā. Evidently Aufrecht's entry presumes the identity of the author of the मन्त्रमहोदधि (A. D. 1589) and the author of the वेददीप, both authors having the same name Mahī-

2. A Ms of Vedadīpa at the B. O. R. Institute (No. 41 of 1887-91) is dated Friday, 28th October 1614. Its colophon on folio 37 reads :—

"संवत् १६७१ वर्षे कार्तिक शुदि षष्ठी भृगुवासरे वात्मिकज्ञाति आचार्यपद्माकरेण लिखितं जयदेवपठनार्थं"

Poleman (Indic Mss in U. S. A., 1938, p. 6) records two Mss of the Vedadīpa in America, one of which is dated Śaka 1715 = 1793 A. D. Other Mss of Mahīdhara's works recorded by Poleman are :—

बृहज्जातकविवरण — Nos. 5069-70 (No 5069 is dated A. D. 1800),

रामगीताव्याख्या — Nos. 1183-84 (No. 1183 is dated A. D. 1678 ; No. 1184 is dated A. D. 1677.

dhara. Dr. Lakshman Sarup¹ assigned the author of the Vedadīpa to the 12th century on the basis of an inscription² dated 1175 A. D. in which two villages have been given³ by Jayacandradeva of Kanoja to one Hṛṣikeśa Śarman who is described as the grandson of “महा-पण्डित महीधर” (पौत्राय). Two years ago I had an occasion to read Dr. Sarup's remarks about an early date for Mahīdhara viz. the beginning of the 12th century. His remarks in connection with the identity of the two Mahīdharas failed⁴ to convince me in the absence of any other corroborative evidence except the similarity of names. I had, therefore, made some study of the available works of Mahīdhara with a view to seeing if Dr. Sarup's date for Mahīdhara is correct or otherwise. Recently, however, Mr. K. M. K. Sarma of the Adyar Library, published a paper⁵ on the “Rudrabhāṣya and date of Mahīdhara and Venkaṭanātha.” In this paper Mr. Sarma makes the following remarks about Mahīdhara's date as given by Dr. Sarup : —

“On the basis of an inscription which mentions a Mahīdhara Prof. Sarup assigns our author to the beginning of the 12th century (Indices and Appendices to the Nirukta, pp. 73-74). This date cannot be accepted for this Mahīdhara whose Mantramahodadhi bears at the end the chronogram अब्दे विक्रमतो जाते वेदबाणनुपैर्मिते (1654 = A. D. 1597). The invocation to Lakṣmīnṛsiṃha at the beginning of both the *Mantramahodadhi*¹ and the Vedadīpa is proof of the identity of the author."

3. This copperplate grant was discovered 60 miles north-east of Benares. It is dated Vikrama Samvat 1232 = A. D. 1175.

4. Aufrecht's identity of the authors of the Vedadīpa and the Mantramahodadhi is also repeated by Keith and Winternitz (Cata. of Bodleian Mss, 1905) p. 36 — “Mahīdhara wrote in A. D. 1598 the Viṣṇubhaktikalpalatāprakāśa (Weber, Cata. I. 158) and the Mantra-Mahodadhi in A. D. 1589 (Bodl. Cata. p. 99) or 1597, Bendall British Mus. Cata. p. 45. n. 2 ”

5. Adyar Library Bulletin, December, 1940 — Mahīdhara mentions सायण माधव and शंकर in his Rudrabhāṣya (“सायणमाधवशंकर. प्रश्रुतिभिः ”), औवट माधवीयम् in the वेददीप. As Mr. Sarma has pointed out महीधर is later than सायण (14th century).

In the B. O. R. Institute Mss of the Mantramahodadhi the date of composition is given as बाणवेदनूपैर्मिते = A. D. 1589 (Sam. 1645).² I shall now consider the verses of invocation in the other works of Mahīdhara :—

(I) The कात्यायनशुल्बसूत्रभाष्य³ (B. O. R. Institute Ms No. 653 of Viś. I. It contains a reference to Nṛsiṃha as will be seen from the verse at the commencement which reads —

1. Ms of the Mantramahodadhi (No. 653 of Viś. I at the B.O.R. Institute begins :—

" प्रणम्य लक्ष्मीं नृहरिं महागणपतिं गुहम् । तंत्राण्यनेकान्यालोक्य वक्ष्ये मन्त्रमहोदधिम् ॥ "

The Vedadīpa begins :—

" प्रणम्य लक्ष्मीं नृहरिं गणेशं
भाष्यं विलोक्यैवटमाधवीयम् ।
यजुर्मनूनां विलिखानि चार्थं
परोपकाराय निजेक्षणाय ॥ "

[See शुक्लयजुर्वेदसंहिता (वाजसनेयी माध्यंदिन) with commentaries by उवट and महोदधर — N. S. Press, Bombay, 1912].

The objective identity of the 1st line of the Mantramahodadhi with the 1st line of the Vedadīpa is not accidental. It proves the identity of authorship for both the works as pointed out by Mr. Sarma.

2. In the British Mus. Ms of मन्त्रमहोदधिटीका (नौका) the chronogram of the date of composition is " सायकवेदभूपति " = A. D. 1589 (Vide p. 46 of Bendall's Cata. 1902).

3. Ms No. 363-of 1883-84 (B. O. R. I.) of the Bhāṣya contains its date of composition viz. Sunday 8th March 1590 = Samvat 1646 Ravivāra, Trayodaśī. (Ind. Ephemeris, Vol. V, p. 382.) The chronogram of this date is found in the colophon of the Ms which reads as follows :—

" रसवेदांगभूषणं भाष्यं धबले दले ।
त्रयोदश्यां रवेवारीं वाराणस्यां महोदधरः ॥ १ ॥
श्रीरत्नेश्वरमिश्रस्य गुरोः केशवजन्मनः ।

“ श्रीनृसिंहं नमस्कृत्य रमेशं भक्तवत्सलं ।
शुक्लस्य विवृतिं वस्त्रि भाष्यवृत्त्यनुसारिणी ॥ ”

The “ रामकृतावृत्ति ” referred to by Mahidhara in verse 3 of the concluding verses of the कात्यायनशुक्लसूत्रभाष्य was composed by रामचन्द्र वाजपेयिन्, who composed his कुण्डाकृति in A. D. 1489 (See Aufrecht C C I, 513) or A. D. 1449 (Kane H. D. Vol. I, p. 534).

(II) In the concluding verses of Mahidhara's विवरण on the योगवासिष्ठसार we find a reference to god नृसिंह or “ नरकेसरी ” in the following extract:—

Ms No. 75 of 1882-83 — folio 71 — “ इति श्रीयोगवासिष्ठसार-

The above Ms is dated Samvat 1775 = A. D. 1719. Another MS of Mahidhara's विवरण on the योगवासिष्ठसार viz. No. 74 of 1882-83 is dated “ संवत् १७३० ” = A. D. 1674. On folio 1^a of this Ms we have the endorsement “ यतीन्द्रमधुसूदनस्यायं योगवासिष्ठसारः शिवाय प्रदत्तः ” Ms No. 279 of 1892-95 is dated Samvat 1808 = A. D. 1752.

(III) Mahidhara mentions God नृहरि in the following verse

God रमानाथ ... नृकेसरी mentioned in verse 4 above is the same as रमेश ... नृसिंह mentioned in verse 1 at the beginning of का. शु. सू. भाष्य).

गुरुपादाब्जयुगं शिवं प्रणम्य ।
गुरुभक्तिलताभिधेन काव्ये
विवृत्तिं वक्षि यथामतीक्ष्णदृष्टे ॥ १ ॥ ”

(IV) The work मातृकानिघण्टु mentioned by Aufrecht as the work of महीधर begins with an invocation to नृसिंह, गणेश and शिव as follows :—

*Ms No. 243 of A 1883-84 — dated Samvat 1875 = A. D. 1819

“ श्रीनृसिंहं गणेशानं भारतामीश्वरं शिवम् ।
नत्वा वक्ष्ये मातृकाया निघण्टं बालबुद्धये ॥ १ ॥ ”

(V) The invocation of the ईशावास्योपनिषद्भाष्य of महीधर reads as follows :—

1. The following verse at the end of the Ms contains the chronogram of the date (श्रुति, बाण, रस, इन्दु).

“ श्रुतिबाणरसेन्दुमानवर्षे
नभसि स्कन्ददिने सितेऽर्कवारे ।
महिदासबुधो गिरीशपुत्र्यां
कृतवान्कल्पलताप्रकाशतां हि ॥ ”

In the Ms (No. 63 of 1886-92) of पुरुषसूक्तटीका by महीधर I do not find any reference to नृसिंह. The Ms of शतरुद्रिय होम (No. 82 of 1886-92) ends as follows :—

“ श्रीमन्महीधरकृते वेददीपमनोहरे ।
शतरुद्रियहोमोऽयं षोडशोध्याय इरितः ”

इति श्रीमहीधरकृते वेददीपे शतरुद्रियहोममन्त्रकथनम् नाम षोडशोध्यायः । ”

2. The Ms ends as follows :—

Folio 5 :—

“ ग्रंथाननेकानालोक्यं महीदासेन धीमता ।
मातृकाक्षरसंज्ञेयबुद्धस्य परबुद्धये ॥ ५७ ॥

इति मातृकानिघण्टः पूर्तिमगमत् ॥ श्री ॥ संवत् १८७५ मा. १२ शनिवारम् ॥ ”

Ms No. 5 of 1895-98 dated Śaka 1775 = A. D. 1853.¹

“ गणेशं नृहरिं लक्ष्मीं नत्वा तत्कृपया मया ।
संहिताचरमाध्याये वेददीपो वितन्यते ॥ १ ॥ ”

(VI) महीधर refers to god नृसिंह in the concluding verse² of his रामगीताटीका which reads as follows :—

Ms No. 31 of A 1883-84 — folio 12.

“ नभोगपद्मरूप मिते³ च वधे
मास्याश्विने कृष्णदले भगाहौ ।
विश्वेशपूयां नृसिंहतुष्टये
श्रीरामगीतां विवृतिमहीत्ताक् ॥ १ ॥

इति श्रीमहीधरविरचिता रामगीतावृत्ति समाप्ता ॥ ”

(VII) In the षडंगरुद्रजपटीका the author महीधर invokes gods नृसिंह, गणेश etc. as follows :—

1. The colophon of the Ms reads as follows :—

Folios 10-11 —

“ श्रीमन्महीधरकृते वेददीपे मनोहरे ।
व्यास्तचर्मोऽध्यायः एवमात्मनः निरूपकः ॥

इति श्रीवेददीपे चत्वारिंशोऽध्यायः ॥ श्रीकल्याणमस्तु ॥

इति वाजसनेयसंहितायां ईशावास्यभाष्यसंपूर्णमस्तु ॥ शके १७७५ प्रमादी नाम संवत्सरे उदगयने प्रौष्ठम्ये ज्येष्ठमासे कृष्णपक्षे दशम्यां गुहवासरे ॥ लिखितं मंरेश्वर सदाशिव पाठकस्थेदं पुस्तकं ॥ स्वार्थं ॥ परार्थं च ॥ हस्ताक्षर शौचे इत्युपनामकस्य वासुदेवेन लिखितं etc. ”

2. The invocation at the commencement of the work is as follows :—

“ गणेशं कमलानाथं प्रणिपत्य गुरोः पदं ।
करिष्ये रामगीताया व्याख्यानं बालश्रोत्रये ॥ १ ॥ ”

3. The chronogram नमस् , अग, षड्, रूप = Sam. 1660 (month of Āśvina, Kṛṣṇapakṣa and Sunday (भगाहौ)). This date may correspond to 16th or 23rd October 1603 (Vide p. 9 of Vol. VI of Indian Ephe-meris). Aufrecht has recorded only two dates of composition of two different works of महीधर viz. A. D. 1589 and 1597. The above chronogram gives us A. D. 1603 as the 3rd date of composition of Mahidhara's work रामगीताटीका.

Ms No. 113 of 1882-83 dated Samvat 1778¹ = A.D. 1722, -fol. 1

“ नृसिंहं गणपतिं वार्णां नत्वा गुरुपदांबुजं ।
चतुस्त्रिंशतेऽध्याये वेददीपोऽधुनोच्यते ॥ ”

From the uniform references to god नृसिंह in his works it appears that महीधर was specially devoted to this god and hence it is but natural that this god should be invoked in the वेददीप as also in the मन्त्रमहोदधि and other works of महीधर.

In addition to the identity of invocations at the beginning of the वेददीप and मन्त्रमहोदधि Mr. Sarma urges against Dr. Sarup's date for महीधर the identity of the genealogy² of महीधर as recorded by him in the वाजसनेयसंहितादीका called वेददीप and also the मन्त्रमहोदधि. Both these works give an identical genealogy as follows :—

1. This date is recorded on folio 20 — “ संवत् १७७८ वर्षे माघ शुदी गुरवौ लेखः ”

Folio 25 “ इति षडंगद्वयजपभाष्यं भट्टमहोदासविरचितं समाप्तं ”

The B. O. R. I. No. 63 of 1886-92 is महीधर's भाष्य on the पुरुषसूक्त. It does not contain any reference to god नृसिंह either at the beginning or at the end. It ends — “ वेददीपे महीधरकृते. ”

2. This is given in the Vedadīpa, as also in the Mantramahodadhi :—

“ श्रीमद्वत्सकृषेः कुले समभवरला (द्रव्णा) करः पण्डितः
तत्सूनुः फनुसंज्ञकः समजनि श्रीविद्ययोर्भाजनम् ।
तत्पुत्रस्तु महीधरः समलिखन्मन्त्रार्थं मेले (शे) पुरे
स्वीयज्ञानकृते तेनो (ततोवि) तनुतां सन्मन्त्रं श्रीपतिः ॥ ”

(Weber Vāj. Sam. Various Readings and Corrections of the Press, p. 19).

“ आसीद्रव्णाकरो नाम विद्वान्ख्यातो धरातले ।
तत्सन्तुष्टो रामभक्तः फनुभट्टाभिधोऽभवत् ॥ महीधरस्तदुत्पन्नः संसारासारतां विदन् ।

— Mantramahodadhi (Calcutta Edn. p. 398).

महीधर (author of वेददीप' and मन्त्रमहोदधि composed in A. D. 1589)

The above identity of genealogy furnished by both the Vedādīpa and the Mantramahodadhi is a conclusive proof of the identity of authorship for both the works, one of which was composed in A. D. 1589.

In the Mantramahodadhi Mahīdhara refers to a son of his, called कल्याण, who along with other Brahamans helped Mahīdhara to compose the Mantramahodadhi in A. D. 1589.²

1. The B. O. R. Institute possesses the following dated Mss of the Vedādīpa :—

No. 31 of 1879-80 — Śaka 1672 = A. D. 1750.

No. 10 of A. 1881-82 — Sam. 1858 = A. D. 1802.

No. 32 of 1879-80 — Sam. 1728 = A. D. 1672.

No. 41 of 1887-91 — Sam. 1671 = A. D. 1615.

Vide folio 37 —

“ संवत् १६७१ वर्षे कार्तिक शुदि षष्ठी मृगुवासरे वास्मीकज्ञातिआचार्यपद्माकरेण लिखितं जयदेवपठनार्थं परोपकारार्थं शुभमस्तु ”

This appears to be the earliest dated Ms of the Vedādīpa copied in A.D. 1615 i.e. 12 years after महीधर's composition of the रामगीताटीका in A. D. 1603. The India Office Mss of the Vedādīpa bear the date Samvat 1791 = A. D. 1735 (Vide p. 29 of Ind. Office Cata. Part I, 1887). The British Mus. Ms No. 933 of Vedādīpa appears to have been copied from an original copy dated Sam. 1690 = A. D. 1634 (Vide p. 37 of Bendall's Cata. 1902).

2. The colophon of the Mantramahodadhi is important as it gives us more details about Mahīdhara's family than what we find recorded in his other works. I shall, therefore, reproduce it below :—

Ms No. 1138 of 1886-92 — folios 150-151.

“ अहिच्छत्रद्विजछत्रवत्सगोत्रसमुद्भवः ।

This reference by the learned father to his son proves that the son was also devoted to the learned pursuits of his father. It appears that कल्याण mentioned by महीधर as his son in the Mantramahodadhi is identical with कल्याण who composed a work on medicine called बालतंत्र in A. D. 1587¹ i.e. two years before the composition to his own father महीधर as a devotee of god लक्ष्मीनृसिंह and also to his grandfather रामदास who was a devotee of god Rāmacandra. He also records the date of composition of the work viz. Saṃvat 1644 (= A. D. 1587 mentioned by Aufrecht). He belonged to the अहिच्छत्र line.¹ Mahīdhara also mentions this line of Brahmans "अहिच्छत्र, द्विजछत्र, वत्स गोत्र, समुद्रवः" in the Mantramahodadhi. Mr. Nanda Lal Dey (p. 2 of Geogr. Dictionary, 1927) identifies अहिच्छत्र with Ramnagar, 20 miles west of Bareilly in Rohilkhand. In the Plates of Gayādatuṅgadeva (J. P. A. S. B. Vol. V, pp. 348 ff) the grantees are certain Brahmans who originally came from Ahicchatra and settled in Oḍra-viṣaya. In a Jain rock inscription² of A. D. 1170 (5th February) reference is made to one सामन्त, a Brahman of the वत्सगोत्र in अहिच्छत्रपुर. It appears to me that Mahīdhara and his son Kalyāṇa, who state that they belong to the अहिच्छत्र line and the वत्सगोत्र were descended from the line of Brahmans in अहिच्छत्रपुर having the वत्सगोत्र referred to in A. D. 1170. If this view is accepted we have to state that his line flourished at Ahicchatra (or Ramnagar) for no less than 400 years and Mahīdhara left his country and went to

The Chronogram युग, वेद, रस, आकाश, = Saṃvat 1644 = A. D. 1587.

1. On p. 219 of Notices (Vol. II, 1874) Rajendralal Mitra describes Ms No. 818 of बालकृष्ण and observes :— " The author was born in Ahichatra but the work was completed at Benares on Sunday the full moon of Śrāvaṇa in the Saka year 644 = A. D. 720. " These remarks are quite wrong as the Chronogram, viz. युग, वेद, रस, आकाश = 1644 and not 644 as stated by Mitra. The exact date appears to be Sunday, 28th July 1588 (vide Ind.:Ephemeris Vol. V, p. 379). The Ms described by Mitra has the reading "अहिच्छत्राञ्जयोजातः" which is obviously a wrong reading for "अहिच्छत्रान्वये जातः" found in the oldest copy of the work of A. D. 1626 which records the verse correctly as follows :—

"अहिच्छत्रान्वये जातः पंडितैकशिरोमणिः ।

रामचंद्रार्चनरतो रामदासः सतां प्रियः ॥ २७ ॥ "

Benares,' say between A. D. 1575 and 1590 for spiritual reasons after having passed his early life at Ahicchatra (or Ramnagar).

As a result of the foregoing discussion we are in a position to reconstruct the genealogy of Mahidhara as follows :—

रत्नाकर — c. A. D. 1490 (of वरसगोत्र ; at अहिछत्र)
 Son
 रामदास or रामभक्त² alias कनुभट्ट (at अहिछत्र) — c. A.D. 1520.
 Son
 महीधर — Between 1540 and 1610 A. D. (at Benares)
 pupil of रत्नेश्वर (Son of Keśava)
 Son
 कल्याण³ — Between 1575 and 1640 A. D. (at Benares).

The dates of composition of the works of Mahidhara and his son Kalyāṇa recorded in this paper, together with the dates of Mss of these works noticed by me are given below with a view to facilitating further study of the chronology of the works for which no dates could be fixed by me in this study :—

1. Cf. “ निजदेशं परित्यज्य गतो वाराणशीं पुरीम् ” (Mantramahodadhi) It appears that Mahidhara's son Kalyāṇa also migrated to Benares along with his father and carried on his literary pursuits at this seat of learning.

2. Cf. Aufrecht CC I, 515— “ रासदास or रामभक्त Son of Ratnākara father of Mahidhara, grandfather of Kalyāṇa : (Bālatantra [1587] L. 818, Oxf. 100^a. ”

3. Aufrecht CC I, 86 makes the following entry :—

“ कल्याणसूत्र a contemporary of Mahidhara (1589) Oxf. 100^b. ”

Evidently the above entry is based on the wrong reading of Oxford Ms wherein we have “ कल्याणाभिधसूत्रेण ” instead of “ कल्याणाभिधपुत्रेण. ” Mahidhara is here referring to his son Kalyāṇa. There was no such person as कल्याणसूत्र. This is only a comedy of errors.

Judging by the works of Mahīdhara examined by me in this paper, Mahīdhara appears to have been a versatile writer. Whether he composed works pertaining to subjects not covered up by the list of his works recorded by Aufrecht is a matter for investigation.¹ There is reason to believe in the identity of Mahīdhara

1. महीदास appears to have been a second name of महीधर (Aufrecht CC I, 444). If this is so, we must examine the works the author of the Vedadīpa etc. with Mahidhara the author of the commentaries on the Līlāvati and the Brhajjātaka. I am not, however, quite sure about the identity of this author with Mahidāsa the author of a commentary on the Caranavyūha.¹

ascribed to writers of the name महीदास and महीधर as well. The following entries made by Aufrecht need to be examined :—

“ महीदास—चरणव्यूहभाष्य ”

“ महीदास—ताजकमणि, मणित्थ, लीलावती टीका composed in 1587 वर्षफल पद्धति ”

महीधर—बृहज्जातकविवरण ”

Ms No. 342 of 1882-83 of the बृहज्जातकविवरण begins —

“ श्रीगणेशं नृसिंहं च शारदां गुरुपंकजं ।
नत्वा संक्षेपतो वच्मि बृहज्जातकटिप्पणं ॥ १ ॥ ”

Compare महीधर's पदंगरुद्रजपटीका—

compare also लीलावतीविवरण (Ms No. 569 of 1895-1902).

“ नत्वा लक्ष्मीनृपंचास्यं हेरंबं भारतीं रविं ।
लीलावतीविवरणं वक्ष्ये गुरुकृपावशात् ॥ ”

The date of composition of the बृहज्जातकविवरण is Śaka 1520 = A. D. 1598 as recorded in Ms No. 342 of 1882-83 (A. D. 1745).

“ ख नेत्रेषु शीतांशु १५२० शके व्यतीति
सहो मासि धातुस्थितौ सोमवारे ।
महीदासविप्रो महेशानुपूर्व्याम्
बृहज्जातके टिप्पणं संव्यधत् ॥ १ ॥ ”

This verse is followed by salutation to God नृसिंह who is referred to in all works of महीधर —

“ वरा भीतिचक्रं पिनाकं दधानं
त्रिनेत्रे फणीशातपत्रं सिताभं ।
श्रियालिगितं दाडिमं संदधत्या
नृसिंहं विरच्यादि सेव्यं भजेयं ॥ २ ॥ ”

S. B. Dikshit (p. 486 of Bhā. Jyotiḥśāstra, 1896) identifies महीदास and महीधर who composed लीलावतीटीका in A.D. 1587 and बृहज्जातकविवरण in A. D. 1598. The B. O. R. I. Ms of लीलावतीटीका of महीदास viz. No. 205 of 1883-84 is dated Samvat 1733 = A. D. 1677.

In view of the date recorded in this paper I would request Dr. Sarup to re-examine his date for Mahīdhara: viz. 12th Century and give us his final opinion on the question of Mahīdhara's date in the light of any other independent evidence which he may have gathered since the publication of his paper in support or otherwise of the views already expressed by him. I have not succeeded so far in finding out any evidence in support of an early date for Mahīdhara but on the contrary I have recorded ample evidence in this paper to prove that *Mahīdhara flourished between A.D. 1530 and 1610 or so.*¹

Ms No. 41 (चरणव्यूह with भाष्य of महीदास) is described with the remark "D. C. C. Samvat 1613." If this is date of composition we have to take A. D. 1557 as the date of composition of this भाष्य, which agrees with महीधर's lifetime say between A. D. 1540 and 1610 as fixed by me. If this date is the date of the Ms I find it difficult to harmonise it with the lifetime of our Mahīdhara, the author of the Vedadīpa and the Mantramahodadhi. On p. 10 of the List of Ujjain Mss (1936) we find the following entry :—

" No. 226 — चरणव्यूहव्याख्या by महीदास (काशी)
 (काल) सं० १६०३ (लेखक) विश्वेश्वर
 (copied in) सं० १९३६ — पूर्ण ”

It appears from the above entry that Samvat 1603 = A. D. 1547 is the date of composition of Mahīdhara's भाष्य on the चरणव्यूह while according to the entry in the Baroda Cata. quoted above the date of composition of this work appears to be A. D. 1557. I am unable to verify these dates at present as the Mss at Ujjain and Baroda are not before me. In case, however, we can prove this महीदास to be identical with महीधर the author of the वेददीप and other works we shall have to fix his life-time between say A. D. 1530 and 1610, a period of 80 years, which is not an impossibility as his son कल्याण composed a work in A. D. 1587.

1. After this paper was composed by the press I had an occasion to consult Prof. Bhagavadatta's History of Vedic Literature (in Hindi) Lahore, 1931, pp. 92-95. I am glad to find that Prof. Bhagavadatta's criticism of Dr. Sarup's date for Mahīdhara though brief coincides with mine and is justified by the evidence gathered in this paper.

17. 'Ākāsabhairava-Kalpa, an unknown Source of the History of Vijayanagara*†

In 1926 the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute of Poona procured a copy of a Manuscript called the *Ākāsabhairava kalpa*¹ from the Sarasvati Mahal Manuscript Library of Tanjore. This is a modern copy prepared for the Institute from MS No. 6707² of the Tanjore Library. Dr. Burnell has included this MS in the manuscripts on Tantrik literature and has given a short notice of it in his catalogue. He observes thus—"This (MS) contains in a dialogue between Śiva and Pārvatī, the Sāmrajyalakṣmīpīṭhikā but ends abruptly in paṭala 136. Gr. 3900. It describes the worship of Sāmrajyalakṣmī and then goes on to describe how a king's palace should be built ; what kind of elephants and weapons etc. he should possess. Paṭala 29 describes the way of laying out his city."³ The MS contains 132 folios. Dr. Burnell also refers to other copies of this work which appear to be fragmentary.⁴ My present paper is based on MS No. 6707 and not on other fragmentary copies of the work mentioned by Burnell under Nos. 6708-10 and 6715-17 in his catalogue.

It will be seen from the analysis of this MS in the present paper that the work has no connection whatsoever with Tantrik literature proper, and that the name Ākāśabhairavakalpa given to it in the colophons¹ is quite misleading. It appears from the colophons that the author planned a big work with the title Ākāśabhairavakalpa of which the fragment before us (136 paṭalas = 537 pages of the B. O. R. I. copy) is a portion with the title Sāmrājyalakṣmīpīṭhikā which may be translated as 'a line or tradition of Imperial glory.' Though the subject-matter of the work is put in the form of a dialogue between Śiva and Pārvatī it can hardly be called Tantrik as will be seen from the topics of the several paṭalas noted below :—

It will be seen from the foregoing list of the contents of the several paṭalas of this big compendium that the central figure of the entire work is the king, and each chapter or paṭala prescribes or describes what the king should do and what he should not do. The work appears to be designed somewhat like a manual on Indian polity with special reference to the practices current at the time the work was composed. The entire subject-matter has been standardised and generalised in such a manner that the manual should be of use to any Hindu king who wants to follow the Hindu code of ethics, religion and politics. The work deals with the worship of the goddess of sovereignty (Sāmrājyalakṣmī), and prescribes elaborate details of ritual to be carried out by the sovereign. About twenty paṭalas of the present treatise are devoted to this subject-matter which is followed by the description of the fortresses to be constructed by the king as also fortresses to be avoided by the king. We have also a description of the several ramparts of the fortresses and towns. One chapter is devoted to the detailed lines to be followed by the sovereign in laying out his capital and the construction of several buildings therein including the royal pavilions, the palaces with innumerable apartments including the inner apartments for ladies. The treatise also prescribes the auspicious marks of the sovereign and the necessity of his visits to the holy places with a schedule of his duties to be performed at these places. Description is also given of the military expeditions of the king. All this subject-matter closes with paṭala 40. From paṭala 41 onwards we get a description of the several religious festivals to be performed with all eclat by the sovereign during the course of a year. These include the festivals to be performed on the New Year's day, the celebrated Rāmanavamī festival, the Kṛṣṇajayanṭī festival, the Navarātra festival with special reference to Vijayādaṣamī, the Divālī festival, the Holi festival styled as the Kāmavrata in which the image of god Cupid is painted on a piece of cloth and taken in a procession through the city. One chapter gives us a list of seventy two public servants, beginning with the prime minister and ending with the Piṭhamar- daka. A chapter is devoted to the exposition of the 64 arts. Chapters 84-104 are devoted to the description of Nṛpābhiṣeka or the coronation of the sovereign and all the ritual connected with it together with some information about the construction of the royal throne and the manner of its occupation by the sovereign. Ch. 111 deals with the characteristics of the sovereign and Ch. 112 is devoted to the description of the characteristics of the Rājamaḥiṣī or the queen consort. Ch. 113 deals with rājanīti or polity. Chs. 114-118 deal with the component parts of the king's military equipment such as the chariot, the elephants, the horses, foot-soldiers, bows and arrows. Ch. 119 is specially devoted to the study and practice of archery. Chs. 120-21 are devoted to the exposition of the art of warfare. Chs. 122 to 136 deal with the daily routine of the king from morn till eve including his morning duties, listening to the Purāṇas, conversation with poets, learned men and singers and taking counsel of ministers on matters of state. Chs. 128-29 describe the midday programme of the king including a description of the royal dinner with all its grandeur in company of the ladies of the royal house-hold. Ch. 130 deals with evening duties of the king. Ch. 131 deals with the king's attendance at a dancing performance which is followed by the king's moon-light diversions in the company of ladies of the harem. Ch. 134 is devoted entirely to a detailed description of the royal hunt and the king's return to the capital for washing away his sins consequent upon this hunt by making gifts of cows, land and gold.

I have described in brief the nature and extent of this elaborate treatise with a view to emphasising its importance as a source-book for the inner life of the Vijayanagara Empire as observed by the author of the treatise whose name cannot unfortunately be traced in the fragment before us. It remains for me now to adduce my reasons for the connection of this treatise with the Vijayanagara Empire.

It may be observed at the out-set that the treatise nowhere refers to any of the kings of Vijayanagara by name. We also do not find in the treatise any mention of any place specifically belonging to the ancient domain of the Vijayanagara Empire. This absence of nomenclature, geographical and historical, makes the problem of proving the connection of this treatise with the history of the Vijayanagara Empire still more difficult. I shall, however, attempt to record in this paper whatever proofs of a general nature I have noticed during a cursory study of this fragment, which leave no doubt that the treatise is connected with the social and political back-ground of the Vijayanagara Empire to which Dr. B. A. Sale-tore has devoted two ponderous volumes.

(1) In the whole of the treatise there are only three refer-ences to Vijayapura. These are found in the following verses :—

Paṭala 3, p. 12 —

“ क्षीरसागरमध्यस्थे श्वेतद्वीपेऽतिविस्तृते ।
विजयाख्ये पुरे रम्ये चिन्तामणिगृहाग्रतः ॥ ”

Here we get a description of the installation of the goddess of sovereignty (Sāmājyalakṣmī). We are told that it should be installed in the town called Vijayapura, which I believe is identi-cal with Vijayanagara. The second verse which is almost identi-cal with the above verse is found towards the close of the fragment and reads as under :—

Paṭata 136, p. 534 —

“ क्षीराब्धिमध्ये श्वेताख्ये मनोज्ञे द्वीपनायके ।
विजयाख्ये पुरे रम्ये चिन्तामणिगृहान्तरे ॥ ”

In this verse also the author gives us a description of the goddess of sovereignty and the place of its installation, which is a town called Vijayapura. I have not been able to make out exactly what is meant by the expression चिन्तामणिगृह in front of which the goddess of sovereignty is to be installed. Most probably the expression refers to a royal palace called by this name. This in-ference, however, needs contemporary corroboration.

The name Vijayapura has been also applied to the modern Bija-pur in the poetical works of the 17th century. For instance Jayarāma-kavi in his poem called the *Parṇālaparvatagrahaṇākhyāna*¹ while describing the capture of the Panhālā fort by Śivāji, very often uses the name Vijayapura for Bijapur as will be seen from the follow-ing verse :—

Chapter IV, v. 80 —

“ विजयपुरपतिस्तद्वज्रपाताभिघात-प्रचुरतरकडोरा रावमाकर्ण्य तूर्णम् ।
सचिवपदमदेनाप्युद्धतः क्रुद्धपूर्वान-
विकलमतिस्ववासः ख्यापयामास मुख्यान् ॥ ”

In this verse Khavāskhān is styled as Vijayapurapati or the master of Bijapur. As the poem under reference was composed by Jayarāmākavi in Śaka 1595 (i. e. A. D. 1673) we must look upon this usage as a 17th century usage of the term Vijayapura as equal to Bijapur. We must, therefore, record a usage of the identity of Vijayapura and Vijayanagara in support of our conjecture that the Ākāśabhairavakalpa in the two verses quoted above means by Vijayapura the town of Vijayanagara and not the modern town of Bijapur. Dr. Saletore in his two volumes already mentioned refers to an inscription¹ which is contemporaneous with Vijayanagara history. In this inscription we find the name Vijayapura used for a town in the domains of the Vijayanagar Empire and as this is an earlier usage of the term Vijayapura I am of opinion that it supports to a certain extent my identity of the terms Vijayapura and Vijayanagara as adumbrated above.

The third reference to Vijayapura and to the royal palace—called Cintāmaṇi in the midst of it is found in paṭala 2, p. 7 as will be seen from the following verses :—

“ मध्ये दुग्धाम्बुधेः श्वेतो नामास्ति द्वीपनायकः ।
 लक्षयोजनविस्तारः सप्तप्राकारशोभितः ॥
 कुट्टिमौघप्रभाजालपाटलीकृतदिङ्मुखः ।
 जाम्बूनदमयैवृक्षैरसंख्यैरन्वितश्च यः ॥
 तन्मध्येऽस्ति पुरी काचित् विजयाख्यातिशोभना ।
 सलैस्त्रिभिर्युता रत्नस्वर्णरूप्यविनिर्मितैः ॥
 तन्मध्येऽस्ति गृहं रम्यं चिन्तामणिसमाह्वयं ।
 हेमप्रकारसवीतं बहुकक्ष्याभिरन्वितं ॥ ”

The expression चिन्तामणिसमाह्वयं as applied to गृह in the verses quoted above leaves no doubt that Cintāmaṇi was the name of the royal palace as suggested by me already. It would be possible to identify this name in the contemporary records.

“ In about Śaka 1449 (A. D. 1527-28) all the nādgauḍas of Vijayapura granted land to Bayirappa Nāyaka etc.” — Ibid p. 206 — God Rāmanātha of Vijayapura is referred to in an inscription (E.C. IV, Gu. 34, p. 42, text p. 106). I have not verified if this Vijayapura is identical with Vijayanagara. This Vijayapura is different from Bijapur and was apparently situated within the ancient domains of the Vijayanagara Empire Cf. विजयापुर = Bijapur, Sources of Vijayanagar History by Aiyangar, p. 111.

(2) Dr. Saletore has emphasized the fact that the Vijayanagara kings upheld the system of administration based on the Hindu varṇāśramadharmā.¹ In the Ākāṣabhairavakalpa also we find this system recommended to the king in paṭala 56, pages 176-77 as will be seen from the following verses :—

“ जात्युत्कर्षापकर्षौ च विमृश्य च मुहुर्मुहुः ।
जातिसांकर्यराहित्यं कुरु साम्राज्यशासनम् ॥
जात्या श्रेष्ठोऽथवा हीनो यः कश्चिस्वीयवर्त्मनी ।
संचरेत् सदा शोध्य तत्रैव परिपालय ॥
व्यक्तगताचारभेदे तु यः कश्चिदनुवर्तते ।
तं संशिक्ष्य यथापूर्वं संस्थाप्य परिपालय ॥
चतुर्वर्णाश्रमस्थानां तारतम्यमनेक्ष्य च ।
तत्तद्वर्णानुगुण्येन परामृश्यैव पालय ॥ ”

We know as a matter of history that the Vijayanagara empire stood as a bulwark of Hinduism against Mohamadanism for more than two centuries. The system of varṇāśramadharmā or division of society according to four classes being of the very essence of Hinduism was enforced by the Vijayanagara kings and in the paṭala under reference, which is called the Rājadharmopadeśasvarūpaka-thanam or ‘exposition of the duties of the king’ it is but natural that the sovereign should be advised to prevent by his authority any tendency towards jāti-saṃkara or mixture of castes by discriminating wisely between the higher and the lower castes and punishing severely all those who try to go against this steel-frame of Hinduism.

(3) Leaving aside the question as to how far the ancient domain of Vijayanagara could be called a sāmrajya in the light of our modern conception of an empire we have to point out that the present treatise which deals specifically with sāmrajyapīṭhikā or the Imperial tradition throughout uses the term sāmrajya as will be clear from the following expressions culled by me from the several paṭalas :—

1. Saletore : Social and Political life of Vijayanagar Empire, Vol. II, ch. I, pp.1-23.

साम्राज्यलक्ष्मी, pp. 6, 10, 14, 20, 23, 27, 30, etc.

सर्वसंपत्करं सर्वं व्रतानामुत्तमोत्तमम् ।

साम्राज्यदं विशेषेण राज्ञां साम्राज्यकांक्षिणां ॥ —p. 147

साम्राज्यसंपदं देहि सततं सन्ततिं च मे । —p. 149

साम्राज्यस्थैर्यसिद्धयर्थं । —p. 227

साम्राज्यलक्ष्म्याः स्थैर्याय । —p. 238

साम्राज्यस्थैर्यसिद्धये । —p. 232

साम्राज्यस्थैर्यदं । —p. 259

Similar expressions are used on pages 260, 261, 267, 270, 293, 297, 306, 303, 327, 355, 360, 402 and 435. In ch. 41 we find the following verses mentioning the terms साम्राट्, मण्डलेश्वर and ग्रामनायक.

p. 128—“ कुर्यान्महोत्सवं साम्राट् राजा वा मण्डलेश्वरः ।

तथा कतिपयग्रामनायको वापि मानवः । ”

Other passages where the emperor and his tributary princes are mentioned are the following :

p. 155—“ सार्वभौमो नरपतिर्मण्डलस्याधिपो दिवा (?) ।

देशस्य नगरस्यापि नायको वा महीपतिः ॥ ”

p. 194—“ सैन्यावलोकनमुखान् विनोदान्विवुधैस्सह ।

पश्यन्नुपतिसाम्राट् राजा वा मण्डलेश्वरः ॥ ”

p. 199—“ एवं प्रतिदिनं सायं नवरात्रे महोत्सवं ।

कृत्वा नरपतिस्साम्राट् राजा वा मण्डलेश्वरः ॥ ”

It is clear from these usages of the terms साम्राज्यलक्ष्मी, साम्राट्, मण्डलेश्वर and ग्रामनायक that the idea of sāmrajya or empire was dominant in the mind of the author of the treatise and it must have also been current in his times.

(4) Prof. V. Ramanayya states¹ that Kṛṣṇa Devarāya of Vijayanagara was expert in playing the game of chess and that gambling was a fashionable pastime in the aristocratic circles of the period. He also states that there are constant allusions to the game of dice by contemporary writers. We are also informed by him that the wealthy people of the period sought diversion in playing chess and the dice and that the game of dice was more popular than the game of chess.

1. N. V. Ramanayya : Third Dynasty of Vijayanagara, 1935, pp. 410-419.

In the Ākāśabhairavakalpa we find in paṭala 32 detailed instructions regarding the construction of the several inner apartments of the royal palace. These apartments are as follows :— स्नानगृह or the bath-room ; पचनालय or the kitchen-room ; शयनागार or the bed-room ; कोषागार or the store room ; शस्त्रशाला or the armoury ; मज्जनालय or the swimming bath ; विद्याशाला or the study room ; भोजनालय or the dining room ; धनगृह or the treasury ; रत्नमन्दिर or the room for keeping jewellery ; वस्त्रसदन or a room for storing clothes ; गन्धमन्दिर or a room for keeping scents ; देवतागार or the temple, and the द्यूतमन्दिर or the room for playing at dice.

I am of opinion that the provision of a special room called the द्यूतमन्दिर provided for playing at dice leaves to doubt that the kings of the period were fond of dice and consequently the writer of the present manual intended for the use of Kings of the period, has taken care to specify a द्यूतमन्दिर in the list of the king's inner apartments recorded by him.

(5) We are told by the writers of Indian history that the first record of the use of the cannon and gun-powder in Indian warfare is in the Memoirs of Baber.¹ In 1528 Baber forced the passage of the Ganges near Kanauj with the aid of artillery. If this statement is correct we must find a reference to guns in the Ākāśabhairavakalpa which according to our interpretation is possibly written by some one between 1500 and 1565. In fact we do find a reference to gun in this treatise. In paṭala 60 the king is advised to worship thirty-two weapons in which No. 23 is nālikā, which I interpret as a small gun. The verse containing reference to this weapon reads as follows :—

p. 189— “ त्रयोविंशं नालिकाखं स्वस्तिकं तदनन्तरम् । पञ्चविंशं तु टंकं स्यात् षड्विंशं हलमीरितम् ॥ ”

In support of my interpretation I shall quote a passage from a work composed in A. D. 1596 by Rudrakavi in which the word nālikā definitely means a gun.² This passage refers to red hot iron balls issuing from the cannon's mouth and Rudrakavi describes this gun-fire by the expression ‘ नालिकाविनिहृतजलदायसगोलकैः. ’ This usage is, I believe, conclusive so far as the meaning of the term nālikā is concerned and is further supported by the use of

1. Sir P. C. Ray : History of Hindu Chemistry, Vol. I. pp. 98-99.

2. Rāṣṭraudhamahāvamśkāvyā Ch. XXV 52. (G. O. Series, Baroda.)

gun-powder indirectly referred to in the description of fire-works given in the Ākāśabhairavakalpa. In paṭala 62 which deals with several entertainments for the king we find a description of the fire-works in the following passage :—

p. 197—“ ततः पश्येद्दारुयन्त्रविशेषान् स्यन्दनाकृतीन् ।
 दिवाभ्रान्त्या कल्पयतः केनचित्तेजसानिनि ॥
 उच्चावचान् बाणवृक्षान् ततः पश्यजनेश्वरः ।
 स्फुलिंगान् चामराकारान् तिर्यगुन्निरतो बहून् ॥
 ततः प्रलयकालोद्यत् घनगर्जितभीषणम् ।
 शृणुयाद्वाणनिनदं विनोदावधिसूचकम् ॥
 एवं प्रतिदिनं राजा विनोदान् पञ्चविंशतिम् ॥ ”

In this passage the author gives us a description of the several structures used in the pyrotechnic display that the king was to witness every day. The expression बाणवृक्षान् possibly refers to structures on which the bāṇas or rockets were hung and from which they were fired off in the air. Sparks of fire were emitted from these structures and the whole display looked like the hairs of a chowrie. Some of the sparks issuing from these structures were shot off at a tangent. The entire display came to a close by the sound of a rocket that was thrown last to indicate the closure of the entertainment.

We know from the foreign travellers at the court of Vijayanagara kings that fire-works were specially used by the Vijayanagara kings during the celebrated Mahānavamī festival. Abdur Razzaq,¹ the Persian ambassador, who witnessed the Mahānavamī celebrations observes: “One cannot, without entering into a great detail, mention all the various kinds of pyrotechny and squibbs and various other amusements which were exhibited.” Another foreign observer from Portugal who was present at the Vijayanagara court describes the mahānavamī festival and refers to the fire-works used during this festival as follows :—“When these amusements are ended they begin to throw up many rockets and many different sorts of fires, also castles that burn and fling out from themselves many bombs (tiros) and rockets.”² I think the castles mentioned by the Portuguese chronicler are identical with the structures described by the expression दारुयन्त्रविशेषान् स्यन्दना-

1. Saletore, Op. cit., vol. II, pp. 373-74.

2. Ibid, p. 381.

कृती and the rockets referred to by him are identical with the बाण-वृक्ष referred to by the Ākāśabhairavakalpa. As the use of gun-powder was quite a novelty in India when it was first imported it is possible to suppose that its use for purposes of fire-works on a large scale became a special feature of royal entertainments as evinced by the descriptions of fire-works given by foreign observers and also recorded in the Ākāśabhairavakalpa as we have seen above.

(6) Prof. Venkata Ramanayya¹ while dealing with the military organization and the Kandācāra department of the Rāyas of Vijayanagara observes that four kinds of forts are mentioned in the Rāyavācaka which is an account of the reign of Kṛṣṇadevarāya in Telugu prose. But a contemporary writer divides the forts into eight classes. This contemporary writer is no other than Lolla Lakṣmīdhara, a great scholar of the time of Kṛṣṇadevarāya. This scholar in his Daivajñāvilāsa (Rājacaritrakhaṇḍa)² mentions the eight classes of forts as follows :—

“ प्रथमं गिरिदुर्गं च वनदुर्गं द्वितीयकम् ।
तृतीयं गङ्गारं दुर्गं जलदुर्गं चतुर्थकम् ॥
पञ्चमं कर्दमं दुर्गं षष्ठं स्यान्मिश्रकं तथा ।
सप्तमं ग्रामदुर्गं स्यात् कोष्ठदुर्गं तथाष्टकम् ॥ ”

The Ākāśabhairavakalpa has a regular chapter (21st paṭala) which is called “अष्टगिरिदुर्गस्वरूपकथनम्” in which we find Lolla Lakṣmīdhara's verses repeated almost verbatim with slight variation as follows :—

“ प्रथमं गिरिदुर्गं स्याद्वनदुर्गं द्वितीयकम् ।
तृतीयं गङ्गारान्तस्थं जलदुर्गं चतुर्थकम् ॥
पञ्चमं कर्दमाविष्टं स्यान्नाभिनामकम् ।
सप्तमं नरदुर्गं स्यात्कोष्ठदुर्गं तथाष्टमम् ॥ ”

It is difficult to say whether the Ākāśabhairavakalpa is directly indebted to Lolla Lakṣmīdhara for the above verses or not. Leaving aside the question of direct borrowing, we can at least state that the eight-fold classification of forts was a patent idea with writers on polity during the Vijayanagara period of history.

1. Third Dynasty, 1935, p. 120.

2. Ibid, foot-note, where the pertinent passage is quoted.

(7) We are told by historians that Kṛṣṇadevarāya of Vijayanagara tried to get the monopoly of importing horses from Persia and Arabia.¹ Let us now compare the following passage from the Ākāṣabhairavakalpa in which Persian horses are stated to be the best of all other breeds :—

paṭala 161, p. 428 :—

“ उत्तमाः वाजिनः प्रोक्ताः पारसीकसमुद्भवाः ।
उरोजाताश्च शीलाश्च हयाश्चारट्टदेशजाः ॥
कथिता मध्यमा देवी सिन्धुदेशनदीभवाः ।
कबलाश्चार्यजाताश्च तथा सारस्वता हयाः ॥
अधमाष्टं कणोत्थाश्च येच प्राग्दक्षिणोद्भवाः ”

I am inclined to believe that the preference given to the Persian horses in Kṛṣṇadevarāya's time has been recorded in the first line of the above extract viz. “ उत्तमा वाजिनः प्रोक्ताः पारसीकसमुद्भवाः ” found in the paṭala called “ अश्वोत्पत्त्यादिस्वरूपनिरूपणम्.”

(8) Mr. Longhurst in his Hampi Ruins (p. 42) gives a photograph of the Tulāpuruṣadāna monument. The Ākāṣabhairavakalpa has a chapter (78th paṭala) called the “ नानादानस्वरूपनिरूपणम् ” in which we find the following verses mentioning तुलापुरुषदान as an important one (महादान) :—

Pages 264-5 :—

“ संपत् सारस्वतप्राप्त्यै सत्सन्तानाभिवृद्धये ।
सर्वज्ञानुक्षयार्थाय विजयाय विशेषतः ॥
तुलापुरुषमुख्यानि महादानानि षोडश । ”

(9) The Vijayanagara*empire was very much famous in the days of its grandeur for the huge scale on which it celebrated its round of Hindu festivals which attracted much attention from the foreign observers. Accordingly we find in the Ākāṣabhairavakalpa chapters devoted to the observance of these festivals such as the Rāmanavamī festival, the Navarātri festival, the Vijayādaśamī festival, the Divālī festival, the Kāmadeva festival etc. Chapter 79 of this treatise is actually designated as नानाविधोत्सवस्वरूपकथनं and is concluded by the author as follows :—

“ एवं नृपतिभिस्त्रयम् कर्त्तव्या देवतोत्सवाः ।
संक्षेपात्ते निगदिताः किमन्यच्छ्रोतुमिच्छसि ॥ ”

1. Imperial Gazetteer, New Edition, 1928, p. 344.

Space forbids us to record in this paper many other characteristic features of the Ākāśabhairavakalpa which tend to support my hypothesis that this treatise was composed by some learned pandit or minister in close touch with the court of Vijayanagara especially during its palmy days when the routine of social and religious life of the Rāyas of Vijayanagara had become so standardized and popular as to warrant the composition of a regular treatise some what on the analogy of the Arthaśāstra of Kauṭilya. I am confident that protagonists of the Hindu culture of Vijayanagara would find ways and means to publish this treatise, though fragmentary, and keep it at the disposal of scholars for full exploitation of its rich contents, which depict in a simple manner the life as lived from day to day by those Rāyas of Vijayanagara and their zealous subjects who kept alive for more than two centuries the glory of Hindu religion and culture against the onslaught of Islam.

18. Sābāji Pratāparāja, A Protégé of Burhān Nizām Shah of Ahmadnagar, and His Works — Between A. D. 1500 and 1560 *

In June 1941 my friend the late Dr. H. D. Sharma visited Poona and during his stay of a month or so carried out a complete analysis of a work on dharmaśāstra called the Paraśurāmapratāpa at my instance. The results of his elaborate analysis of this compendium represented by some Mss at the B. O. R. Institute have been already published in the Poona Orientalist.¹ Though Dr. Sharma saw through the proofs of this paper he has not lived to see it in a published form ! I had promised Dr. Sharma a paper on the author of this work but unfortunately I could not draft it earlier owing to other preoccupations.

The author of the Paraśurāmapratāpa (= P) is Sābāji Pratāparāja (= SP). Aufrecht makes the following entries regarding this author and his works :—

CC I 327—“ परशुरामप्रताप dh. by Sāmbājipratāparāja. B. 3., 102. Burnell 131.^a Poona 157, 158, 560, II, 233-245. Quoted by Kamalākara Oxf. 278^b Comm. श्राद्धकाण्ड-दीपिका by Vopadeva, Poona II, 246. ”

1. Vide pp. 1-26 of PO, VII (April and July 1942) Dr. Sharma makes the following remarks about this work :—

“ Paraśurāmapratāpa is a huge work of an encyclopaedic nature. No other library possesses a complete Ms of this work, except the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, Library. But even the Institute Mss of this work have a large number of folia missing. The work is on the general topics of Dharmaśāstra and contains 16 Sections or Kāṇḍas. It has been split up into 17 different codices in the Institute library. Burnell's Catalogue of Tanjore library (p. 131a) records only 5 Mss of 5 Sections. In the Baroda Oriental Institute there is only one Ms (No. 5887) of one Section (राजवल्हमकाण्ड). The stupendous nature of the work can be judged by the total number of leaves which is 2445. ”

M. M. Prof. P. V. Kane¹ makes the following remarks about the works of SP :—

P. 755 —“ साम्बाजी or साबाजी प्रतापराज son of पण्डित पद्मनाभ of जामदग्न्यवत्सगोत्र. He was a protégé of निजामसाह ; a. of परशुरामप्रताप and भार्गवाचनदीपिका (vide Ms No. 5887 Baroda O. I. for राजवल्लभकाण्ड of the परशुरामप्रताप and दानकाण्ड a part of it). ”

P. 578 —“ परशुरामप्रताप by साबाजी or साम्बाजी प्रतापराज son of पण्डित पद्मनाभ of जामदग्न्यवत्सगोत्र and pupil of भट्ट कूर्म and a protégé of निजामसाह. Seems to have contained at least आह्निक, जातिविवेक, दान, प्रायश्चित्त, संस्कार, राजनीति and श्राद्ध. Vide Viśrāmbāg collection (in Deccan College) II, No. 243-246 and Burnell's Tanjore Cata. p. 131^a. A huge work. Baroda O. I. 5887 is राजवल्लभकाण्ड which is like मानसोल्लास in subject-matter. C. श्राद्धकाण्डदीपिका or श्राद्धदीपकलिका of बोपदेवपण्डित. Quotes हेमाद्रि कालादर्श. ”

P. 598 —“ भार्गवाचनदीपिका by साबाजी (or - स्बा) alias प्रतापराज Ulwar Cata. extract 648. ”

Aufrecht makes the following entries regarding भार्गवाचन दीपिका :—

CC I, 407 —“ भार्गवाचनदीपिका quoted in द्रव्यशुद्धिदीपिका Oxf. 274^a, in निर्णयसिन्धु and शान्तिसार. ”

As Kamalākara, the author of निर्णयसिन्धु (A. D. 1612) quotes Sābāji's परशुरामप्रताप and भार्गवाचनदीपिका we must infer that SP is earlier than A. D. 1612. The Mss of दानकाण्ड and संस्कारकाण्ड of P noted by Burnell (131^a) belong to “ about 1650. ” The author of the द्रव्यशुद्धिदीपिका, which quotes SP's भार्गवाचनदीपिका, was born in A. D. 1668 according to Prof. P. V. Kane (HD, I, 566). The शान्तिसार, which quotes भा. दीपिका, is possibly of दिनकरभट्ट (HD, I, 636) who is assigned by Kane “ between 1575-1640. ” All these chronological references indicate that SP is definitely earlier than A. D. 1600.

SP appears to have composed a poem called the “ शृगुर्वंशमहा-

1. History of Dharmaśāstra, Vol. I, 1930.

काव्य", a Ms¹ of which is dated Samvat 1667 (A. D. 1611). This date is very important as it confirms the conclusion regarding SP's date arrived at by me to the effect that SP is earlier than A. D. 1600.

Let us now consider the evidence furnished by the works of Sābājī² about his Muslim patron. This evidence is as follows :—

(1) Sābājī refers to निजामशाहनगरी as follows on folio 2^a of Ms No. 233 of Vis II —

“ भूचक्रस्य निजामशाहनगरी कामैकदोग्ध्री नृणाम् ॥ १४ ॥ ”

“ श्रीमद्राजनिजामशाहनगरी संलक्षि(क्ष्य)ते भूमिपैः ॥ १५ ॥ ”

“ बाह्मदेति पुरवासिभिरुद्धतासौ संकीर्तिता वरगुणैरभिनंघ काले ॥ १८ ॥ ”

Both अहमदपुर and निजामशाहनगरी refer to the same capital of Sābājī's patron viz. Ahmadnagar, which was founded by Ahmad Nizam Shah between A. D. 1490 and 1508.

(2) Sābājī refers to his relation to his patron निजामशाह as follows :— (folio 2^a of Ms No. 233 of Vis II)

1. Vide p. 71 of H. P. Sastri's Des. Cata. of History and Geography Mss in the R. A. S. B., Calcutta, 1923 (Vol. IV) — Ms No. 3101 Post colophon endorsement :— “ परशुरामार्पणमस्तु संवत् १६६७ वर्षे पौष शुदि १ ले बुधे लिखितमिदं पुस्तकं. ” S. R. Bhandarkar notes a Ms of परशुरामप्रताप dated Samvat 1556 [Vide p. 35 of his Report for 1904-1906 (Rajputana and Central India)] This date of Ms, if correct, comes to A. D. 1500. I am unable to verify it as no details of it are recorded in the Report. If the year belongs to the Śaka era, the date would be A. D. 1578, which would be in harmony with the evidence regarding the chronology of Sābājī Pratāparāja recorded in this paper. It is difficult to reconcile the date A. D. 1500 for a Ms of परशुरामप्रताप with its date of composition which seems to lie between c. A. D. 1509 and 1553, the period of the reign of Burhan Nizam Shah of Ahmadnagar.

2. One साबाजी अनंत चतुर is often mentioned in the Maratha Chronicles. I am unable to penetrate the mist of gossip about this personage, who is supposed by some writers to belong to Nizāmshāhī and by others to belong to Adilshāhī. Another writer says that he flourished towards the close of the Peshwa Period (Vide pp. 355-356 of Madhyayugina Caritra Kośa by Chitrav Shastri, Poona, 1937). The question of the identity or otherwise of our साबाजी प्रतापराज with साबाजी अनंत चतुर needs to be examined by students of the Maratha history.

“ इति श्रीमप्रौढप्रतापनृपतिशरण्यनिजामशाहनुचरजामदग्न्यवत्सगोषो- जवस।बाजीप्रतापराजकृतनिबंधे परशुरामप्रतापे etc. ”

In the colophon of the Ms of the भृगुवंशमहाकाव्य (dated A. D. 1611) Sābāji refers to निजामशाह as follows :—

“ इति श्रीमदखिलमहीमंडलमंडनायमानगुणनिकरविराजमानश्रीमदविनाश(शी)-

The foregoing references leave no doubt that Sābāji Pratāp-rāja was highly favoured by his patron निजामशाह of अहमदपुर or Ahmadnagar. We must now try to identify this निजामशाह in the list ¹ of the Kings of the Nizamshahi dynasty of Ahmadnagar.

The Nizam Shāhi Kings of Ahmadnagar appear to have been patrons of Hindu writers. Dalapatirāya,² the author of the celebrated dharmaśāstra work Nṛsiṃhaprasāda was not only a high army-officer in the employ of Ahmad Nizam Shah (A.D. 1490-1510) but was also his Keeper of Records. I have already identified this author in the Burhān-i-Masir or the History of the Nizāmshahi Kings of Ahmadnagar, which Lt. Col. Haig regards as "fairly trustworthy so far as it relates to domestic affairs." In this very Burhān-i-Masir its author gives an account of the meeting between Burhān Nizām Shāh of Ahmadnagar and Sultan Bahadur of Gujarat as follows :—

"Some historians have related that the meeting of these two Kings (Burhān Nizāmshāh and Bahadur) took place in a village near Daulatabad and without the intervention of Shah Tahir but by the advice and intervention of Khwaja Ibrahim, the Councillor and Sābāji and that these two men were rewarded for the service which they had performed, the former with the title of Latif-Khān and the latter with that of Pratāp Rāi ; but the story told here at length is the correct account. After this meeting Burhan Nizam Shah returned to his capital and Sultan Bahadur returned to Gujarat."

The author or the Burhān-i-Masir wants to take away the credit of bringing about the meeting of the two Kings from Sābāji Pratāp Rāi and his colleague Khwaja Ibrāhim Latif Khān and to give it to Shah Tahir, the great poet of this period. We are not concerned here with the truth or otherwise of this statement of the author but with the fact of the existence of a Hindu personage of the name Sābāji Pratāp Rāi during the reign of Burhān Nizam Shah (A. D. 1510-1554) I am inclined to believe that this Sābāji Pratāp Rāi is none else than our साबाजी प्रतापराज, the author of परशुरामप्रताप, भृगुवंशमहाकाव्य and भार्गवाचर्यदीपिका. Evidently he carried on the tradition of compiling dharmaśāstra works in the manner of the author of the नृसिंहप्रसाद viz. दरुपतिराय highly favoured by Ahmad Nizam Shah² (A. 1490-1510) who was the founder of the

Mr. Bendre examines the relevant sources and concludes "All we can say for the present with any certainty on the strength of the contemporary evidence of such a reliable source as Affonso de Albuquerque, is that the death of Ahmad Nizam Shah must have occurred some time between the end of April and the middle of October 1510 or in the beginning of 916 A. H. ".

Ahmadnagar line of Nizamshahi Kings. If this position is accepted we may try to determine the approximate period during which Sābāji composed his परशुरामप्रताप and भृगुवंशकाव्य etc.

Sābāji tells us that he was निजामशाह-अनुचर or a servant of निजाम-शाह, whom we have identified with Burhān Nizam Shah. He also refers to his title प्रतापराज constantly in his works as follows :—

(1) Colophon of भृगुवंशकाव्य —

“ साबाजी पंडितप्रतापराजविरचिते भृगुवंशे etc. ”

(2) Text of परशुरामप्रताप — “ नृपतिः प्रतापः ” (= प्रतापराज) ;

— “ राजा प्रतापः कृतपुण्यनंदितः ”

— “ कांडैः शोडशभिः प्रतापनृपतिः etc. ”

— “ श्रीरामांगिरसप्रतापनृपतेः श्रीकूर्मभादेशतः ”

(3) Colophon of परशुरामप्रताप —

“ साबाजीप्रतापराजविरचितनिबंधे ”

(B. O. R. I. Ms No. 157 of Vis I, dated A. D. 1784)

If प्रतापराज was a title of Sābāji it must have been conferred on him by his royal patron Burhān Nizam Shah and the story about the award of this title referred to in the Burhān-i-Masir may be taken to be correct in so far as the fact of the award of this title is concerned. We are not concerned here with the nature of the service specifically rendered by Sābāji to his master Burhān Nizam Shah. If we believe in the story current before the time of Burhān-i-Masir that Sābāji got the title प्रतापराज as a reward for bringing about the meeting of Bahadur Shah of Gujarat with Burhān Nizam Shah it is easy for us to narrow down the limits for the dates of the परशुराम-प्रताप and भृगुवंशकाव्य for the following reasons :—

(1) Sultan Bahadur Shah of Gujarat ruled for 11 years (July 1526 — February 1537 A. D.). In 1527–29 A. D. he forced Burhān Nizam Shah to retreat and acknowledge him as his Suzerain and read Khutbah in his name.¹

(2) In 1531 A. D. Bahadur Shah granted to Burhān Nizam of Ahmadnagar and also to his nephew, Muhammad of Khāndesh permission to affix the title of Shah (शाह) to their names.²

1. Vide p. 80 of Humāyūn Bādshāh by S. K. Banerji, 1938.

2. Ibid p. 81.

(3) If the title प्रतापराज was a result of the meeting of Sultan Bahadur Shah of Gujarat with Burhān Nizam it must have been conferred on साबाजी between A. D. 1526 and 1537 A. D., which is the period of Bahādūr Shāh's reign.

(4) If the expression निजाम-शाह used by साबाजी contains the title शाह the use of which was permitted for Burhān Nizam by his Suzerain in A. D. 1531 we have to suppose that साबाजी composed his works after A. D. 1531 and before A. D. 1553-54, the closing year of Burhān Nizam Shah's reign at Ahmednagar.

I have identified साबाजी प्रतापराज with his name-sake mentioned in the Burhān-i-Masir. This work was written by Syed Ali Tabā-tabā at the bidding of Burhān Nizam Shah II in A. D. 1591 i. e. a few years before Ferishtā. According to Prof. H. K. Sherwani "greater reliance may be placed on the simple narration of the Burhān than on the flowery and interesting, though at times inaccurate and exaggerated, description couched in Ferishtā's History."¹ In view of this evaluation of the Burhān-i-Masir my identification of साबाजी प्रतापराज in this Persian source of the Nizām Shāhī history written in A. D. 1591 is sufficiently reliable and possesses almost a contemporary character. I shall, however, feel thankful to Persian scholars if they succeed in throwing more light on the personality of साबाजी प्रतापराज and his relations with his master Burhān Nizam Shah, so much applauded in the verses of the Parasurāmapratāpa quoted by Dr. Sharma in extenso.² The genealogy of साबाजी as recorded by him in these verses is as follows :—

My friend Prof. Dasharath Sharma of Bikaner will be shortly publishing the *Bhṛgu-vamśa Kāvya*¹ of Sābāji Pratāparāja on behalf of the Bikaner Darbar. I hope the chronology of Sābāji discussed in this paper would be of some use to him in dealing with the life-history of this author, who flourished at Ahmadnagar court in the first half of the 16th century.

The works of Sābāji on Dharmaśāstra were used by subsequent writers for their own compilations. I have already referred to them as recorded by Aufrecht. During the course of my studies I have noticed the following references to Sābāji's works not noticed by Aufrecht or M. M. P. V. Kane :—

In the heat of controversies over the details of political and dynastic history the literary history of the Deccan receives scanty attention at the hands of responsible scholars. We have yet to reconstruct this literary history on the basis of Mss yet unknown to the historians. I have been constantly discovering new sources of this history and publishing papers on them for the use of future historians of our culture as reflected in the provincial

The 3rd copy (Sargas 1-7) is recorded by Dr. H. Poleman on p. 105 of his Census of Indic Mss in U. S. A. and Canada, 1938 (Harvard No. 1238). Prof. D. V. sources still untapped. The linking up of literary history with political or dynastic history, if successfully attempted, is bound to clarify our knowledge of the history of our ancestors, who were not merely soldiers or politicians but were persons full of religious zeal coupled with a taste for fine arts, like poetry, music and technical sciences like Śilpa Śāstra, town planning, dietetics, medicine, cookery etc. By a thorough study of the sources, bearing on these subjects the present partial picture of our history can be put in correct historical relief, which will not fail to create greater interest of the people in our past than what we notice to-day in our schools and colleges.

19. Date of Rasakadambakallolinī, a Commentary by Bhagavaddāsa on the Gītagovinda of Jayadeva — Between A. D. 1550 and 1600*

Jayadeva, the author of the celebrated Gītagovinda flourished "between 1200 and 1300 A.C." He is said to have been a protégé of Lakṣmaṇa Sena, whose Gayā inscription is dated A. D. 1116.¹ Aufrecht² records MSS of numerous commentaries on the Gītagovinda. I have not studied the chronology of all these commentaries and hence cannot say anything about them in this paper, which is devoted to the chronology of one of these commentaries viz. the Rasakadambakallolinī of Bhagavaddāsa. This commentary is represented by some MSS recorded by Aufrecht⁴ in his Catalogus Catalogorum. These MSS are as follows :—

" Besides its verbal explanations principally founded on the Amarakośa and the Viśvaprakāśa the commentary lays particular stress on the art of composition as developed in the poem, illustrating it by the rules laid down in rhetorical works and by specimens of poetical composition chosen from the Bhāgavata and other Purāṇas as well as from the Sṛṅgāratilaka, the Kṛṣṇakarmāṃṛta and similar works, " no MS of Bhagavaddīśa's commentary is found in this catalogue. The spread of Jayadeva's Gītagovinda to the Deccan is attested by its influence on Bhāskara-Bhaṭṭa Borikar, a Mahānubhāva author who flourished between 1275 and 1320 A. D. Prof. V. B. Kolte¹ of Amraoti has already pointed out parallel passages from the Gītagovinda and Bhāskara-Bhaṭṭa's Situpālavadha composed about Śaka 1230 (A. D. 1308). The spread of the Gītagovinda in Gujarat has recently been pointed out by Dr. M. R. Majmudar² of Baroda. This influence is vouched by the stone inscription of Śārṅgadeva dated Samvat 1348 (A. D. 1291) in which the invocation verse is taken from the last verse of the 1st canto of the Gītagovinda.

श्रीकृष्णतवास्मि । सुरतनाथ तवास्मि । तदेवमिति ”

If the above extract found in a MS of A. D. 1628 is a genuine part of the Rasakadambakallolīnī of Bhagavaddāsa we may safely infer that this commentary was composed between A. D. 1469 and A. D. 1628.

In the list of references recorded above there is a reference to a work called रसामृतसिन्धु² (vide folio 123 of MS No. 345 of 1884-87 and folio 18 of MS No. 77 of A 1879-80). This work appears to be identical with the भगवद्भक्तिरसामृतसिन्धु³ composed by Sanātana Gosvāmī in A. D. 1542. If this identification is correct the date of Bhagavaddāsa is narrowed down between A. D. 1542 and 1628. These limits may be further narrowed down between say A. D. 1575 and 1620 or so if we can identify the मनोरमाकार mentioned by our commentator with Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita,⁴ the author of प्रादुर्गमनोरमा⁵ a commentary on the Prakriyāprakāśa of his guru Śeṣa-

1. Perhaps the correct reading ought to have been “कुंभकरणे (कुंभकर्णे)” as Rāṇa Kumbhakarna wrote a commentary on the Gītāgovinda. Vide p. 75 of H. Poleman's Indic MSS in USA., where MS No. 1152 of this comm. called रसिकप्रिया dated A. D. 1563 (Sam., 1619) is recorded. Another reference to Kumbhakarna is found on folio 3a of MS No. 77 A 1879-80.—

“ त्वयैवायं गृहिणीमान स्यात् इति सख्यागूढं परिसितमिति कुंभकर्णोक्तेः ” (Vide folio 7 of MS No. 45 of 1871-72).

2. Vide Aufrecht, CC, I.

3. Ibid., CC, I.

4. Vide my paper on “ A new Approach to the Date of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita ” in Annals (Tirupati), Vol. I, part 2, pp. 117-127, where I have tried to prove that Bhaṭṭoji flourished between c. 1560 and 1620 A. D.

5. This is a commentary on the Prakriyāprakāśa of Śeṣa Kṛṣṇa a guru of Bhaṭṭoji. Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja did not like Bhaṭṭoji's criticism of his guru's work in the मनोरमा and hence he wrote a refutation of मनोरमा in a work called मनोरमाकुचमार्दिनी.

kr̥ṣṇa. If Bhagavaddāsa's reference to मनोरमाकार in a MS of A. D. 1628 turns out to be a genuine reference to Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, the author of प्रौढमनोरमा, it supports my limits for Bhaṭṭoji's date viz. A. D. 1560-1620. In my paper on Bhaṭṭoji's date referred to above I have noted [that A. D. 1633 is the earliest date of a MS of Bhaṭṭoji's Śabdakaustubha (R. A. S. Bengal). Since this paper was published I have traced a MS of an abridgement of Bhaṭṭoji's Siddhāntakaumudī dated A. D. 1624. Now we find मनोरमाकार (= Bhaṭṭoji) referred to in a MS of A. D. 1628. The cumulative effect of all these dates viz. A. D. 1624, 1628, and 1633 strengthens my inference that Bhaṭṭoji's literary career ended by A. D. 1620.

Leaving aside the reference to मनोरमाकार made by Bhagavad-dāsa in his Rasakadambakallolinī let us examine some other references which may enable us to fix the earlier limit to his date. Our commentator mentions several times a work on alamkāra called the Rasārṇavasudhākara (vide No. 20 in the list of references given above). This work was composed about A. D. 1330 or A. D. 1350 according to scholars² by Śingabhūpāla. This reference enables us to fix about A. D. 1400 as one sure limit to the date of the Rasakadambakallolinī. This limit is further strengthened by another reference made by this commentary to a work on erotics called

1. Vide H. Poleman: Indic MSS in U. S. A., (1938), p. 130 — MS No. 2635 of Laghusiddhāntakaumudī by Varadarāja, a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, dated Samvat 1680 = A. D. 1624. We must necessarily presume some intervals of time between —

- (1) the composition of Siddhāntakaumudī by Bhaṭṭoji.
- (2) its abridgement by Varadarāja in the form of the Laghu^o Kaumudī, and (3) the copying of this abridgement in A. D. 1624. I may also note here the references to मनोरमाकार :—

- (1) A. D. 1628 — MS of रसकदम्बकल्लोलीनी refers to मनोरमाकार.
- (2) Bhaṭṭoji's son भानुजिदीक्षित refers to मनोरमा on p. 14 of his commentary on अमरकोश (N. S. Press, 1905) — “कारग्रहणाच्च इति मनोरमायाम् उणादौ दीक्षिताः”
- (3) A. D. 1652 — B. O. R. I. MS of प्रौढमनोरमा (No. 331 of 1895-1902).

2. Vide pp. 242-43 of History of Sanskrit Poetics Vol. I, (1923) by Dr. S. K. De. Prof. P. V. Kane assigns it to about A. D. 1350 (vide p. clxxiii of his Intro. to Śahityadarpana, 1923).

the *Pañcasāyaka*¹ which was composed by Jyotirīśvara about A. D. 1324 and which is referred to by our author several times (vide No. 17 in the list of references). Other references to earlier works like the संगीतरत्नाकर of the 13th century need not be considered as they don't help us to improve our chronology of this author. It would thus be seen that the date of Bhagavaddāsa surely lies between A. D. 1400 and 1600 and if the references to the रसाश्रुतसिन्धु and the मनोरमा turn out to be genuine references to the भगवद्भक्तिरसाश्रुतसिन्धु composed in A. D. 1542 and to the प्रौढमनोरमा composed before A. D. 1600 or so by Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita we shall be in a position to infer that Bhagavaddāsa composed the Rasakadambakallolīnī say between A. D. 1600 and 1628, the date of the B. O. R. I. MS of this commentary.

As regards the personal details of our commentator no information except the name of the author and the title of the commentary has been recorded by him as will be seen from the following extract at the end of the commentary :—

In the colophons of both the MSS the author is called a pupil of दामो. The colophon of MS No. 651 reads as follows :—

20. Some dated Manuscripts of the Tantrasāra of Kṛṣṇānanda Vāgīśa and their Bearing on the Limits for his Date (A. D. 1500 to 1600)*

According to Farquhar¹ the Tantrasāra of Kṛṣṇānanda Vāgīśa dates from A. D. 1812. In the *Catalogue*² of MSS in the Vaṅgiya Sāhitya Paṛiṣat we find two MSS of the Tantrasāra of Kṛṣṇānanda Bhaṭṭācārya, which are dated A. D. 1693 and 1770. If the work called the Tantrasāra mentioned by Farquhar is identical with its name-sake represented by two dated MSS referred to above we must reject the date A.D. 1812 for it given by Farquhar. In fact this contradiction of dates for the Tantrasāra led me to the search of a MS of the work which is dated 54 years earlier than the MS of A. D. 1693 mentioned above. This MS³ is identical with MS No. 388 of 1882-83 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute,

On folio 29 we find an author of the name राघवभट्ट¹ who is, in my opinion, identical with राघवभट्ट the author of a commentary on the Śāradātīlaka. This commentary was composed in A. D. 1494. Subsequent references to राघवभट्ट (vide reference No. 32 in the above list) are made briefly as “इतिभट्टः.” If this identification is accepted we may fix the date of the Tantrasāra of Kṛṣṇānanda Vāgīśa Bhaṭṭācārya between A. D. 1494 and A. D. 1639, the date of the B. O. R. I. MS of the Tantrasāra analysed above.

According to Dr. Binoytosh Bhattacharya² Kṛṣṇānanda, the author of the Tantrasāra, "can be confidently placed in about A. D. 1607" because his guru Pūrṇānanda composed his Tattvacintāmaṇi in Śāka 1499 = A. D. 1577. Dr. Bhattachary's date for Kṛṣṇānanda, viz., "about A. D. 1607" is in harmony with the limits for the date of this author fixed by me (Between A. D. 1494 and 1639). It, however, conflicts with the date of a MS of the Tantrasāra recorded by Poleman.¹ This MS is dated Samvat 1586 = A. D. 1530. Presuming that this date is correct we have to fix the limits for the date of the Tantrasāra between A. D. 1494 and 1530. These limits harmonize with the dates of वासुदेवसार्वभौम as given in the Madhyayugīna Caritrakośa,² where we are told that our Kṛṣṇānanda was the pupil of वासुदेवसार्वभौम (c. A. D. 1550—1525). Dr. S. K. De³ in his recent book on Vaiṣṇava Faith and Movement in Bengal states: "Kṛṣṇānanda Āgama-vāgīśa, the author of Tantrasāra and the great exponent of Tāntric doctrines in Bengal, is said to have been (like Raghunandana) a contemporary of Caitanya; and there can be hardly any doubt as to the widespread character of Tāntric teaching in Bengal." Later in the same book Dr. De refers to the tradition according to which Vāsudeva Sārvabhauma had 4 pupils: —(1) रघुनाथ शिरोमणि, (2) रघुनन्दन, (3) कृष्णानन्द आगमवागीश and (4)

2. Vide p. 80 of Bulletin of Rama Varma Research Institute, Vol. X, Part II (July, 1942) — “Kṛṣṇānanda, the author of Tantrasāra was a disciple of Pūrṇānanda, who in his turn was a disciple of Brahmānanda. Pūrṇānanda wrote a work Tattvacintāmaṇi, which was composed in the Śaka year 1499, which corresponds to A. D. 1577. Kṛṣṇānanda, who is one generation later, can be confidently placed in about A. D. 1607.” — Dr. Bhattacharya notes the following works mentioned in the Tantrasāra :—

आगमसार, भैरवीतन्त्र, एकवीराकल्प, गोविन्दवृन्दावन, हंसमाहेश्वर, अगस्त्यसंहिता, देव्यागम, गणेशविमर्षिणी, हंसपारमेश्वर, ज्ञानार्णव, क्रियासार, कुलामृत, कुलार्णव, कालिकापुराण, मत्स्यसूक्त, मुण्डमालातन्त्र, नवरत्नेश्वर, पिङ्गला, पुरश्चरणचन्द्रिका, रामार्चनचन्द्रिका, श्रीक्रम, शारदातिलक, सिद्धयामल, समयतन्त्र, ताराप्रदीप, तत्त्वसार, वैशम्पायन-

2. By Pt. Chitrav Shastri, Poona, 1937 — Page 730.

Farquhar (p. 289 of Outlines, etc.) puts वासुदेवसार्वभौम to the period "from 1470 — 1480" when he taught at Nuddea.

3. Published, Calcutta, 1942, page 21. Navadvīpa (modern Nadiyā) was a famous seat of mediæval Sanskrit learning. "It was also the stronghold of orthodox Brahmanism, as well as of Neo-Tāntricism and produced a stringent social dictator like Raghunandana as well as a champion of obscure Tāntric rites like Kṛṣṇānanda" — (ibid. p. 23).

चेतन, Dr. De thinks that Caitanya's pupilship, even though plausible, appears to have no foundation in fact and that "रघुनन्दन and कृष्णानन्द belonged to much later times."¹

According to Dr. J. B. Chaudhuri² Raghunandana "was a contemporary of Śrī- Caitanya and flourished towards the close of the fifteenth century. The period of his literary activity probably lay between 1520 and 1570." According to Dr. S. K. De Caitanya was born in February, 1486 and passed away in June-July, 1533.³ Prof. Śrī Ram Sharma⁴ includes Raghunandana⁵ in his list of Sanskrit writers of the reign of Emperor Akbar (A. D. 1542-1605).

The chronological data recorded in the foregoing discussion may now be tabulated as follows :—

A. D.	Remarks ; K = Kṛṣṇānanda, author of Tantrasāra
1486	Birth of Caitanya, who is supposed to be a contemporary of K and Raghunandana.
C. 1450 – 1525	Dates of Vāsudeva Sārvabhauma, supposed to be the guru of K.
1494	Date of शारदतिलकटीका by Rāghavabhaṭṭa, who is mentioned by K in his Tantrasāra as pointed out by me.

1. Ibid., p. 65, footnote².

2. Vide p. 132 of Appendix to the Edition of Gaṅgāvākyāvalī, Calcutta, 1940. — There is some contradiction in the extract, quoted above. "Close of the fifteenth century" would necessarily be before A.D. 1500 while Dr. Chaudhuri gives "between 1520 and 1570" as the period of Raghunandana's literary activity. This period falls in the 16th century.

3. Vide pp. 51 and 76 of Vaiṣṇava Faith, etc.

5. According to M. M. Prof. P. V. Kane Raghunandana flourished between A. D. 1490 and 1570 and his literary activity lies between 1520 and 1570.

A. D.	Remarks ; K = Kṛṣṇānanda, author of Tantrasāra
1530	Date of MS of Tantrasāra of K in U. S. A. according to Poleman.
1533	Death of Caitanya.
1520-1570	Literary activities of Raghunandana according to M. M. P. V. Kane and Dr. J. B. Chaudhuri. K is supposed to have been a contemporary of Raghunandana.
1542-1605	Dates of Emperor Akbar during whose reign Raghunandana flourished according to Sri Ram Sharma.
1577	Date of Tattvacintāmaṇi by पूर्णानन्द, the guru of K according to Dr. B. Bhattacharya.
C. 1607	Date of K according to Dr. Bhattacharya.
1639	Date of B. O. R. I. MS of Tantrasāra analysed in this paper.
1693	Date of a MS of Tantrasāra of K with V. S. Pariṣat, Calcutta.
C. 1725	Date of Gauri-kānta who quotes Tantrasāra in his commentary on Anandalahari (Oxford, 108b) MS of A. D. 1770.
1770	Date of another MS of Tantrasāra with V. S. Pariṣat.
1812	Date of Tantrasāra of K according to Farquhar.

The chronology tabulated above will, it is hoped, help to clarify the problem of the exact date of the Tantrasāra of Kṛṣṇānanda Vāgīśa, who can be definitely put between, say, A. D. 1500 and 1600 according to my data recorded in this paper. If the date A. D. 1530 of the MS of the Tantrasāra as recorded by Dr. Poleman is correct it will clinch down the date of the Tantrasāra between A. D. 1494 and 1530. I request Dr. Bhattacharya to examine the data recorded by me in this paper and see how far it could be reconciled with his date for Kṛṣṇānanda, viz., "about A. D. 1607."

21. Date of the Aśvacikitsita of Nakula — Before A. D. 1000*

In the list of works and authors mentioned and quoted in the *Yuktikalpataru*¹ of King Bhoja as recorded by Pandit Isvara Chandra Sastri, I do not find the name of Nakula, who is quoted from in the अश्वकुक्लि section of the Yuktikalpataru as follows :—

The above quotation raises the question of Bhoja's indebtedness to नकुल, whose अश्वचिकित्सित was published long ago in the Bib. litheca Indica (Calcutta, 1887). It will be clear from the following evidence that the अश्वयुक्ति of Bhoja's युक्तिरूपतरु is indebted to the अश्वचिकित्सित of नकुल :—

(1) The quotation from नकुल introduced with the words “यदाह नकुलः” reproduced above is taken from Chapter 3 of नकुल-अश्वचिकित्सित (pp. 78 of Bib. Indica, Edition, 1887) where it reads as follows :—

“अथ तृतीयोऽध्यायः । वर्णवर्णनम् ।

वर्णाः सप्त भवन्तीह सर्वेषां वाजिनां ध्रुवम् ।

तानहं कीर्तयिष्यामि भेदैर्जातानामेकधा ॥ १ ॥

सितो रक्तस्तथा पीतः सारङ्गः पिङ्ग एव च ।

पिङ्गः कपिलाकारो नीलो दूर्वाग्रसन्निभः ।

कृष्णो जम्बूफलाकारः शास्त्रज्ञैः समुदाहृतः ॥ ४ ॥ ”

In spite of a few variants this passage is almost identical with the passage quoted by Bhoja with the words “यदाह नकुलः”.

(2) To corroborate the above identification I record below additional comparison of verses and groups of verses common to भोज and नकुल :—

The foregoing comparison of extracts from the अश्वयुक्ति section of Bhoja's युक्तिकल्पतरु and from the अश्वचिकित्सित of Nakula clearly shows how Bhoja, who definitely mentions नकुल by name and quotes from his अश्वचिकित्सित has borrowed freely from Nakula's work. If the अश्वयुक्ति section in the युक्तिकल्पतरु is a genuine work of king Bhoja we have to conclude that the अश्वचिकित्सित of नकुल is earlier than Bhoja (c. A. D. 1050). We are thus in a position to determine the later limit for Nakula's work viz. c. A. D. 1000.

As regards the earlier limit to Nakula's अश्वचिकित्सित I have to make the following observations:—

(1) The passage mentioning the Arabian (ताजिक) and Khurasan (खुरशाण) horses as the best horses is common to both Bhoja and Nakula as we have seen above. The expression "ताजिताः खुरशाणाः" in Bhoja's अश्वयुक्ति is a misreading for "ताजिकाः खुरशाणाः" used by Nakula.

(2) *Khurason*¹ is a Province of North East Persia bounded on the North by the U. S. S. R., on the West by Mazandaran and Iraq Ajemi, on the South by Kuhistān, and on the East by Afghanistan. It consists partly of desert and partly of high-lying land, portions of which are fertile. Evidently the खुरशाण horses are equivalent to पारसीक horses, mentioned by जयदत्त in his अश्ववैद्यक, by the अमरकोश, by हेमचन्द्र in his अभिधानचिन्तामणि (c. A. D. 1140), by सोमेश्वर in his मानसोल्लास (c. A. D. 1130) and even by बाण in his हर्षचरित (c. A. D. 630).²

(3) I have presumed that the ताजिक horses mentioned by नकुल and भोज are equivalent to Arabian horses on the assurance of some friends. The Marathi Dictionary called the Śabdakośa mentions ताजी = Arabi horse (Arabic—ताजी). Whether the term ताजिक is identical with ताजी cannot be said with certainty as in the Ain-i-Akbari (p. 156 of Gladwin's Trans. 1897) seven kinds of horses are mentioned, in which the Arab horse is distinguished from the Tazee, which is given as the name of the best horse

1. Vide p. 615 of World Pictorial Gazetteer by J. A. Hammerton.

2. I propose to write a paper on Persian Horses in Sanskrit literature in which I shall record detailed evidence about Persian horses mentioned in Sanskrit texts and its bearing on the history of the import of Persian and Arabian horses in large numbers referred to in the Bambay Gazetteer (Thana) 1882 as follows:— (Page 431)— (810—1260 A. D.) Trade Centres—"The chief trade in Animals was towards the close of the period (1290), a great import of horses from the Persian Gulf and from Arabia. No ships came to Thana without horses..... This great demand for horses seems to have risen from the scare among the Hindu rulers of the Deccan caused by the Mussalman cavalry. As many as 10,000 horses a year are said to have been imported." (Yule's Morco Polo, II, 330.)

"mostly bred in Hindustan." To make confusion worse confounded we have Tajik as the name of a republic of Russia formed in 1924 out of the former regions of Bukhara and Turkistan and further सोमेश्वर in his मानसोल्लास (A. D. 1130) mentions तेजी horses among the best breeds of horses. It remains to be seen whether the terms ताजिक, तेजी, Tazee, Tajik are identical or otherwise. I intend to examine these terms in a separate paper with a view to clarifying the above confusion and hence cannot deal with them in this paper without detailed evidence.

For the present we may conclude that Nakula's Aśvacikitsita is earlier than c. A. D. 1000 as king Bhoja has borrowed from it largely in the Aśvayukti section of his Yuktikalpataru, mentioning in one place the name of Nakula along with the extract borrowed.

22. Date of Śrīdharasvāmin, Author of the Commentaries on the Bhāgavata Purāṇa and Other Works — Between c. A.D. 1350 and 1450 *

During the course of my studies in Indian literary history my attention was directed to the date of Śrīdharasvāmin, the author of the popular Sanskrit commentary on the Bhāgavatapurāṇa and other works. In this connection I consulted a Marathi book called the Bhāgavatādarśa by Mr. Kolbatkar, who states on p. 494 of his book that the date of Śrīdharasvāmi is not certain. In view of this statement I began to collect some data on the problem of Śrīdharasvāmi's date for the purpose of clarifying the present doubts and uncertainties about this date. The notes gathered by me so far are recorded in this paper with my tentative conclusion about this date within the limits of the data discovered by me.

(1) J. N. Farquhar in his Outline of Religious Literature of India (Oxford, 1920) refers to Śrīdhara's date as follows :—

Page 231 — “ Śrīdhara Svāmi, the author of the most famous commentary on it (Bhāgavata), who probably lived about A. D. 1400.”

Page 297 — Probably about A. D. 1400, Śrīdharasvāmi, Mahant of the Śaṅkarite monastery, Govardhana in Puri, wrote a commentary on the Bhāgavata P. He begins his commentary with the distinct statement that the great Purāṇa was not written by VOPADEVĀ ... Śrīdhara wrote at a time considerably later than A. D. 1300, when Vopadeva flourished. Śrīdhara's commentary was well-known by the end of the 15th century.

Page 308 — Caitanya read Bhāgavata with Śrīdhara's commentary.

Page 359 — Bhaṭṭa Nilakaṇṭha, the author of Tilaka commentary on the Devī Bhāgavata calls himself a disciple of Śrīdhara. As Śrīdhara flourished about A. D. 1400 Nilakaṇṭha may belong to the 15th or the 16th century.

(3) If Śrīdhara used the commentary on Viṣṇupurāṇa by Citsukha as stated in the above entries he must be later than Citsukha.¹ Śrīdhara must be earlier than Rūpagosvāmin, who quotes some verses of Śrīdhara in his Padyāvali. Citsukha is said to have flourished between A. D. 1220 and 1284.² If this date for Citsukha is correct we are warranted in fixing c. A. D. 1200 as the earlier terminus to the date of Śrīdhara. In this connection Dr. S. K. De³ observes :—“As Śrīdhara refers to Vopadeva, he could not have been earlier than 1300 A. D.” This view of Dr. De is in harmony with the statement of Amarnath Ray⁴ who states in one of his articles that Śrīdhara is a “late 14th or early 15th century teacher?”

(4) The later limit to the date of Śrīdhara can be fixed definitely on the strength of some dated MSS of Śrīdhara's works noted below :—

(i) The Catalogue of Anup Sanskrit Library, (Bikaner, 1944) records the following MSS of Śrīdhara's commentaries dated A. D. 1516 and 1582 :—

Vamśīdhara, author of Bhāvārthadīpikā (Venkaṭeśvara Press. informs us that the commentary on the Bhāgavata by Śrīdhara was preceded by that of Citsukha (Vide Poona Orientalist, Vol. I, No. 2, p. 65 — Review of Śrutikalpalatā by Dr. H. Sharma). If Vamśīdhara's statement is correct it supports Aufrecht's entry about the posteriority of Śrīdhara to Citsukha. According to Vamśīdhara two other commentaries on the Bhāgavata by Śaṅkara and Hanūmat respectively preceded Śrīdhara's commentary.

(ii) Catalogue of Nepal Manuscripts by A. P. Śāstri and Cecil Bendall (Calcutta, 1905) records MSS of Śrī-dhara's commentary on the Bhāgavata dated
A. D. 1511 and 1590 as will be seen from the following extract :—

Preface p. li — “ भागवतटीका, p. 28 No. 934 ; and p. 91, No. 14 ख of the new collection. The first is Śrīdhara's commentary copied in Maithila character in La. Sam. 472 (= A. D. 1590) by Nārāyaṇa at Koreṇi in Mithilā. The second also was copied in the same character by Raghupati at the village Poari in La. Sam. 393 (= A.D.
1511). It contains the commentary on the eleventh and twelfth Skandhas only.”

It is clear from the above evidence that there are MSS of Śrī-dhara's commentaries dated A.D. 1511, 1516, 1582 and 1590. This evidence enables us to fix A. D. 1500 as the later limit to Śrīdha-ra's date. This limit can be pushed back still further on the basis of further evidence to follow.

(5) Viṣṇupurī of Tirhut was one of the early inspirers of the Bhakti movement in Bengal. He followed the tradition of Śrīdhara which he directly acknowledges in the closing verse of his work called—भागवत-भक्तिरत्नावली.¹ This verse² reads as follows:—

“ अत्र श्रीधरसप्तमौक्तिलिखने न्यूनाधिकं यद्भवे- त्सक्षम् सुधियोऽहं स्ववचनालुब्धस्य मे चापकम् ॥ ”

Caitanya himself possessed the highest veneration for Śrīdhara and on one occasion he is said to have repudiated a commentary on the Gītā on the ground that it departed from Śrīdhara's interpretation.³
Kavi Karpapūra, who flourished much earlier than the period of Caitanya mentions Viṣṇupurī as a predecessor according to Dr.
S. K. De.⁴ We thus get the following series of authors from Śrīdhara onwards :—

1. Vide p. ix of Intro. to Padyāvalī ed. by S. K. De. Dacca, 1934 ; vide also p. 231 (Notes on authors).

2. I am thankful to my friend Dr. S. K. De for sending me this verse from a Dacca University MS in his letter of 29th March 1935.

3. Vide p. xi of Intro. to Padyāvalī.

4. Vide p. 231 of Padyāvalī.

श्रीधर — विष्णुपुरी' — कविकर्णपुर — चतुर्थः
 (later than A. D. 1300) (A. D. 1350-1400) (A. D. 1485-1527)

(6) Rūpagosvāmin, disciple of Caitanya, who flourished between A. D. 1495 and 1550 (p. liii of Intro. to Padyāvali ed. by S. K. De) quotes some verses of Śrīdharasvāmin in his Padyāvali (p. 669 of Part I of Cata. Catalogorum by Aufrecht). This evidence would justify us in pushing back the later limit to the date of Śrīdharasvāmin to about A. D. 1450. We have already referred to the priority of Śrīdhara to Caitanya, who was born in A. D. 1485.

(7) Lakṣmanabhṭṭa in his commentary on the Naiṣadha refers to Śrīdhara's commentary on the Bhāgavata as follows :—

Folio 9 A of MS No. 714 of 1886-92—

“ नागवते श्रीधरव्याख्यानात् ॥ ”

Lakṣmanabhṭṭa flourished between A. D. 1431 and 1730 as I have shown in my paper³ on this author.

(8) Vaidya Mahādeva in his commentary on Sūtrata (Baroda Oriental Institute MS No. 6041) quotes Bhāgavata and refers to Śrīdhara :—

“ दशमो हरिः इति श्रीधरोक्तेः⁴ ॥ ”

1. Vide Farquhar's Outline etc, Page 302 — “ Viṣṇupurī who belonged to Tirhut probably lived in the 2nd half of the 14th century ” — Page 375 — Bhaktiratnāvalī of Viṣṇupurī, about A. D. 1400. Vide also Glassenapp's Madhva Philosophie des Viṣṇu Glaubens [Bonn and Leipzig, 1923, p. 61 — He is wrongly called a Madhva ascetic in these works.]. (I owe this reference to Dr. S. K. De).

2. According to Duff's Chronology (p. 264) Caitanya was born in A. D. 1485. According to Burgess' Chronology of Modern India (p. 21) Caitanya died in A. D. 1527. According to Farquhar (Outline, etc. p. 308) Caitanya “ passed away in 1533. ” According to Dr. De (p. xvii of Padyāvali Intro.). Caitanya was born in February 1485 A. D. and died in June-July 1533 (p. xxx).

4. When I took down this quotation fifteen years ago from the Baroda MS I forgot to note the exact number of the folio on which this quotation is found.

(9) Rāmaṣi in his commentary on the Nalodaya Kāvya called the Yamakabodhini composed in A. D. 1608 refers to Śrīdhara and his commentary on the Bhāgavata as follows in verse 5 at the end of MS No. 411 of 1887-91 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute (p. 374 of Catalogue of Kāvya MSS, Vol. XIII, Part I, 1940) :—

Rāmaṣi compares his father Vṛddhavyāsa to Śrīdhara in the exposition of the Bhāgavata in verse 5 which reads as follows :—

“ श्रीभागवतभाषार्थव्याख्याने श्रीधरोपमबृद्धस्यासौ-

भवत् ॥ ५ ॥ ” etc.

(10) An illustrated MS of the Bhāgavata with Śrīdhara's commentary (No. 61 of 1907-1915 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona) is dated Samvat 1705 (A. D. 1648, Thursday, 10th August).¹

(11) Another MS of the Bhāgavata with Śrīdhara's commentary (No. 435 F of Viś I in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute) is dated Samvat 1612 (= A. D. 1556). This date is in harmony with the dates A. D. 1511 (Nepal MS) and 1516 (Bikaner MS) already recorded by me while dealing with the dated MSS of Śrīdhara's commentary on the Bhāgavata copied in the 16th century.

(12) Dr. P. V. Kane² refers to one “ श्रीधरस्वामिन् mentioned by रघुनन्दन in एकादशीतत्त्व (Vol. II. p. 25), in मल्लमासतत्त्व (Vol. I, p. 820, as the author of a समुच्चय ”). According to Dr. Kane Raghunandana, the author of एकादशीतत्त्व flourished between A. D. 1490 and 1570 (see p. 419 of Vol. I of History of Dharmasāstra, 1930). If this Śrīdharasvāmin is identical with his name-sake, the commentator of the Bhāgavata etc. we get A. D. 1490 as the later terminus to the date of Śrīdharasvāmin, which harmonises with his priority to Caitanya (born A. D. 1485) as noted by me already in this paper.

(13) There are in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, the following dated MSS of Śrīdharasvāmin's commentary called the Subodhini on the Bhagavadgīta :—

1. Vide my paper on this MS in New Indian Antiquary, Vol. I (1938) July, pp. 249-253.

2. Vide p. 752 of History of Dharmasāstra, Poona, 1930.

- (i) No. 164 of 1891-95 — dated Samvat 1762 (= A.D. 1706)
 (ii) No. 255 of 1882-83 — dated Samvat 1745 (= A.D. 1689)
 (iii) No. 60 of 1902-07 — dated Śaka 1696 (= A.D. 1774)
 (iv) No. 163 of 1891-95 — dated Samvat 1853 (= A.D. 1797)
 (v) No. 425 of 1875-76 — Paper MS, fragmentary and worn out, in Śāradā characters.

This MS contains the following stanza giving the date of the copying of the MS at the end :—

“ रागादिष्टे विक्रमादित्यशाके ।
 माघे श्लिष्टे सोमवारेण द्वर्षे ॥
 सिद्धे योगे विष्णुनक्षत्रकृष्टे ।
 सिद्धक्षेत्रे माघवास्यया विज्ञिष्टे ॥ ”

The chronogram in this verse needs to be interpreted. Pandit Viśvanātha Śāstri of the Mahābhārata Department of the B. O. R. Institute interprets “ रागादिष्टे ” as meaning the year “ 1432 ” according to the “ कट्ययादि ” system of calculation. The consonants in the expression “ रागादिष्टे ” are shown below with their numerical values :—

र (= 2) ग (= 3) ञ (= 4) ट (= 1)

Reversing the numbers 2, 3, 4, 1 we get 1432 as the year indicated by the expression “ रागादिष्टे.” If this calculation is correct the date of the MS would be Vikramāditya Śaka 1432 = A. D. 1376. I hope that experts in Indian chronology would verify this calculation in the light of other details mentioned in the last three lines of the stanza and see if it is correct.

On the strength of the data recorded above I am inclined to fix up the date of Śrīdharasvāmin between C. A. D. 1350 and 1450.

23. The History and Chronology of a Nāgara Brahmin Family of Physicians in Gujarāt — A. D. 1275-1475 *

In a recent issue¹ of the Journal of the Gujarāt Research Society, Durga Shankar K. Shastri has published an interesting article on 'Medical Science in Ancient Gujarāt.' In this article he makes the following remarks² on Nārāyaṇa, who completed the commentary, vyākhyā-Kusumāvallī of Śrīkaṇṭhaḍatta on the Vṛnda-mādhava or Siddha-yoga of Vṛnda : —

" Nārāyaṇa (15th century) — The manuscript evidence of the Kusumāvallī, a gloss by Śrīkaṇṭha on the Vṛnda-mādhava indicates that a Vaidya named Nārāyaṇa, the son of Bhāmalla and a nāgir by caste is said to have completed the above [gloss, which was left unfinished by its author through fear of its becoming too bulky.³ Nothing certain is known about his date and domicile. He is obviously later than Śrīkaṇṭha, who lived in Bengal in the 13th century. He is, moreover, earlier than the 17th century for a MS of the completed Kusumāvallī written in 1630 A. D. is available. It is highly probable that it took a long time for Śrīkaṇṭha's commentary to reach Gujarāt and on the other hand, it might have been not too long an interval to blend the two works. It is, therefore, likely that Nārāyaṇa lived in the 15th century. As remarked above Vāgbhaṭa's commentary written in Bengal in the 13th century was studied in Gujarāt in the 15th. Similarly, the comments on the

1. Vol. VII, Nos. 2 and 3, April and July 1945, pp. 75-88.

2. Ibid. p. 83.

3. The Ānandāśrama ed. of Vṛnda-mādhava contains the following verses at the end of the text :—

" श्रीकण्ठस्तमिषजा ग्रन्थविस्तारमीरुणा ।

टीकायां कुसुमावल्यां व्याख्या मुक्ता क्वचित् क्वचित् ॥

रत्ननागरवृक्षस्य मिषजं भामल्लनन्दनः ।

नारायणो द्विजवरो मिषजां हितकाम्यया ॥

टीकापतिं व्यधात् सम्यक् तेन नन्दन्तु साधवः ॥ "

Vṛnda-madhava were perhaps studied in the same period and some one tried to fill in the lacuna. Nārāyaṇa is associated with Gujarāt merely because he was a Nāgir. From amongst the numerous commentaries on the Sanskrit works on ancient medicine, not one can be credited to Gujarāt. Hence the importance of Nārāyaṇa.’

These remarks of D. K. Shastri are quite reasonable in the light of evidence adduced by him. I propose, however, to record in this paper some reliable evidence which throws a flood of light on the family of Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj and its history for about 200 years, say between A.D. 1300 and 1500. This evidence will also, clarify the date of Nārāyaṇa who is assigned by Mr. Shastri to 15th century. It will also be seen from my evidence that the interest of the several members of this family of Nāgar Brahmins in the theory and practice of medicine remained unbroken for about two centuries.

Aufrecht records (CC I, p. 289) the following works of Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj :—(1) कर्मप्रकाश khn 88, (2) वातप्रत्यादिनिर्णय K 218, (3) वैद्यवृन्द B. 4. 242 and (4) वैद्यामृत B. 4 244. The MSS of these works on medicine are not available to me for examination. I am, therefore, unable to say if Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj, who completed व्याख्या-कुसुमावली of Śrīkaṇṭhadatta, is identical with his namesake, the author of these works. The catalogues, in which these Sanskrit works are mentioned, do not describe the MSS recorded and consequently it is difficult to say if these works were composed by the Nāgara Brahmin Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj who completed Śrīkaṇṭhadatta's commentary on the Vṛndamādhava or Siddh-ayoga. The only MS of व्याख्या-कुसुमावली recorded by Aufrecht (CC I, p 618) is No. 375 of 1882-83 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. This work has been published.²

In his History of Āyurveda (आयुर्वेदनो इतिहास), written in Gujarātī (Gujarāt Vernacular Society, Ahmedabad, 1942, p. 180). D. K. Shastri makes the following remarks about नारायण भिषज् :—

1. This नारायण भिषज् should not be confounded with नारायण, who composed a commentary on त्रिशली of शाङ्गधर called सिद्धान्त-सम्प्रदाय. This author was the son of कृष्णभट्ट and younger brother of नागनाथ (See MSS Nos. 622 of 1895-1902 and 947 of 1884-87 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, described by Dr. H. D. Sharma on pp. 113-115 of his Des. Cata. of Vaidyaka MSS [B. O. R. Institute] Vol. XVI, Part I, 1939.

2. Ed. by Hanumanta Sastri Padhye, Poona, 1894.

“ श्रीकण्ठदत्त composed a commentary called the व्याख्या-कुसुमावली on the सिद्धयोग of बृहद्. This श्रीकण्ठ also composed a commentary on the माधव-निदान. He lived in the 14th century. His commentary, incomplete in parts, was completed by नारायण son of भाभल्ल of नागर-ज्ञाति, as stated at the end of the Ānandāśrama ed. of the व्याख्या-कुसुमावली.”

I propose now to connect our Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj of नागरवंश with the family of another Nāgara Brahmin अनन्त, who composed a work called the कामसूह in A. D. 1457 and on whom I published a paper in 1940 in the Journal of Oriental Research, Madras (Vol. XV, Part I, pp. 74-81). Rao Bahadur P. C. Divanji published a Gujarāṭī rendering of this paper in a Gujarāṭī journal. Evidently, D. K. Shastri has not seen my paper or this Gujarāṭī rendering. In my paper under reference I have recorded the following facts :—

(1) अनन्त composed his कामसूह in A. D. 1457.

(2) He belonged to भाभल्लवंश and was the son of मन्त्रिमण्डन, as stated by him in the following verse :—

“ भाभल्लवंशजातेन मन्त्रिमण्डनसूनुना ।
अनन्तेन महाकाव्यप्रबन्धः क्रियते मया ॥ ६ ॥ ”

(3) His father मण्डन was the son of नारायण, as stated by अनन्त in the following verses :—

“ विद्वज्जनसभानन्दो मन्त्री नारायणात्मजः ।
मण्डनस्तस्य पुत्रेण वर्ण्यन्ते स्मर्तव्योऽधुना ॥ ६९ ॥
नारायणःत्मजः श्रीमान् मन्त्री श्रीमण्डनो द्विजः ।
तत्सुतेन प्रियावस्था प्रयागे वर्णिता मुदा ॥ ”

(4) अनन्त belonged to नागर ज्ञाति, as stated by him in the following verse :—

“ नागरज्ञातिजातेन मन्त्रिमण्डनसूनुना ।
अनन्तेन महाकाव्या (? इयं) सतीवृत्तं प्रकाशितम् ॥ ”

(5) अनन्त states that he was a resident of a town (नगर) founded by अहिम्मद :—

“ अहिम्मदनिर्मितनगरे विहितावसतिश्च बृहन्नागरिकः ।
मण्डनसूनुनन्तो रचयति सेवाविधिं नार्याः ॥ ”

अहिम्मदनगर ' mentioned in the above verse cannot be Ahmadnagar founded by Ahmad Nizam Shah in A. D. 1494). It may be identical with Ahmedabad (founded in A. D. 1513) or Ahmadnagar (now Himmatnagar, the capital of Idar State [founded in A. D. 1427]). Both these towns were founded by Amad I of Gujarāt before A. D. 1457, the date of the कामसमूह of अनन्त.

(6) One आनन्दपूर्ण was the Guru of अनन्त, as stated in the following verse :—

“आनन्दपूर्णगुरुपादयुगं प्रणम्य ।

व्याख्यां विधाय सुरभे रचयत्यनन्तः ॥ २७ ॥”

One आनन्दपूर्ण alias विद्यासागर, the commentator of the महा-भारत, was a contemporary of Kāmadeva, the Kadamba ruler of Goa, one of whose inscriptions is dated A. D. 1393.

(7) अनन्त describes his father मण्डन as मन्त्रिन् ‘minister’, and, also, as भूपतीनां भिषग्वरः ‘physician to kings’ and गजायुर्वेदवेत्ता वै धन्वन्तरिरिवापरः ‘proficient in the veterinary science dealing with elephants as धन्वन्तरि himself.’

(8) अनन्त calls himself a वृद्धनागरिक of अहिम्मदनगर. He also calls himself अनन्तशास्त्रज्ञः ‘proficient in many sciences.’ He also styles himself as भिषग्विद्याविद् ‘expert in medical science’ (like his father मण्डन expert in veterinary and general medicine).

The identity of Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj (who completed the व्याख्या-कुसुमावली of श्रीकण्ठदत्त) with नारायण the grandfather of अनन्त of A. D. 1457 will be clear from the following tabulated statement :—

नारायण भिषज्	नारायण, grandfather of अनन्त
(1) He calls himself आभल्ल-नन्दन i.e. son of आभल्ल (or आभल्ल).	(1) अनन्त tells us that his grandfather was नारायण and that he belonged to आभल्लवंश (आभल्ल family).
(2) He calls himself as descended from नागर वंश (Nāgar family).	(2) अनन्त also states his own caste as ‘नागर जाति’.
(3) He calls himself नारायण भिषज्.	(3) अनन्त calls his grandfather as नारायण and his father, मण्डन, son of नारायण as भिषग्वर and गजायुर्वेदवेत्ता.

The identity of the names भाभ(भ)ल्ल, नारायण and नागर ज्ञाति (or नागर वंश) as revealed by the statements of अनन्त and नारायणभिषज् is not accidental but real. I have, therefore, no doubt that Nārāyaṇa Bhiṣaj who completed the व्याख्या-कुसुमावली is identical with नारायण, the grandfather of अनन्त of A. D. 1457. If this identity is accepted, we can easily see how the study of medicine was continued in this Nāgara family from the grandfather to the grandson, as represented in the following genealogy and its chronology :—

Genealogy	भाभ(म)ल्ल	→नारायणभिषज्	→मान्त्रिमण्डन (भिषग्वर and राजायुर्वेदवेत्ता)	→अनन्त (भिषाग्विद्यावित्) वृद्धनागरिक in A.D. 1457
Chronology	c. A.D. 1275-1350	c. A.D. 1325-1400	c. A.D. 1375-1450	c. A.D. 1400-1475

As regards the chronology given in the above table, I have to observe as follows :—

(1) श्रीकण्ठदत्त was the pupil of विजयरक्षित whose date is about 1240 A. D. (vide Hoernle : Osteology, p. 17).

(2) The date of श्रीकण्ठदत्त, the author of व्याख्या-कुसुमावली, would be c. A. D. 1225-1300.

(3) नारायण भिषज् who completed व्याख्या-कुसुमावली, is, therefore, later than A. D. 1300. In the above table, I have assigned him to the period A. D. 1325-1400. "

(4) मण्डन the son of नारायण भिषज् may be safely assigned to the period A. D. 1375-1450.

(5) अनन्त, son of मण्डन, composed his कामसम्बोध in A. D. 1457, when he was a वृद्धनागरिक. He, therefore, may be assigned to the period A. D. 1400-1475.

(6) भाभल्ल, the great grandfather of अनन्त, has been assigned by me to the period A. D. 1275-1350. He appears to have been contemporaneous with श्रीकण्ठदत्त.

I believe that the above chronology is quite reasonable within the limits available to me, viz. c. A. D. 1240, the date of विजयरक्षित and A. D. 1457, the date of अनन्त. In this manner, by linking up the evidence given by नारायण भिषज् and that given by अनन्त, we have been able to give the history and chronology of this Nāgara family of physicians for 200 years (A. D. 1275-1475).

It would appear from my evidence that नारायण भिषज् belongs to the 14th century and not the 15th century; to which D. K. Shastri has assigned him in his article. अनन्त calls himself as भाभल्ल-वैशजात, i. e. born in the भाभल्ल family. This vague statement of अनन्त about his great grandfather is clarified by his grandfather नारायण भिषज्, who expressly calls himself भाभल्ल-नन्दन. The great grandson had a vague memory of his great grandfather, but the grandfather had no such vagueness in calling himself भाभल्लनन्दन 'the son of भाभल्ल.' It is, therefore, clear that the genealogy established by me in this paper, viz. भाभल्ल-नारायण-मण्डन-अनन्त (A. D. 1457) is accurate and reliable.

अनन्त frequently calls his father as मन्त्रिन् 'minister' and भूपतीनां भिषग्वरः 'Royal Physician.' We must investigate the name of the king at whose court he flourished and served as minister. It is possible to suppose that मण्डन (c. 1375-1450 A. D.) was patronised by Ahmad I of Gujarāt (A. D. 1411-1442). In this connection I may point out that Mahamud Begdā, the grandson of Ahmad I, had a court Pandit, Udayarāja¹, who composed a poem called the राजविनोद between A. D. 1458 and 1469.

Ahmad I of Gujarāt (A. D. 1411-1442) twice attacked Malwa (in A. D. 1419 and 1422), without being able to capture Hoshang Ghori, who was ruling at Mandu fort between A. D. 1405 and 1432. I have proved, elsewhere,² that Hoshang Ghori had a Jain Prime Minister of the name मण्डन, son of बाहड and grandson of संज्ञण of श्रीमालदेव. This महाप्रधान मण्डन was a Jain संघपति and composed several Sanskrit works like काव्य-मण्डन, नृत्तार-मण्डन, सारस्वत-मण्डन and संगीत-मण्डन. He flourished between A. D. 1405 and 1432, the period of Hoshang Ghori's rule at Malwa. This महाप्रधानमण्डन of Malwa should not be confounded with मन्त्रिमण्डन of Gujarāt (A. D. 1375-1450) who was his contemporary with a different genealogy.

1. Vide my paper : Date Rājavinoda of Udayarāja, a Hindu Court Poet of Mahamud Begdā, in the Journal of the Bombay University, 1940 pp. 102-115. उदयराज refers to the following Sultans of Gujarāt :—

मुदप्पर (A. D. 1392-1410); महम्मद son of मुदप्पर; अहम्मद (A. D. 1411-1442); महम्मद son of अहम्मद, (A. D. 1442-1451); महमूद (Begdā) son of महम्मद (A. D. 1458-1511).

24. Date of Vāsudeva's Commentary on the Vāsavadattā of Subandhu — Between A. D. 1500 and 1700*

In 1940 I published a paper¹ on the Dates of Nārāyaṇa Dīkṣita and Other Commentators of the Vāsavadattā of Subandhu. In this paper I have mentioned about 20 commentaries on the Vāsavadattā and tried to fix their probable chronology on the strength of data then available to me. In 1948 my friend Rao Saheb G. V. Panse, B. E. of Poona showed to me an incomplete MS² of a commentary on the Vāsavadattā containing about 270 folios (11.7 by 4.4 inches in size). This MS excited my curiosity as I had not examined this commentary in my previous paper referred to above. I, therefore, asked Rao Saheb Panse to prepare a critical analysis of this MS and submit it to the session of the All-India Oriental Conference. Rao Saheb Panse accordingly prepared such an analysis for the Darbhanga Session held in October 1948 and gave me a copy of it with a request that I should try to fix up the chronology of this commentary by Vāsudeva represented by the Baroda MS.

At the time when Rao Saheb Panse requested me to fix up the chronology of Vāsudeva's commentary under reference I was engaged in writing a paper on the date of Rasakāmadhenu by Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra. This work on alchemy appears to have been composed later than A. D. 1500 according to the evidence recorded by me in my paper. A comparative study of the historical and biographical data available in the Rasakāmadhenu and Vāsudeva's commentary on the Vāsavadattā called Bhuvana-Candrikā or Bhuvanārtha Candrikā disclosed quite accidentally that Devanātha, the father of Vāsudeva was possibly identical with Devanātha-Miśra, the guru of Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra. If this identity could be proved we can definitely say that Vāsudeva and Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra were contemporaries. But before I proceed to prove this identity it is necessary to record the extracts from Vāsudeva's commentary on the strength of which we are in a position to fix up the suggested identity.

The MS begins as follows :—

The genealogy of Vāsudeva as given in the foregoing extracts is as follows:—

माधव (of a शाकद्वीपि द्विज family)
 Son
 नारायण
 Son
 जनार्दन
 Son
 देवनाथ (an eminent physician) (married दुर्गा)
 Son
 वासुदेव (author of भुवनचंद्रिका commentary on the वासवदत्ता)

The commentary of Vāsudeva is very rich in citations from previous works and authors. Rao Saheb Panse has noted some of them as follows:—

अग्निपुराण, अभिधानचिन्तामणि, उत्तरतंत्र, कात्यायन, कुल्लोकः, छन्दोमञ्जरी, तारपाल, दामोदर, धातुपारायण, नामनिधान, पिंगल, भुजबलभीमनिर्बंध, माघ, याज्ञवल्क्य, रंतिदेव, रावणस्तव, वाचस्पतिः, विष्णुनामस्तव, वृक्षायुर्वेद, व्याडिः, शेषाख्यमाळा, सरस्वतीस्तव, रमृति, हेममाळा, अंगराज, अमरकोष, उत्पलिनी, काव्य-

प्रकाश, गदसिंह, जयदेव, त्रिकांडशेष, देशीकोष, धनिक, निघंटु, (धम्वंतरीय), भगवद्गीता, मल्लनाग, मालतीमाधव, रघुवंश, रभसः, रुचक, घामन, विष्णुपुराण, वृत्त-रत्नाकर, शब्दार्णव, शृंगारतिलक, साहित्यदर्पण, हरिहरस्तोत्र, अजय, अमरमाला, कविकल्पलता, काव्यालंकार, गंधशास्त्र, जयंत, दशरूपक, द्विरूपकोष, नलचंपू, नषध, भरत, महानिघंटु, मुद्राराक्षस, रत्नकोष, रामायण, रुद्र, वायुपुराण, विश्वप्रकाश, वोपाहित, शब्दभेद, संसारावर्त, सुश्रुत, हलायुध, अनेकार्य, अमरसिंह, कामंदकीय, काशीखण्ड, गोवर्धन, ज्योतिःशास्त्र, दंडी, धरणिः, नलोपाख्यान, न्यायवार्तिक, भागुरिः, महाभारत, मेदिनी, रत्नावली, रायमुकुटव्याख्यान, लोहशास्त्र, विंध्यवासिनी, वीरचरित, व्यक्तिविवेक, शाश्वत, सरस्वतीकंठाभरण, सुवर्णलोक, हारावली.

From the above list the reference to रायमुकुटव्याख्यान, evidently on the Āmarakośa, gives us one terminus to the date of Vāsudeva. Rāyamukūṭa composed this commentary in A. D. 1431. We can, therefore, safely conclude that Vāsudeva, the author of the Bhuvana-Candrikā commentary on the Vāsavadattā is later than A. D. 1450. Other datable references in the above list, are मेदिनी (c. A. D. 1200-1275) and साहित्यदर्पण of Viśvanātha) composed between A. D. 1300 and 1350.¹ These dates are in harmony with the date of Rāyamukūṭa's commentary viz. A. D. 1431.

On folio 211 of the Baroda MS of Vāsudeva's commentary on the Vāsavadattā of Subandhu Vāsudeva comments on the following line in the Vāsavadattā :—

“कम्बुरिव गगनमहार्णवस्य, पारदपिण्ड इव कालघातुवादिनः”

Vāsudeva comments :—

“कंबुः शंखः...मुक्तिं दत्त्वा प्रारं संसारं ददातीति पारदः हरजो रसो मुकुटः पारदसुतौ रसेंद्रनामानीत्यस्मत्पितृचरणविरचितरसमुक्तावल्याम्”

It is clear from this reference that Devanātha, the father of Vāsudeva, composed a work called the *Rasamuktāvalī*² on alchemy.

C C I, 495 — “रसमुक्तावली med. B. 4. 236”

(Dated Samvat 1728 = A. D. 1672.)

C C II, 116 — “रसमुक्तावली med. I O 1875”

(dated Śaka 1731 = A. D. 1809).

C C III, 106 — “रसमुक्तावली med. Ashburn 14”

This statement is in harmony with Vāsudeva's description of his father's proficiency in Āyurveda as recorded in the following verse 9 at the beginning of the commentary :—

“ आयुर्वेदविबोधविशुद्धीभिर्निरूपित इतीह धन्वन्तरिरयमपरो न परो यस्मा- द्विषक् कोऽपि ॥ ९ ॥ ”

Verily Devanātha was as it were Dhanvantari, the physician of the gods. There was no other physician superior to him.

We have now to identify the following line in Devanātha's Rasamuktāvali quoted by Vāsudeva :—

“ हरजो रसो मुकुन्दः पारदसूतौ रसेन्द्रनामानि ”

This line is not found in the Ānandāśrama MS of the Rasamuktāvali, which is anonymous. The three MSS of the Rasamuktāvali mentioned by Aufrecht are not accessible to me and consequently I cannot say if the above line can be traced in any of these three MSS. In this connection I have to point out that Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra in his work on alchemy called the Rasakāmadhenu (ed. by Jadavaji Trikamji Acharya, Bombay, 1925) quotes from a work on alchemy by his guru Devanātha Miśra some verses as follows :—

Page 379 — “ तथा च मद्गुरुश्रीदेवनाथमिश्रा :—

नूतनघटाःकपालं दुग्धयूक्तकं विभाव्य विज्ञानी ।
वधौ मुखेऽस्य वस्त्रं शुद्धं बद्ध्वा भृशं रज्ज्वा ॥ ३१ ॥ ” (verses 32, 33 and 34 which follow as part of the extract are in the same metre-āryā

Page 327 — “ प्राहुर्मद्गुरुश्रीदेवनाथमिश्राः—

सूतं पलशतमथवा तदर्धमथवा तदर्धमथ तुल्यम् ।
अथवा दशपलमथवा तदर्धमथवैकमादाय ॥ ३८ ॥ ”

Rao Saheb Panse showed me a copy of MS No. 2540 in the Ānandāśrama, Poona. This is a MS of रसमुक्तावली.

It begins : — “ श्रीगणेशायनमः ।

गिरिजातनुजं प्रणम्य पूर्वं गिरिजेशं किल वेधसं च भक्त्या ।
कम...शमह करोमि रम्यां रसमुक्तावलीकां परोपकृत्यै ॥ १ ॥ ”

The MS ends — “ इति रसमुक्तावली समाप्तः ”

The line from Devanātha's Rasamuktāvali quoted by Vāsudeva very probably belongs to the treatise on rasavidyā composed by Devanāthamiśra, the guru of Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra. If this surmise is correct we can easily deduce the following conclusions :—

(1) Devanātha, the father of Vāsudeva is identical with Devanāthamiśra, the guru of Cūḍāmaṇimiśra.

(2) Devanātha, Vāsudeva and Cūḍāmaṇimiśra were all contemporaries and consequently the relative chronology of their works would be as follows :—

(i) रसमुक्तावली is earlier than the भुवनचन्द्रिका of वासुदेव.

(ii) रसमुक्तावली is also earlier than the रसकामधेनु of चूडामणिमिश्र.

(iii) As the रसकामधेनु of चूडामणिमिश्र is later than A. D. 1500 the dates of the रसमुक्तावली and the भुवनचन्द्रिका also get shifted to a period, which is later than A. D. 1500.

The MS of Rasamuktāvali mentioned by Aufrecht as "B. 4. 236" is dated Samvat 1728 = A. D. 1672. If this Rasamuktāvali is identical with the Rasamuktāvali of Devanātha we can infer that these three authors viz (1) Devanātha, (2) his pupil Cūḍāmaṇimiśra and (3) Vāsudeva (Devanātha's son) flourished between A. D. 1500 and 1672.

We have seen above that Vāsudeva belonged to a Śākadvīpi Brahmin family. His father's pupil Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra also belonged to a Śākadvīpi Brahmin family as stated by him in the following verses found in the Rasakāmadhenu :—

In my paper on the Rasakāmadhenu I have pointed out some Mantras in Hindi quoted by its author on pp. 48, 409 etc. This fact would warrant an inference that Cūḍāmaṇi Miśra and his Śākadvīpi Brahmin family belonged to Northern India. The commentator Vāsudeva and his Śākadvīpi Brahmin family may also be taken to be a North Indian family, very probably belonging to the United Provinces.

A work called the Rasaratnapradīpa is mentioned in the Rasakāmadhenu (pp. 177, 370 etc.) If this Rāsaratnapradīpa (on alchemy) is identical with the *Rasaratnapradīpa*¹ of Rāmarāja (c. A. D. 1475) we get additional corroboration for our earlier limit for the date of the *Rasakāmadhenu*² viz. A. D. 1500.

25. Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa's Work on Anatomy called the Śārīra-Padminī and its Wrong Dating by Dr. Hoernle *

Hoernle in his *Osteology*¹ makes the following references to a medical author Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa and his work on Anatomy called Śārīrapadminī :—

Page 17 — “ 12. Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa and Bhāva Miśra — To a slightly earlier date than that of Cakrapāṇidatta belongs a medical author Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa. *He appears to have lived about 1000 A. C.*² He wrote a tract on Anatomy called Śārīra Padminī (i. e. Lotus among works on Anatomy). The statements on the skeleton, contained in this treatise, reproduce the doctrine of Suśruta as modified by Vāgbhaṭa (See § 36).

Page 70 — “ 6. As to older medical works which explicitly adopt Suśruta's system of the skeleton we have the following two (§ 2) :

(1) The Śārīra Padminī by Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa (c. A. C. 1000) a manuscript of which is in the possession of Dr. P. Cordier (Récents Découvertes, p. 30) dated Samvat 1735 = A. C. 1678 and from which a copy of the statement on the skeleton was very kindly supplied to me by the owner.

(2) The Bhāva Prakāśa by Bhāva Miśra in the Sixteenth Century, edited by Jivānanda and others.

Page 74 — “ The two medical works Śārīra Padminī and Bhāva Prakāśa which adopt the statement of Suśruta etc.”

2. See Epigraphia Indica, Vol. I, p. 340. The Śārīra Padminī was brought to notice by Dr. P. Cordier in his Récents Découvertes, p. 30.

tional Recension of the statement of Suśruta is found in the two medical works Śārīra Padminī and Bhāva Prakāśa.

2. In the Śārīra Padminī (verses 70 and 71) it runs as follows:—

1. The statement of the system of Suśruta in the Śārīra Padminī and its commentary edited from a manuscript in the possession of Dr. P. Cordier runs as follows:—

“किकसं त्रिशत उदर ओरसि पृष्ठे ॥ ७० ॥” “सप्त-युक्त-दश-शत पुनरेतत् ॥ ७१ ॥” For the translation see § 36.

2. The commentary of Vaidyanātha, called Padminī Prabodha on the above given statement runs as follows: — “शारीरे स्थानं..... etc.”

Translation:—“Because of the conciseness of the statement of the bones etc.”

From the foregoing references we get the following information :

(1) Name of the work:— शारीरपद्मिनी. (2) Author:— भास्कर भट्ट.

(3) Date of the MS of the work with Dr. P. Cordier:— Samvat 1735 = A. C. 1678.

(4) Name of the Commentary on the work:— पद्मिनीप्रबोध by वैद्यनाथ.

(5) Date of Composition of शारीरपद्मिनी About 1000 A. C. according to Hoernle.

I am not aware of the grounds on which Hoernle assigns the शारीरपद्मिनी to “about A. D. 1000.” It appears, however, that Hoernle had not personally examined the MS of the work in the possession of Dr. P. Cordier. The date “about A. D. 1000” for this work given by Hoernle is absolutely wrong and misleading as will be seen from the following evidence:—

(1) Aufrecht makes no mention of any work of the name शारीर-पद्मिनी in this Catalogus Catalogorum.

(2) In 1944 Rajavaidya S. A. Jagatap of Kolhapur sent to me a MS of the शारीरपद्मिनी by Bhāskara Āpāji Agnihotri. I have sent for publication a paper on this work.

(3) The Śārīra-Padminī of Bhāskara Bhaṭṭa referred to by Hoernle in his remarks quoted in extenso above is identical with the work represented by the Jagatap MS of the Śārīrapadminī of Bhāskar Āpāji Agnihotrī. Verses 70 (कीकसे etc.) and 71 (सप्त-युक्त दश-शत etc.) quoted by Hoernle from the Cordier MS of the शारीर-पद्मिनी are exactly identical with those numbered 70 and 71 in the Jagatap MS. The Jagtap MS contains 110 verses in all.

(4) The Jagatap MS of the Śārīrapadminī was copied in A. D. 1791 (Śaka 1713, Virodhdhakt Samvatsara Vaiśākha śuddha Pratipad.)

(5) The Jagatap MS of the शारीरपद्मिनी records in the following verse the date of composition of the work as follows :—

“ शरवद्धिहयेन्दुहायने विभवे भास्वत उत्तरायणे ।
ह्यमत्र समापिता सिते ग्रहतिथ्यां शुभमाधवासिते ॥ ११० ॥ ”

The chronogram “ शर, वद्धि, हय, इन्दु ” gives us Samvat 1735 as the date of composition of the work. Dr. Hoernle states on p. 70 of Osteology that the Cordier MS of the शारीरपद्मिनी is also dated 1735 (Samvat). I am of opinion that either Hoernle or Cordier has taken the date of composition of the work as the date of the copy.

(6) The genealogy of Bhāskara as given in the verses 96, 97, 98 of the शारीरपद्मिनी tallies with that recorded by him in his other works like the स्मृतिप्रकाश, पद्यामृततरङ्गिणी and others recorded by Aufrecht. His ancestor पुरुषोत्तम भट्ट of the अग्निहोत्रि family belonged to श्यंबकेश्वरपुर. His son was हरिभट्ट. His son was आपाजिभट्ट resident of काशीक्षेत्र or Benares. आपाजि is described as the “resort of men in pounding down diseases” (“ गद्गदलनविधौ मानवानां शरण्यः ”). His son was भास्कर the author of the शारीरपद्मिनी, which is evidently a tribute to his physician father. The colophon describes the अग्निहोत्रि family as “काश्यपान्वय” i.e. of the काश्यपगोत्र.

(7) Bhāskara's पद्यामृततरङ्गिणी was composed in A. D. 1676. The शारीरपद्मिनी was composed in A. D. 1679 as we have seen above. These dates harmonize with each other.

(8) The स्मृतिप्रकाश of Bhāskara is represented by MS No. 161 of Viśrāma I in the Government MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. On folios 186-187 of this MS Bhāskara mentions and quotes from his own शारीरपद्मिनी as follows :—

“ तत्र तावत्स्वप्नावस्थोक्ता मत्कृतशारीरपद्मिन्याम् ।

संकोचं गतवति तत्र हृत्पयोजेति निद्रास्याद्विषयत इन्द्रियोपरामान् ।

चित्रैकानुपरजितो भवेजनानाम् स्वप्नं तद्विकसति सत्त्वतोवबोध इति ॥ ”

The above stanza संकोच.....बोधः is identical with verse 30 of the Jagatap MS of the शारीरपद्मिनी. The MS of the स्मृतिप्रकाश is dated Samvat 1808 = A. D. 1752.

I have not traced any MS of the commentary Padmini-prabodha (on the Śārīrapadmiṇī) by Vaidyanātha. Evidently this commentary is later than A. C. 1679. Bhāskara's Smṛtiprakāśa which mentions the शारीरपद्मिनी, is also later than A. C. 1679. In my paper on Bhāskara referred to by me already in this paper I have recorded the known chronology of the works of this author including the date of the Śārīrapadmiṇī and I have to invite the attention of readers to this paper containing the evidence on which this chronology is based.

The evidence recorded above is sufficient to disprove the wrong date of Bhāskara viz. A. D. 1000 given by Hoernle. Bhāskara Āpāji Agnihotri was a Deccani Brahmin of the Kāśyapa gotra. He was a Deśastha Ṛgvedi Brahmin. We have in the Mahārāṣṭra some members of the Agnihotri family even today but I have no evidence to connect these members with Bhāskara's line, which migrated from Tryambakeśvara to Benares c. A. D. 1650 and settled there. We can have a clear idea of the contribution to Sanskrit learning by Mahārāṣṭra Pandits only when we have studied and published the history of each family through several generations with special reference to its literary contribution as revealed by published and unpublished sources.

26. Viśvanātha Vaidya, the Author of the Kośakalpataru, the Protégé of Jam Sattarsal of Navanagar, Jagatsimha of Udaipur and Harisimha of Pratapgad — Between c. A. D. 1580 and 1660*

The only MS of a lexicon of the name Kośakalpataru recorded by Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum is represented by the following entry :—

C C I, p. 130 “कोशकल्पतरु lexicon, by Viśvanātha, Peters 2. 189”

The MS “Peters 2. 189” is identical with MS No. 99 of A 1883-84 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute Poona. The present edition¹ of the Kośakalpataru is based on this unique MS acquired by Peterson for the Government of Bombay in 1883-1884. It is mentioned by him in his Second Report (Extra number of the Journal of the B. B. R. A. Society for 1884, page 5 of the list at the end of the Report). Extracts from the beginning and end of this MS are recorded by Peterson on pages 123-124 of his Report.

About Viśvanātha, the author of the Kośakalpataru, Aufrecht makes the following entry :—

C C I, p. 584 — “विश्वनाथ Son of Nārāyaṇa :

—Kośakalpataru lex. He mentions the Medinī-kośa as one of his sources

—Jagatprakāśakāvya

—Śatruśalyacaritakāvya”

About the Jagatprakāśakāvya Aufrecht makes the following entry :—

C C I, p. 194 — “जगत्प्रकाश a poem in praise of Jagatsimha-deva, Son of Kṛṇadeva, by Viśvanātha Vaidya, son of Nārāyaṇa, Peters, 3.354”

* Poona Orientalist, Vol. XIII, Nos. 1-2, pp. 19-29.

1. This edition will be published by Dr. S. M. Katre.

In Appendix II of his Third Report (Extra Number of J. B. B. R. A. S., Bombay, 1887) Peterson has given extracts from MSS preserved in different libraries (pp. 191-379). Among these extracts he has given on pp. 354-355 an extract¹ from a MS of Jagatprakāśakāvya dated A. D. 1644 in Kotah library.

It is clear from the date A. D. 1644 of this MS that Viśvanātha Vaidya is earlier than A. D. 1644 and later than the Medini lexicon to which he refers in his Kośakalpataru as pointed out by Aufrecht. I have proved elsewhere² that the date of the Medini lexicon lies between c. A. D. 1200 and 1275. In view of this date we may safely fix up the date of Viśvanātha Vaidya between say about A. D. 1350 and 1650. These limits will be narrowed down on the strength of evidence to be recorded in this paper.

About the third work of Viśvanātha 'Aufrecht makes the following entry :—

C C I, p. 632 — “शत्रुशल्यचरित — Kāvya by Viśvanātha Son of Nārāyaṇa. Peters 3-342”

1. This extract reads as follows :—

Peterson records an extract¹ from the MS of this Kāvya, preserved in the Boondi library on p. 342 of this Third Report referred to above. This extract discloses the name of Viśvanātha's mother viz. "Rukmiṇi" which is not found in the extracts from his two other works recorded by Peterson.

I note below some information about Viśvanātha as gathered from the extracts quoted by Peterson from (1) The Kośakalpataru (B. O. R. I. MS), (2) Jagatprakāśakāvya (Kotah MS) and (3) Satruśalyacarita (Boondi MS) :—

(I) Kośakalpataru.

(1) In line 3 at the commencement the author bows to his father Nārāyaṇa as follows :—

“ श्रीनारायणनामानमानस्य पितरं चिरम् ।
कोषकल्पतर्दं कुर्मः शर्मणे कविसंसदः ॥ ”

(2) Verse 67 at the end of the MS mentions his father as “नारायणः बुधः” of देवालय पत्तन” the capital town of Devālaya² in the Vidarbha Country (विदर्भदेशतिलके देवालये पत्तने) noted for its learning (विद्यागर्भं). This Nārāyaṇa is also mentioned as hailing from a family of physicians (वैद्यकुलजः).

(3) Verse 68 refers to Nārāyaṇa as having possessed matchless proficiency in Āyurveda.

1. This extract reads as follows :—

Begins :— “ ॥ श्रीगणेशाय नमः ॥ श्रीष्टदेवतायै नमः ॥

श्रीराधाकुचकलशद्वयेतिगौरे
संसर्पा नवजलदोद्धुरो मुरारिः ।
आश्लेषे जयति वपुः प्रभासमूहः
कस्तूरीललितघनांगरागमाढी ॥ १ ॥ ”

Ends :— “ योतर्वाणिशिरोमणेर्वराभिषग्वंशैकमुक्तामणेः

साहित्यांबुद्भाकरैकतरणेः श्रीवैद्यनारायणात् ।
कस्मिण्यामुदभूदमुष्य सुकवेः श्रीविश्वनाथस्य स-
त्काव्ये श्रीनृपशत्रुशस्यचरिते देवाचलत्रोटनं ॥ ५० ॥

इति श्रीमद्वैद्यवंशपदश्रीनारायणात्मजश्रीविश्वनाथचरिते श्रीमन्महाराजाधिराज-श्रीशत्रुशस्यचरिते देवगिरिग्रहणनामा द्वाविंशः सर्गः ॥ २२ ॥ ”

2. I am inclined to identify this Devālaya with Deolia the old capital of the Pratapgadh State.

(4) From such an eminent father was born Vaidya Viśvanātha (verse 69).

(5) Verses 70 and 71 mention the lexicons used by Viśvanātha in the composition of his own Kośakalpataru viz. (1) the संसारवर्त, (2) अजय, (3) भागुरि, (4) शाश्वत, (5) व्याहृति, (6) गौड (?), (7) महेश (?), (8) रभस, (9) अरुण (?), (10) मेदिनी, (11) नंदिन, (12) दुर्ग, (13) चंद्र, (14) माला, (15) (मलि-जलधिकृत) हारावली, (16) शब्दार्णव, (17) उत्पलिन, (18) सुमृति, (19) हलायुध, (20) विक्रमभूषति.

(11) Jagatprakāśakāvya (MS of A. D. 1644).

(1) The expression “ श्रीमन्नारायणाय नमः ” at the beginning of the MS has possibly a reference to Nārāyaṇa, the father of Viśvanātha, as also to god Nārāyaṇa.

(2) Verse 72 at the end informs us that the Jagatprakāśakāvya in 14 Sargas was composed by Viśvanātha in praise of king Jagatsimha,¹ Son of *Karṇadeva*² of the Rāṇakavāmśa.

(3) The prose colophon states that the Jagatprakāśa — Mahākāvya was composed by Kavinātha Viśvanātha Vaidya, son of Nārāyaṇa in praise of Mahārājā-dhirāja Jagatsimhadeva,³ son of King Karṇadeva the ornament of Rāṇa Khumāna line of kings and sovereign of Chitrakūṭa.

(III) Śatruśālya Carita.

(1) Verse 50 at the end informs us that Viśvanātha was

1. Vide p. 249 of History of Rajputana (in Hindi) by J. Gahlot, Jodhpur, 1937 — Mahārāja Jagatsimha I of Mewad was born on 14th August 1607. He came to the throne in March 1628. He died at Udaipur in Samvat 1709 (= A. D. 1652).

2. Ibid p. 248 — Karṇasimha, the father of Jagatsimha was born on 7th January 1584 and died in March 1628.

3. Vide p. 109 of the Gazetteer of the Mewar Residency, Vol. II — A by Major K. D. Erskine, Ajmere, 1908 — The dates of Jagatsimha I of Udaipur as given here are “ A. D. 1628-52 ”. Jagatsimha I built the celebrated Jagmandir palace in the centre of Pichola lake. On p. 22 we are informed that Karṇasimha or Karansingh built part of the Jagmandir palace and it was completed by Jagatsingh, after whom it is called Jagmandir.

born of Rukmiṇi, and Vaidya Nārāyaṇa an ornament to a family of physicians. This Viśvanātha composed the Śatruśalyacarita.

- (2) The colophon states that the Śatruśalyacarita was composed by Viśvanātha, son of Vaidya Nārāyaṇa in 22 Sargas. King Śatruśalya is called "Mahārājādhirāja" in this colophon.

On the strength of the above data we can represent the genealogy of Viśvanātha, the author of the Kośakalpataru as follows :—

(Vaidya) Nārāyaṇa (of Devālaya, capital of Vidarbha country) (married Rukmiṇi)

(Vaidya) Viśvanātha wrote three works :—

- (1) Kośakalpataru
- (2) Īagatprakāśakāvya (MS of A.D. 1644)
- (3) Śatruśalyacarita

The Īagatprakāśakāvya was composed by Vaidya Viśvanātha in praise of Mahārājā Īagatsimha who ruled the Udaipur (or

1. This king Śatruśalya is identical with Īam Sattarsāl of Navanagar in Kathiawar. He ruled from A. D. 1569-1608 (See Bombay Gazetteer Vol. VIII, pp. 566-567 and 569). He was a patron of learned men. He patronized a poet named श्रीकण्ठकवि, the author of a work called रसकौमुदी (See my article on this work in the Annals (B. O. R. Institute, Vol. XII, pp. 202-204, 1931). The B. O. R. I. MS of this work is dated saṃvat 1652 (= A. D. 1596) श्रीकण्ठ pays his tribute to his patron शत्रुशल्य in verses 36 and 37 at the end of this work as follows :—

“ सम्यक्शास्त्रपरंपराप्रतिपद्व्यासक्रियाप्रोद्भूत-
द्विधापात्रविनोदंरगरसिकः श्रीशत्रुशल्यो नृपः ।
तत्तत्कामकलाकलापकुशलः संगीतसाहित्ययोः

आस्ते क्षोणिपतिः सुरद्रुमसमो दाता रसग्राहक-
स्तत्रैनां पठतो जनस्य सुलभा गांगेयसिद्धिः करे ॥ ३७ ॥ ”

This is a fine tribute to king Śatruśalya of Navanagar, the common patron of श्रीकण्ठकवि and विश्वनाथवैद्य.

Mewar) State from A. D. 1628 to 1653. As the Kotah MS of this Kāvya is dated 1644 the date of composition of this poem lies between A. D. 1628 and 1644. This poem appears to have been composed after A. D. 1628 as it describes Jagatsimha as a ruling King (cf. क्षोणीमंडलमंडन in the last verse 72 and “चित्रकूटसार्वभौम” in the colophon). Evidently the Kotah MS of A. D. 1644 is a contemporary copy of this poem and hence very important. We must also see what light it throws on the history of Udaipur as the poem is possibly complete in 14 sargas.

Pandit Chitrav Shasari makes the following remarks about Jagatsimha Guhilot on p. 387 of his Madhyayugina Caritrakośa, Poona, 1937 :—

“जगत्सिंह गुहिलोत — (Born A. D. 1607 — Died A. D. 1652) — Mahārāṇa of Udaipur, Son of Karṇasimha. His coronation took place in March 1628. He defended his kingdom bravely when Jehangir invaded it. He pleased Emperor Shah Jahan by sending him a Nazrānā. He effected repairs to the Chitoṛ fort and built two palaces. Many inscriptions of this king are available. Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāya composed a poem called the “Jagadābharṇa” in 50 Ślokaś in praise of Jagatsimha and presented it to him about A. D. 1627. Jagatsimha was a lover of horses of costly breeds, besides being celebrated for his liberality and prudence. He died on 10th October 1652.”

I am unable to verify the above remarks of Chitrav Shastri as he has not referred to the sources on which they are based. The work जगत्प्रकाश is definitely in praise of Jagat Simha of Udaipur but the connection of जगदाभरण with this Jagatsimha has not been prov-

1. Cf. the following remarks of Prof. V. A. Ramaswami Sastri in his “Jagannātha Paṇḍita” (Annamalai University Series, 1942) :—

P. 14. — (Foot note 3) “S. M. Paranjpe conjectures (in his introduction to his edition of the Bhāminīvilāsa) that the poem (जगदाभरण) is an encomium of Jagatsimha, the Rajput prince, who came to power in 1628. But this view does not find any support among scholars.”

P. 54 — “S. M. Paranjpe, however, conjectures on the support of a manuscript reading of some verses and a colophon of the work that it is a panegyric of the Rajput prince Jagatsimha, son of Kṛṣṇa (Karṇa?) simha of Udaipur etc. But what led Jagannātha to eulogise Jagatsimha in a poem is not known.”

ed on contemporary documentary evidence. Is there any evidence of the contact of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāya with Jagatsimha I of Udaipur? There is no chronological difficulty in this matter as Jagatsimha lived between A. D. 1607 and 1652 while the date of Jagannātha Paṇḍita is "c. A. D. 1590—1665" [Vide p. 25 of Ramaswami Sastri's "Jagannātha Paṇḍita" (1942)].

The chronology of Viśvanātha Vaidya, his works and patrons discussed by me so far may be represented as follows:—

Chronology A. D.	Particulars
1569-1608	Jām Sattarsāl (शत्रुशल्य) reigned at Navanagar. He patronized श्रीकण्ठरुचि, the author of रसकौमुदी and विश्वनाथ वैद्य the author of शत्रुशल्यचरित (in 22 Sargas).
1596	— Date of B. O. R. Institute MS of रसकौमुदी
1607	— Birth of जगत्सिंह, son of कर्णसिंह of Udaipur (Mewar).
1628-1652	— जगत्सिंह, the patron of विश्वनाथ वैद्य ruled at Udaipur — Possibly the जगत्प्रकाशकाव्य was composed between 1628 and 1644 by विश्वनाथ वैद्य.
1644	— Date of the Kotah MS of जगत्प्रकाशकाव्य in praise of जगत्सिंह described by Peterson (2nd Report).

It is evident from the above table that our author Viśvanātha Vaidya was first patronized by Jām Sattarsāl of Navanagar. Perhaps after the death of this patron in A. D. 1608 Viśvanātha may have sought other patrons or may have remained without a patron for a period of more than 20 years. After A. D. 1628 he found a patron in King Jagatsimha, Son of Karṇasimha, of Udaipur (Mewar) and wrote a kāvya in his honour between A. D. 1628 and 1644 as we have proved above.

In the light of the above evidence we can safely fix up the chronology of Viśvanātha Vaidya, say between A.D. 1570 and 1655. Let us now see what further light can be thrown on the life history of this author from contemporary sources. In this connection I have to record the following evidence:—

In 1937 Pandit Jagannātha Kṛṣṇalāl Śāstri of Pratapgad (Rajputana) sent me a copy of a Kāvya edited by him. The name of this Kāvya is Haribhūṣaṇam and its author's name is Mahākavi Gāṅgārāma. This printed edition of 97 pages contains 9 Sargas, of which the 9th Sarga extends upto the 6th stanza only. Evidently the edition is based on an incomplete MS of the work. This poem is in praise of Maharaja Harisimha of the Pratapgad State who ruled from A. D. 1629 to 1676 (V. S. 1685 to 1732 according to the Editor). The date of composition of the poem is discussed by the editor on pp. 2-3 of his Hindi Introduction. According to him the poem was composed between A. D. 1635 and 1649 in which year Maharaja Harisimha of Pratapgad founded the temple of Govardhananātha at Devalia the old capital of the Pratapgad State at the desire of his mother Śrī Campā Kumvar. This temple was founded at the hands of Paṇḍita *Viśvanātha*¹, who is praised in this poem in Sarga VIII (Stanza 37-39) as follows :—

“ विद्वान्स्तिष्ठति यस्य सुन्दरतनुः सर्वज्ञ चूडा(म)णि- लोकानां गुणशंसकोऽतिचतुरो विद्यापगावारिधिः ।

The above verses contain a fine tribute to the learning and abilities of Viśvanātha, who is described as proficient in all arts

1. The contemporaries of Viśvanātha at the court of Harisimha (A. D. 1629-1676) mentioned by Gaṅgārāma in the Haribhūṣaṇa Kāvya (Sarga VIII) are :—

- (i) कल्याणदास (v. 35) — पुरोहित.
- (ii) गोदाभट्ट (v. 36) — पुराणिक.
- (iii) केशू (v. 40) — धनाधिप (Treasurer).
- (iii) वर्षा साह (v. 41) — मन्त्री.
- (iv) गङ्गाराम (v. 43) महाकवि the author of हरिभूषण, son of माधवभट्ट-पुरि.

and sciences like भ्याय, मीमांसा, वेदान्त, साहित्य, तर्क, व्याकरण, नाटक, काव्यरचना etc. As the date of the poem is fixed by the editor between A.D. 1635 and 1649 we can infer that Viśvanātha was at this time a man of established literary repute. As he was present in A. D. 1649 at the foundation of the temple of Govardhananātha at his hands we can easily presume that he was a man advanced in years and was then respected both for his age and learning. Let us now see if we can identify this Viśvanātha with Viśvanātha Vaidya, the author of the Kośākalpataru. My grounds in favour of such an identification are as follows :—

(1) Verse 67 at the end of the MS of Viśvanātha Vaidya's Kośākalpataru mentions that Nārāyaṇa, the father of Viśvanātha Vaidya belonged to “देवालय पत्तन” (town of Devālaya) the chief town of the Vidarbha country (“विदर्भदेशतिलके देवालये पत्तने”). I have already suggested that this देवालय पत्तन is identical with Deolia the old capital of the Pratapgad State.

(2) In the Haribhūṣaṇa-Kāvya, Deolia is called “देवल पत्तन” (I, 5, 8, etc.) and kings of Pratapgad are called “देवलेन्द्र” (I, 11, 12, VIII, 3); See also “देवलपुर” (VIII, 5). Harisimha is called “देवलेन्द्र” (VIII, 14,) and “देवलपुराधीश” (VIII, 16, 19), “देवलेश” (VIII, 42; IX, 1, 3).

(3) Phonetically “Deolia” is more akin to “Devālaya” than “Devala” and I have no doubt that Deolia is identical with “देवालय पत्तन” mentioned by Viśvanātha Vaidya and with “देवल पत्तन” mentioned by Gaṅgārāma in his Haribhūṣaṇakāvya.

(4) Viśvanātha Vaidya's father Nārāyaṇa hailed from Deolia in the Pratapgad state; it is but natural that he should be invited to found the temple of Śrī Govardhananātha of Deolia (in A. D. 1649) his native place.

If the above grounds are accepted we can represent the chronology of Viśvanātha Vaidya's contact with different royal patrons as follows :—

c. A. D. 1590 — 1608 — Contact of V (= Viśvanātha Vaidya) with Jam Sattarsal of Navanagar as proved by V's authorship of the Śatruśālya Carita. Evidently V was a budding poet at this time, say about 25-30 years old.

A. D. 1628 — 1644 — Contact of V with King Jagatsimha of Udaipur as proved by V's Jagatprakāśa-Kāvya (Kotah MS of A. D. 1644).

A. D. 1649 — Foundation of the temple of Govardhananātha at Deolia at the hands of V during the reign of King Harisimha of Deolia.

A. D. 1635 — 1649 — V praised in three verses in the Haribhūṣaṇa-Kāvya as a very learned man well versed in different sciences and arts.

Presuming that V was born about A. D. 1580, he must have been about 69 years old in A. D. 1649 when the Queen Mother Campā invited him to found the temple of Govardhananātha at Deolia, the native place of V's father Nārāyaṇa. V may have continued to live upto A. D. 1660 thus reaching his 80th year during the reign of King Harisimha of Deolia (A. D. 1629-1676). At any rate we shall be fairly correct in assigning the literary career of Viśvanātha Vaidya to the period, A. D. 1600-1650.

It is clear from the evidence recorded so far that Viśvanātha Vaidya, the author of the Kośakalpataru enjoyed the patronage of (1) Navanagar court in his youth, (2) of Udaipur court in his middle age and (3) of the Pratapgad (Deolia) court in his old age. In all the evidence gathered so far I have not been able to determine the limits for the date of the Kośakalpataru but I have reason to believe that the lexicon must have been composed prior to A. D. 1649, when he was invited to found a temple at Deolia and when he was known to be a man of great literary repute, well versed in Vyākaraṇa and other branches of Sanskrit learning specified by Gaṅgārāma in his Haribhūṣaṇa-Kāvya composed between A. D. 1635 and 1649 according to its editor Pandit Jagannātha Śāstri of Pratapgad.

27. The Date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi of Sadānanda Kāśmīraka — Between A. D. 1600 and 1700 *

While engaged in the work of preparing a Bibliography of Indian Philosophy, I had occasion to note the following contradictory statements of Dr. Surendranath Dasgupta regarding the date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi and its author Sadānanda Kāśmīraka :—

“ Another important syncretistic Vedānta writer is Sadānanda Kāśmīraka, author of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi, who lived in the early part of the eighteenth century. The Advaitabrahmasiddhi is an excellent summary of all the most important Vedānta doctrines in the different schools of Advaita teachers ” (p. 57 of History of Indian Philosophy, Vol. II, Cambridge, 1932).

“ Mr. Tripathi collects the names of some of these writers as Prajñānānanda, Śeṣa Śārṅgadhara Vādivāgīśvara, Vāḍindra, Rāmānanda Sarasvatī, Sadānanda Kāśmīraka (A. D. 1547), Kṛṣṇānanda (A. D. 1650), Maheśvara Tīrtha (A. D. 1650) and others ” (Ibid, p. 196).

M. M. Prof. Kuppusvami Sastri in his Introduction to the Brahmasiddhi (Madras, 1937, p. xxii) refers to the Advaitabrahmasiddhi as follows :—

“ The Advaitabrahmasiddhi by Sadānanda and the Svārājya-siddhi by Gaṅgādharendra-Sarasvatī are comparatively later and less important ; and the former of these two works is similar to the Advaitasiddhi and controverts in general the dualistic, pluralistic and non-Vedic doctrines opposed to Advaitism etc ”.

The foregoing remarks of two great scholars could not satisfy my curiosity about the date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi. This work was edited by Vāmana Śāstri Islampurkar in the Bibliotheca Indica (Calcutta) in 1890. In the Sanskrit introduction to this edition (p. 5) the Editor concludes that the author lived in the latter half of the 18th century of the Vikrama Era ("वैक्रमीय-अष्टादश-शतक-उत्तरार्धे आसीत्") according to external evidence but internal evidence leads the Editor to conclude that he is not later than the first half of the 16th century ("षोडशशतकपूर्वार्धात् न अर्वाचीनः"). In spite of these statements the editor feels uncertain about the date of the author but observes that there is no doubt that the author is earlier than Śrī Vallabhācārya, the originator of the Viśuddhādvaita doctrine, who was born in Vikrama Samvat 1535 (= A.D. 1479) ("विक्रम संवत् १५३५ मिते वसरे प्रादुर्भूतात् ... श्रीमद्वल्लभाचार्यादयं ग्रन्थकृत प्राचीनः इति अत्र न कोऽपि सन्देहः").

In view of these conflicting and varied conclusions about the date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi and its author Sadānanda Kāśmīraka, I propose in this paper to record some evidence about this date of a more reliable type than that so far gathered by previous scholars. Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum makes the following entries about Sadānanda Kāśmīraka and his works:—

In the above list of references the reference to Pañcadaśī (No. 4) is evidently to the work of this name by Sāyana, who died in A. D. 1387. This reference would make Sadānanda posterior to c. A. D. 1400. Another reference of chronological value is that to Narasimhāśrama (No. 21) who appears to be identical with Nṛsimhāśrama, the guru of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita.¹ Nṛsimhāśrama is the author of many works on Vedānta, one of which viz. the Tattva-viveka was composed in A. D. 1547 at Puruṣottamapura according to Aufrecht.² This evidence would shift the earlier limit for Sadānanda's date from A. D. 1400 to A. D. 1600.

The references in the Advaitabrahmasiddhi of Sadānanda Kāśmīraka as noted by Pandit Vāmanaśāstri in the Bibliotheca Indica edition of this work already referred to by me are as follows :—

अद्वैतमकरन्द, अनन्तवीर्यं, अभियुक्ताः, आचार्याः, आनन्दगिरिस्वामी, कपिलः, कैवटः, कल्पतरुः, क्षपणकाः, काशीखण्डम्, खण्डनखण्डलाघटीका, खण्डनखण्डलाघ्यम्, गौतमः, गौतमसूत्राणि, चावार्कः, जिनः, जैमिनिसूत्राणि, जरसैयायिकाः, तार्किकाः, तापनीयम्, त्रिदण्डिनः, दिगम्बराः, नरसिंहाश्रमः, नारदपाञ्चरात्र, नारदीयम्, नारायणाचार्यः, नैष्कर्म्यसिद्धिः, न्यायकुसुमाञ्जलिः, न्यायभाष्यम्, पञ्चपादिका, पराशरोपपुराणम्, पाणिनिः, पातञ्जलभाष्यम्, प्राभाकराः, बृहदारण्यकभाष्यम्, ब्रह्मानन्दः, ब्रह्मसिद्धिकारः, बादरायणसूत्राणि, बादरायणसूत्रभाष्यटीका, बाह्यस्पत्यसूत्राणि, बुद्धमुनिः, बौद्धन्याकरण, भर्तृहरिकारिका, भगवद्गीता, भट्टपादः, भट्टभास्करः, भट्टाः, भाष्यकारः, भनुः, माध्यमिकाः, मायामोहः, मीमांसकवार्तिकम्, मोक्षधर्मः (भारता-मृतगंतः), याज्ञवल्क्यः, योगवासिष्ठम्, योगाचाराः रागिगीता, रामानुजाः, वेदान्त-मुक्तावलिः, वर्धमानोपाध्यायः, वसिष्ठः, वाचस्पतिमिश्रः, वार्तिकम्, वायुपुराणम्, विज्ञानाभिष्टुः, विद्यारण्यस्वामी, विवरणम्, विष्णुपुराणम्, वेदान्तकौमुदी, वैशा-यिकाः, वैशेषिकाः, शिरोमणिः, श्रीमद्भागवतम्, संक्षेपशारीरकम्, सर्वशास्त्रगुरुः, स्वरूपप्रकाशः, साङ्ख्यभाष्यम्, सौत्रास्तिकाः, सौरपुराणम्, हारीतः.

1. See my paper on the Date of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita in the Journal of the S. V. Oriental Institute, Tirupati, Vol. I, Part 4, pp. 117-127, (1940).

2. Cata. Catalogorum, I, p. 305.

Let us now see if any of the above references can enable us to fix up the earlier limit to the date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi.

(1) The reference to Śiromaṇi is found as follows on p. 9 of the Edition :—

“ पदार्थखण्डने शिरोमणिना.....वह्निगतम् ॥ ”

Evidently, this is a reference to the logician Raghunātha Śiromaṇi who flourished about A. D. 1500 according to S. Vidyabhusana (p. 388 of History of Indian Logic, Calcutta, 1921).

(2) On p. 31 of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi Sadānanda mentions and quotes from the Vedāntamuktāvalī :—

“ उक्तं च वेदान्तमुक्तावलीरुक्तिः ।
यथा सतो.....समर्पकम् ॥ ”

Very possibly the Vedāntamuktāvalī referred to above is identical with the Vedāntasiddhānta-muktāvalī of Prakāśānanda, who “ lived in the latter half of the sixteenth century ” (i. e. between A. D. 1550 and 1600) according to Dr. Das Gupta.¹

(3) On p. 31 of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi Sadānanda refers to Vijñānabhikṣu as follows :—

“ एतेन यच्चान्न सांख्यमाप्यकृता विज्ञानमिक्षुणा समाधान-
त्वेन प्रलपितं तदपि भ्रमगतमेव । ”

Vijñānabhikṣu lived between A. D. 1525 and 1600 and his pupil Bhāvā Gaṇeśa, the leader of Ācārya Brahmins at Benares signed a nirṇayapatra dated A.D. 1583 as I have shown in a special paper.² In view of this chronology for Vijñānabhikṣu I am inclined to believe that Sadānanda Kāśmīraka, the author of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi is later than A. D. 1575.

(4) Similar to the reference to Nṛsiṃhāśrama in Sadānanda's स्वरूपनिर्णय on the strength of which I have suggested c. A. D. 1600 as the earlier limit for Sadānanda's date, another reference is found on p. 271 of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi edition as follows :—

1. Vide p. 17 of History of Indian Philosophy, Vol. II (1932), footnote.

2. Vide pp. 20-28 of Adyar Library Bulletin for February 1944.

“नरसिंहाश्रमाणां मते तु—

“अधिष्ठानसामान्यज्ञानं भ्रमकारणमिति.....

.....अध्यस्तरजताद्याकारावृत्तिर्व्यर्था इति सिद्धान्तः ।”

This quotation is evidently from some work of Narasimhāśrama (also known as Nṛsimhāśrama) on Vedānta. I could not identify it as the works of Nṛsimhāśrama are not available to me for reference.

The cumulative effect of all the references recorded above makes Sadānanda posterior to c. A. D. 1575 or 1600. Let us now try to fix the later limit for Sadānanda's date.

One of the MSS¹ used by Vāmana Śāstri for his edition of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi is called by him Ka (क). This MS is dated *Samvat 1761, Jyēṣṭha Kṛṣṇa pakṣa, dvitīyā*² which is equal to Thursday, 8th June 1704.³ In view of this date of one of the MSS of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi we may safely fix A. D. 1700 as the later limit for Sadānanda's date.

In verse 1 at the beginning of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi Sadānanda bows to his guru Brahmananda as follows :—

“नमामि सद्गुरुं शान्तं ब्रह्मानन्दं सुनीधरम् ।

यत्कृपालबलेन सत्तर्कस्फुरणं मम ॥ १ ॥”

In verse 2 Sadānanda bows to one Nārāyaṇācārya as follows :—

“श्रीमन्नारायणाचार्यं सनातनशिवं सदा ।

वंदेऽहं वाङ्मनःकार्यद्वैतध्वान्तनिवृत्तये ॥ २ ॥”

If we succeed in identifying Brahmananda and Nārāyaṇācārya, who were apparently his senior contemporaries, we may be able to throw some additional light on the date of Sadānanda Kāśmīraka. Unfortunately this identification is difficult as we find many authors of the names Nārāyaṇa and Brahmananda recorded by Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum. For the present I may

1. See p. 4 of Introduction to Advaitabrahmasiddhi.

2. The Ka MS ends as follows :—इति श्रीपरमहंस॥ ॐ तत्सत् ॥ शिवः सर्वम् । वासुदेवः सर्वम् । हरिः सर्वम् । संवत् १७६१ ज्येष्ठकृष्णपक्षद्वितीयायां समाप्तम्.”

3. Vide p. 210 of Indian Ephemeris, Vol. VI (1922).

make the following tentative remarks on the identification of Brahmānanda and Nārāyaṇācārya mentioned by Sadānanda ;—

I — Brahmānanda (author of Nyāyaratnāvalī on the Siddhāntabindu)

(1) One Brahmānanda wrote a commentary called the Nyāyaratnāvalī (or Ratnāvalī) on the Siddhāntabindu of Madhusūdana Sarasvatī. In the colophon of this Nyāyaratnāvalī the author is called Brahmānanda Sarasvatī, while in verse 2 at the beginning he calls himself merely Brahmānanda (" ब्रह्मानन्देन रच्यते ").¹

(2) In the two verses at the end of the Nyāyaratnāvalī Brahmānanda mentions Nārāyaṇatīrtha as his guru along with one Paramānanda-Sarasvatī.

(3) On p. 3 of the Nyāyaratnāvalī Brahmānanda refers to Kalpataru-ṭīkā Parimala in the following extract :—

" शारीरकमीमांसारूपचतुराध्यायीतद्भाष्यतदीयटीकावाचस्पत्यतदीयटीका- कल्पतरुतदीयटीकापरिमलरूपग्रन्थपञ्चक—इत्यर्थः ॥ "

The author of the Kalpataru-Parimala is the celebrated Appaya Dikṣita, who flourished between A. D. 1520 and 1592 (Vide p. 148 of Journal of Oriental Research, Madras, Vol. III—article by Mahalinga Śāstri). It is clear from this reference that Brahmānanda, the author of the Nyāyaratnāvalī is later than c. A. D. 1592.

II — Gauḍa Brahmānanda

(1) In the edition of the Śārīraka-Mīmāṃsā-Vārtika and its Vivaraṇa by Ananta Krishna Sastri and A. Bhattacharya (Calcutta University, 1941) we find Nyāyaratnāvalī mentioned as the work of *Gauḍa Brahmānanda*² (See Introduction).

(2) This Gauḍa Brahmānanda was the pupil of Nārāyaṇānanda who completed a prose Vārtika on the Brahmasūtra in A. D. 1592.

(3) This Gauḍa Brahmānanda was the guru of Bālakṛṣṇānanda (also called Abhinava-Draviḍācārya) author of the Śārīraka-Mīmāṃsā-Vārtika (see p. xxviii of Introduction) who flourished about A. D. 1650.

1. Vide Siddhāntabindu with Ratnāvalī ed. by Harihara Śāstri (Advaitamañjarī Series), Kumbakonam, December, 1893, p. 1.

2. Aufrecht (Cata. Catalo. I, p. 719) mentions Nyāyaratnāvalī as the work of Gauḍa Brahmānanda,

(4) Gauḍa Brahmānanda was the contemporary of Gaḍādhara Bhaṭṭācārya (see p. 481 of History of Indian Logic by S. Vidyabhūṣana) who lived about A. D. 1650.

The evidence about the name-sakes of Brahmānanda and Nārāyaṇācārya mentioned by Sadānanda Kāśmīraka may now be tabulated as follows:—

नारायणाचार्य (A) and ब्रह्मानन्द (D) pupil सदानन्द काश्मीरक (Between A. D. 1600 and 1700)	नारायणानन्द (A. D. 1592) B pupil E-गौड ब्रह्मानन्द (author of न्याय- रत्नावली) pupil बालकृष्णानन्द (c. A.D. 1650)	नारायणतीर्थ (C) pupil F - ब्रह्मानन्द (author of न्यायरत्नावली) on सिद्धान्तबिन्दु) (later than A.D. 1592 and before A. D. 1687)
---	---	---

Is it possible to suggest the following equations? :—

- (1) नारायणाचार्य (A) } = नारायणानन्द (B) } = नारायणतीर्थ (C)
pupil
गौडब्रह्मानन्द (E)
pupil
ब्रह्मानन्द (author of न्यायरत्नावली)
(F) on सिद्धान्तबिन्दु) later than A. D. 1592
and before A. D. 1687
- (2) ब्रह्मानन्द (D) } = गौडब्रह्मानन्द (E) } = ब्रह्मानन्द (author of न्यायरत्नावली)
pupil
सदानन्द काश्मीरक
(Between A. D. 1600 and 1700)
pupil
बालकृष्णानन्द (c. A. D. 1650)

Even if the above equations are not proved we can safely assign the date of the Advaitabrahmasiddhi of Sadānanda Kāśmīraka to the period A. D. 1600-1700 in the light of the evidence recorded in this paper.

1. Aufrecht (CC I, p. 719) records a MS of Nyāyaratnāvalī under the entry "Hall, p. 109" i.e. p. 109 of Hall's Bibliography, Calcutta, 1859. Hall describes this MS as "an abridgement of Madhusūdana Sarasvatī's अद्वैतसिद्धि and annotations on it by the epitomator" viz. Brahmānanda Sarasvatī, disciple of Nārāyaṇatīrtha and Paramānanda Sarasvatī. This MS bears the date Vikrama year 1743 = A. D. 1687. This date pushes back the date of Brahmānanda to a period A. D. 1592-1650. (It may be mentioned here that न्यायरत्नावली is a commentary on the सिद्धान्तबिन्दु of Madhusūdana Sarasvatī and not a commentary on the अद्वैतसिद्धि of Madhusūdana Sarasvatī).

28. Quotations from the Śṛṅgāra-Saṅgīvinī of Harideva Miśra in the Śloka-Saṁgraha of Maṇirāma — Between A. D. 1650 and 1700 *

Aufrecht mentions only once an author of the name Harideva Miśra¹ and the only work recorded against his name is कर्णकुतूहल, a MS of which has been recorded by Kielhorn.² Sometime ago my friend Mr. K. M. K. Sarma, Curator of the Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, published a work called the शृंगारसंजीविनी³ by one हरिदेवमिश्र based on a rare MS of this work. Since the publication of this work I was on a look-out for some additional information about this author and his works but unfortunately I could not trace such information in published or unpublished sources. Recently, however, I came across some information of the type required by me but before I record it in this paper I note below some points from Mr. Sarma's remarks on Haridevamīśra in his Introduction to the edition of the Akabarāsāhi-Śṛṅgāra-darpaṇa in which the शृंगारसंजीविनी is published as an Appendix. These points⁴ are as follows :—

- (1) शृंगारसंजीविनी (= SS) is a poem of about 100 verses on शृंगार.
- (2) The only MS of SS is deposited with the number 3143 in the Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner.
- (3) The last folio of this MS is "blank except for the title of the work and the name of दीक्षित मणिराम who was a great scholar at the court of Maharaja Anup Singhji."

* Rājasthāna Bhārati, Vol. II, No. 2 (1947), pp. 61-66.

1. Catalogus Catalogorum, I, 757.

2. Cata. of Sans. MSS in C. P., Nagpur, 1874, p. 56. This MS consisted of 4 leaves (108 Ślokas).

3. Akabarāsāhi — Śṛṅgāradarpaṇa (Ganga Oriental Series, No. 1) Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, 1943, Appendix - शृंगारसंजीविनी (pp. 57-60).

4. Vide pp. XXVI-XXVII of Introduction to the above edition.

- (4) From the concluding verses of the SS we get some information about the author which may be represented as follows :—

नीलमणि
Son
गौरीपति (married देवयानी)
Son
हरिदेवमिश्र
(alias लालमिश्र)
(author of SS) born and lived at मथुरापुर, later lived at वाराणसी or Benares-Patronized by लक्ष्मणचन्द्रदेव in whose household he was known as लालमिश्र

- (5) The SS was composed by its author to please God विश्वेश्वर (of Benares).
- (6) Aufrecht (CC I, 757) mentions one हरिदेवमिश्र as the author of कर्णकुतूहल काव्य. He is perhaps the same as the author of the SS.
- (7) As the Bikaner MS of the SS belonged to दीक्षित मणिराम of the 17th century, हरिदेवमिश्र should be considered earlier than this date.
- (8) Rajendra Lala Mitra (Notices, No. 129) mentions one हरिजीवनमिश्र as the author of a drama विजयपारिजात (MS dated A. D. 1673). In the colophon the parentage of the author is given as follows :—

लालमिश्र
Son
हरिजीवनमिश्र
(author of विजयपारिजात—MS of A. D. 1673). This लालमिश्र is possibly identical with हरिदेवमिश्र also known as लालमिश्र

- (9) From the evidence recorded above Mr. Sarma thinks that हरिदेवमिश्र, the author of the SS is earlier than the 17th century.

To corroborate the above conclusion of Mr. Sarma about the date of हरिदेवमिश्र I have to record the following additional evidence from a new source discovered by me,

- (1) The Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute possesses a unique MS of a big anthology of about 1605 verses (MS No. 361 of 1884-86).
- (2) The name of this anthology is श्लोकसंग्रह (or पद्यसंग्रह) compiled by its author मणिराम for the benefit of his son as stated in the introductory verse.
- (3) I have proved in a special paper¹ that this मणिराम, the author of the श्लोकसंग्रह, is definitely later than A.D. 1600 as he quotes from अकबरीय-कालिदास and records 4-5 verses composed by him in praise of Raja Todarmalla (टोडरेश), the finance minister of Emperor Akbar (A. D. 1542-1605).
- (4) So far no verses have been traced in any work from the शृंगारसंजीविनी of हरिदेवमिश्र, which was brought to light for the first time by my learned friend Mr. K. M. K. Sarma. My study of the श्लोकसंग्रह of मणिराम has brought to light the following verses of हरिदेवमिश्र quoted with the name of the author by मणिराम and traced by me in the published text of the शृंगारसंजीविनी.

In the above table I have traced at least 30 verses of हरिदेव-मिश्र in the शृंगारसंजीविनी as found in the श्लोकसंग्रह of मणिराम, while the Bikaner MS belonging to मणिराम दीक्षित of the 17th century shows a fairly correct text of these verses. The Jaipur copy of the श्लोकसंग्रह made in 1886 shows many scribal errors. It would be better if the Jaipur original of the 1886 copy can be recovered and used for an edition of the श्लोकसंग्रह, which a scholar like Prof. N. A. Goré can undertake as he has agreed to study this rare MS very closely and give us a critical analysis of it before long. It would be in the fitness of things if the Bikaner Darbar can undertake an edition of this rare anthology by मणिराम दीक्षित, who was protégé of Maharaja Anup Singhji of Bikaner (A. D. 1669-1698)' and entrust the work to a scholar like Prof. Gore who has already brought out critical editions of some Sanskrit Kāvya^s in recent years. Since the Anup Sanskrit Library at Bikaner was reorganized by the Bikaner Darbar through the well-planned efforts of Sardar Major K. M. Panikkar, the present Prime Minister of Bikaner and his friend Dr. C. Kunhan Raja of the Madras University, much useful literary work has been done at Bikaner. In fact this activity has linked up Bikaner not only with the different centres of learning in India but also outside. In the present paper I have tried to link up my discovery of an anthology by a protégé of Maharaja Anup Singhji of Bikaner with the rare MS of the शृंगारसंजीविनी belonging to this protégé and deposited in the Bikaner Library, which bears the sacred name of Maharaja Anup Singhji, a great lover and patron of Sanskrit learning.

29. A Rare Manuscript of the Śloka-Saṃgraha Anthology by Maṇirāma and the Date of Its Composition (Between A. D. 1650 and 1700 *

The only MS of an anthology by मणिराम recorded by Aufrecht is the following :—

CC I, 677 — “ श्लोकसंग्रह by मणिराम Peters 3. 396 ”

This MS is identical with MS No. 361 of 1884-86 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. It consists of about 96 folios (10 lines to a page and 52 letters to a line) of modern paper. The MS begins :—

“ ॐ श्रीगणेशाय नमः

जयपूर ॥ श्रीराम etc.”

It will be seen from the above extracts that this anthology (पद्यसंग्रह or श्लोकसंग्रह) was compiled by मणिराम for the benefit of his own son as stated by him in verse 1 at the beginning. I have failed to get any personal history of this मणिराम in the body of the work except the above statement. The copy before me was made at Savai Jaipur in Samvat 1942 (= A. D. 1886) by a पारीक ब्राह्मण of the name Hara Govinda possibly from some old MS of the work which the owner was not prepared to sell but allowed to be copied for Sir R. G. Bhandarkar when he carried on his search for MSS in 1884-86.

This big anthology of about 1606 verses mentions as a rule the names of authors and works from whom the several verses of the compendium have been incorporated first-hand or otherwise. I have suggested to my friend Prof. N. A. Gore of the S. P. College to analyse this big anthology and prepare indices of works and authors and also of the प्रतीक of the verses quoted in it. He has agreed to this suggestion but before he gives us the results of his critical analysis I want to record in this paper the evidence about the chronology of the work which I could gather by a cursory perusal of the work. I hope this evidence would help Prof. Gore to determine more exactly my chronology of this work in the light of his elaborate study of this unique MS.

To enable us to fix the earlier limit for the date of मणिराम I note below the following evidence for the consideration of scholars :—

(1) मणिराम (= M) mentions and quotes from हरिनारायणमिश्र e.g.

Folio 7 — “ मेरुस्तम्भे.....हरिनारायण मिश्रस्य ”

Folio 1 — “ श्रीमद्भगवत्पराशरवक्ति...७ हरिनारायणमिश्रानाम् ”

Folio 4 — “ या गौरी शशिर.....४० हरिनारायणमिश्र ”

Folio 31—“ त्वया नायं सायं पथिकपुरतो...४६ हरिनारायण-मिश्रस्य ”

According to Dr. Chaudhuri one हरिनारायणमिश्र has been quoted from in the पद्यवेणी of वेणीदत्त (A. D. 1644) as the author of the following verses :—

P. V. No. 872 — “ निर्गुणापि सगुणा ”

P. V. No. 141 — “भूधूमौलि तटीषु..... । साहा साहिजहा
ब्रवीमि...”

In view of the reference to Shah Jahan (1628-1658 A. D.) in verse No. 141 above this हरिनारायणमिश्र is contemporary of Shah Jahan and I may add that he is contemporary of वेणीदत्त also.

If हरिनारायणमिश्र mentioned by M is identical with his namesake mentioned in the पद्यवेणी we can say that M is later than c. A. D. 1630.

- (2) M mentions भोजप्रबन्ध as follows :—

Folio 48 — “ भोज प्रबन्धादेतौ ” Folio 6 — “भोजप्रबन्धस्य”

Folio 8 — Do—

Folio 58 — “ भोजप्रबन्धात् ” Folio 72 — “ भोजप्रबन्धात् ”

According to Dr. A. B. Keith (Sans. Lit., 1928, p. 293) the Bhojaprabandha of बल्लालसेन belongs to the 16th Century. We may, therefore, conclude that M is later than c. A. D. 1550.

- (3) M quotes from and mentions अकबरीय कालिदास e. g. on folios 4, 6, 10, 11 (= P. V. 138), 13, 54 (verses 14 and 19). These references would make M posterior to Akbar (A.D. 1542-1605) who patronized अकबरीय कालिदास.
- (4) The following verses are quoted by M as his own in his anthology :—

Folio 6 — “ टोडरेश यशोभया बुद्धुदास्तारकमजाः ।

न्योमगंगासृणालीव फेनखण्डोपमो विधुः ॥ ६८ ॥

देव श्रीटोडरेश क्षितिपतितिलक श्वेतमार्गचक्षोभि-

जांते गीर्वाणवृन्दै तव शिवसदृशे कौतुकं तत्र जातं ।

अन्धोन्धं सर्वदेवा नतितति विनताः श्रीमहादेवबुद्ध्या ।

जाता लक्ष्म्या च कृष्णे पुनरपि च शिबे योजिता दृष्टिपाताः ॥ ६९ ॥

ममैवैतौ ”

Folio 7 — “ दीपः सत्रपमन्दिरे परचमू रात्रौ च चण्डद्युतिः ।

शत्रोः संगरसागरेषु भगवान् साक्षात्पुनर्वाडवः ।

विद्युद्वैरिकुलाचले सुमनसा वृन्दै सुवर्णाचलो ।

राजस्टोडरमल्लनामनृपतेर्भाति प्रतापानलः ॥ ८० ॥ मम ”

Folio 9 — “ कालिन्दी कामकैलौ कलयति न कलां केरलीकलितवपं ।
कर्णाटी कर्णकूपे कमलकलिकया नापि कांतिं करोति ।
गौडी गारवा गुहायां गयति गुरुतां गुज्जभूज्जदेशे ।
तैलङ्गी तैलवार्ता त्यजति तु नितरां टोडरेषा प्रयाणे ॥ ममैवेदं ॥ ”

Folio 10 — “ याने श्रीनृपटोडरस्य सकलं केतुं निरीक्षारुणं ।
यात्रातुन्दुभिदीर्घनिस्वनदलद्वाण्डरक्तभ्रमात् ।
धाता व्यग्रमतिः प्रपश्यति पुनः संघाय हेतुं भयात् ।
सूर्योभूश्च कंपति मुहुर्लोक्यमावर्त्तते ॥ १२ ॥ ममैव ॥ ”

Folio 22 — “ जितं समस्तं हि जगन्मनीजे-
रतः परं किं करणीयमस्ति ।
इतीव हेतोः किमुरोजकैतवा-
दयस्तीकृतौ कांचनदुन्दुभी ते ॥ ३०० ॥ ममैव ॥ ”

Out of the five verses which, M states, are his own composition four verses are in praise of राजा टोडरमल्ल the finance minister of Akbar. टोडरमल्ल (A.D. 1535-1589) was a great patron of Sanskrit learning. Is it possible to suppose that M was patronized by राजा टोडरमल्ल ? As M has taken special care to compose 4 verses in praise of this Raja we can easily infer that either M had intense admiration for टोडरमल्ल as a result of the latter's liberal patronage to M or that M was not far removed in point of time from टोडरमल्ल so that he could pay his tribute to टोडरमल्ल's valour, the reputation of which must have been fresh in the minds of the generations that followed him say between A. D. 1600 and 1675 and to which M belonged.

(5) M mentions “ आंकोल लक्ष्मण ” ¹ on folio 7 and quotes the following verses as his composition :—

“ रघुकुलतिलक कृपाल त्वद्विष क्षोणिपाल
प्रविलसद्यकीर्तिश्यामले विश्वजाले ।

1. On folio 8 I find another verse ascribed to आंकोल लक्ष्मण as follows :—

“ देव क्षोणितलाधिप त्वयिमहादानप्रधाने विधौ
चेतः कुर्वति यातयत्यपि दश स्वर्णादिके वस्तुनि ।
विप्राणामतिघोरभारकठिनद्योतकुठारोद्यता-
घातप्रस्फुरिताङ्गसन्धिवक्तितो मेरुः परं कुपते ॥ ८५ ॥

आंकोल लक्ष्मणस्य ”

भगवति भजमाने कृष्णतां शूलपाणौ
किमुदधि गिरिपुत्र्यौ चक्रतुस्तस्मिन्नातः ॥ ७४ ॥

आंकोल लक्ष्मणस्य ”

The above verse is anonymously quoted on p. 123 of सुभाषितरत्नभाण्डागार (N. S. Press, Bombay, 1911) as follows :—

“ रघुतिलक नृपाल त्वद्विषाक्षोणिपाल
प्रतिलसदपकीर्तिश्यामले विश्वजाले ।
भगवति भजमाने कृष्णतां शूलपाणौ
किमुदधिरिपुत्र्यौ चक्रतु स्तन्न विद्मः ॥ १२२ ॥ ”

“आंकोल लक्ष्मण” mentioned by M is identical with “लक्ष्मणभट्ट आङ्गोलकर” the author of the anthology पद्यरचना (काव्यमाला 89. N. S. Press, Bombay, 1908.) In my paper on the date of पद्यरचना (Journal of Oriental Research Madras, Vol. XIV. Pt. III) I have proved that this author flourished between A. D. 1610 and 1673 as he quotes अकबरीय कालिदास on the one hand and is quoted in Haribhāskara Agni-hotri's पद्यामृततरङ्गिणी composed in A. D. 1673. As M mentions आंकोल लक्ष्मण (Between c. A. D. 1610 and 1673) we may reasonably infer that M was either a contemporary of आंकोल लक्ष्मण or that he flourished later than A. D. 1630.

- (6) Prof. Gore will of course deal exhaustively with the works and authors mentioned by M in his anthology. I note below these works and authors as I noticed them during a rapid survey of the Ms :—

भानुकर, हरिनारायणमिश्र, रावण, कालिदास, रामचन्द्र, घन-
श्याम, अकबरी कालिदास, गणपति, रघुनाथ, हनुमत्, भोजप्रबन्ध, गोविन्दभट्ट, घनश्याममिश्र, आंकोल लक्ष्मण, मम (author himself),
धरणीधर, कुलमणि, श्रीहर्ष, दाक्षिणात्य, महाकवि, भेरीभाङ्कति, मुरारि,
नारायणभट्ट, वराहमिहिर, रौद्र, लक्ष्मण, वैद्यभानु, बाण, रत्नाकर, भवभूति,
गदाधर, जयदेव, प्रभाकरभट्ट (fol. 17), हरिदेवमिश्र, त्रिविक्रम,
बिहङ्ग, हरिदेव, शाङ्गधर, वैद्यनाथ, गोचर्द्धन, शकवृद्ध, भास, लक्ष्मीधर,
दाक्षीकि, रुद्रदेव, पौराणिक शंकरभट्ट (fol. 25), अमरक, विश्वभर मिश्र,
वाणीविलास, मैथिल (fol. 34), मोरिका, बाहिनीपति, बाण्मासिक,
घनंजयविजय, मत्स्यपाध्याय, निद्रादरिद्र, अविलव, वासुदेव, भूत, कवीन्द्र
(47), भर्तृहर, माधकवि, अवन्तिवर्मन्, कलना, अचल, गुणाकर, कविराज, पाणिनि, प्रबोधचन्द्रोदय, भास (fol. 58), कविकंकण, महानाटक, उत्तर-
चरित्र, व्यास, कृष्णमिश्र, भर्तृहरि (fol. 65), शंकराचार्य, महादेव, उमा-

पतिदेव, मदन, त्रिलोचनदास (fol. 72), भवदेव ठक्कुर, रंगनाथ, भोज, चिकटनितंबा, भोज, रुद्रभट्टाचार्य, भेरीभांकर चन्द्रदेव, राववर्चस्य, मल्लभट्ट, भानंदवर्द्धन, पुष्पाकर (fol. 78), गोविन्दराज, लक्ष्मणसेन, मुक्तापीड, चन्द्रकवि, भवदत्त, नागधर, बल्लभदेव, पुष्पाकर (fol. 81), भोजदेव, सरस्वतीकुटुंब, क्षेमेन्द्र, कर्पूरकवि, धनदेव, हरिहर (fol. 84), मालवकद, देवेश्वर, etc.

- (7) M has quoted more than 25 verses of हरिदेवमिश्र in the present anthology. I have proved in a special paper that all these verses have been taken by M from the शृंगार-संजीवनी of हरिदेवमिश्र recently edited by Mr. K. M. K. Sarma, Curator of the Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner as Appendix to his edition of अकथरसाह्री शृंगारदर्पण (Ganga Oriental Series No. 1, 1943). Curiously enough the rare MS of the शृंगारसंजीवनी on which Mr. Sarma has based his edition belonged to दीक्षित मणिराम the great scholar at the court of Maharaja Anup Singhji of Bikaner (A. D. 1669-1698) as the last folio of this MS bears the title of the work and the name of दीक्षित मणिराम, as stated by Mr. Sarma in his Introduction (p. XXVI). I am of opinion that मणिराम, the author of the श्लोकसंग्रह anthology is identical with मणिराम दीक्षित the protégé of Maharaja Anup Singhji. Very probably M used the rare Ms of शृंगार-संजीवनी for the quotations given by him in his श्लोकसंग्रह.

In view of the evidence recorded above we may easily arrive at the following conclusions :—

- (1) The date of the composition of the श्लोकसंग्रह of मणिराम is definitely later than A. D. 1600.
- (2) मणिराम दीक्षित, the owner of the Bikaner MS of the शृंगारसंजीवनी, is identical with मणिराम, the author of the श्लोकसंग्रह anthology.

If these conclusions are accepted the date of the श्लोकसंग्रह lies between A. D. 1650 and 1700.

I reported my discovery of मणिराम's श्लोकसंग्रह anthology to Mr. K. M. K. Sarma, Curator, Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, who was kind enough to send me a copy of his note on "दीक्षित मणिराम" (Pages 63-64 of Ind. Hist. Quarterly, XXI, 1945) and some additional information. While thanking Mr. Sarma for his great interest in my discovery, I note for the information of readers some points from Mr. Sarma's note and correspondence bearing on the life and works of दीक्षित मणिराम :—

- (1) There are many MSS in the Anup Sans. Library bearing the signature of दीक्षित मणिराम, sometimes together with the signature of शिवानन्द मिश्र.
- (2) The genealogy of मणिराम as revealed by his works is as follows :—

शिवदत्त (of गौड़वंश)
गंगाराम मिश्र
मणिराम (belonging to धूर्जटपुर)

- (3) मणिराम refers to his guru हरिनारायणमिश्र¹ in his अनूपव्यवहारसागर (" अस्मद् गुरुचरण हरिनारायणमिश्र-कृतपद्येन ज्ञेयम् " -- fol. 39 a of the MS in the Anup Sans. Library). In the B. O. R. Institute MS of the श्लोकसंग्रह also मणिराम quotes some verses of हरिनारायणमिश्र.
- (4) Works of मणिराम in the Anup Library :—
 - (i) कात्यायनश्रौतसूत्रभाष्य (No. 706) — At the beginning the author says that he writes this for the benefit of his son. At the beginning of the श्लोकसंग्रह also he makes a similar statement (मणिरामेण विदुषा स्वसुतस्य हितैषिणा । प्राचीनकृतपद्यानां संग्रहः क्रियते स्वयम् ॥)
 - (ii) महाभारतसार (Nos. 984-88) signed by मणिराम and शिवानन्द.
 - (iii) महाभारतभावदीपसारोद्धार (No. 989) विराटपर्वन् and (No. 990) उद्योगपर्वन् — This is a gloss of नीलकण्ठ's commentary and explains difficult passages here and there. It is styled परिष्कार also. नीलकण्ठ चतुर्थर²

1. One हरिनारायणमिश्र composed (1) मधुविध्वंसभास्कर denouncing spirituous liquor and (2) मांसतिमिरविध्वंसभास्कर against non-vegetarian diet. There is a MS of No. 1 in the Anup Library. No. 2 is referred to in No. 1.

2. Vide my papers on this author :—

- (1) Annals (B. O. R. Institute), 1942, Vol. XXIII, pp. 146-161.
- (2) Journal of the Tanjore S. M. Library (1944), Vol. IV, No. 1, pp. 1-7.

was patronized by महाराज अनूपसिंह of Bikaner, the patron of मणिराम. Possibly मणिराम must have been in contact with नीलकंठ चतुर्धर during Anupasimha's Deccan campaigns.

- (iv) अष्टादशदिवसयुद्धानि (No. 991) — There is no mention of the author. Mr. Sarma thinks that this work is probably a part of मणिराम's महाभारतसार.
- (v) अनूपविलास in 7 parts called रत्नस dealing with धर्मशास्त्र (Nos. 2348-2359) (see Dr. C. K. Raja's article in the Jha Institute Journal, Vol. II, parts 2-3).
- (vi) अनूपव्यवहारसागर (No. 4305) deals with मुहूर्तशास्त्र in ten sections called लहरीs — MS dated Samvat 1746 (= A. D. 1690).
- (vii) मन्त्रमाला (No. 8014).
- (viii) अनन्तव्रतोद्यापन (No. 1477).

- (5) A MS of the भ्रमरदूत of वाचस्पति भट्टाचार्य bears the signature of दीक्षित मणिराम along with the following versified endorsement:—

“रामपत्न्यङ्गजासक्तचित्तविद्वच्छिरोमणेः ।

पुस्तं मिश्र मणीरामस्यास्तां ख्यातं महीतले ।”

This very endorsement is found on a MS of the commentary प्रबोधचन्द्रोदय (MS No. 31997). Sometimes the signature appears as “दीक्षित मणिराम” and sometimes as “दी० मणिराम-शिवानन्द.” This शिवानन्द needs to be identified. On a MS of नलोदय in the Anup Library (No. 3052) we find the following verse:—

“रसाश्विसत्तेन्दुमते च वर्षे वसन्तमासे हि हरेस्थितौ च ।

यं कालिदासोऽपि चकार पूर्वं नलोदयाख्यं हि कथानकं च ।

तं मणिरामः शिवानन्दं ज्ञिपुरस्य पुरे वसन् ।

लिलेख चैव सर्वेषां लोकानां हितकाव्यया ॥

The chronogram “रसाश्विसत्तेन्दु” = Samvat 1726 = A. D. 1670.

There are many name-sakes¹ of मणिराम. They should be distinguished from our मणिराम, the protégé of महाराज अनूपसिंह of Bikaner. The relative chronology of the several works of this मणिराम should be reconstructed on the strength of the dated MSS of his works in the Anup Library, Bikaner, but I leave this task to my friend Mr. K. M. K. Sarma, M. O. L. the present Curator of this Library and the General Editor of its Ganga Oriental Series.

30. Māruta-manḍana of Vanamālin and Its Date — Between A. D. 1575 and 1600 *

The only MS of a work on Vedānta colled the Mārutamanḍana by Vanamālin¹ recorded by Aufrecht² is "Bhr 718" which is identical with MS No. 718 of 1882-83 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. It consists of 63 folios, of which folio 1 is unfortunately missing since its acquisition. Folio 2 begins:—

—ह्यादिपदलक्षणस्य गङ्गापदलक्ष्यतीरस्य गङ्गास्ववदसत्यत्वाप्रह्लासा—

The Ms ends as follows:—

“ भुक्ता इयामाकमुष्टिं वियदप्रदमयहीनबंधुद्विजातेः

The above extract, though incorrect in many places, gives us the following particulars about the author and his work:—

* Indian Historical Quarterly, Vol. XXII, pp. 163-168.

1. CC I, 549 — “वनमालिन् — चण्डमारुत (CC I, 176 — Rice 142 and Govt. Ori. MS Library Madras, 26 ”) — मारुतमण्डन (CC I, 452, Bhr. 718).

2. CC I, 452—“मारुतमण्डन, Vedānta, by Vanamālin, Bhr. 718.”

- (1) In verse 1 of the extract the author bows to god यदुवर (कृष्ण).
- (2) In verse 2 it is stated that वनमाली is the author of this work called मारुतमण्डन. He was born of a family of Brahmins of the Bharadvāja Gotra [भरद्वाजाश्रमा is evidently a misreading for भरद्वाजान्वया (ये द्विजाः)]. This family lived at a place called त्रिशुगपुर (?) situated to the east of वृन्दावन,¹ adorned by the temple of गोविंद.
- (3) In verse 3 the author bows to god Gaṇeśa (हयकंधर).
- (4) In verse 4 he invokes the blessings of god गोपाल.
- (5) The date of the MS is Samvat 1741 = A. D. 1685 [month of Phālguna, Vadya (Śukla) Paṭṣa].

1. वनमाली was a champion of Madhva philosophy. As he hailed from the neighbourhood of Vṛndāvana, the centre of Kṛṣṇa worship in the United Provinces, it seems that Madhvaism had spread far and wide from its original home in South India at the time of Vanamālin's literary career, say, between A. D. 1575 and 1650.

The foregoing analysis of the MS of मारुतमंडन before us enables us to make the following observations :—

- (1) The work मारुतमंडन is avowedly composed in defence of the Madhva doctrine by its author वनमालिन् as expressly stated in the oft-repeated verse “मंडने मध्वतंत्रस्य etc.” on folios 36, 42, 46, 50, 52.
- (2) The later limit to the date of मारुतमंडन is A. D. 1685 in which year the present MS of this work was copied.
- (3) The reference to मनोरमा on folio 57 (No. 31 in the above list) needs to be identified. If it is identified with the प्रौढमनारमा of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita (Between A. D. 1560 and 1620) we may easily fix up वनमालिन् between say A. D. 1600 and 1685.
- (4) The न्यायामृत¹ mentioned on folio 7 (No. 25 of the list of references) is possibly identical with the न्यायामृत of व्यास-तीर्थ of the Madhva school; he died in A. D. 1533 (vide p.

753 of मध्ययुगीन चरित्रकोश by Chitrav Shastri, Poona, 1937).
Prof. B. N. K. Sarma assigns व्यासतीर्थ to the period A. D.
1478-1539 (NIA, II, p. 659).

- (5) The न्यायसुधा or सुधा quoted several times in the work (No. 26 of the list) is possibly identical with the न्यायसुधा (a commentary on the अनुव्याख्यान of आनन्दतीर्थ) by जयतीर्थ, who flourished between A. D. 1366 and 1389 (see p. 394 of मध्य-युगीन चरित्रकोश).
- (6) The तात्पर्यचन्द्रिका (No. 21 of the list) is possibly identical with the तात्पर्यचन्द्रिका of व्यासतीर्थ which is a commentary on the तत्त्वप्रकाशिका of जयतीर्थ. This तत्त्वप्रकाशिका (No. 24 of the list) is a commentary on the ब्रह्मसूत्रभाष्य of आनन्दतीर्थ.
- (7) Owing to the loss of the 1st folio of the MS of the मारुत-मण्डन I am unable to say what information it contained about the author and his work. In my analysis of the MS I have indicated several verses quoted by Vanamālin during the course of his polemical discussion. Though incorrectly written, these verses are good composition but I cannot say if they are Vanamālin's own composition or his teacher's. On folios 3 and 4 he refers to his teacher as "अस्मदाचार्य", who needs to be identified. Perhaps the first folio now missing in our MS may have contained a reference to this आचार्य.
- (8) I have reserved for another paper a study of the other works of our Vanamālin, some MSS of which have been traced by me in the Govt. MSS library at the B.O.R. Institute. In three of these works Vanamālin refers to his teacher as मरुन् in the expressions "आचार्यान् श्रीमरुन्मुख्यान्" "मारुतमाचार्य" and "मारुदेश." Perhaps the name "मारुत-मण्डन" of the present work may contain a reference to this teacher मरुन्.

In view of the data collected above I am inclined to assign वनमालिन्, the author of the मारुतमण्डन, to the period, A.D. 1575-1600.

1. These works are :— (1) अद्वैतसिद्धिखण्डन, (2) श्रुतिसिद्धान्तदीपिका (MS dated A. D. 1692) and (3) भगवद्गीता टीका.

The न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्यम् (Adyar MS) may be our author's work. The Adyar MS of the work needs to be examined with a view to proving this suggestion.

31. The So-called Manuscript of the Advaita-Siddhikhaṇḍana mentioned by Aufrecht and its Identification with the Nyāyāmṛta-Saugandhya of Vanamālin — Between A. D. 1575 & 1650 *

Aufrecht makes the following entries about a work called the अद्वैतसिद्धिखण्डन :—

C C I, 10 “अद्वैतसिद्धिखण्डन by वनमालिन् Bhr. 668. C C I, 549 —
“वनमालिन् अद्वैतसिद्धिखण्डन”

The only MS of this work recorded by Aufrecht in the above entries is “Bhr. 668” which is identical with MS No. 668 of 1882–83 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. It is written on country paper (9 lines to a page and 38 letters to a line). The size of each folio is :— $10\frac{1}{4}'' \times 4\frac{1}{4}''$. The arrangement of the folios in the MS is as follows :—

Folio 1 and Folios 43 to 269 (last folio) comprise the old original copy written in thick black letters.

Folio 2 to 33 are inserted by a later writer perhaps to make up the missing folios in the above original. They are written in small characters and are whitish in appearance but eaten up by moths.

Folio 1 is pasted on another blank folio, which is of the same appearance as that of folios 2 to 33. This folio, however, contains the following endorsements :—

“ तत्त्वं वेदेषु वेदगं नरहरे नैषोधिकारीति चेत्
स्तम्भादाविरभूः कुतो सुरतमश्चंद्रांशुतामाश्रितैः ॥
द्रोहेणापि न ते स्मरस्ययमतो नेहानुकंपेति चेत्
तत्किं त्वं न तदीक्ष यद्यनिशं स्नेहादितः स्मर्यते ॥३-०॥श्री॥”

Underneath the above writing but with letters inverted we find the following endorsement :—

* Mahārāval Silver Jubilee Commemoration Volume, Dungarpur, 1950, pp. 288–293.

“अथ वनमालीविरचितश्रद्धैतसिद्धिसिखण्डन-
माध्वशास्त्रीयं सौगन्ध्यग्रंथं तृटितकृपक्रीतशके
१७४२ ॥ श्री ॥ ”

The handwriting of both the above endorsements is identical with that of folios 2 to 33. It would appear, therefore, that these folios 2 to 33 were written and inserted by the owner of the MS, who purchased this MS in an incomplete condition in Śaka 1742 (= A. D. 1820) as stated in the endorsement “ग्रंथं तृटितकृपक्रीत-शके १७४२.”

Folio 1 begins as follows :—

“श्रीनृसिंहाय नमः श्रीपदानन्दतीर्थभगवत्पादाचार्येभ्यो नमः श्रीवनमालि-

The MS ends on folio 269 as follows :—

“किंच त्वदुक्तार्थो न प्रकाश इति सविशेष खप्रकाशस्वरूपभिन्ने तथास्तु भास-माने सुखादिस्फुरणेन प्रकाशते राम श्रीराम ”

1. Vide p. 172 of Cata. of Sanskrit MSS, Adyar Library, Pt. II; 1928 — “न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्यम् — वनमालिकृतम् 26D 26 प्र 86 अस (शिथिलम्) ”

The above extracts give us the following particulars about the author and his work :—

(1) The author bows to god नृसिंह, आनंदतीर्थ (= मध्वाचार्य) and one वनमालिदासगुरु at the beginning of the MS.

(2) In verse 1 he bows to god Gaṇeśa (हयास्य).

(3) In verse 2 he invokes the favour of god मुकुंद.

(4) In verse 3 he bows to his preceptor मरुत् who is called यतिगुरु and देशिकाचार्यवर्य. He also invokes the blessings of जयतीर्थ and व्यासतीर्थ. The name of the author is वनमाली.

(5) Verse 5 gives us the title of the work, which is न्यायामृत-सौगन्ध्य. This title is in agreement with the following verse found on folio 23 :—

“सामान्यतो हि मिथ्यावभंजनं मायिभंजनं ।
श्रीन्यायामृतसौगन्ध्ये श्राविते वनमालिना ॥”

In the margins of folios 2 to 33 the name of the work is recorded as “सौगन्ध्य.” On folio 33 occurs the endorsement “अद्वैत-सिद्धिखंडन वनमालीमिश्रीय”. Perhaps this endorsement is responsible for the title “अद्वैतसिद्धिखंडन” recorded in the catalogue of 1882-83 collection to which this MS belongs.

These verses are identical with verses 3 and 4 of the B. O. R.I. MS No. 668 of 1882-83, which is evidently a MS of न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य.

Besides the references (on folio 1) to जयतीर्थ, व्यासतीर्थ, मरुदंश गुरु (author's preceptor) the work mentions the following authors and works :—

1. Aufrecht (CC III, 67) records the following MS of न्यायामृत-सौगन्ध्य :—“न्यायामृत Vedānta by व्यासतीर्थ — Comm. न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य by वनमालिमिश्र H. z. 1541, p. 147”

“Hz 1541” = MS No. 1541 in the list of Sanskrit MSS by Hultzsch (Report No. 1. 1895). This MS contained only 8 leaves. The beginning of this MS as given on p. 147 of the Report reads as follows :—

“कृतनिगमविभागं केशवांशं मुनींद्रं । यतिगुरुमरुदंशदेशिकाचार्यवर्यं
कुमतवनकृशानुः श्री नयं व्यासतीर्थं । प्रणमति वनमाली तत्प्रसादैककामः

It is clear from the evidence recorded above that the present MS No. 668 of 1882-83 is a MS of न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य (of वनमाळीमिश्र) of which two other MSS have been noticed by me in this paper viz. (1) the MS described by Hultzsach and (2) the MS mentioned in the Adyar library catalogue. Evidently the title अद्वैतसिद्धिखंडन as applied to this MS is not correct.

Vanamālin mentions पक्षधरमिश्र on folio 81 of the MS. In the Madhyayugina Caritrakośa (Poona, 1937) p. 753, we are told that व्यासतर्षि (died A.D. 1533) had a controversy with पक्षधरमिश्र. According to Dr. S. K. De' the date of पक्षधर is uncertain. According to Satish Chandra Vidyabhushan (Indian Logic, Calcutta, 1921, pp. 455-56) पक्षधर belongs to the last quarter of the 13th century (i.e. Between A. D. 1275 & 1300). Gopinath Kaviraj (Sarwati Bhawan Studies, IV, pp. 62 f.) shifts this date to the “3rd quarter of the 15th century” (i.e., Between A. D. 1450 and 1475. If this date is correct it will have to be reconciled with the period (A. D. 1478-1539) to which व्यासतीर्थ has been assigned by B. N. Krishnamurti Sarma.¹ जीवगोस्वामिन् who composed works² in A. D. 1555, 1589 and 1592, states that he has taken some passages³ from व्यासतीर्थ. This fact harmonises chronologically with the period of व्यासतीर्थ viz. A. D. 1478-1539 fixed up by Dr. B. N. K. Sarma.

1. Vide foot note 3 on p. 64 of Vaiṣṇava Faith and Movement in Bengal, Calcutta, 1942.

The work प्रत्यक्षदीधिति mentioned on folio 99 by Vanamālin is possibly a section of the तत्त्वचिन्तामणिदीधिति of रघुनाथशिरोमणि (A. D. 1477-1547) the great logician of Nudia - p. 676 of Madhyayugina Caritrakośa.

From the chronology recorded above the present work of Vanamālin viz. न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य is definitely later than A. D. 1550. This very Vanamālin composed a vigorous defence of the मध्वतंत्र in a work called the मारुतमण्डन on which I have written a special paper.⁴ The rare MS of this work at the B. O. R. Institute viz. No. 718 of 1882-83 is dated Samvat 1741 = A. D. 1685. In a verse at the end of this work the author Vanamālin informs us that he belonged to a Brahmin family of the Bharadvāja gotra, living at a place not far removed from Vṛndāvana (in the U. P.). On folio 7 of the MS of the मारुतमण्डन the author mentions न्यायामृत and on folio 4 he mentions तात्पर्यचंद्रिका. Both these works were composed by व्यासतीर्थ (A. D. 1478-1539).

In view of the above evidence we may assign the न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य of Vanamālin to the period A. D. 1575-1650. This Vanamālin appears to have composed श्रुतिसिद्धांतदीपिका (B. O. R. I. MS dated A. D. 1692) and a commentary on the भगवद्गीता, not to say भक्तिरत्नाकर, a MS of which has been described by Hultsch in his Report I, pp. 56 and 129 (extract). All these three works need to be studied separately with a view to collecting data bearing on the personality of the author and his literary career. Besides the five works of our Vanamālin viz. (1) न्यायामृतसौगन्ध्य, (2) मारुतमण्डन, (3) श्रुतिसिद्धांत-दीपिका, (4) भगवद्गीता टीका and (5) भक्तिरत्नाकर there may be many more, which can be proved to be the works of this author. Aufrecht records several authors of the name वनमालिन् separately, with a work or two to the credit of each. We must, therefore, examine each of these works and prove its authorship on the strength of internal and external evidence. In the present paper I have only examined the so-called MS of the अद्वैतसिद्धिखंडन in the Govt. MSS library at the B. O. R. Institute and proved it to be identical with न्यायामृत-सौगन्ध्य of Vanamālin, represented by at least two other MSS elsewhere.

32. Vidyāvilāsa, a Commentary on the Siddhānta-Kaumudī by Śivarāma Tripāṭhin
— Between A. D. 1700 and 1775 *

Aufrecht¹ records many commentaries on Siddhānta-Kaumudī of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita (c. A. D. 1560-1620). Among these commentaries no mention is made of a commentary called Vidyāvilāsa by Śivarāma, a MS of which is available in the collection of the Sanskrit Pathashala at Rajapur in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency. I propose in this paper to examine this MS made available to me by my learned friend Shri Raghunatha Sastri Patankar of Rajapur.

About Vidyāvilāsa Aufrecht makes the following entry :—

CC I, 575 — “विद्याविलास by Śivarāma. Mentioned by him in his Lakṣmīnivāsābhidhāna L. 723.”²

CC III, 121 — “विद्याविलास by Śivarāma, See Kaumudī-Vidyāvilāsa.”

CC III, 28 — “कौमुदीविद्याविलास” or विद्याविलास, gr. by Śivarāma, As, p. 51.”

It appears that the work on grammar of the name “कौमुदीविद्याविलास” or विद्याविलास by शिवराम mentioned by Aufrecht is identical with the विद्याविलास commentary by शिवराम on the Siddhānta-Kaumudī represented by the Rajapur MS before me. I am un-

In this description of a MS of लक्ष्मीनिवासाभिधान which is a Sanskrit Vocabulary in verse of words formed with the Unādi affixes, the author शिवराम, son of कृष्णराम and grandson of त्रिलोकचन्द्र, refers to विद्याविलास and other works composed by him in the following verses at the end of Ms :—

“काव्यानि पञ्चनुतयो युगसम्मिताश्च टीकास्त्रयोदश तथैष उणादिकोषः । able to examine Aufrecht's entry "As, p. 51" as the list of MSS represented by it is not available to me.

The Rajapur MS of Vidyāvilāsa consists of 17 folios (size :— 9½ inches × 3½ inches ; about 7 lines on each page, each line containing about 39 letters). The MS begins as follows :—

“ श्री ॥ रामत्रयीव वा वेद्या शिवनेत्रत्रयीव वा ।

“अष्टापदं । श्रुतफलकं । सुवर्णं वा । माषकुम्भवापेन । क्षेत्रविशेषणं ।
द्रोणाढकादि वापवत् । अतुरङ्गयोगेन सैन्ययोगेन । ”

Besides his own works mentioned by Śivarāma in stanzas 7 and 8 quoted above he refers to the following works and authors in the portion of his commentary covered up by the fragment of the MS before me :—

1. शब्देन्दुशेखर — fol. 1, 2, 5, 8, 11, 13, 14, 15.
2. नागेश (son of सतीदेवी and शिवभट्ट) — (author of शब्देन्दुशेखर) — fol. 2.
3. मनोरमा — fol. 2, 5, 7, 8, 12, 13, 15.
4. नन्दिकेश्वरकारिकायाम् — fol. 2.
5. दीक्षित वार्तिककार — (= Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita) — fol. 5.
6. वार्तिकार — fol. 6.
7. कौस्तुभे — fol. 7, (“कौस्तुभग्रंथः चिन्त्यः”) 13.
8. शब्दरत्ने — fol. 7, 15.
9. परिभाषेन्दुशेखरे — fol. 8, 9, 12, 15.
10. वृत्तरत्नाकर — fol. 8.
11. मार्कण्डेयपुराणोक्त सप्तशतीपाठकर्ता — fol. 12.
12. कालिदास — fol. 15.
13. अमरः — fol. 15.
14. माघः — fol. 15.

As Śivarāma mentions Nāgeśa (or Nāgojibhaṭṭa) and his works in his Vidyāvilāsa commentary on the Siddhānta-Kaumudī of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita he is chronologically later than Nāgeśa, who is assigned to the period A. D. 1700-1750 by Shri Chitrav Shastri.¹

The identity of Śivarāma, the author of Vidyāvilāsa represented by the Rajpur MS before me, with Śivarāma, the author of the Sanskrit vocabulary Lakṣmīnivāsābhidhāna (MS described by Rajendralal Mitra in his Notices, Vol. II, pp. 136-137) is clearly proved by the following evidence :—

(1) Stanzas 8 and 9 which refer to the author's works in the beginning of the Vidyāvilāsa (Rajapur MS) are identical with Stanzas 31 and 32 in the colophon of Lakṣmīnivāsābhidhāna (MS described by R. Mitra).

1. Vide p. 482 of Madyayugīna Caritrakośa, Poona, 1937.

- (2) Śivarāma is the name of the author of the Vidyāvilāsa as also that of the vocabulary Lakṣmīnivāsābhidhāna.
- (3) The work “कौमुदीविद्याविलास” or “विद्याविलास” on grammar mentioned by Aufrecht (CC III, 28) is identical with विद्याविलास commentary on the सिद्धांतकौमुदी (represented by the Rajapur MS). In fact the Rajapur MS (Stanza 7) refers to the author शिवराम and his “कौमुदीविद्याविलास” in the following line :—

“विद्याविलासः कौमुद्यां शिवरामविनिर्मितः ।”

Śivarāma, the author of Vidyāvilāsa commentary, is better known as Śivarāma Tripāṭhin. Aufrecht makes the following entry in his Catalogus Catalogorum about his works :—

CC I, p. 652 — “शिवराम त्रिपाठिन् elder brother of Govindarāma, Mukundarāma, and Keśavarāma, son of Kṛṣṇarāma, grandson of Trilokacandra. He quotes the Paribhāṣendusekhara in the Lakṣmīvilāsa 9, which suffices to place him in the beginning of the 18th Century.

Dr. S. K. De in his History of Sanskrit Poetics, Vol. 1 (1923), p. 318 makes some remarks on Śivarāma Tripāṭhin. I may note some points from these remarks :—

- (1) Śivarāma's works : (i) रसरत्नहार and its commentary (ed. Kāvya-māla, pt. 6, 1890, pp. 118-140). (ii) अलंकारसमुद्गाहक cited at the end of his रावणदुरोध, where he gives a list of his 34 works. (iii) वासवदत्ताटीका (ed. Bib. Indica) where he refers to his रसरत्नहार. (iv) विषमपदो टीका on Mammata's

काव्यलक्ष्मीप्रकाश, a work on metrics.

- (2) Date — He quotes Paribhāṣenduśekhara and, therefore, may be placed in the beginning of the 18th century.
- (3) About this author see J.AOS, XXIV, 57-63.

In view of the evidence recorded in this paper it is clear that Śivarāma, the author of the Vidyāvilāsa commentary on the Siddhānta-Kaumudī, is identical with Śivarāma Tripāṭhin, the author of many Sanskrit works recorded by Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum.

33. Sanskrit and Hindi Works of Māhārāja Viśvanāthasimha of Rewah — Between A. D. 1813 and 1854 *

Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum makes the following entries about a royal author of the name Viśvanāthasimha or Viśvanāthasimha-deva :—

CC I, 585 — “ विश्वनाथसिंह or विश्वनाथसिंहदेव an officer of सीताराम-चन्द्रबहादूर and pupil of प्रियदास :—

— रामगीताटीका¹

— रामचन्द्राह्निक and Comm.²

— राममन्त्रार्थनिर्णय³

— वेदान्तसूत्रभाष्य⁴

— सर्वसिद्धान्त ”⁵

About the so-called “सीतारामचन्द्रबहादूर” referred to in the above entries by Aufrecht we find the following entries in the Catalogorum :—

* New Indian Antiquary, Vol. IX, pp. 1-12.

1. CC I, 510 — “ रामगीता टीका. Oudh X, 22. ”

2. CC I, 553 — “ रामचन्द्राह्निक and Comm. by विश्वनाथसिंह L. 73 ; Oudh V, 30 XIII, 10. ”

3. CC I, 518 — “ राममन्त्रार्थनिर्णय — Oudh, V, 28, XV, 128. ”

4. CC I, 385 — “ वेदान्तसूत्रभाष्य — Rādhāvallabha doctrine by विश्वनाथसिंह. Oudh, 1876, 24. ”

5. CC I, 702-3 — “ सर्वसिद्धान्त — a dialogue between राजकुमार विश्वनाथसिंह and भिक्षुकाचार्य on the divinity and worship of राम —

—Oudh III, 20; V, 24 ; XIII, 98, 111

—Oppert 6269”

None of the above MSS is available to me for examination. I shall, therefore, base my evidence in this paper on the description of some of these MSS as found recorded in the Catalogues.

CC I, 723 "राजबहादुर सीतारामचंद्र, patron of विश्वनाथसिंह (रामचन्द्र-चम्पू) L. 73"

Aufrecht has not identified either "सीतारामचंद्रबहादुर or विश्वनाथ-सिंहदेव." I shall, therefore, try to examine Aufrecht's entries and try to identify these persons.

In June 1945 Dr. C. K. Raja of the Madras University gave me an extract¹ from the MS of संगीतरत्नाकरव्याख्या called संगीतसेतु available in the Alwar Darbar Library (No. 4628-33). Dr. Raja asked me to study this extract and fix the date of the author and his patron.

The extract from the Alwar MS of the संगीतसेतु supplied by Dr. Raja gives us the following points for verification :—

- (1) The author of the work was one गंगाराम, son of तुलाराम of माथुरकुल,

1. This extract reads as follows :—

‘जीयाद्राघवसुन्दरी कुलपतिर्यानादभूमाश्वरी

- (2) The patron of our author was King विश्वाधिनाथ or विश्वनाथ-सिंहदेव who was a lover of music.
- (3) विश्वनाथसिंहदेव is described in the colophon as “महाराजा-धिराज” and “श्रीराजाबहादूर.” He is further described by the epithet “सीतारामचन्द्रकृपापात्राधिकारी”, which suggests that he was a devotee of god सीतारामचन्द्र. सीता is referred to in verse 1 of the extract as “राघवसुन्दरी” and “विदेहात्मजा.”
- (4) The work संगीतसेतु was composed in ब्रजभाषा by our author by the order of विश्वनाथसिंहदेव as stated in verse 3 at the beginning.
- (5) In verse 3 at the beginning of the work our author makes a respectful reference to one मिथदास who needs to be identified.

Before proceeding to record evidence on the points mentioned above let us see if we can trace any other MS of the संगीतसेतु of गंगाराम in our published catalogues of MSS. Fortunately for us there is a complete MS of this work in the Sarasvati Mahal Library at Tanjore. In the description of this MS the editor of the Tanjore MSS Catalogue observes as follows :—

“Saṅgītaratnākara-vyākhyā-Setu — A Hindi Commentary. Though the text of Śārṅgadeva is published this Commentary is not published. As this author says this work is written in Vraja-bhāṣā or a north Indian Dialect. This commentary is called Saṅgīta-setu and as the author says, is written at the bidding of a prince called Viṣvanāthasimha Sudeva. He mentions his father's name as one Tulārām belonging to a family residing in Muttra. The MS in this library represents the commentary on all the seven chapters.” (The entire commentary is represented by MSS Nos. 10754 to 10782 — Vide Pp. 7282-7283 of Vol. XVI of the Tanjore MSS Catalogue).

No MSS of the several Sanskrit works ascribed to Viṣvanāthasimhadeva by Aufrecht are available to me. I shall, therefore,

1. Vide p. 7279 of Vol. XVI of Des. Cata. of Tanjore MSS — No. 10754 (Burnell's Catalogue. No. 6598 a (Page 59) sheets 102 — Begins; — जीयाद्राघवसुन्दरी etc and Ends :—

“इति श्रीमहाराजाधिराज श्रीमहाराजाबहादूरसीतारामचन्द्रकृपापात्राधिकारविश्वनाथ-सिंहदेवविराजामयुक्तश्रीमाधुरकुलमणितुलारामगर्भसमुत्तङ्गशारारामकृतसंगीतसेतौरवहा(स्वर-ग)ताभ्यायः प्रथमः समाप्तिमगम् तदेतद्विदुषां शुभं भव्यात् ॥” cord below the description of the MSS of two Sanskrit works of this royal author as given by Rajendralal Mitra :—

(1) रामचन्द्रचम्पू with टीका (MS No. 73 described by R. Mitra on p. 41 of Notices, Calcutta, 1871, Vol. I) — A romance on the life of Rāma and his consort Sītā, by Viśvanāthasimha — folios 43 — Country paper — MS belongs to Babu Hariścandra of Benares.

The MS begins :— “ शक्तिर्येषा न पुंसां भवति न कविता लोकशास्त्राद्येक्षां । नैपुण्यं चैव नैवान्यसनमपि तथा शिक्षया काव्य-
गानाम् । काव्य कुर्वन्त तेऽपि प्रभुरगुणयुतं यत्कृपातो
लभन्ते । प्रेमाणं चालभ्यं तदवनितनयापादपद्मं
नमामि । ”

The MS ends :— “ विश्वनाथानुभूतोदितं ध्यानं हान्त भवबन्धजालं । इति
श्रीमहाराजाधिराज श्रीराजबहादुरसीताराम-
चन्द्रकृपापात्राधिकारी विश्वनाथसिंहभूदेवविर-
चितरामचन्द्राह्निकटीकायामष्टमोऽध्यायः ”

The above extract clearly proves the identity of the author of this Sanskrit work with his name-sake mentioned in the Hindi work viz. the संगीतसेतु already described by me on the strength of the extracts from the Alwar and Tanjore MSS of this work. This Sanskrit work रामचन्द्राह्निक with commentary gives us the following particulars :—

- (i) Its author is King विश्वनाथसिंहदेव.
- (ii) In the colophon he is called “ महाराजाधिराज ”, “ राज-बहादुर ” and “ सीतारामचन्द्रकृपापात्राधिकारी. ” These epithets are invariably mentioned in the colophons of the MSS of the Hindi works of our author like the संगीतसेतु and others.

(2) सर्वसिद्धांत — A MS of this Sanskrit work is described by Mitra in his Notices, Vol. VII, Calcutta, 1884, Pp. 99-100 — No. 2329, folios 85, Extent 3300 ślokaś. This work is described as “an essay on the divinity of Rāmacandra and the truth of the dual theory of the elder Vedānta. By Rāja Kumāra Viśvanāthasimha. ”

The MS begins :—

The MS ends :—

 सिंहविरचिते भिक्षुकाचार्य्यसंवादे पञ्चमः सिद्धान्तः । समाप्तश्चायं ग्रन्थः ॥ ”

We get the following information from the above extracts :—

- (i) The author of this work was विश्वनाथसिंहदेव who is called “श्रीमहाराजकुमार” and not “महाराजाधिराज” as in the राम-चन्द्रचम्पू and Gaṅgārāma’s संगीत(रत्नाकर)सेतु. It appears, therefore, that the सर्वसिद्धान्त was composed by our author before his coming to the gādi.
- (ii) The guru of our author was one प्रियादास (प्रियादासगुरु-चरणाः). The guruparamparā begins with one चन्द्रलाल and ends with प्रियादास.
- (iii) When विश्वनाथसिंहदेव was a महाराजकुमार there seems to have been a minister of the name भोदूलाल mentioned as “भमात्यश्रीभोदूलाल” at the beginning of the work.

- (iv) One मिथुकाचार्य is mentioned in the colophon. We must see if this person is imaginary or historical.

From the data so far recorded it is clear that our author was interested in ब्रजभाषा and that by his order and under his patronage Gaṅgārāma composed the संगीतसेतु in ब्रजभाषा. प्रियादास mentioned by Gaṅgārāma with respect is evidently identical with प्रियादास the guru of Gaṅgārāma's patron विश्वनाथसिंहदेव. The spiritual genealogy of this guru has also been recorded by this author in his Sanskrit work सर्वसिद्धान्त composed by him when he was an heir-apparent, महाराजकुमार.

In view of our author's interest in ब्रजभाषा we must see what works in this language were composed by him. In my search for these works, I have found the following Hindi works in the catalogues of Hindi MSS available to me :—

(1) Rai Bahadur Hiralal in his Report on the Search of Hindi MSS, Allahabad, 1929, makes the following remarks on "Viśvanātha Simha" :—

P. 117 — "205. Viśvanātha Simha Mahārājā of Rewah, who ascended the throne in 1835 A. D. has written many books of which Parama Tatva Prakāśa (a work on yoga and devotion) and Rāgasāgara on music have been found in the present search in the Fatehpur district. The first MS is dated 1837 A. D. which appears to be the date of its composition. The second has no date. Viśvanātha Simha¹ was a poet of eminence."

P. 488 — MS No. 205 (a)—परमत्वप्रकाश by Viśvanātha Simhaji, leaves 15, 64 ślokas — Date of composition :—

Samvat 1892 (= A. D. 1835). MS ends :— "इति श्रीमहाराजाधिराजा श्रीराजाबहादुर सितारामचन्द्र कृपातन्त्राधिकारि विश्वनाथसिंह जू देवकृत परमत्वप्रकाश ग्रंथ समाप्त etc."

In the beginning our author refers to his guru प्रियादास :— "जय गणेश हरिगुरु प्रियादास चरण धरि सीस ॥"

1. विश्वनाथसिंह the Maharaja of Rewa should not be confounded with विश्वनाथ, a Bhāṭ of Biswan (Dist. Sitapur) who composed अलंकारा-दरस in A. D. 1815 for one जालिमसिंह and another work अलंकारदर्पण in the same year (Vide pp. 243-244 of Triennial Report—Hindi MSS, Allahabad, 1924).

—MS No. 205 (b) — रागसागर by Mahārājā-Viśvanātha Simha of Rewā — 6 leaves — 270 ślokas — “ राग रागिनीयों के वर्णन ”

MS Begins — “ अथ लिख्यते रागसागरादि महाराज विश्वनाथसिंह क्रतता चौतारा etc. ”

(2) Syam Sundar Das in his Triennial Report (Hindi) MSS, Allahabad, 1912, records the following note on our author :—

Pages 92-93 — “ No. 249 — विश्वनाथसिंह महाराज (1813-1834) of Rewāh. Besides being a liberal patron of learned men he was himself a good author (See No. 43 of 1900). The following works of his have been found :—

- (a) उत्तमनीतिचन्द्रिका — An unusually large commentary or the eight Kabittas on morals or policy written by himself and named ध्रुवाष्टकनीति. The MS is dated 1847 A. D.
 - (b) आनन्दरघुनन्दन नाटक — A dramatic work dealing with the story of Rāma.
 - (c) पाखंडखंडिनी — A commentary on the works of Kabīra Dāsa.
 - (d) ध्रुवाष्टक — A work on morals and policy in prose.
- (All these MSS are described on P. 326 of this Report).

(3) The Triennial Report (Hindi MSS), 1914 (Allahabad) contains the following remarks about विश्वनाथसिंह :—

Page 23 (Report) — “ (52) His Highness Maharaja Viswanatha Simha of Rewah who from 1813 to 1859 was one of the voluminous authors and 10 of his works have been noticed, only two of which appear to have been known before. I may add that his son and successor Mahārājā Raghuraja Singha (1854-80) is alone a well-known and voluminous author. ”

Page 443 — “ No. 329 — Viśwanatha Singha, Maharaja of Rewah (1813-1854) is one of the voluminous poets of Hindi (See No. 52 in the body of the Report. His ten works have been noticed :—

- (a) आदिमंगल a commentary on Kabīra's Bijaka.
- (b) बसन्त dealing with god and soul.
- (c) चौतीशी on Spiritual Knowledge.
- (d) चौराशी रमैनी — MS dated 1847 A. D. gloss on the Rāmāī of Kathiawar.

- (e) कथा on spiritual knowledge and precepts, being comments on Kabīra-Dāsa's "Karhā."
- (f) रामायन — or the Story of Rāma.
- (g) शब्द — MS dated 1839 A. D., being a commentary on Kabīra's "Śabda."
- (h) साखी — MS dated 1847 A. D., Commentary on Kabīr's "Sākhī."
- (i) संतशतक — MS dated 1846 A. D., on spiritual knowledge, devotion and unworldliness.
- (j) विश्वभोजनप्रकाश, on cooking food.

These MSS have been described on pages 444-45. The MS of रामायन (f) refers to गुरुप्रियादास. This work was composed when our author was an heir-apparent or महाराजकुमार as the Colophon reads "इति उत्तरकांड रामायण समाप्त श्रीमहाराजकुमार श्री बाबूसाहब विश्वनाथसिंह जू देव-कृत ॥." The following MSS describe the author as "महाराजाधिराज श्री महाराजा राजा बहादुर" and hence they were composed when he had come to the gādī of Rewa :—

- (g) शब्द dated Samvat 1896 = A. D. 1840.
- (h) साखी dated Samvat 1904 = A. D. 1848.
- (i) संतशतक dated Samvat 1903 = A. D. 1847.
- (j) विश्वभोजनप्रकाश¹ — This is a treatise on cookery (7030 ślokas).

(4) The Annual Report (Hindi MSS), Allahabad, 1905, contains the following MSS of the works of Viśvanāthasimha :—

MS No. 22 — अनुभवपरप्रदर्शनी टीका — Prose and Verse — Annotations on the 12 books of Kabīra Dās by Maharaja Viśvanātha singha of Rewa (1834 A. D.). The MS copy was made in Samvat 1905 (1848 A. D.) — The extracts given in the Catalogue refer to guru प्रियादास and the author as "महाराजाधिराज etc."

MS No. 53 — उत्तमकाव्यप्रकाश — Prose and Verse — 1195 Ślokas — A book on Hindi composition with special reference to sarcastic style by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singh of Rewah. The MS is dated: Samvat:1896 (1839 A. D.) in which year,

1. Cf. भोजनसार (MS No. 1515 of 1891-95) composed by Girdhari in A. D. 1739. This author was a Court-poet of Sevai Jaising of Amber (A. D. 1699-1743).

it appears, the work was also completed. The extracts refer to guru प्रियदास and author as “महाराजधिराज” etc.

MS No. 54 — शांत शतक — Prose and Verse — 2580 Ślokas — A book dealing with spiritual subjects by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singha of Rewah. The book is divided into 3 chapters, dealing with worldly renunciation, spiritual knowledge and final beatitude. The MS is dated Samvat 1895 (= A. D. 1838) — See No. 53 — The extracts refer to प्रियदास and the author as “महाराजधिराज” etc.

No. 115 — रामायण (in verse) — 13,448 ślokas — 570 folios. — The Story of Rāmacandra's life by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singh of Rewah (1840). The MS is dated Samvat 1889 (1832 A. D.)

The MS refers to guru प्रियादास and the author as “महाराजकुमार श्री बाबूसाहेब विश्वनाथसिंह जू देव.”

No. 172 — गीतरघुनन्दन with Commentary — composed in A. D. 1832 — MS dated A. D. 1833 (see No. 44 of 1900. The date 1844 given in this note is of the MS and not of the composition of the book).

No. 173 — भजन by Viśvanātha Singha.

(5) Annual Report (Hindi MSS) Allahabad, 1903, records the following MSS of the works of Viśvanātha Singha :—

No. 43 — अष्ट याम का आह्निक (in verse) — 34 folios — 210 ślokas — A poem in Dohā Coupāi and Sorathā metre describing the diary of Rāma and Sitā during the 8 watches of one whole day and night, written in Samvat 1877 (1830 A. D.) by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singh of Rewah. He was a great patron of poets and during his reign Rewah was one of the centres, where Hindi poets flourished in their greatest brilliancy and whence standard works on Hindi poetry were issued.

No. 44 — गीत रघुनन्दन with टीका प्रमानिका — Prose and Verse — 39 folios — 1432 ślokas — A commentary (with text) on गीतरघुनन्दन, a poem regarding Śrī Rāmacandra by one Gosai Jamunādāsa — the author of commentary is Maharaja Viśvanātha Singha of Rewah, who completed it in Samvat 1901 (= A. D. 1844) — See No. 43 — The colophon refers to the author of the commentary as “महाराज कुमार श्रीबाबूसाहेब विश्वनाथसिंह.”

- No. 47 — धनुर्विद्या — (Text and commentary) — Prose and Verse — 22 folios — 495 ślokas — by Mahārāja Viśvanātha Singha of Rewah — This is a treatise on the art of using the bow and the arrow — MS dated Samvat 1911 (= A. D. 1855).
- No. 48 — परमतत्त्वप्रकाश — Verse — 16 folios — 210 Ślokas — A book on the Bhakti (devotion) of God by Maharāja Viśvanātha Singha. (See No. 43) — The Colophon refers to the author as “महाराजाधिराज etc.”.
- (6) Annual Report (Hindi MSS), Allahabad, 1904, records the following MSS of Viśvanātha Singha's works :—
- No. 6 — आनन्दरामायण (अयोध्याकाण्ड to उत्तरकाण्ड) — Verse — 250 folios — 14000 Ślokas — the story of Śrī Rāmacandra's life in verse. The book is divided into 7 parts, out of which the first part is missing. In the midst of the MS there is an extra page on which is written that the first book consisted of 40 leaves and extended to 2480 ślokas. The author of this book is the well-known Maharaja Viśvanātha Singhji of Rewah some of whose works were noticed in the Report for 1900. He composed the book before he was installed on the gaddi. The dates of the different parts of the MS range between Samvat 1880 and 1890 (1833–1843 A. D.) — The extracts refer to guru प्रियादास and the author as “श्रीबाबूसाहेब विसुनाथसिंह जू देव.”
- No. 16 — परमधर्मनिर्णय (प्रथम खण्ड) Verse and Prose — 130 folios — 2730 ślokas — A treatise on Vaiṣṇavism by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singha of Rewah. It deals in detail with all the forms, ceremonies and beliefs of the Vaiṣṇavas as propounded by the professors of that religion. It is divided into four parts of which three only have been noticed. The MS is dated Samvat 1905 (1848 A. D.) — The author refers to his guru प्रियदास at the beginning of the work. — In the Colophon the author is called “श्रीमहाराजाधिराज श्री-महाराज श्रीराजाबहादुर सीतारामचन्द्रकृपापात्राधिकारी विश्वनाथसिंह जू देव” — The MS was copied by लाला रामदयाल.
- No. 17 — परमधर्मनिर्णय (द्वितीय खण्ड) Verse and prose — 104 folios — 2574 ślokas — This part treats of love of God and the expiation of sins. — The MS is dated Samvat 1905 (1848 A. D.) — Colophon similar to the above Colophon of No. 16.
- No. 18 — परमधर्मनिर्णय (चतुर्थ खण्ड) — 112 folios — Verse and Prose — 2630 ślokas — This part treats of duties and ceremonies which may be performed by the four varṇas in cases of danger and difficulty. — Colophon as in No. 17.

No. 19 — प्रियादासचरितामृत — folios 11-370 Ślokas — This is a biographical account of Priyā Dās, the preceptor of Maharaja Viśvanātha Singha of Rewāh. Priyā Dās was a Mahārāstra Brahmin, Son of Basudeva and his former name was Kṛṣṇa Datta. He was reputed for his deep knowledge of Bhāgavata and probably he rendered that book into the Bundelakhandi dialect as mentioned by Ward (View of the History of the Hindus, Vol, II, p. 481) but he cannot be the same Priyā Dās (1712 A. D.) who wrote the well-known gloss on the Bhaktanāmāvali of Nābhā Dās, as the time of Priyā Dās alias Kṛṣṇa Datta must be fixed in the first half of the 19th Century, when Maharaja Viśvanātha Singha, his disciple flourished at Rewāh. The author of this MS is one Droṇācārya Tiwādī, who was a disciple of Priyā Dās and who wrote this life in Samvat 1910 (1853 A. D.). — Syamsundar states that Priyā Dās composed many Sanskrit and Bhāṣā works.

No. 20 — धनुषविद्या — Verse — 15 folios — 226 Ślokas — This is a treatise on archery based on the laws of Manu, by Maharaja Viśvanātha Singh of Rewā. A similar treatise was noticed last year but it was in Sanskrit with a commentary in Hindi, — Colophon as in No. 18.

(7) The Annual Report (Hindi MSS by Syamsunder Das, Allahabad, 1907. Records the following MSS of the works of Viśvanātha Simha :—

No. 38 — आनन्दधुनन्दननाटक — Prose and Verse — 85 folios — 2225 ślokas — story of Rāmacandra's life in dramatic form by Maharaja Viśvanātha Simha of Rewāh (1830 A. D.).

The MS is dated Samvat 1887 (1830 A. D.) The Colophon refers to the author as “ श्रीमहाराजकुमार श्रीबाबूसाहेब विश्वनाथसिंह जू देव ”. Mr. Das states that this work was composed by its author before his coronation — The MS was copied by one दिलराज लाला.

No. 84 — वेदान्तपंचक सटीक भाषा — Prose and Verse — folios 13 — 300 ślokas — A small book on Vedānta by Maharaja Viśvanātha Simha of Rewāh, — The author refers to प्रियादास at the beginning of the work — The Colophon mentions its author as “ श्रीमहा- राजाधिराजश्रीमहाराजश्रीराजाबहादूरश्रीसीतारामचन्द्र'कृपापात्राधिकारीविश्वनाथसिंह जू देव'".

No. 114 — गीतावली पूर्वार्द्ध — verse, 91 folios — 2460 ślokas — An account of Rāmacandra and the city of Ajudhyā by Mahārāja Viśvanātha Simha of Rewāh. The MS is dated Samvat 1887 (1830 A. D.) The Colophon describes its author as—" श्रीमहाराजकुमार श्रीबाबूसाहेब विश्वनाथसिंह जू देव. "

No. 145— उत्तमकाव्यप्रकाश by विश्वनाथसिंह composed in A. D. 1840 — MS is dated A. D. 1840 (See No. 53 of 1903) — This MS is not fully noticed in the catalogue but is mentioned with the above details in Appendix I. I have recorded above some account of the Sanskrit and Hindi works of Viśvanātha Simha on the strength of scattered notices of them in Sanskrit and Hindi MSS Catalogues.² This account may not be exhaustive as the catalogues available to me

1. In the जगदीशशतक (MS No 82) and रामरसिकावली (MS No. 89) by महाराज रघुराजसिंह (son of विश्वनाथसिंह) the author is called " श्रीकृष्णचंद्र कृपापात्राधिकारी."

2. My friend Mr. K. M. K. Sarma, M. O. L. Curator, Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, reports to me the following MSS of the works of विश्वनाथसिंह in the Anup Library :—

Sanskrit :— (1) संगीत रघुनंदन (Sanskrit) folios 15 — Dated Samvat 1891 (= A. D. 1835) —

It ends :— " इति सिद्धि श्रीमन्महाराजाधिराजश्रीजयसिंहदेवसुश्रीविश्वनाथसिंह जू देवकृत etc."

Hindi :— (1) रामायण in 7 Vols. — Dated Samvat 1891 (= A. D. 1835). In the Colophon the author is called " महाराजकुमार श्री बाबूसाहेब विश्वनाथ"

(2) आनन्द रघुनन्दन — dated Samvat 1891 (A. D. 1835).

(3) सिकारकी कवित्त — No date.

(4) अयोध्यायशो वर्णन — No date.

(5) गीतावली पूर्वार्द्ध — dated Samvat 1893 (A. D. 1837).

(6) विनयमाला — dated Samvat 1890 (A. D. 1834).

(7) वीरविजयकर — No date.

(8) चित्रकूटमाहात्म्य — No date.

I am thankful to Mr. Sarma for the above information sent by him on 20-9-1945.

are not many. - It is, however, clear from my account that Maharaja Viśvanātha Simha was a highly religious personage with voluminous literary work to his credit.

My friend the late Diwan Bahadur Janaki Prasad of Rewa, whose contact with me for a few years prior to his sad demise created in me a strong desire to study the cultural and literary history of Baghel Khanda, had sent to me a typewritten copy of his History of the Rewah State. In this copy I find the following remarks about Maharaja Viśvanātha Simha :—

“ Maharaja Jai Singh Deva abdicated in favour of his son Maharaja Kumar Vishwanatha Singh (afterwards Maharaja Vishwanatha Singh) in 1813 and from this time onward Vishwanatha Singh controlled the administration of the state until his father's death in 1833. Jaisingh was a good scholar and author of several works as well as a patron of learning. He was married at Manda and at Gauria. He had three sons : (1) Vishwanatha Singh, who as already stated succeeded him. (2) Lakshman Singh who was granted the chaurasi Madhogarh and (3) Balbhadra Singh of Amarpatan,.....

30. Vishwanatha Singh (A.D. 1833-1854) — We have seen that Vishwanatha Singh was administering the state for 20 years before his accession to the Gādī. He was a very able ruler and administered the state with great success. Like his father he was a lover of literature and patron of learning. Misunderstanding arose between Maharaja Vishwanath Singh and the heir-apparent. Some of the Sardars of the state endeavoured to create misunderstanding between Maharaja Vishwanatha Singh and the Yuvarāja Maharaja Kumar afterwards Maharaja Raghuraja Singha. They partially succeeded in doing so and the result might have been disastrous to the state but for the foresightedness and sagacity of Maharaja Vishwanatha Singh and good sense and filial love of Raghuraja Singh (Some Sardars were expelled from the state)..... these Sardars went to Lahore and were in the service of Maharaja Ranjit Singh, the “ Lion of the Punjab.” They were called back to Rewa some years afterwards at the suggestion of Sir Henry Hardinge, the Governor General.

Raghurāja Singh was born in 1823. Maharaja Vishwanath Singh delegated most of his powers to Raghuraja Singh in 1842 when the Yuvaraja was in his 19th year.....

Maharaja Vishwanatha Singh on the delegation of powers to him by his father made Pande Bhundu Lal his Diwan.....

Vishwanatha Singh had only one son and three daughters. He had five Mahārāṇīs.....Raghurāja Singh (A. D. 1854-1880). Born in 1823. He ascended the Rewa Gādi in 1854 and died in February 1880. Like his father and grand-father he was a patron of learning and was a Hindi poet of no mean order. He was Sanskrit Scholar and knew English ".....

I believe, the above remarks of Diwan Bahadur Janaki Prasad give us the cultural background of the several Sanskrit and Hindi works of Maharaja Vishwanatha Singh of Rewah. It is also noteworthy that three Rewa Maharajas in succession viz. Jai Singh, Vishwanatha Singh and Raghuraja Singh were not only patrons of learning but were men of high literary attainments and capable administrators.

I now close my account of the Sanskrit and Hindi works of Maharaja Vishwanath Singh of Rewa with the following table showing the dates of composition of these works as also the dates of their available MSS noted in this paper :—

It is possible to trace the MSS of the works of Maharaja Viśvanāthasimha in many other MSS Libraries, both private and public. In H. I. Poleman's Census of Indic MSS in U. S. A. and Canada (1938) he records a MS of आनन्दरघुनन्दन नाटक (Hindi) P. 302 — MS No. 5820. This is the only MS of Viśvanāthasimha's works recorded in this Catalogue.

34. Viśvanātha Mahādeva Rāṇaḍe, a Cittapāvan Court-poet of Raja Ramsing I of Jaipur and his works —
Between A. D. 1650 and 1700 *

In the Gotrāvali of the Chitpāvan Brahmins of the Maharashtra we find the surname Rāṇaḍe. The gotra of the Rāṇaḍe family is Bhāradvāja. There are at present numerous Rāṇaḍe families in the Maharashtra. Some of the members of these families are highly educated and well-placed in life. During the last 100 years the Rāṇaḍes have produced some men¹ of literary pursuits but it is not known if any such men were produced by this family before A. D. 1880. It is, therefore, worth while investigating and putting on record whatever information we can discover from authentic records² about the literary men belonging to the Rāṇaḍe family preferably before A. D. 1880.

As I have no early genealogies of the Rāṇaḍes with me, I shall satisfy myself by recording here a usage of the surname 'Rāṇaḍe' which I found in a document of A. D. 1660 while studying some documents of my own family³ between A. D. 1633 and 1685. This

* Journal of the B. B. R. A. Society, N. S. Vol. 17, pp. 43-55.

1. The late Justice Madhava Govind Ranade stands at the top of such men. His versatile intellect, patriotism, and sterling character as also other qualities of head and heart have already won for him an immortal fame in the history of Maharashtra. Among living members of the Rāṇaḍe families mention may be made of Prof. R. D. Ranade, now head of the Philosophy Department of the Allahabad University, the author of some standard works on philosophy such as 'Constructive Survey of the Upanishadic Philosophy,' 'Mysticism in Mahārāshtra,' etc. In the field of Marathi literature I may mention here my friend Prof. S. B. Ranade, now Professor in the Ismail College, Andheri, who has already made a mark in the field of Marathi Poetry by the publication of his numerous poems during the last 30 years or so.

2. No family history of the Rāṇaḍes has so far been published. It is time that some one attempts such history.

document is a sale-deed of property by one Rogbhaṭ bin Gopālabhaṭ Rāṇaḍīyā in favour of Jān Thākūr bin Rām Thākūr. Evidently Rogbhaṭ Rāṇaḍīyā was living in A. D. 1600 when he sold a property to Jān Thākūr of Jamasade near Devagad. Gopālabhaṭ, the father of Rogbhaṭ, was a contemporary of Rām Thākūr about A. D. 1633, which is the date of the earliest sale deed of property purchased by Rām Thākūr. It is clear from this contemporary document that one Rāṇaḍe family was resident near Devagad in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency. Like many other Chitpāvan Brahmins the Rāṇaḍes must have migrated' from 1938, where I have recorded the dates of sale-deeds of properties purchased by my ancestors, viz. the Thākūrs of Jamsade (near Devagad in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency).

1. Compare the following account of a Chittapāvana going to Bengal (between A. D. 1660 and 1690) from Konkon for attaining siddhi under the guidance of a tāntric teacher of Rāḍhā :—

In the Fragments of Poems pertaining to the Maratha King Sambhaji (A. D. 1680-1689) published by me in the Annals (B. O. R. I.), Vol. XIX, Part I (1938), pp. 49-60, we find the description of a सिद्ध of राढा in Bengal (pp. 57-58 — verses I to 32). A Chittapāvana Brahmin called शिवयोगी from Konkon went to this सिद्ध and became his pupil :—

“ शिवयोगी नाम कश्चिद्ब्राह्मणश्चित्तपावनः ।
निशम्य तस्य सिद्धस्य चरितं परमाद्भुतम् ॥ ३३ ॥
हित्वा कोंकणकं देशं तं देशं समुपाश्रितः ।
गुरुत्वेनाशु तं सिद्धं वरयामास सुव्रतः ॥ ३४ ॥ ”

This चित्तपावन Brahmin served the सिद्ध of राढा devotedly and in course of time attained सिद्धि :—

“ प्रगल्भोदारसेवाभिराराध्य गुरुमादरात् ।
अलभच्छिवयोगी सः सिद्धिकामपि सुव्रतः ॥ ५ ॥ ”

He then returned to शृंगारपुर near Sangameshvar in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency and founded there a मठ or hermitage :—

“ पश्यन्क्षेत्राणि नानारसभरभरितः पर्यटन्तीर्थपङ्क्तौ ।
प्रेम्णा शृंगारपुर्यां व्यरचदथ मठं कोंकणं क्रूरदेशे
वस्तुं योगी प्रसिद्धस्तदनुगतगुणं सन्निवासं चकार ॥ ”

If the above story of a चित्तपावन migrating to a remote place in Bengal from Konkon is correct, we have in it a parallel to the case of

Konkon to Poona and other places above the Ghāṭs during the Peshwa period of Maratha history, when the rule of the Chit-pāvans, i.e. the Peshwas attracted many Brahmins to their capital Poona, which then provided prospects to many ambitious youths. As I have not studied all the records of the Maratha history pertaining to this period I am unable to say whether any member of the Rānade family made his home in Poona and took to any political or literary pursuits.

The study of family history will be greatly facilitated if a dictionary of surnames current in Maharashtra is compiled. Such a dictionary should record the usage of every surname in a definitely dated document so that we can have before us under each surname dated usages of that surname from the earliest to the latest with indication of the source for each usage recorded. In the case of the surname Rānade we have no means of determining the geography¹ of the residence of the Rānaḍes and their migration another चित्तावन, viz. विश्वनाथ रानडे, going to Benares and becoming a pupil of Kamalākara and Dhupḍirāja. As the चित्तावन शिवयोगी is shown as contemporary of King Sambhaji (A.D.1680-1689), he appears to have been a contemporary of विश्वनाथ रानडे who composed his शृंगार-वापिका, say, between A. D. 1667 and 1675.

1. Vide आठवणी by the late Mrs. Ramabai Ranade, Poona, 1935, pages 1 to 10. Here an account is given of the ancestors of the late Justice Mādhava Govind Ranade. The native place of this line of the Rānade family is Pācerisaḍū near Guhāgar in the Chiplun Taluka of the Ratnagiri District. The genea ogy of this family, as recorded here, is as follows :—

from the earliest home to other parts of the Maharashtra or outside. The study of surnames is further rendered difficult by the early Maratha practice of using only the name of the person and his father without the use of the surname, unlike the present practice of using the names of the person and his father together with his surname in each case.

In spite of the tendency to omit surnames we often find the mention of the surname or Upanāma in some late Sanskrit works of the seventeenth and the eighteenth centuries. In accordance with this tendency, which finally became universal in the nineteenth century, we find the surname Rāṇaḍe mentioned by a writer of the seventeenth century in his two rare works, each of which is represented by a single MS only. I shall now record whatever information can be gathered from these two MSS about the personal history of this member of the Rāṇaḍe family belonging to the Shivaji period of the Maratha history and then link it up with other contemporary history as far as possible.

Aufrecht makes the following entries about an author विश्वनाथ भट्ट and his works :—

CC I, 584 — ‘Śṛṅgāravāpikā nāṭikā’ composed by विश्वनाथ भट्ट.

CC I, 661 — ‘शृङ्गारवापिका, nāṭaka by Viśvanātha, IO. 274.’

CC II, 138 — ‘विश्वनाथ भट्ट, son of Mahādeva, son of Viṣṇu, son of Haribhaṭṭa :

Śṛṅgāravāpikā nāṭikā. He wrote this play by desire of King Rāmasinha, son of Jayasinha.’¹

Amritrao, the grandfather of Justice M. G. Ranade, had much interest in Sanskrit learning. He prepared copies of several MSS for his own study. In 1925 the B. O. R. Institute acquired a small collection of MSS from Dr. N. M. Ranade, the son of Justice Ranade. This collection belonged to his father. It is possible to infer that some of these MSS may have been collected by Amritrao Ranade.

1. Vide p. 783 of Madhyayugīna Caritrakośa by S. Chitrav, Poona, 1937 — “ विश्वनाथ भट्ट (about A. D. 1650), author of the drama शृङ्गारवापिका. He was son of Mahādeva and pupil of Dhunḍirāja. He was a Chittapāvana Brahmin, possibly with the surname “Rāṇaḍe.” He wrote the drama by ‘ order of Rāmasinha.”

It appears from the above remarks that the work शम्भुविलास, composed by विश्वनाथभट्ट रानडे, is not known to the M. Caritrakośa.

CC III, 123 — ' Viśvanātha, with the surname Rānaḍe, of the Chittapāvan family :

Śambhuvilāsa Kāvya. '

CC III, 132 — ' शम्भुविलास, kāvya by Viśvanātha, IO. 1148, No. 3850. '

According to Krishnamachariar¹ ' Dhunḍirāja's pupil wrote the nāṭikā Śṛṅgāravāṭīkā on the loves of Candrakeli, King of Avanti, and Kantimati, daughter of Campāvati. '

The India Office MS of the Śambhuvilāsa is described by Dr. Eggeling as follows on p. 1446 of IO. MSS Cata., VII (1904), No. 3850 (1148c) :—

' Foll. 19 ; size 9 in. by 4 in. ; good Devanāgarī handwriting of 1719 A. D. ; eight lines in a page.

Śambhuvilāsa, a devotional poem in honour of Śiva, in three cantos by Viśvanātha, surnamed Rānaḍa (?), of the Chittapāvana family. '

Viśvanātha refers to himself in two verses in the introductory portion of the Śambhuvilāsa as follows :—

“ श्रीषट्केन समन्वितं प्रथमतो नत्वा गुरुं बुद्धिं
विभ्रम्भसपा(प)रायणं च हृदये ध्यात्वा गणाधीश्वरं ।
नानालंकृतिजातिरीतिमहितं श्रीविश्वनाथः कविः
काव्यं शम्भुविलासनाम कुरुते संख्यावतां प्रीतये ॥ १ ॥ ”

1. Classical Sanskrit Literature, 1937, p. 661 — Viśvanātha Bhaṭṭa Rānaḍe mentions one धुण्डिराज as his guru. Krishnamachariar refers to the descendants of a धुण्डिराज. These are as follows :—

धुण्डिराज (probably same as व्यासयज्वन्—A. D. 1713).

son
बालकृष्ण

son
शङ्कर (दीक्षित)

wrote the play प्रद्युम्नविजय for Sabhasundara Raja of Pannah, grandson of Chitrāsāl of Bundelkhand.

On p. 245 Krishnamachariar observes : ' धुण्डिराज व्यासयज्वन्, son of Lakṣmaṇa, composed a comm. on मुद्राराक्षस in 1713 A. D. probably at the direction of King Śarbhoji (of Tanjore). '

The identity of धुण्डिराज, the guru of विश्वनाथ मट्ट (Rānaḍe), with धुण्डिराज व्यासयज्वन् of A. D. 1713 needs to be proved on independent evidence, if it is suggested by Krishnamachariar.

“यात्वा मानसपूजनं च विधिवत्कृत्वा कविब्राह्मणः
श्लोकान्विश्वगुरोः पुरोऽपठदिमाश्रीविश्वनाथो निजान् ।”

Canto I consists of 40 stanzas, II of 80 stanzas, and III of 14 stanzas. At the end of Canto II the following date of copy is recorded :—

“संवत् १७७६^१ माघ-शुदि-त्रयोदशी भौमवासरे लि० ॥ उद्धवजी नागेश ।”

The MS ends as follows :—

“इति श्रीचित्तपावनजातीय रानडोपनामक कविश्रीविश्वनाथकृते श्रीशंभु- विलास शेषनाम चाव्ये [० विलासाख्ये काव्ये I, II.] तृतीयः सर्गः ।”

It is clear from the above lines that विश्वनाथ was a Chitta-pāvan Brahmin of the surname रानडे who had migrated to Benares for spiritual reasons (ब्रह्म हृदि स्मरन्) after having realized the futility of existence (ज्ञात्वा प्रपंचं मृषा).² These reasons are stated by him in verse 14 of Canto III which precedes the above colophon and reads as follows :—

“भुक्त्वा वैषयिकं सुखं कविरसौ स जातबोधस्ततो
इदं स्थावरजंगमात्क(०त्मक)मिदं ज्ञात्वा प्रपंचं मृषा ।
सर्वानंदगृहं परात्परतरं श्रीराजराजेश्वरी-
रूपं ब्रह्म हृदि स्मरन् शिव(व)ने काङ्क्षां स्थितिनिर्ममे ॥ १४ ॥”

Dr. Eggeling has devoted three pages³ to the description of

1. This date corresponds to 11th February, 1720, which is a Thursday according to Ephemeris (vide Indian Ephemeris, Vol. VI, p. 242).

2. In a work called the अद्वैतसुधा (B. O. R. I. MS No. 143 of 1902-07), composed by लक्ष्मणपंडित in A. D. 1662, he states that he migrated to Benares from Maharashtra for spiritual reasons after abandoning all his belongings (दक्षिणदिश्यपास्य श्रियः काङ्क्षामुदासीनमति, etc.). Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa appears to have been a contemporary of Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa Rāṇaḍe and went to Benares for reasons identical with those mentioned by Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa in verse 14 of Canto III of the Śāmbhuvilāsa. Lakṣmaṇa had two preceptors, (1) रामाश्रम and (2) उत्तमश्लोक, like Viśvanāthā's two gurus : (1) कमलाकर and (2) धुण्डिराज.

3. IO. MSS Cata., VII, pp. 1615-1618 — MS No. 4196 (274) —

* Foll. 42, size 11 in. by 4½ in., Devanāgarī Character. Foll. 1-26

the only MS of Viśvanātha's Śṛṅgāravāṭikā. His description pertaining to the author and the subject of the drama is as follows :—

‘ Śṛṅgāravāṭikā (or Śṛṅgāravāṭikā as it is frequently called in the MS), a play (nāṭikā), in four acts by विश्वनाथभट्ट कवि (pupil of धुण्डिराज), son of महादेवभट्ट सूरि, grandson of विष्णुभट्ट कोविद, and great-grandson of हरिभट्ट पंडित of the चित्तपावन family. The subject of the play is the love of the young King of Avanti चन्द्रकेतु and कान्तिमती daughter of King रत्नपाल of चंपावती. ”

In the following verse at the commencement of the play the author bows to this guru Dhunḍirāja :—

“ यच्छिष्ये रचिता जयति जगति ग्रंथा हि ते यान् क्षणं
दृष्ट्वा मस्तकघूर्णनं वितनुते वागीश्वरोऽपि स्वयं ।
तस्मै वैदिकतांत्रिकाध्वरविदे श्रीदुंदिराजाय मे
विश्वेऽस्मिन् स्थिरकीर्तयेऽस्ति गुरवे सद्बुद्धिदात्रे नमः ॥ १ ॥ ”

Evidently Dhunḍirāja had a large following of pupils including our Chittapāvan author. These pupils had composed some works of value, being inspired to do so by their illustrious guru who is called by the epithet ‘ वैदिकतांत्रिकाध्वरविद्. ’

After the above salutation to the guru the Sūtradhāra introduces the author of the play in a long passage which states that the play was written by the order of ‘ महाराजाधिराज-श्रीरामसिंह-महीपाल ’ and then gives us some details about the author's pedigree as follows :—

हरिभट्ट (पंडित) of ‘ चित्तपावन जाती ’
Son

written in a large clear hand, about 1650 A. D.; eight lines in a page. Foll. 27-42 in a smaller slanting hand in 1706 A. D.; twelve lines in a page.’

The introductory passage¹ referred to above calls विश्वनाथ कवि as 'कमलाकरातिवासि', i. e. pupil of कमलाकर. We have already referred to another guru of our author, viz. दुविराज. I believe that कमलाकर, mentioned by our author is identical with कमलाकरभट्ट, the author of Nirṇayasindhu, composed in A. D. 1612, and whose literary activity is assigned by scholars² to the period between A. D. 1610 and A. D. 1640.

The Sūtradhāra next makes a reference to कुमार विष्णुसिंह for whose entertainment रामसिंह महीपाल had ordered the performance of this drama :—

“आये विष्णुसिंहं कुमारं पुरस्कृत्य शृंगारवापिकाभिनयप्रदर्शनार्थं श्रीराम-सिंहमहीपालेनाज्ञप्ताऽस्मि ।”

The play may have been meant not only for prince विष्णुसिंह but for other associate princes as well, as will be seen from the following words of the Sūtradhāra :—

“अद्यासौ बहुमोदतां कविरमी शृंगारवापीं यथा
गाहतां नृपसूनवः³ सुखवशाद्वाग्निर्ब्रजेत्सूक्ष्मतां ।”

1. This passage reads as follows :—

“अद्याहं परममहिमपरमात्मपादपद्मालयद्वन्द्वनिर्द्वन्द्वभक्तिमकरंदास्यादनसदामोदमान-महोदारमनोमिलिदेन० श्रीमहाराजाधिराजश्रीरामसिंह-महीपालेनाज्ञप्ताऽस्मीति । भो भो कमलाकरातिवासिन् (? ०सि-) श्रीविश्वनाथकविविरचिता चंद्रकेतुमहीपालचरित्र-विराजिता शृंगारवापिका नाम नाटिकास्तीत्यस्माभिर्बहुदिनं श्रूयते । तदद्य सुमतिना त्वया सा विस्तीर्णोऽस्मिन्सभामंडपे गीतवाद्याद्यैरभिनेतव्येति । अस्ति च तेन चित्तपावनजातार्थेन निखिलमहाजनसमाजसमानितहरिभट्टपंडितप्रपौत्रेण प्रतिदिनं वेदवेदांतादिसकलशास्त्रा-ध्यापनकृतकालक्षेपणस्य विष्णुभट्टकोविदस्य पौत्रेण निरंतरं श्रौतस्मृतातानुष्ठानपरायणमतिश्री-महादेवभट्ट-सुरिसुनेन श्रीविश्वनाथ (भट्ट marg.) कविना सास्माकमनुग्रहबुद्ध्या पाठिता समर्पिता च ।”

Bernier left him to go to Kasimbazar, while he proceeded to Dacca, etc.' (p. xxviii of Intro. to Vol. I). Tavernier visited a house at Benares which was used as a college for the education of the youth of good families. It was founded by Raja Jaising (father of Rāmsing), the 'most powerful of the idolatrous princes, who was then in the empire of the Great Mogul.' Tavernier 'saw the children of this Prince (Jaising) who were being educated there and had as teachers several Brahmins who taught them to read and write in a language which is reserved to the priests of the idols and is very different from that spoken by the people.' 'Having entered the court of this college being curious to see it and throwing my eyes upwards, I perceived a double gallery which ran all round it, and in the lower one these two princes were seated accompanied by many young nobles and numerous Brahmins who were making different figures like those of mathematics on the ground with chalk. As soon as I entered these princes sent to inquire who I was, and having learnt that I was a Frenchman they invited me to ascend, when they asked me many things about Europe and especially about France. One of the Brahmins had two globes, which the Dutch had given him and I pointed out the position of France upon them. After some conversation of this kind they presented me with betel, etc.'

We are further given by the Sūtradhāra the genealogy of Raja Rāma Simha in several verses.' This genealogy is as follows :—

[The two princes whom Tavernier met are evidently Rāmsing and Kiratsing, the sons of Jaising I. It is possible to suppose that Viśvanātha Rānaḍe may have been one of the Brahmins who educated Ramsing and his brother at the Benares College and later after A. D. 1667, when Ramsing came to the throne, Viśvanātha was asked to compose a drama for Ramsing's son, Viṣṇusimha or Bhishansing].

This genealogy exactly tallies with the genealogy of the Jaipur kings as we find it recorded in the current reference books.¹

As regards the date of composition of the Śṛṅgāravāpikā I have to point out that it must have been composed after the succession² of Rāmsing to the throne of Jaipur as it appears to refer to this succession in the following line :—

1. Vide Mahārāṣṭrīya Jñānaśāstra, Vol. XIII, p. ज (121). Mānsing died in A. D. 1615. Mahāsing came to the throne in A. D. 1620. बिशनासिंग is mentioned as the successor of Rāmsing. After बिशनासिंग Savai Jaising came to the throne in A. D. 1699.

2. Rāmsing came to the throne of Jaipur in A. D. 1667 after the Secondly, it refers to कुमारविष्णुसिंह¹ who was obviously the heir-apparent to the throne and for whose entertainment this play was composed by Viśvanātha by the order of Rāmsing, who is called by the title ‘महाराजाधिराज’ as already noted above. In the following verse² we are told that Rāmsing was served by other Rajput princes like Arjuna (Simha ?), Hindu Simha, Hari Simha Rāvala, Jayat Simha, etc :—

“ वीरैर्जुनहिंसुसिंह सबलानंदोग्रसिंहोद्भट-

यं दृष्ट्वा समरे सपत्नपृतना संत्रस्य भावानथो
धत्तेऽष्टावपि सार्विकान्नववधूतुल्यं प्रगल्भाप्यहो ॥ ”

Students of the history of the Jaipur State will be able to identify the Rajput names mentioned in the above verse.

The later limit to the date of Śṛṅgāravāpikā would be about A. D. 1675 because Rāmsing died about this time.³ It appears, death of his father Mirza Raja Jaising in the month of July 1667 at Burhanpur (vide p. 112 of Chronology of India by Burgess, 1913). Ramsing was ordered to Gawahatti in Assam where he remained till 1675.

Ramsing is supposed to have had a hand in Shivaji's escape from Agra in A. D. 1666 (p. 111).

1. The Īśvaravilāsakāvya (MS No. 273 of 1884-86 — B. O. R. Institute) gives the genealogy of the Jaipur kings in the first canto. According to this genealogy two princes are mentioned after रामसिंह. They are (1) कृष्णसिंह and (2) विष्णुसिंह. The interest of विष्णुसिंह in poetry and music is testified by the following verse on folio 6 of Īśvaravilāsakāvya :—

“ नानाकौतुककाव्यनाटककथासंगीतभर्गोभरै-
र्यस्तावन्मथुरापुरीमधिवसन् भोगश्चकार स्वयं ।
खेलोत्खातखलेति खड्गजबले खंगारपुत्रेऽखिलां

2. Ind. Office Cata., VII, p. 1617.

3. Vide p. 328 of Oriental Biographical Dictionary by Beale London, 1904.—‘RAM SING I.....His son Bishan Singh succeeded him after his death about the year A. D. 1675.’

therefore, that Viśvanāthabhaṭṭa Rāṇaḍe composed his drama Śṛṅgāravāpikā between A. D. 1667 and 1675.¹

The surname 'Rāṇaḍe' of Viśvanātha as also his caste-name चित्तपावन is clearly mentioned by him in the body of the text of the drama Śṛṅgāravāpikā towards the close of the work which reads as follows :—

“ यो जाल्या खलु चित्तपावन इति ख्यातस्तयोपाख्यया
विख्यातो भुवि रानडा इति जडाज्ञानापहानौ कृती ।
तस्य श्रीकवि-विश्वनाथविदुषो (इ) दोषोऽस्मिन्नेषा कृतिः
कुर्याच्चेतसि संमदं बहुविधं संख्यावतां संप्रति ॥ ८९ ॥

इति निष्क्रान्ताः सर्वे ॥ चतुर्थोऽङ्कः ॥ इति श्रीचित्तपावनजातीयरानडयोप-
नामक कवि-विश्वनाथ-भट्टविरचिता शृंगारवापिका नाम नाटिका काव्या परिपूर्णा
संवत् १७६३ समए अगहन वदि अष्टमी । ”

The above MS of this drama, dated A. D. 1707, is the earliest dated MS of the work. Whether Viśvanātha composed any other works I cannot say at present. It is for the present Rāṇaḍe families to see if they can identify Viśvanātha and his three ancestors, whose names he has recorded in the drama before us. It is also a matter for investigation whether Viśvanātha had any sons and whether his descendant is represented in the living Rāṇaḍe families in the Maharashtra or outside. I have pointed out earlier in this paper a Rāṇaḍe family residing near Devagad in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay presidency. It is not improbable that Viśvanātha's ancestors, viz. father महादेव, grandfather विष्णु and great-grandfather हरि had their home in the Ratnagiri District and may have been connected with the contemporary Rāṇaḍe family residing near Devagad between A. D. 1603 and 1675.

1. Vide p. 110 of Beale's Dictionary of Ori. Biography — Bishan Singh (= विष्णुसिंह mentioned as कुमार by Viśvanātha) was the son of Ramsing and father of Sewai Jaising. Bishun Singh died about the year A. D. 1693 (A. H. 1105)

From the Hindi MSS Report (for 1909-1911), Allahabad, 1914, pp. 16-17, we learn that Kulapati Miśra composed his द्रोणपर्व भाषा or a metrical version of the Droṇaparvan of the Mahābhārata in A. D. 1676 under the patronage of Ramsing of Jaipur. In the Beale's Dictionary of Ori. Biography (p. 328) we are told that Ramsing died about A. D. 1675. This date conflicts with the date of composition of Kulapati Miśra's work composed under Rāmsing's patronage,

A court-poet of Sevai Jaising, who had close knowledge of the ancestry of Jaipur princes, has given us a fine description of Rāmsing's interest in literature. This poet is Kṛṣṇa Kavi who in his Īśvarvilāsakāvya (composed about A. D. 1744) refers to Rāmsing I as follows :—

I shall now record the chronology of Viśvanātha Mahādeva

1. सेवा and सुभा in verse 40 are Shivaji and Sambhaji respectively. Rāmsing had a hand in their escape from Agra. After Jaising's death in A. D. 1667 Rāmsing was made governor of Assam (verse 41). Rāmsing's love of literature is described in verse 42. It was this love of नाटक and प्रहसन that evidently encouraged विश्वनाथ रानडे to compose शृंगारवापिका.

Rāṇaḍe, his contemporaries and predecessors as far as could be reconstructed from the data recorded in this paper :—

- A. D.
- 1600 ... The great-grandfather of Viśvanātha (=VMR) probably lived at this time. His name was हरिभट्ट as recorded by VMR.
- 1612 ... Kamalākarabhaṭṭa composed his Nirṇayasindhu. VMR is called the pupil of Kamalākara (कमलाकरान्तैवासी).
- 1625 ... विष्णुभट्ट, the grandfather of VMR was possibly living at this time.
- 1633 ... One Gopālabhaṭṭa Rāṇaḍe was living at Jamasade near Devagad in the Ratnagiri District of the Bombay Presidency. He was contemporary of Viṣṇubhaṭṭa Rāṇaḍe, the grandfather of VMR.
- 1610–1640 Period of the literary activity of Kamalākara, the author of Nirṇayasindhu.
- c. 1640 ... Probable time of the contact of VMR with his guru Kamlākara at Benares.
- 1660 ... One Rogbhaṭ Rāṇaḍe living near Devagad (Ratnagiri District).
- 1666 ... Tavernier meets the two sons of Mirza Raja Jaising at a Benares College. One of them was Rāmsing.
- 1667 ... Death of Mirza Raja Jaysing, the father of VMR's patron Rāmsing.
- 1667 ... Rāmsing came to the throne of Jaipur. He had a hand in Shivaji's escape from Agra in A. D. 1666.
- c. 1675–76 Death of Rāmsing according to some sources.
- 1667–1683¹ Contact of VMR with Raja Rāmsing and composition of Śṛṅgāravāṭikā for Prince Viṣṇusimha.

1. After this paper was drafted I had occasion to read Roa Bahadur G. S. Sardesai's paper in the P. V. Kane Volume (1941) on "An Unkown but Daring Project of King Sambhaji," pp. 390–394. This paper refers to two Sanskrit letters of Sambhaji to Raja Rāmsing of Jaipur addressed in A. D. 1683. One of these letters is dated c. 1682. This date clearly shows that Rāmsing did not die c. 1675.

- 1676 ... Kulapati Miśra composed his Droṇaparva under the patronage of Rāmsing.
 1682 ... Sanskrit letter of Sambhaji to Rāmsing.
 1693 ... Death of Viṣṇusimha (or Bishansing), father of Sewai Jaising (A. D. 1699-1744).
 1706 ... Date of India Office MS:of Śṛṅgāravāṭikā by VMR.
 1720 ... Date of India Office MS of Śambhuvilāsa by VMR.

as stated in Oriental Biographical Dictionary (p. 328) but that he was living in A. D. 1682. Viśvanātha Rānaḍe mentions कुमार विष्णुसिंह and also states that he composed his work for this prince by order of Rāmsing. Rao Bahadur Sardesai says (in his footnote on p. 391 of his paper) that Krishna Singh or Kisan Singh was the only son of Rāmsing. This son was put to death at about the age of 19 near Parenda on 18th April, 1682, by Aurangzeb for complicity with his rebel son Akbar. Sambhaji mentions 'कुमार कृष्णसिंह' in his letter to Rāmsing referred to above. He also mentions 'हाडा दुर्जनसिंह' who rose against Aurangzeb and was later killed in a fight. Viśvanātha Rānaḍe also mentions 'अर्जुन दिंदुसिंह'. Is he identical with 'हाडा दुर्जनसिंह'? Without a reliable history of Jaipur, based on contemporary sources, I find it difficult to deal with these names.

35. Prabhākarabhaṭṭa, the Brother of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa, the Guru of Sevai Jaising of Amber *

I have reconstructed elsewhere¹ the genealogy of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa, the author of the celebrated work on Dharmaśāstra called the Jayasimhakaḥpadrūma. In this genealogy occurs the name of Prabhākarabhaṭṭa who was the brother of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa. According to the testimony of the Īśvaravilāsa-kāvya of Kṛṣṇakavi composed about 1744 A. D., Prabhākarabhaṭṭa was a habitual resident of Mathura though his son Vrajanātha resided at Jaipur in company of Maharaja Sevai Jaising. It appears that Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa's family had a Deccani origin² and it is possible to suppose

1. Vide my article on 'The Aśvamedha performed by Sevai Jaising of Amber (1699-1744 A. D.)' in the Poona Orientalist, Vol. II, p. 174. The genealogy of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa as reconstructed by me on the evidence of MSS is as follows :—

Devabhaṭṭa (Surname Mahā- śabda — of Śaṇḍilya Gotra)	→	—Prabhākara— (A. D. 1734)	→	—Vrajanātha (A. D. 1755)

				(after 1788 A.D.)

My friend Pandit Hari Narayan Purohit, B. A. of Jaipur informs me in a private communication dated 12-9-1938 that there is a grand building and garden at Jaipur which once belonged to Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa, the guru of Sevai Jaising. The descendants of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa are still living at Jaipur. His library of rare MSS or rather a portion of it that survived was added to the Private Library of H. H. the Maharaja of Jaipur. I may suggest that a Manuscripts Library in the name of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa should be opened by the Jaipur Darbar as a permanent memorial of the spiritual and religious association of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa with Maharaja Sevai Jaising, which brought about a revival of Hindu religion in his reign.

2. Vide p. 170, Poona Orientalist, Vol. II. My reasons for proving the the Deccani origin of this family are as follows :—

that his father or grandfather may have migrated from the Deccan first to Benares and thence to Jaipur.

Though in my previous papers I have gathered some information about Ratnākarabhaṭṭa and Vrajanātha (his nephew) I could not get any information about Vrajanātha's father, viz. Prabhākara-bhaṭṭa beyond the fact that he was a resident of Mathura ('Mathuraikavāsi') and that his son Vrajanātha was a follower of Vallabhācārya.¹ The very names Vrajanātha and his brother Gokulanātha indicate the influence of Prabhākara-bhaṭṭa's residence at Mathura.

The influence of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa on Maharaja Sevai Jaising appears to have been very great as he was his guru. It is, however, interesting to find that even his nephew Vrajanātha and his brother Prabhākara-bhaṭṭa had much to do with the course of political events during the reign of Sevai Jaising. In fact they were his advisers on important matters of state and in diplomatic negotiations. These remarks can be substantiated by a contemporary letter dated 16th August, 1734,² from an agent of the

(1) In the Īśvaravilāsakāvya Ratnākarabhaṭṭa is called 'Ṛgvedi' (fol. 37 of MS No 273 of 1883-84. — B. O. R. Institute MSS Library) verse 8.

(2) The gotra of this family was 'Śāṇḍilya' as stated by Ratnākarabhaṭṭa in verse 27 of the Jayasimhakaḷpadruma (fol. 4 of B. O. R. I. MS 253 of 1887-91).

(3) The family deity was 'Rāmacandra' as Ratnākarabhaṭṭa calls himself 'Rāmāṅghripravaṇa'. (Vide verse 27 of Jayasimhakaḷpadruma referred to above.)

(4) The surname of the family was 'Mahāśabda' which is equal to 'Mahāśabde' now current in the Deccan among Ṛgvedi Deśastha Brahmins of Śāṇḍilya gotra. This surname is recorded by Viśveśvara, the great grandson of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa. (Ibid., p. 173).

At Māṅdari in the Bhor State near Poona there is a temple of Rāmacandra, the family deity of the Mahāśabdes belonging to that place.

2. Peshwa Daftar Selections, Vol. XXX, Letter No. 108, dated 16-8-1734. "Babuji Joshi reports Jaising having deputed one Dīnanath to open peace talks with the Peshwa."

Peshwa at Jaipur who reports to his master at Poona as follows :— 'I, Babuji Joshi, in paying my respects to Shrimant Rajeśrī Svāmī (= Peshwa) have to report that owing to the blessings of the Svāmī I (the writer) have fared well up to Śrāvaṇa vadi 14, Friday. It was only yesterday that I received the letter of Dinānāthaji, who returned to Mathura after marriage. Dhondo Govind is at present at Delhi, engaged in carrying out the orders of the Svāmī. His letters will reach you shortly. In particular (I have to state): Dinānāthaji came to Mathura, where Vrjanātha, the purohit of Raje Jaising is staying at present. (In spite of his being a purohit) he holds considerable influence at present.' He has addressed one letter to you and also one letter to me to the effect that Raje (i. e. Sevai Jaising) was very much distressed on account of the molestations to his territory caused by Malharaji Holkar and Rānoji Sinde. He desires to maintain friendly relations (with you) at least in future and for this very purpose Vrjanāthaji pressed Dinānāthaji to stay at Mathura and letters were despatched to us. If, therefore, you are inclined to make an alliance with Raje Jaising kindly arrange to send a letter to Āyāmalji stating that Dinānāthaji has been sent to him as your representative to speak on your behalf. Kindly send one responsible man to us with Dinānāthaji. Exchange of views will thus be facilitated — so much should be stated in your letter. You may also add that you desire to see him personally. In short he is a very influential man and hence it is desirable to make friends with him so that our object may be gained in course of time. Vrjanātha Dīkṣita and his father Prabhākara Dīkṣita have sent a letter to you (Svāmī). After a perusal of that letter kindly reply to them in a gratifying manner.' ²

I have no doubt that Vrjanāth mentioned in the above letter of A. D. 1734 is identical with Vrajanātha, the son of Prabhākara as we know from the Īśvaravilāsakāvya of Kṛṣṇakavi (1744 A. D.). Vrjanātha and his brother Gokulanātha were always in the company of Sevai Jaising (तौ आसौ सनिहितौ नृपस्य निरंतरं शास्त्रकथां दधाने ॥ ९ ॥ प्राज्ञोत्तम श्रीव्रजनाथवक्त्रविनिर्गतां शास्त्रकथामज्जलं। शृण्वन्संविद्वत्समुदायमध्ये धर्मेण कालं सकलं निनाय ॥ १० ॥). Obviously Sevai Jaising enjoyed their company very much on account of his own religiosity and the capacity of Vrajanātha to expound dharma to his royal patron.

2. Ibid.—'वृजनाथ दीक्षित व त्यांचे तीर्थरूप प्रभाकर दीक्षित. यांनी स्वामीस पत्र लिहिले आहे ते पत्र वाचून समाधानपूर्वक उभयतास पत्र व्याहवी'. It appears that Sevai Jaising sent his envoys to Gwalior for negotiating with Peshwa's officers. One of these envoys was a member of the Dīkṣita family. Vide P. D., Vol. XXX, Letter No. 132, dated 'about Sept., 1735'—'नरबरीहुन राजश्री सबाइजी कडील दीक्षित व मुनसी रवालेरीस आहे आहेत.'

My identification of Vrajanātha Dikṣita mentioned in the Peshwa Daftar letter with Vrajanātha the nephew of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa is further supported by the identity of parentage, the father's name Prabhākara being common to both the cases. From Syāma Laṭṭu's *Mādhavasimhāryāsataka*¹ (composed in A. D. 1755) we know that Vrajanātha was patronized by Madhosing, the son of Sevai Jaising twenty-one years after A. D. 1734, the year of the Peshwa Daftar letter of Babuji Joshi. Even in A. D. 1734 Vrajanātha was competent to negotiate an alliance with Dinānāthaji, the Peshwa's representative and to enter into diplomatic correspondence with the Peshwa Bajirao the First, who has been advised by his agent Babuji Joshi to seek his friendship on account of the tremendous personal influence of Vrajanātha over Sevai Jaising. It may, therefore, be reasonable to suppose that in A. D. 1734 Vrajanātha was at least a middle-aged person and that during Madhosing's reign his friendship must have been sought by his royal patron mainly on account of Vrajanātha's personal cordial relations with his father Sevai Jaising, who died in 1744 A. D.

Vrajanātha's father Prabhākara Dikṣita was living in A. D. 1734 and must have been an elderly person claiming much respect from Sevai Jaising on account of his being the brother of his guru Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa who composed his Jayasimhakaḷpadruma in A. D. 1713 by the order of Sevai Jaising. It is difficult to say anything about the date of death of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa for want of evidence though a conjecture may be warranted that he may then have been living in a very advanced state of old age leaving his work to his brother Prabhākara and nephew Vrajanātha, both competent to advise Sevai Jaising in religious and political matters as indicated by Babuji Joshi's letter of A. D. 1734.

I believe my present paper which links up Kṛṣṇakavi's testimony of A. D. 1744 with an earlier contemporary letter in the Peshwa Daftar of A. D. 1734 has to a certain extent revealed the personality of Prabhākara-bhaṭṭa though nothing is as yet known to us about his literary achievements which characterize his son Vrajanātha and his brother Ratnākarabhaṭṭa.

List of Historical Persons mentioned in the Paper.

1. Prabhākarabhaṭṭa — the brother of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa resident of Mathura.
 2. Ratnākarabhaṭṭa — the guru of Sevai Jaising of Amber (A. D. 1699-1744) and author of Jayasinhakalpadruma (composed 1713 A. D.).
 3. Kṛṣṇakavi — Author of the Īśvaravilāsakāvya composed by order of Īśvar Singh, the son of Sevai Jaising about A. D. 1744.
 4. Vrajanātha — Son of Prabhākarabhaṭṭa and nephew of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa. He wrote many works under the patronage of Sevai Jaising and his son Madhosing.
 5. Devabhaṭṭa — Father of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa, resident of Benares. His gotra was Śaṇḍilya. ' Mahāśabda ' was his surname. His family deity was god Rāmacandra. He appears to have been a Deccani Brahmin of the Ṛgvedi Śākhā.
 6. Gokulanātha — Son of Prabhākarabhaṭṭa.
 7. Gaṅgārāma — Son of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa.
 8. Rāmeśvara — Son of Gaṅgārāma and father of Viśveśvara-Bhaṭṭa Mahāśabda.
 9. Viśveśvarabhaṭṭa :— Great grandson of Ratnākarabhaṭṭa.
 10. Babuji Joshi — An agent of the Peshwa Bajirao I at Jaipur (August 1734).
 11. Dinānātha — Representative of the Peshwa Bajirao I at Jaipur in the matter of a friendly alliance with Sevai Jaising.

36. Kṛṣṇa Kavi, the Author of Īśvaravilāsa Kāvya — His Works and Descendants, Between A. D. 1669 and 1760 *

In my papers¹ on the Aśvamedha performed by Maharaja Sevai Jaising of Amber I have made use of a contemporary kāvya called the *Īśvaravilāsakāvya*² composed by Kṛṣṇakavi, a court-poet of Sevai Jaising, by the order of Īśvarasing about A. D. 1744. Copies of my papers in question were sent to the late Rai Bahadur Dayaram Sahani, Director of Archaeological Researches at Jaipur and to Pandit Hari Narayan Purohit³ of Jaipur as both these scholars were keenly interested in these papers and made proper use of them. Sahani made use of my papers in identifying a sacrificial post⁴ at Jaipur which he has proved to be the relic of the Aśvamedha referred to above. Pandit Hari Narayan put me in touch with an illustrious descendant of Kṛṣṇa Kavi, the author of the Īśvaravilāsa Kāvya. This descendant is no other than Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha, the author of several Sanskrit and Hindi works⁵ and now working as Professor of Sanskrit and Hindi in the Maharaja College at Jaipur. On the title-page of his Sāhityavai-bhavam Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha describes himself as “तैलङ्गान्ववायसुधा-सागरसमुत्थश्रीलक्ष्मीकृष्णमिथानकाविकलानिधिवंशजेन (कृतं साहित्यवैभवम्)” and then in an Appendix to this work called the वंशवृत्ति pp. 525 to 648) he records every possible information regarding the history of his family in detail. This history is divided into two parts :— (1) a metrical account of his family¹ called कुलप्रबंध in 132 stanzas composed by one of his ancestors viz. हरिहरभट्ट¹ who is referred to by Kṛṣṇa Kavi in Iṣṭavaravilāsa kāvya and (2) वंशपरिचय in Sanskrit prepared by Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha himself on the basis of sources for the history of his family available with him. The Kulaprabandha is very important as it gives us the history of this Tailanga Brahmin family upto A. D. 1700 or so. Harihara's father Rāmakṛṣṇa was in favour of Raja Ramsing² and was the guru³ of Kṛṣṇa Sinha. Rāmakṛṣṇa was the son of वैशीधर and brother of नारायण, who was a pupil of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāya⁴ but unfortunately his life was a short-lived one.

The family of Kṛṣṇakavi belonged to गौतम *gotra*⁵ according to the Kulaprabandha (= KP). The original ancestor of the family was one बाबीजादाक्षित⁶ who migrated to Kāśī or Benares from

1. On p. 563 of the Sāhityavaibhavam we find the verse referring to हरिहरभट्ट :—

“श्रीरामसिंहस्तनयस्तदीयः । श्रीरामकृष्णं रमयांबभूव ॥ ११२ ॥”

3. Verse 114 of कुलप्रबंध states :—

“गुरुवत्कृष्णसिंहेन रामकृष्णोऽथ मानितः”

Harihara refers to his father रामकृष्ण in verse 123 of कुलप्रबंध as follows :—

हरिहर इति नाम्ना रामकृष्णात्मजोऽयं

But for Harihara's कुलप्रबंध the history of this illustrious family would have remained a sealed book to us.

It shows that Kṛṣṇa Kavi and Harihara the author of the KP were contemporary cousins. In fact as Kṛṣṇa Kavi refers to Harihara, his cousin, in the beginning of the Īśvara-vilāsa we find Harihara referring to Kṛṣṇa Kavi in the KP with admiration for the latter's poetic abilities and wishes him long life and prosperity.⁴ Rāmakiṣṇa, the father of Harihara, enjoyed royal

According to Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha Kṛṣṇa Kavi was born in Saṃvat 1725 = A. D. 1669 and died after Saṃvat 1800 = A. D. 1744. If these dates are correct Kṛṣṇa Kavi was about 75 years old in A. D. 1744; but as he was patronized by Išvara Sing and Madho Sing he may have reached a fair old age. Madho Sing came to the throne of Jaipur about A. D. 1751 after the struggle for the throne lasting for 5-6 years and after the suicide under tragic circumstances by Išvara Sing. The B. O. R. I. copy of the work Sundarīstavarāja is dated Saṃvat 1816 i.e. A. D. 1769. If Kṛṣṇa Kavi died after A. D. 1744-45, the above copy was made about 15 years after this date in A. D. 1760 when the age of Kṛṣṇa Kavi would have been 91 years. Perhaps he died a little earlier than A. D. 1760, the date of the B. O. R. I. MS of the Sundarīstavarāja in which he is called "कविकोविदकलानिधि." Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha states on the authority of a Hindi work¹ that the title काव्यकलानिधि² was conferred on Kṛṣṇa Kavi by Sevai Jaising.

An account of the Hindi works of Kṛṣṇa Kavi may have already been given in the histories of Hindi literature but as I am not conversant with them I would like to note here only some MSS of Kṛṣṇa Kavi makes a reference to his deceased father लक्ष्मण in the following extract of his Padyamuktāvali :—

(Sāhityavaibhavam p. 557) —

Besides the title “कविकलानिधि” conferred on Kṛṣṇa Kavi by Sevai Jai sing he also obtained the title रामरासाचार्य from this King in appreciation of the poet's work “रामरासा.” Madhosing gave Kṛṣṇa Kavi one village¹ (1) कर्मपुर and (2) in हथरोही village, land measuring 100 bighas. In the पद्यमुक्तावली Kṛṣṇa Kavi expresses his gratitude to Madhosing in the following verse :—

(Sāhityavaibhavam, p. 564) —

Kṛṣṇa Kavi appears to have wandered in different parts of India. His contact with Malwa is echoed in some parts of his Padyamuktāvali.² In his poem Īśvaravilāsa he describes the foundation of Brahmapuri by Sevai Jai sing and the god Gaṇeśa at Ganeśagadh in Brahmapuri.³ He also refers to the foundation of modern Jaipur by Sevai Jai sing in A. D. 1728¹ in his Padya-muktāvali, which appears to have been composed after A. D. 1751, when Madho Sing came to the throne. Kṛṣṇa Kavi's work Durgābhakatitarāṅgiṇi may have been composed at Bharatpur before his contact with King Budha Simha of Bundi, who came to the throne in A. D. 1707. An echo of this contact of our poet with Bharatpur is found in the *Padyamuktāvali*² which refers to king Sūryamalla of Bharatpur. One Audumbarabhaṭṭa was a rival of Kṛṣṇa Kavi as we find from a contemptuous reference to him in one of his verses.³ Elsewhere we find a reflection of our poet's sense of self-confidence and self-respect, which was characteristic of the poet Bhavabhūti of old.⁴ In fact the poet was determined to pass his last days at Vṛndāvana after the tragic suicide of Śvara Sing in A. D. 1751 but on account of the pressing request of Madho Sing he remained at the Jaipur Court.⁵

An accurate estimate' of our poet's learning and poetic abilities has already been given by Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha who is himself a Sanskrit poet of no mean order and hence I need not enter into this aspect of my study, which is merely confined to Kṛṣṇa Kavi's life and works as disclosed by his own works and contemporary history.

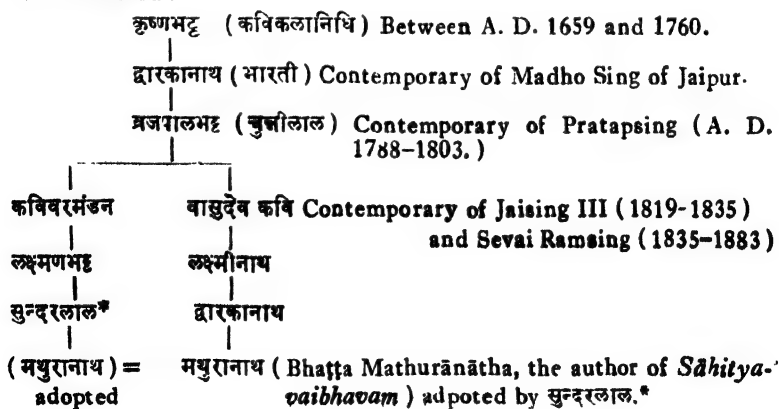

So far I have dealt with the ancestry of our poet as recorded in the Kulaprabandha of Harihara Kavi, a cousin of the poet. Bhaṭṭa Mathurānātha has given us the genealogy of Kṛṣṇa Kavi's descendants and their lives in the Vamśavīthi which closes with an account of his own life up to date.² We need not, therefore, deal with it here.

37. Some contemporary Evidence regarding the Aśvamedha Sacrifice performed by Sewai Jayasing of Amber (1699-1744 A. D.) *

In an article¹ on “Sewai Jayasingh of Amber, A. D. 1699-1743 ” Mr. Dines Chandra Sircar states :—

“ I am going to show that Sewai Jaising most probably did not celebrate any Aśvamedha and that he was certainly not a vassal² of the Mughal emperors of Delhi during the later years of his reign.”³

He further concludes his article with the remarks: “ We therefore, hold that the suggestions that Sewai Jayasing of Amber performed a horse sacrifice and that he was a feudatory of the Mughal emperors all through his life (or at the time of celebrating

2. Vide Peshwā Daftar Selection No. 14 (Maratha Conquests in the North) Letter No. 39, dated 21st October, 1735 — This is a news letter received at Satara from the Maratha agent, Mayaram at Delhi and communicated to the Peshwa. It mentions the Plans of the Emperor to oppose the encroachments of the Marathas. It states further :— “ The Mogul Emperor (pātashah) is displeased with Jaya Singh because he made an alliance with the troops of the enemy (i.e. the Marathas) by paying them some money.

Another letter in the Peshwā Daftar (selection 9, Letter No. 16, dated April, 1736 ?) from Narayan Dikshit Patankar to Bajirao Ballal advises the latter to perform religious sacrifices (while at Jaipur) only through Deccani priests. It further states :— “ I hear that you have gone to Jayanagar this year...the Raja (viz., Jaya Singh) is very tricky (pratāraka). He will press you to perform Agnihotra or sacrifices but please tell him that you are unable to do so without the command of your guru.....If, however, you are constrained to respect his pressing request I am sending priests (to help you to perform these sacrifices) etc. ”.

the supposed Aśvamédha) are both inadmissible. (Some points in this note were suggested to the author by Prof. H. C. Ray Chaudhari).”

It is for students of history proper to see how far the conclusion reached by Mr. Sircar regarding the Aśvamedha sacrifice is tenable. I shall, however, record here the following evidence which definitely contradicts Mr. Sircar's conclusion that Sewai Jayasingh did not perform the Aśvamedha sacrifice.

I think the testimony of a court-poet of the Jaipur State will have to be considered with some respect to decide the point at issue. Such testimony is fortunately available in a historical poem called the Īśvaravilāsa Kāvya,¹ which was written by order of Īśvara Singh, the son of Sewai Jayasingh of Jaypur, the subject of Mr. Sircar's note referred to above. The following verse 13 of Chapter I of the Īśvaravilāsa Kāvya, supports my statement :—

“ आज्ञातः श्रीसवाईश्वरधरणिपतेः शसभूरिप्रमोदः
संप्राप्तोऽसाहकश्रीहरिहरसुकवे संशयं संशयघ्नं ।
काव्यं नव्यं सुभव्यं भुवि रचयति यः प्रीतये पंडितानां
सोऽयं श्री कृष्णहार्मा कृतमति नमति श्री गुरोरंत्रिपन्नं ॥ १३ ॥ ”

It is, therefore, clear that Kṛṣṇa Kavi was the court-poet of the Jaypur State about A. D. 1743-44 and even earlier. He composed the poem under reference at the time of the coronation of Īśvara Singh under an express order from this prince as stated in verse 34 of chapter X which reads as follows :—

“ तत्रैव राज्यतिलकोत्सव एष राजा
श्री कृष्णभट्टकवे कुरु काव्यमेकं ।
अस्मत्कुलक्रमकथाकथनाभिरामं
इत्याज्ञया सह ददौ सुमहाप्रसादं ॥ ३४ ॥ ”

The poet was duly rewarded for composing this poem and a village was granted to him. This village was situated near Hiranyapura. It appears that this court-poet was present at the Aśvamedha sacrifice performed by Sewai Jayasingh. He was one of the two Brahmans entrusted with the work of singing the praise of the Yajamāna who was no other than Sewai Jayasingh himself as stated in verse 22 of chapter V which deals with अश्वमेधवर्णन or description of the Aśvamedha sacrifice :—

1. The only MS of this poem is No. 273 of 1884-86 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona.

“ द्वौ वीणागायिनौ विप्रौ श्रीकृष्णकविलक्ष्मणौ ।

राजर्षिभिः समं तत्र यजमानमगायताम् ॥ २२ ॥ ”

Chapter IV of this poem deals with वाजिमेधारंभ or the preparations of this Aśvamedha sacrifice while the next chapter V deals with the detailed description of the sacrifice. Brahmins wearing red turbans stalked in the sacrificial maṇḍapa distributing blessings to the Yajamāna :—

“ विरेजुर्लोहितोष्णीषाः प्रचरंतो मखे द्विजाः ।

राज्ञेऽस्मै यजमानाय दायमानाः शुभाशिषः ॥ २४ ॥ ”

A beautiful picture of the Yajamāna, Sewai Jayasingh, is given by the poet in the following lines :—

“ तत्र धौततमे सूक्ष्मे वाससी विमले वहन् ।

कृष्णाजिनधरः स्कंधे मृगशृंगं करे दधत् ॥ ३७ ॥

अश्वमेधमखे दीक्षां बिभ्रत्परमदुर्लभां ।

महाभाग्यवतामीशो पारपौरुषसारभृत् ॥ ३८ ॥

शिखासूत्रधरोदारं दीप्तिराजर्षिसंस्तुतः ।

साक्षाद्धर्मावतारोऽसौ यजमानोऽव्यराजत ॥ ३९ ॥ ”

The Yajamāna had his sacrificial bath in the waters of the Mānasāgara lake :—

“ नानातीर्थशतानीता नीरनिक्षेपभासुरे ।

मानसागरतोयेषु चकारावभृथं नृपः ॥ ५१ ॥ ”

In verse 8 of chapter III Sewai Jayasingh is called “ वाजिम-खयाजिभूपति. ” In verse 23 of chapter IV we are told that Sewai Jayasingh announced his intention of performing an Aśvamedha sacrifice “ अतः परं कर्तुमनाः किलास्मि भवत्प्रसादादहमश्वमेधं ” and sent letters to learned Brahmins of Benares to that effect “ चक्रेऽधिवा-राणसिपत्रलेखं महामहापंडितराजचक्रे ” (verse 28). The sacrificial maṇḍapa was erected on the banks of the lake Mānasāgara as stated in the closing verse of the chapter called वाजिमेधारंभ :—

“ पूर्वं मानक्षितिपतिकृतेः सागरस्य प्रतीरे ।

राज्ञा तेन व्यरन्धि विभवैर्मंडितो यज्ञवाटः ॥ ”

The date of Sewai Jayasingh's death is recorded by Kṛṣṇa Kavi in verse 11 of chapter X :—

“ वर्षे सोष्टादशशततमे विक्रमार्कस्य शाके
मासे चैवाश्विननिगदिते शुक्लभूतादिने च ।
प्रातःकाले हृदयकमलानीतगोविन्ददेवो
देवो देवोपमगतिरसुम्प्रोग्यतस्मिन्विलिख्ये ॥ ११ ॥ ”

The date recorded in the above verse tallies in material particulars with the date of Sewai Jayasingh's death as given in *Vīra-vinoda*¹ viz., 14th day of the bright half of Aśvina, 1800 Vikrama Samvat ” which corresponds to *Tuesday, 9th October, 1744 A. D.*²

In view of Kṛṣṇa Kavi's testimony regarding the performance of the Aśvamedha sacrifice I find it difficult to agree in the opinion expressed by Mr. Dines Chandra Sirkar that Sewai Jayasingh did not perform the Aśvamedha sacrifice. Mr. Sircar states: “ If he (Sewai Jayasingh) performed any Aśvamedha at all he might have done it after 1739 and before 1743. ” Presuming this statement to be correct I would like to point out that the difference between the date of composition of the Īśvaraviṭāsa Kāvya and the date of the performance of the Aśvamedha sacrifice would not be greater than 5 years and consequently the testimony of Kṛṣṇa Kavi regarding the performance of the Aśvamédha sacrifice and its graphic description as indicated above, will have to be regarded with some respect as it is a contemporary piece of evidence. Secondly, Kṛṣṇa Kavi was himself present at the sacrifice as stated by him.

38. The Aśvamedha performed by Sevai Jayasing of Amber (1699 – 1744 A. D.)*

In my article published in the Journal of Indian History,¹ Madras, I produced contemporary evidence to contradict the suggestion of Dr. Dinesh Chandra Sarkar that “Sevai Jayasing most probably did not celebrate any Aśvamedha.” Since the publication of my paper I have come across some more documentary evidence of an anthology called the Padyatarāṅgiṇī,³ MSS² of which are available in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. This evidence corroborates the evidence already recorded by me proving beyond all doubt the performance of the Aśvamedha by Sevai Jayasing. I shall refer in this paper to the MS of the Padyatarāṅgiṇī viz. No. 725 of 1886-92 acquired by Peterson³ for the Govt. of Bombay. The work was composed by

2. There are in all three MSS of this anthology recorded by Aufrecht in his Catalogus Catalogorum. They are identical with the following MSS in the Government MSS Library :—

(i) No. 725 of 1886-92 — Text with author's own commentary on the 102 anyokti verses of the text. The commentary is called “अन्योक्तिपद्यभावप्रकाश” in the colophon on folio 23 of the MS. The MS contains 37 verses styled as “नृपतिवंशवर्णन” plus an additional verse recording the date of composition viz. the year 1809 (Samvat) — folios 28.

(ii) No. 724 of 1886-92 — Same as above — folios 25.

(iii) No. 421 of 1887-91 — Contains text and commentary but does not contain the verse of the chronogram as also the 37 verses regarding “नृपतिवंशवर्णन.” It ends as follows :— “सती मार्गसीरसु शुक्ल ॥ १३ ॥ संवत् ॥ १८५१ ॥ पुस्तक लालामयुराकिशोरजीने लिखी आत्मपठनार्थ जयनगर-मध्ये श्रीविजेगोविंदमंदिरे ”

I am thankful to Dr. Hara Datta Sharma, M.A., Ph.D., for drawing my attention to the references to हयमेध in the above anthology.

Vrajanātha' to please Mādhava or Madhosing, son of Sevai Jayasing,² on Sunday, Ekādaśī, month of Pauṣa of the year 1809 which corresponds to 14th January 1753.³ Verses 1 to 37 at the end of the work are devoted to the praise of Jayasing and his son Madhosing = Mādhava. In particular verses 1 to 10 deal directly with Sevai Jayasing and the sacrifice performed by him. I shall, therefore, reproduce them here to acquaint the reader with their contents and their bearing on the question at issue viz. the Aśvamedha sacrifice commonly attributed to Sevai Jayasing. These verses read as under :—

हरिकृष्णमिश्र mentions जयसिंहकल्पद्रुम (Composed in A. D. 1713) on folio 21 of the MS of वैदिकवैष्णवसदाचार. He appears to be identical with हरिकृष्णशर्मा, a Karnāṭaka Brahmin who attended the Aśvamedha of Sevai Jayasing as stated by कृष्ण कवि in Chap. IV (वाजिमैधारम्) verse 41 of ईश्वरविलासकाव्य (MS No. 273 of 1884-86). This verse reads as follows :—

The mention of तुरंगमेध (v. 3) and of हयमेध (verses 4 and 5) by Vrajanātha in A. D. 1753 will settle once for all the doubts of historians regarding the performance of the Aśvamedha sacrifice by Sevai Jayasing. The explicit statement of Vrajanātha that Jayasimha performed the hayamedha according to Vedic injunctions (“ वेदोदितेन विधिना हयमेधम्... चक्रे ”) is another direct contemporary testimony of a writer connected with the Jaipur court in 1753 A.D. and it would be worthwhile recording in this paper some information about this writer furnished by contemporary records.

A poem in praise of King Mādhava Simha = Madhosing, son of Sevai Jayasing, was composed by one Śyāma Latṭū in Śaka 1677 (= A. D. 1755) i.e. two years after the composition of Vrajanātha's Padyataranginī. The title of this poem is Mādhava-simhāryā-Śataka.¹ It mentions the names of several learned men who flourished at Jaipur during the reign of Madho Sing. They are :— Gaṅgārāma (v. 122), Rāmeśvara (v. 123), Gopīnātha (v. 124), Viśvanātha (v. 124), Vrajanātha (v. 125), Sudhākara Śarmā (v. 126), Yamunākara Śarmā (v. 127), Haridatta Śarmā (v. 128), Kevalārāma (v. 129); Sadāśiva Śarmā (v. 130), Ravidatta Śarmā (v. 131), and Śaṅkaradatta (v. 132), who was perhaps a Mahārāṣṭra Brahmin (महाराष्ट्री ज्ञातिर्यस्येपासर्वविख्याता — ” v. 133). The verse which describes व्रजनाथ reads as follows :—

 सुकलितदृढतरभक्तिर्जयपुरनगरे पुराधीशे ॥ १२५ ॥ ”

The statement made in the above verse that Vrajanātha was strongly attached to Madhosing² is proved by the composition of Vide Peshwa Daftar XXI — Letter.No. 38 dated 25th January, 1751 — Govind Ballal reports to the Peshwa that Jayaji Scindia and Malharrao Holkar left Jaipur after seating Madhosing on the Jaipur throne. Vide also Peshwa Daftar II, Letter No. 31, dated 21st February, 1751, which mentions the “ horrid murders perpetrated

More information about the family of Vrajanātha is supplied to us by Kṛṣṇakavi the author of the Īśvaravilāsakāvya, only one MS of which is available in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona viz. No. 273 of 1883-84. In chapter X of this historical kāvya we get the following verses regarding Vrajanātha Śarmā and other members of his family :—

Folio 37 —

“ धुरंधरे राज्यधुरं समस्तं पुत्रे निधायेश्वरसिंघनाम्नि ।

The above verses explicitly tell us that Sevai Jayasing entrusted the administration of the state to his son Īśvarasingh (v. 5). He then spent his time in devotional duties towards God Govinda (v. 6). In the whole assembly of pandits at his Court there was always by his side one Vrajanātha Śarmā, who was the son of the brother of his guru and who was very much respected on account of his deep learning. Vrajanātha had performed a Pauṇupon the Maratha forces by orders of Madhosing.” In an earlier letter (No. 29 dated 15 Feb. 1751) Madhosing is styled “दुर्बुद्धि” or wicked and “विश्वासघातकी” or treacherous.

1. In the colophons of the MSS of Jayasimhakaḥpadrūma compiled by Ratnākara, the author is called “देवमट्टात्मजपौंडरीकयाजिरत्नाकर” (See MS No. 253 of 1887-91, folio 193).

darīka sacrifice. Ratnākara was the guru of the King (Jayasingh). He was an ornament to the line of Ṛgvedi brahmins. He had a brother by name Prabhākara, who always resided at Mathurā (v. 8). One of his sons was Vrajanātha while the other was called Gokulanātha. These two brothers were always at the side of the King expounding to him the meaning of the Śāstras (v. 9). Vrajanātha, who was the wisest among the brahmins personally expounded the Śāstras to the King almost without a break and in this manner the King passed his entire time in the company of the learned, listening to the Śāstras and acting according to dharma (v. 10).

After the tragic end of Īśvarasingh,¹ Vrajanātha appears to have transferred his loyalty and attachment from Sevai Jayasingh to his other son Madhosingh as evidenced by the composition of the work Padyatarangiṇī referred to above which was definitely

1. Vide Peshwa Daftar II, (p. 53) Letter No. 31 dated 21st February 1751. This is an important news letter addressed to Govindpant Bundele by his accountant Baburao Vishnu, from the camp of Malharrao Holkar and Jayapa Scinde in the vicinity of Jaipur. This letter of five pages gives a detailed account of the circumstances which resulted in the suicide of Īśvarasingh and the treacherous conduct of Madhosingh against the Maratha forces led by Subhedar Malharrao Holkar and Jayapa Scinde.

The old administrators of the State viz. Hargovind and Vidyādhara reported to Īśvarsingh that the troops of Holkar had arrived at the gate of Jaipur. Īśvarsingh asked them to negotiate for peace but they refused to approach Holkar whereupon feeling helpless and desperate Īśvarsingh ordered his page to get a live cobra as also some somalkhār (= arsenic). He then took some of this poison himself and got the cobra to bite him. He died early at dawn. His three wives and one mistress also poisoned themselves and fell dead in the palace rooms. Har Govind and Vidyādhara reported this tragic occurrence to Holkar, who kept a guard at the palace and later cremated the body of Īśvarsingh with due honour along with the bodies of three wives and one mistress. After successful negotiations carried on by Har Govind and Vidyādhara, Holkar withdrew his forces from the town of Jaipur. One queen and twenty mistresses of Īśvarsingh burnt themselves as Sati. Madhosingh returned to Jaipur after a fortnight and rode into the town on elephant's back together with Holkar. Jayapa Scinde came to Jaipur eight days after Madhosingh's arrival.

was drawn to it by Dr. Hara Datta Sharma.¹ His study of a work on Dharmasāstra composed by the great grandson of Ratnākara gives us some more details not recorded in the Jayasimha-Kalpadruma or the Īśvaravilāsakāvya. This great-grandson is none other than Viśveśvara, who wrote a work called *Nirṇaya-Kaustubha*² between A.D. 1788 and 1803 according to Dr. Sharma. Viśveśvara's surname was Mahāśabda.³ In another work composed by Viśveśvara and called *Pratāpārka*⁴ he states that his surname was Mahāśabda (महाशब्दोपनाम) and that he was the great grandson of Ratnākara-bhaṭṭa, the author of the Jayasimha-Kalpadruma,⁵ grandson of Gaṅgārāma⁶ and son of Rāmeśvara.⁷ We have already seen that Ratnākara mentions his gotra viz. Śāṇḍilya in his Jayasimha-Kalpadruma. Viśveśvara also has mentioned this Śāṇḍilya gotra in his Pratāpārka.⁸ The genealogy of Ratnākara's family gathered from the work Pratāpārka may now be presented as follows :—

1. Dr. Sharma has submitted to the Ninth Oriental Conference an article on "Nirṇaya Kaustubha or Laghunirṇaya-Kaustubha of Viśveśvarabhaṭṭa — Its date and Contents." I am thankful to Dr. Sharma for allowing me the use of this article to make my account of Ratnākara's family as complete as possible.

2. Only one MS of this work is available in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, viz. No. 350 of 1875-76 (45 folios) dated Saṃvat 1863 = A. D. 1807.

3. Ibid, verse 1 at the beginning :—

“प्रणम्य जानकीजानि महाशब्दोपनामकः ।

विश्वेश्वरः सुबालानामवबोधार्थमादरात् ।” etc.

“महाशब्दे” is a surname current among the Maharashtra Brahmanas. It is possible to conclude that Ratnākara's family came from the Deccan and resided at Benares.

4. Vide pp. 129-30 of Peterson's Cata. of Ulwar MSS.

5. Ibid verse 9 of the Extract from Pratāpārka quoted by Peterson.

6. Ibid verse 10.

7. Ibid verse 11.

8. Ibid, verse 7. — “श्रीशांडिल्यमुनेः कुले किल महाशब्दोपनामाजनि ।”

If we now consolidate the above genealogy with that given by Kṛṣṇakavi's Īśvaravilāsakāvya we get the following result :—

Besides the contemporary evidence of Vrajanātha's work composed in A. D. 1753 regarding the Aśvamedha sacrifice performed by

1. Vide Mr. M. M. Patkar's article on Mādhavasimhāryāśataka of Śyāma Laṭṭu composed in A. D. 1755 published in the Poona Orientalist, Vol. I, No. 4, p. 35. Among the learned pandits at the court of Madhosing two pandits viz. गंगाराम and रामेश्वर are mentioned in the following verses quoted by Mr. Patkar :—

“ श्रीपौण्डरीकयाजी गंगारामाभिधः स्मरिः ।
 ऋषिरिव बभूव चास्यां पुर्या भूदेववयोर्य ॥ १२२ ॥
 तत्सुनुर्द्विजराजः श्रीरामेश्वराभिधः स्मरिः ।
 श्रीपौण्डरीकयाजी विराजते ब्रह्मपुर्या यः ॥ १२३ ॥ ”

In the colophons of जयसिंहकल्पद्रुम its author is styled “पौण्डरीक-याजी रत्नाकर.” In verse 3 at the end of the जयसिंहकल्पद्रुम the performance of पौण्डरीक sacrifice is attributed to रत्नाकर (श्रेष्ठ सर्वकृतुभ्यो विविध-विधियुतं पौण्डरीकं च युतं etc.). I have no doubt that गंगाराम and his son रामेश्वर mentioned in 1755 A. D. are identical with their namesakes mentioned later in the प्रतापार्क of विश्वेश्वर.

Sevai Jayasing we have also the testimony of a pandit at the court of Mādhavaśing in A. D. 1755. He is described by Śyāma Laṭṭu,¹ the author of Mādhavasimhāryā Śataka as follows :—

“ जयति सदाशिवशर्मा मुनिजनधर्मा सुधर्माग्रयः ।
माधवसिंहसुधर्मा सदसि सुधर्मः स्वधर्माग्रयः ॥ १३० ॥ ”

The Sadāśivaśarmā mentioned in the above verse in a work composed in A. D. 1755 is possibly identical with the author of a work on dharmaśāstra called the *Ācārasmṛticandrikā*² by name Sadāśiva. This work begins as follows :—

“ ॥ श्रीगणेशाय नमः ॥ श्रीमन्महागणाधिपतये नमः ॥

“सदाशिव, son of गदाधर of the दशपुत्र family. First quarter of the 18th century ; author of आचारस्मृतिचन्द्रिका (composed for king जयसिंह of जयनगर), लिङ्गाचनचन्द्रिका.”

The B. O. R. I. MS mentioned above is the only MS of Ācārasmṛticandrikā recorded by Aufrecht (Vide Cata. Catalo. III, p. 9.)

Vide also Peshwa Daftar No. II—Letter No. 7 dated A. D. 1747—This is a news-letter addressed to the Peshwa from the Maratha camp near Jaipur. It describes the great terror and anxiety created by the presence of the Maratha forces in the mind of Madhosing. The letter contains a reference to “मट राजे सदाशिवजी” who is also called “मटजी” and whom Madhosing consulted in his embarrassing situation. Most probably, this सदाशिवमटजी is identical with सदाशिवशर्मा mentioned by Śyāma Laṭṭu in 1755 as associated with the court of Madhosing. A person whom Madhosing consulted in his troubles in 1747 may have attained some influence at his court later after the enthronement of Madhosing on the gaddi of Jaipur in A. D. 1751.

In the above extract verse 4 is very important as it mentions the performance of तुरगमेध or Aśvamedha by Sevai Jayasing and the attendance of Benares pandits on the occasion, not to say the numerous presents given by the king to these Brahmins.

We shall now quote a few verses at the end of the work which contain a reference to Jayasing by our author. These verses read as follows :—

“ मीमांसानयमांसलातिविमला प्रज्ञा तथा भूयसी
 दृष्टिः श्रौतनिबन्धचारचतुरा येषां सदाचारिणां ।
 तेषां दृष्टिपथं प्रयातु सुहृदां संदर्भं एषस्थितः

इति श्रीमद्दशपुत्रकुलावतंसेन विरचिता सदाशिव-
 पंडितेनऽपस्तंबाचारस्मृतिचंद्रिका समाप्ता । ”

In the foregoing extract the author Sadāśiva definitely states that the work was composed to please his patron Jayasing (जयसिंहनामनृपतेस्तोषाय या निर्मिता). We must, therefore, presume that this work on dharmasāstra was composed during the life-time of Jayasing i.e. before A. D. 1744, the date of Jayasing's death. As this work refers to तुरगमेध (or अश्वमेध) it must have been composed after the performance of the Aśvamedha. We must, therefore, attach the highest evidential value to Sadāśiva's reference to सुरगमेध as it is a piece of contemporary evidence coming from a person in direct contact with his patron Jayasing. We also find that Ratnākara, the author of the Jayasimha-Kalpadruma, though he refers to the other kinds of sacrifice in which Jayasing was interested, does not make any reference to Aśvamedha—an omission which may enable us to fix the probable limits for the date of the performance of the Aśvamedha viz. A. D. 1713, the date of completion of the Jayasimha-Kalpadruma and say about 1742 A. D. presuming that Sadāśiva must have taken at least two years for the composition of his work Ācārasmyṭicandrikā and shown it to his patron some time before his death. In addition to the references about the Aśvamedha found in contemporary and subsequent works of the 18th century as pointed out by me above I have found a reference to it in a still later work called the *Dharmasaṃgraha*¹ composed by Hariścandra by order of Rāmasimha of the Jaipur dynasty. Hariścandra records in the beginning of his work some genealogy² of his patron and in doing so he refers to Sevai Jayasing

1. Only one MS of this work is recorded by Aufrecht (C C II, 58) viz. "Peters 4.8". It is the same as No. 223 of 1886-92 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona.

2. Ibid, folios. 1-3 — verses 2 to 22 read as follows :—

and his Aśvamedha in verse 6 (देवा : संतोषिता येन चाश्वमेधेना कर्मणा). The genealogy recorded by Hariścandra is of the princes from Sevai Jayasing onwards. It is as follows :—

(Sevai) Jayasimha—Mādhavasimha—Pratāpasimha—Jagatsimha—Jayasimha—Rāmasimha.

The above genealogy appears to be substantially correct.¹

with the exception of the omission of the names of Īśvarasīmha and Pṛthvīsīmha, whose careers were not apparently very important or prosperous in the opinion of Hariścandra.

I have recorded the testimony of Hariścandra regarding the Aśvamedha of Sevai Jayasing even though it belongs to the middle of the 19th century to make my list of references to Aśvamedha as comprehensive as possible.

I shall now sum up in brief the evidence about the Aśvamedha as recorded in this paper as also in my previous paper on the subject published in the Journal of Indian History, Madras (Vol. XV) :—

1. Evidence of Sadāśiva Daśaputra recorded in his work called the Ācārasmṛticandrikā composed to please Sevai Jayasing. This evidence has the highest evidential value as it is recorded during the life-time of his patron i.e. before A. D. 1744.
2. Evidence of Kṛṣṇakavi recorded in his work called the Īśvaravilāsakāvya composed sometime after the death of Sevai Jayasing i.e. at the coronation of his son Īśvarasing say about 1744-5 A.D.
3. Evidence of Vrajanātha recorded in his work called the Padyatarangiṇī composed in A. D. 1753. The personal died in A. D. 1744 and ruled from A. D. 1699 to 1744 — a period of 45 years. The chronology of the Jaipur rulers as given in this volume of the Jñānaśāstra may be briefly indicated here :—

1. Sevai Jaysing (1699-1744).
2. Īshvarsing (poisoned himself).
3. Mādhavasing (ruled for 17 years.)
4. Pṛthvīsing II and his mother.
5. Pratāpsing (ruled for 15 years) (1788 to 1803.)
6. Jagatsing — (1803 to 1818.)
7. Jayasing III — (1819 to 1835.)
8. Rāmasing (Savai) 1835-1883.

Savai Rāmasing, the patron of Hariścandra, was a very learned ruler. He assisted the English with 7000 troops in the Indian Mutiny of 1857. He constructed roads and railway line and founded schools in his state. He was a member of Legislative Council of the Govt. of India (1869-1875.)

contact of this author with Sevai Jayasing has been amply proved in this paper.

4. Evidence recorded by Viśveśvara in his work called the Pratāpārka composed between 1788 and 1803.
5. Evidence recorded by Hariścandra about the middle of the 19th Century in his work called the Dharmasaṃgraha.

The foregoing references to the Aśvamedha performed by Sevai Jayasing made by pandits patronized by the Jaipur line of princes are conclusive so far as they go. The echo of this epoch-making religious event which then caught the imagination of the citizens of the Jaipur State must have reverberated throughout the length and breadth of the Hindu India and hence it is possible to collect more references to this Aśvamedha in Rajputana records which unfortunately are not at present accessible to me. Perhaps in the Peshwa Daftar recently published by the Govt. of Bombay a few contemporary references to this event are likely to be traced. I shall, however, conclude this paper by reproducing a reference to this Aśvamedha made by a Maharashtra Brahmin in 1782 A. D. This reference as found in the *Sources of Maratha History*¹ published by the Maharashtra historian V. K. Rajwade is as follows :—

Letter No. 436 — dated Śaka 1704, Māgha vadya 5 (= Sunday 3rd February 1782) Mādhavrao Anant Vedānti writes to the young Peshwa a long letter of advice in which he deplores the decay of Hinduism in general and notes the special efforts made by certain Hindu kings to revive it. One such effort was made by the king of Jaipur by the performance of Aśvamedha. In the opinion of the writer all these efforts were disconcerted and hence not quite effective. He then refers to the incarnation of God Śiva on this earth in the form of the Maratha king Shivaji the Great and his life-long efforts to preserve Hindu literature and culture.

39. The Description of the Aśvamedha performed by Sevai Jayasing of Jaipur (1699-1744 A. D.) as given in the Īsvaravilāsakāvya of Kṛṣṇakavi *

Fitz-Edward Hall in his preface to the Edition of the *Sāṅkhyaprabhāṣya*¹ observes :—" An anecdote, which I have heard from several pandits, synchronizes Nāgeśa (Nāgojibhaṭṭa) with Jayasimha, Raja of Jaipur, who, as is known from the Jaya-simha-kalpādruma—by Ratnākaraḥṭṭa, son of Devabhaṭṭa—was reigning as late as the Saṃvat year 1770 or A. D. 1713." This anecdote is identical with the tradition² current at Jaipur, which refers to an invitation for a horse sacrifice (Aśvamedha) received in 1714 A. D. by Nāgojibhaṭṭa from Sevai Jaysing (1699-1744 A. D.) but which Nāgojibhaṭṭa refused on the ground that he had taken kṣetrasanyāsa and hence could not leave Benares to attend the ceremony. James Todd³ (1782-1835) refers to the Aśvamedha as follows :—

" Amongst the vanities of the founder of Amber it is said that he intended to get up the ceremony of the Aswamedā yūga or sacrifice of the horse."⁴ Perhaps the vague nature of these references was responsible for the theory recently postulated by Dr. Dinesh Candra Sarkar⁵ that " Sevai Jayasing most probably did not celebrate any Aśvamedha." I controverted this theory on the strength of contemporary evidence¹ furnished by a historical poem called the Īsvaravilāsakāvya. This poem was composed by one Kṛṣṇa Kavi, a court-poet who wrote this poem to commemorate the coronation of Īsvarasing, the son of Sevai Jayasing of Jaipur. Kṛṣṇa Kavi states that he and another fellow-poet (Śrī Kṛṣṇa Kavi-Lakṣmaṇau) were assigned the parts of singing the praise of the Yajamāna at this horse-sacrifice or Aśvamedha, to the description of which he devotes two chapters viz. Chapters IV and V of his poem. As the Government Ms Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona, possesses the only known copy of this poem (No. 273 of 1884-1886) and as Kṛṣṇa Kavi's description of the sacrifice appears to me to be an eye-witness's account of this epoch-making religious event, I have thought it advisable to reproduce the text of these two chapters about the Aśvamedha of Sevai Jayasing as it is found in the Ms. I have recorded additional evidence regarding this Aśvamedha from contemporary and subsequent sources in a recent paper contributed to the Poona Orientalist, Vol. II. That evidence combined with the description of the sacrifice contained in the chapters reproduced below will satisfy all historical curiosity about this event. I may, however, note here the names of persons who were present at this sacrifice as stated by Kṛṣṇakavi:—

- (1) Kṛṣṇa Kavi, the author of the Īsvaravilāsa Kāvya.
- (2) Lakṣmaṇa.
- (3) Rāmacandra Ayācita.
- (4) Rāmacandra Draviḍa.
- (5) Vyāsa Śarmā
- (6) Guṇākara.
- (7) Hari Kṛṣṇa Śarmā, a Karnāṭaka Brahmin. He appears to be identical with हरिकृष्णमिश्र who composed a work वैदिक-वेणवसदाचार by order of Sevai Jayasing (Ms No. 443 of 1891-95-B. O. R. Inst.).

It may be possible to identify some of these names from contemporary and other sources.

40. Varadarāja, a Pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita and his Works — Between A. D. 1600 and 1650*

Dr. BELVALKAR in his *Systems of Sanskrit Grammar*¹ mentions an author of the name Varadarāja in three places but does not record any information regarding his date. Dr. A. B. KEITH also refers to the school grammar of Varadarāja in his *History of Sanskrit Literature*² but does not record any chronology for this author and his works. Pandit Ganesh Dutt SHASTRI in his Edition of Varadarāja's *Madhyakaumudī*³ has no remarks to offer about this author's chronology. Pandit Uddhavaji Ranachodji SHASTRI in his edition of the *Laghusiddhāntakaumudī*⁴ does not deal with Varadarāja's chronology. He, however, records the opinion of some scholars that Varadarāja, the author of Laghukaumudī was a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita and hence his contemporary. It is not, how-

1. Poona, 1915 — Pages 51, 62, 104. Varadarāja is the author of abridgments of the Siddhānta-Kaumudī of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita. These abridgments are represented by three editions: (1) Madhya°, (2) Laghu° and (3) Sāra-Siddhānta Kaumudī. The major abridgment was commented upon by Rāmaśarman at the request of one Śivānanda and the middle one by a Jayakṛṣṇa, son of Raghunāthabhaṭṭa and grandson of Govardhanabhaṭṭa of the Mauni family. — Varadarāja's Laghu-Kaumudī corresponds in treatment and subject-matter to the recast called Bālāvabodha of the Cāndra grammar by a Ceylonese Buddhist priest about A. D. 1200 — In later times no attempt was made to improve or supplement the Sārasvata grammar and the abridgments of Varadarāja and other works ousted the Sārasvata from the field.

ever, possible to find from any source an account of Varadarāja's life.¹

In view of these remarks of the editor² of Varadarāja's works I propose to record in this paper some data regarding the works of Varadarāja with the intention of clarifying to some extent at least the chronology of this author left in a nebulous state by previous scholars in the field.

Owing to the popularity of Varadarāja's works we find numerous MSS of them recorded by AUFRECHT in his Catalogus Catalogorum under the titles of the following works attributed to him :—

CC I, 551 — “ वरदराज — son of Durgā-tanaya

2. In the Preface to the Laghu Kaumudī Edition (1849) of Dr. J. R. BALLANTYNE we find no information regarding Varadarāja's chronology. He merely states that Laghu Kaumudī of Varadarāja is an abridgment of the Siddhānta Kaumudī of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita.

3. CC I, 154 — “गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी gr. by Varadarāja. L. 2167, Audh XVIII, 26”.

One Dhunḍirājakavi composed at Benares a work called, “गीर्वाण-वाङ्मञ्जरी” which appears to be similar to Varadarāja's गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी. It may have been an imitation of Varadarāja's work but I have not studied the chronology of Dhunḍirāja Kavi and hence cannot determine his indebtedness or otherwise to Varadarāja.

4. CC I, 428. — Many MSS of the text and of मध्यममनोरमा comm. by Rāma Śarman, written by request of Śivānanda Bhaṭṭa. See also CC II, 97 where मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदीविलास by Jayakṛṣṇa (Peterson 4. 18.) is recorded. — CC III, 92 — MSS of मध्यकौमुदी.

5. CC I, 541; CC II, 127; CC III, 115.

—सारसिद्धान्तकौमुदी or सारकौमुदी¹

Now let us try to put some limits to Varadarāja's chronology.

As Varadarāja has abridged Bhaṭṭoji's work Siddhānta-kaumudī with a view to popularising it we shall put about A.D. 1620 as one limit to Varadarāja's date. I have proved elsewhere² that Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita flourished between A. D. 1560 and A. D. 1620 and the above limit for Varadarāja's date harmonises with Bhaṭṭoji's date fixed by me. The other limit to Varadarāja's date is furnished by a dated MS³ of his work Sārasiddhāntakaumudī available in the Govt. MSS Library (B. O. R. Institute, Poona). It is dated Samvat 1739 = A. D. 1683. On looking to the other dated MSS of our author's works at the B.O.R. Institute I find that the above MS of A.D. 1683 is the earliest dated MS of Varadarāja's works at least among MSS of his works available at the B. O. R. Institute. In view of this MS may we may fix Varadarāja's date between A. D. 1620 and A. D. 1683.

2. Annals of S. V. Oriental Institute, Tirupati, Vol. I, Part 2, pp. 117-127.

3. MS No. 539 of 1886-92 — Colophon records the date of the MS:—"संवत् १७३९ ज्येष्ठमासे कृष्णपक्षे अष्टमी शुक्रवासरं प्रयागतः लिखितं नरोत्तम-कायस्थेन लिखापितं etc." This is in harmony with other dated MSS of Varadarāja's works at the B. O. R. Institute:—

With a view to narrowing down the limits given above we have to examine the tradition recorded by Pandit Uddhavaji that Varadarāja was a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji and hence his contemporary. It appears to me that this tradition does not conflict with the limits for Varadarāja's date given by me above viz., A. D. 1620 and 1683. In fact Varadarāja bows to his guru Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita at the beginning of his Madhyakaumudī as follows in the Lahore Edition of the work (1899):—

“ नत्वा वरदराजः श्रीगुरुभट्टोजिदीक्षितान् ।
करोति पाणिनीयानां मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदीम् ॥ १ ॥ ”

If this verse is a genuine part¹ of the text of Varadarāja's work the traditional statement² that our author was the pupil of Bhaṭṭoji

1. The B. O. R. Institute MS of Madhya-Siddhānta-Kaumudī No. 564 of 1887-91 begins as follows :—

“ येनाक्षरसाम्नायमधिगम्य महेश्वरात् ।

नत्वा वरदराजः श्रीगुरुभट्टोजिदीक्षितान् ।
करोति पाणिनीयानाम् मध्यसिद्धां (त्र) त कौमुदीम् ॥ ४ ॥ ”

In the above extract the fourth verse containing a reference to Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita is preceded by 3 verses while the India Office MS of the work No. 667 (p. 178 of I. O. MSS Cata. Part II, 1889) begins with the verse “नत्वा वरदराजः...कौमुदीम्” as in the Lahore Edn. of 1899.

2. M. M. Haraprasad ŚĀSTRĪ accepts this tradition (Vide pp. cix of Preface to Des. Cata. of Vyākaraṇa MSS. Vol. VI, 1931 — R. A. S. Bengal) — “ Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita had a disciple named Varadarāja who made three abridgments of his works..... ” Speaking of मध्य-मनोरमा the comm. on मध्यकौमुदी of Varadarāja M. M. Śāstri says :— “ It is simply abridgment of the Praughamanoramā as far as it relates to the Sūtras of the Madhya. The commentary is by Rāmacandra Śarmā who wrote it at the request of Sīvānandabhaṭṭa or Sīvānanda Gosvāmī and it was dedicated to Vidyānīvāsa the most prominent Pandit of Bengal at the time of Akbar and who was perhaps the guru of the author ” (p. cx).

Dikṣita is directly borne out by the text. Towards the close of the Madhyakaumudī or Madhyasiddhāntakaumudī Varadarāja refers to this work as his own production.¹ It appears to me that both the verses i.e., the verse at the beginning referring to Bhaṭṭoji and the verse at the close mentioning Varadarāja's authorship of the work are Varadarāja's own composition as these verses have one line in common.² The statement of Aufrecht that Varadarāja was the son of Durgātanaya is evidently based on the following verse at the end of the Sārasiddhāntakaumudī (MS No. 539 of 1886-92 dated A.D. 1683, folio 33):—

“ कृता वरदभट्टश्रीदुर्गतिनयसूनुना ।
वेदवेदप्रवेशाय सारसिद्धान्तकौमुदी ॥ ”

At the close of his *Laghusiddhānta Kaumudī*³ Varadarāja refers to the Śabdakaustubha of Bhaṭṭoji as follows:—

“ शास्त्रांतरे प्रविष्टानां बालानां चोपकारिका ।
कृता वरदराजेन लघुसिद्धान्तकौमुदी ॥
सिद्धान्तकौमुदीशब्दकौस्तुभभोगभोगतः ।

1. Madhya Kaumudī Lahore, 1899, p. 285—

The following MSS of Varadarāja's works refer to Bhaṭṭoji as his guru:— No. 641 of 1882-83 (म. सि. कौमुदी); No. 640 of 1882-83 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 637 of 1891-95 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 636 of 1891-95 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 329 of Vishram I (म. सि. कौ.); No. 564 of 1887-91 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 334 of A 1881-82 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 656 of 1883-84 (म. सि. कौ.); No. 655 of 1883-84 (म. सि. कौ.) dated A. D. 1749 (Śaka 1671).

3. B. O. R. Institute MS No. 645 of 1891-95.

Varadarāja in his *Gīrvāṇapadamāñjarī*¹ refers to several works which ought to be studied by a Pandit. In this list² he refers to some works on grammar in which we find the following works :—

(1) मनोरमासहितसिद्धान्तकौमुदी, (2) मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदी, (3) लघुसिद्धान्तकौमुदी, (4) शब्दकौस्तुभ, and (5) लिंगानुशासनवृत्ति.

Out of the five works on grammar mentioned by Varadarāja three belong to Bhaṭṭoji while the other two viz :—(1) मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदी and (2) लघुसिद्धान्तकौमुदी are the works of Varadarāja himself as we have seen above. As Varadarāja refers to two of his works in the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी composed by him we have to presume that they were composed by him earlier than the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी and by putting them side by side with his guru's work viz. सिद्धान्तकौमुदी with मनोरमा and शब्दकौस्तुभ and others in the course of grammatical works he has apparently tried to give them a status and popularity which these abridgments of Bhaṭṭoji's works have ever since enjoyed in schools of Sanskrit learning throughout India.

In the Gīrvāṇapadamāñjarī we find incidentally a list of some “ कृता वरदभट्टेन गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी ।

2. Varadarāja emphasizes the importance of grammar in the following lines (folios 10-11 of MS No. 395 of 1899-1915 — गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी) :—

“ व्याकरणं आयाति चेत्सर्वशास्त्रेषु सिंहसदृशमवति वैयाकरणाः । तत्कथमिति चेत् शृणु भाष्योच्छिष्टं जगत्त्रयमिति प्रसिद्धे । व्यासोच्छिष्टं जगत्त्रयमित्यपि श्रूयते स्वामिनः । सत्यं । श्लोकांशे तत् । स्वामिनः । कस्मिन्कस्मिन् शास्त्रे श्रीमद्विः पाठितं । मया सर्वत्र पाठितं । क सर्वत्र महाभाष्यं मया पाठिषमहं । कैट्यटमहं अपाठिषं । काशिका पुस्तकमहं अपाठिषं । पदमेजरीमपाठिषं । अनुन्यासमपाठिषमहं । धातुवृत्तिपुस्तकानि अपाठिषमहं । परिभाषा-पुस्तकान्यपाठिषमहं । धातुवृत्तिपुस्तकानि अपाठिषमहं । परिभाषापुस्तकान्यपाठिषमहं । उणादिवृत्तिपुस्तकान्यपाठिषमहं । कित्सु(?)वृत्तिपुस्तकाः (न्यपाठिषमहं) लिंग(शा)नुशासन-वृत्तिपुस्तकान्यपाठिषमहं । उपसर्गवृत्तिमपाठिषमहं । निपातवृत्तिपुस्तकान्यपाठिषमहं । मनोरमा-सहितसिद्धान्तकौमुदीमपाठिषं मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदीमपाठिषं । लघुसिद्धान्तकौमुदीमपाठिषं । शब्दकौस्तुभमपाठिषमहं । अन्यान्यपि व्याकरणे (बहूनि) बहूनि पुस्तकानि सन्ति तानि सर्वाण्यपाठिषमहं ” of the Ghāṭs' of Benares. This contemporary list of Ghāṭs would be useful for the history of Benares topography. In this list we find a place called Kedāresvara-Ghāṭa. In the account of Bhaṭṭoji's life recorded by Rao Bahadur W. A. BAMBARDEKAR² we are told that Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita built a house for himself at Kedār-Ghāṭa in Benares and settled there permanently. It would be worthwhile examining this statement on the strength of contemporary topography and settling the exact location of Bhaṭṭoji's house at Kedarghat.

Varadarāja refers to the houses of some contemporary Brahmins³ but the names of these Brahmins recorded by him may be imaginary names mentioned for purposes of illustration only. We also find in this work a list of holy places or tīrthas on folio 6 of the MS as follows :—

1. Folio 2a — “कुत्र स्थीयते भवता । काश्यां स्थीयते मया । काश्यामपि क स्थीयते त्वया । त्वया (1) राजघट्टे स्थीयते etc. Then follows the list of other Ghāṭas etc. — (2) त्रिलोचनघट्ट, (3) ब्रह्मघट्ट, (4) दुर्गाघट्ट, (5) बिंदुमाधवघट्ट, (6) मंगला-गौरीघट्ट, (7) रामघट्ट, (8) अमीश्वरघट्ट, (9) नागेश्वरघट्ट, (10) वीरेश्वरघट्ट, (11) सिद्धि-विनायकघट्ट, (12) स्वर्गद्वारप्रवेश, (13) मोक्षद्वारप्रवेश, (14) गंगाकेशवपार्श्व, (15) जरासंध-घट्ट, (16) बृद्धादिलघट्ट, (17) सोमेश्वरघट्ट, (18) रामेश्वर, (19) लोलार्क, (20) असीसंगम, (21) वरुणासंगम, (22) लक्ष्मीनृसिंह on the बिंदुमाधवघट्ट, (23) पंचगंगेश्वर on the बिंदुमाधवघट्ट, (24) आदिविश्वेश्वर, on the बिंदुमाधवघट्ट, (25) दक्षेश्वर, (26) दुग्ध-विनायक, (27) कालभैरव, (28) दशाश्वमेध(घट्ट), (29) चतुष्पष्टियोगिनीघट्ट, (30) सर्वेश्वर-घट्ट, (31) मानससरोवर, (32) केदारेश्वरघट्ट.

3. Folio 3 of MS No. 395 of 1899–1915 of गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी :—

“दुग्धविनायकनिकटे कस्य गृहे वर्तते त्वं । तिमभट्टगृहे वर्तते त्वं । रामभट्टगृहे वा वर्तते त्वं । नारायणभट्टगृहे त्वं वर्तते । भैरवभट्टगृहे वर्तते त्वं । शिवभट्टगृहे अहं वर्ते । शिव-भट्टगृहेऽपि पूर्वशालायां त्वं विद्यसे । अथवा दक्षिणशालायां विद्यसे । पश्चिमशालायां विद्यसे । प्रासादे वा विद्यसे । उत्तरशालायां तिष्ठामो वयं स्वामिनः ।”

Can any scholar at Benares verify the names recorded in the above extract and see if they are imaginary or otherwise? In case they turn out to be real names of owners of houses at Benares we shall have to identify these names, if possible, in contemporary sources. We know that नागोजीभट्ट was the son of one शिवभट्ट but it is difficult to connect this शिवभट्ट with the शिवभट्टगृह near दुग्धविनायक in Benares referred to in the above extract,

I have recorded above the lists of Southern and Northern holy places in India which Varadarāja has taken care to record incidentally in his Gīrvāṇapadamāñjarī, which appears to have been composed say between A. D. 1600 and 1650. In this list the reference to कालहस्तिक्षेत्र is important as the presiding deity of this place i.e. कालहस्तीश was the family deity of रत्नोजिमह, the brother of भट्टोजिदीक्षित.¹ In my present analysis of Varadarāja's Gīrvāṇa-

1. Vide pp. 298-299 of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita by BAMBARDEKAR. Kālāhasti is a railway station in the Chittur District of the Madras Presidency. Near this station there is a village of the name Kālāhasti, where on the bank of a river is situated a temple of God Mahādeva with five faces. This God is called कालहस्तीश. Rao Bahadur padamañjari I have used only the MS of this work at the B. O. R. Institute. The *India Office Catalogue*¹ describes a MS of this work as follows :—

“ Samśkṛtamañjari (or Gīrvāṇapadamañjari) being courses of elementary conversational questions and answers on everyday occurrences, on literary, devotional and other subjects ; by Varadarāja Dīkṣita. ” Though in the Colophons of this MS the work is called संस्कृतमञ्जरी, its correct title is गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी as stated in the body of the work.² Rajendralal MITRA³ describes a MS of this work as follows :—

“ An elementary grammar of Sanskrit language, in the form of a dialogue interspersed with moral tales. ”

The colophon of this MS calls the work by the name गीर्वाण-पदमञ्जरी and not संस्कृतमञ्जरी as stated in the Colophon of the India Office MS of the work.⁴ The Ujjain MSS Library has also a copy of गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी. From the data recorded above we are able to establish the following conclusions :—

- (1) Varadarāja (= VR) was a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita (= BD).

BAMBARDEKAR is of opinion that the native place of Raṅgojibhaṭṭa must have been somewhere in the territory adjoining this temple in the country of Talaṅgaṇa. It is, therefore, reasonable to suppose that both Raṅgoji and his brother Bhaṭṭoji were Talaṅga Brahmins, and not Sārasvatas as claimed by some writers.

(2) VR appears to have been a Southerner: as his name Varadarāja suggests. He should be distinguished from his namesake, the author of a dharmaśāstra work called the व्यवहारनिर्णय, which was composed before A. D. 1350.¹

(3) As VR has abridged Bhaṭṭoji's Siddhāntakaumudī and as he mentions Bhaṭṭoji's works like सिद्धांतकौमुदी with प्रौढमनोरमा and शब्दकौस्तुभ in his own work गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी we may say that he flourished later than A.D. 1620 about which time Bhaṭṭoji's literary career appears to have come to an end. This fact coupled with the fact that Bhaṭṭoji was the guru of Varadarāja, enables us to fix about A. D. 1600 as the earlier limit to Varadarāja's date. The later limit for the date of VR may be fixed at about A. D. 1650 as we have a copy of VR's work dated A. D. 1683.

(4) VR appears to have been a contemporary of another pupil of Bhaṭṭoji viz. Nīlakaṇṭha Śukla, who composed his Śabdaśobhā in A. D. 1637 and a small poem called the Cimanīcarita in A. D. 1656.²

(5) VR does not record any biographical information regarding himself in his four works known to us except the name of his father who is called दुर्गातनय in the Sārasiddhāntakaumudī (MS of A. D. 1683). At the end of the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी he says “गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी ... गणेशप्रीतये भवेत्.” It is possible to suppose that गणेश was the name of VR's father and दुर्गा the name of VR's grandmother? As god Gaṇeśa is the son of Durgā or Pārvatī VR may have used the name दुर्गातनय to suggest: (1) गणेश the name of his father, and (2) दुर्गा the name of his father's mother i.e. VR's grandmother.

(6) As regards the relative chronology of VR's four works we

1. Vide my paper on the Date of Vyavahāranirṇaya (Mīmāṃsā Prakāśa, Poona, Vol. III, pp. 15-18). Pandit Jvālāprasād Mīśra in his edition of the Laghu-Siddhānta-Kaumudī (with Hindi comm.) 1927, pp. 18-20, states that Varadarāja composed this work in A. D. 1593. He further states (1) that this Varadarāja composed the व्यवहारनिर्णय and (2) that Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita was contemporary of श्रीहर्ष the author of the नैषधचरित—This mixture of anachronism and dogmatism has been severely criticized by Rao Bahadur BAMBARDEKAR (Vide pp. 180-188 of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita — Jñātiviveka, 1939).

2. I shall prove in a special paper that Nīlakaṇṭha Śukla, the author of the Śabda-Śobhā and Nīlakaṇṭha Śukla, the author of the are able to state that his मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदी¹ and लघुसिद्धान्तकौमुदी were composed earlier than गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी. Perhaps सारसिद्धान्तकौमुदी may have been composed later than the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी, which though it mentions मध्यकौमुदी and लघुकौमुदी does not refer to the सारकौमुदी. This omission appears to me significant in the case of Varadarāja who has put his own abridgments side by side with Bhaṭṭoji's works referred to in the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी.

(7) The earliest dated MS of VR's work so far as I know is dated A. D. 1683.² This MS is at the B. O. R. Institute. It supplies to us a sure later limit to VR's date as we have seen above.

(8) VR shows a close knowledge of the City of Benares in the first half on the 17th Century as will be seen from the list of Ghaṭṭas of Benares incidentally recorded by him in the गीर्वाणपदमञ्जरी.

(9) VR's works were commented on by two commentators रामशर्मन् and जयकृष्ण. Perhaps an examination of these commentaries and their chronology may throw some more light on VR's works and personality.

(10) VR appears to have been a contemporary of the celebrated Kavindrācārya Sarasvatī who was successful in persuading Emperor Shah Jahan to abolish the Pilgrim Tax on pilgrims visiting Benares and Prayāga and who lived between A. D. 1600 and

Cimanī-Carita are identical, though there is a difference of about 20 years between the dates of composition of these two works. See also my paper on the date of the Cimanī-Carita in the Annals (B. O. R. I.) Vol. IX, pp. 331-332.

1. Vide p. 146 of British Museum MSS Cata. by BENDALL, 1902 → BENDALL gives "in or about the 16th century" as the date for Bhaṭṭoji's pupils and their works while describing a MS of मध्यसिद्धान्तकौमुदी.

2. There is a MS of Laghu-Siddhānta-Kaumudī described by H. POLEMAN on p. 130 of his Catalogue of Indic MSS in U. S. A. and Canada (1938). It is dated Samvat 1680 = A. D. 1624. If this date is correct this is the earliest dated MS of Varadarāja's work and hence most important for his chronology.

1670.¹ In the collection of addresses presented to Kavindācārya we find a small prastāvi of Kavindra attributed to an author of the name तिलभाण्डेश्वर,² who remains unidentified. In the Gīrvāṇa-padamañjarī of Varadarāja (MS No. 395 of 1899–1915) there is a reference to a place or locality called तिलभाण्डेश्वर.³ The connection of the author तिलभाण्डेश्वर with a locality of the same name cannot be definitely determined at present. Perhaps the author in question may have been named after the place-name तिलभाण्डेश्वर or vice versa.

11. A MS of Laghusiddhānta-Kaumudī in America is dated A. D. 1624.⁴ Presuming this date to be correct we have to consider the effect of this date on the chronology of Bhaṭṭoji as also that of Varadarāja. In my paper on Bhaṭṭoji's date I had noted a MS of Bhaṭṭoji's Śabdakaustubha (R. A. S. Bengal) dated A. D. 1633 and on the strength of this date and other evidence I had suggested that Bhaṭṭoji's career may have ended in about A. D. 1620. This inference gets strengthened by the date A. D. 1624 of a MS of Laghusiddhānta-Kaumudī, which is an abridgment of Bhaṭṭoji's own work Siddhāntakaumudī. If the abridgment of a work is represented by its copy in A. D. 1624 we must presume that the original work must have been composed some years earlier⁵ than the abridgment.

As the Gīrvāṇapadamāñjarī mentions (1) Madhya° Kaumudī and (2) Laghu° Kaumudī composed before A.D. 1624, I am inclined to hold the view that these two abridgments of the Siddhānta-kaumudī may have been composed before A. D. 1620 and they may have received the benefit of Bhaṭṭoji's guidance during the last decade of his literary career.

I shall now close this paper with the following chronological table showing at a glance the dates of Bhaṭṭoji's guru Nṛsiṃhāśrama and his own pupils (1) Varadarāja and (2) Nilakanṭha Śukla:—

Siddhānta-Kaumudī about A. D. 1625 (Geschichte der ind. Litt. III, 1922, p. 394) conflicts with the date A. D. 1624 of a MS of the abridgment of the Siddhānta-Kaumudī. We cannot imagine the composition of the abridgment of a work before A. D. 1624 if the work itself was composed in A. D. 1625.

41. The Historical Background of the Cimanī-Carita*

A ROMANTIC LOVE-POEM BY A PUPIL OF BHATTOJI
DĪKṢITA DEALING WITH THE LOVE OF THE DAUGHTER-IN-LAW OF ALLĀH VARDĪ KHĀN TURKMĀN
(BETWEEN A. D. 1606-1659)

Mr. Q. M. Moneer¹ has recently published three Persian inscriptions² of Allāh Vardī Khān Turkmān from the ancient hill-forts in the Nasik District of the Bombay Presidency. They are engraved on rocks in the Sātmāla ranges on which are erected the ancient forts of Indrā'i, Chāndor and Dhodap. They were inscribed in the name of and very probably at the instance of Allāh Vardī Khān himself, who conquered not only the forts on which they are carved, but thirteen other forts in the same area, which are mentioned by name in two of these three inscriptions. Allāh Vardī Khān Turkmān of the inscription claimed descent from a Sovereign of Central Asia of the name Sultān Sanjar (A. D. 1086-1157). The chronology of Allāh Vardī Khān's life as recorded by Mr. Moneer (on p. 9) is as follows :—

A. D.	Particulars. AVK = Allāh Vardī Khān
1606-1627	— AVK came to India. Through his brother Mukhlis Khān, already companion to Prince Parviz AVK was presented at the Court of Emperor Jahangir.
1626	— AVK , appointed Superintendent of hunting excursions.

A. D.	Particulars. A VK = Allāh Vardī Khān
1627	— A VK , attached to Mahābat Khān, Khān Khānān for active service in the field.
1636	— A VK appointed Warden of Lucknow, Muttra, and Delhi in succession.
1653	— A VK , accompanied Dārā Shukoh for the capture of Qandhār from the King of Persia.
	—Shah Jahān deprives A VK of his title and rank but assigns to him the revenues of Shankarpur paragana as pension.
	— A VK re-employed in charge of Elichpur and later made Governor of Berar.
	— A VK , involved in a misunderstanding and recalled and confined in his own house at Delhi.
	—Re-employed as administrator of Jaunpūr and later made Governor of Bihar.
1657	— A VK , unwilling to oppose Shāh Shujā, retired to Benares, where Shujā persuaded him to join his cause. When Shujā set out from Benares A VK changed his mind and with all his adherents returned to Benares and shut himself up in his house. Shujā returned and by false means got hold of A VK and his son Saifullāh. The father and the son were then paraded on elephant's back through the City of Benares and put to death.

The above history of A VK's career at the Mughal Court as recorded by Mr. Moneer shows A VK's importance at the Imperial Court, though unfortunately it had a sad end. This history is based on contemporary Persian Chronicles. I propose to record

Moneer states (p. 13) that "barring a few minor variations the details embodied in them (inscriptions) are faithfully corroborated by the relevant contemporary Chronicles of the reign of Shah Jahān, which were being registered at a great distance from the scene of the occurrences mentioned in these inscriptions."

in this paper some interesting information about the household affairs of AVK as revealed in a Sanskrit poem called the Cimanī-Carita,¹ composed by Nilakaṇṭha Śukla in A. D. 1656. I shall prove in a special paper, that this author is identical with Nilakaṇṭha Śukla, pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, who composed a grammatical work called the Śabda-Śobhā in A. D. 1637.² From these dates of the works of Nilakaṇṭha Śukla it is clear that he was a contemporary of AVK. This contemporaneity coupled with the contact of AVK between A. D. 1656 and 1657 with the City of Benares, where AVK and his son met their sad end, leads me to infer that Benares Pandits must have been well aware of the life-history of AVK then current in Benares academic circles which were in the favour of Dārā Shukoh, who met his death almost in the same manner in which AVK and his son were put to death by Dārā's brother Shujā. My inference further gets support from the contact of Dārā with AVK in A. D. 1653, in which year AVK accompanied Dārā to Qandhār to capture that city from the king of Persia. It is thus possible to suppose that Nilakaṇṭha Śukla residing at Benares and composing his works in A. D. 1637 and 1656 must have been fully aware of the personal history of AVK through some Pandits of Benares in direct contact with Dārā Shukoh. If this position is accepted we can easily explain how Nilakaṇṭha Śukla composed his poem Cimanī-Carita (in A. D. 1656*i.e.* one year before the death of AVK at Benares) in which a Muslim noble of the name "अलह-विदीखान" is actually mentioned. In fact this romantic poem is based on a contemporary scandal developed in the harem of Alaha Virdī Khān mentioned in the poem. I am of opinion that the Muslim noble "अलह-विदीखान" of Cimanī-Carita is identical with Allāh Vardī Khān of the inscriptions dated A. D. 1636, in which year Nilakaṇṭha composed his work at Benares called the Śabdaśobhā. Before I mention my points of identity it is necessary to give the reader an idea of the contents of this short poem called the Cimanī-Carita in which *Cimanī*³ is the heroine belonging to the harem of this

2. Vide Annals (Tirupati Institute) Vol. I, Pt. 2, page 122 of my paper on the date of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita.

3. The name Cimanī is often found in the Deccan as the name of a woman. Perhaps the heroine Cimanī may have been a Hindu

Muslim noble. Her relation to Allāh Virdī Khān is clear from the following stanza (52) of the poem :—

“ यासावासीद्वलहविरदीज्येष्ठबंधोस्तनूजा
 भार्यात्वं चालहविरदीज्येष्ठसुनोरयासीत् ।
 याता ख्यातिं जगति चिमनीत्याक्षया या गवाक्षे
 देवादेशात्कचिदथ दयादेवमेवा ददर्श ॥ ५२ ॥ ”

Cimanī was, therefore, the daughter of the elder brother of Alaha Virdī Khān and at the same time his daughter-in-law, being the wife of his eldest son. Her romantic love with Dayādeva mentioned in the above stanza is the theme of the poem. In Stanza 1 Dayādeva Śarmā is introduced as a handsome youth. In St. 2 his beauty and youth are described as bewitching to the ladies of the harem of Alaha Virdī Khān. Dayādeva approached the Khān for some employment and was appointed as a tutor to the ladies of his harem (St. 3). The Khān ordered an old lady of the name Mānikā to attend during the time of instruction imparted to the young ladies (St. 4). Further as a precaution against the possibility of any workings of the Cupid in the harem, consequent upon such factors as the beauty and youth of the ladies, the presence of a Brahmin guru of a youthful age and the privacy of the harem, the Khān appointed a Chamberlain of the name Anīśa to keep a watch during the time of the lessons (St. 5-6). But these arrangements of the Khān proved futile and the Chamberlain Anīśa proved of no avail in preventing the mischievous activities of the God of Love (St. 7). The poet then describes these workings of the Cupid in a charming manner. In Stanza 52 we are introduced to the heroine of the poem viz. Cimanī, the daughter of the elder brother of Alaha Virdī Khān, who was at the same time the wife the eldest son of this Khān. Cimanī falls in love with Dayādeva Śarmā and the poet describes their course of love in the latter half of the poem. In St. 67 we find two names मुखलिस and झाकरीय आलय or the house of Jāfar lady or may have been the daughter of a Hindu lady admitted into the Muslim harem and then converted to Muslim faith. The sojourn of Allāh Vardī Khān in the Deccan in A. D. 1636 for conquering the forts in the Nasīk District may explain the Marāṭhā name “ Cimanī ” of our heroine. “ Cimanī ” means a sparrow and by metaphor is applied to young ladies as a pet name.

(Khān). *Mukhalis*¹ was the elder brother of Alaha Virdī Khān while *Jāfar*² was the name of Cimanī's husband. Mukhlis is again referred to in St. 71 by the poet.

Jāfar mentioned in the Cimanī-carita (St. 67) must be distinguished from Jāfar Khān (mentioned by Bernier)³ who was the Prime minister of Aurangzeb. Bernier⁴ refers to the perfidy of one Allah-verdī-khān with Sultan Sujah. This Khān may be identical with AVK of the Cimanī-carita and of Mr. Moneer's inscriptions of A. D. 1636.

The love between Cimanī and Dayādeva developed intensely in course of time but Cimanī was curious to know if Dayādeva was really a Hindu :—

1. In the account of AVK given by Mr. Moneer we are told that Mukhlis Khān was the brother of AVK. This brother was companion to Prince Parviz between A. D. 1606 and 1627. Through Mukhlis Khān AVK was presented at the court of Jahangir. It seems that Cimanī, the heroine of the Cimanī-carita, was the daughter of this Mukhlis Khān mentioned by our poet.

2. Vide p. 186 of Bernier's Travels (1656-1668) Constable, London, 1891 — Among partisans of Aurangzeb Bernier mentions "the son of that Allah-verdīkan, whose advice cost Sultan Sujāh the battle of Kadjoue, was made Governor of Scimdy." The Editor remarks : "Jāfar Khān, appointed Subadar of Allahabad, where he died in 1669 (Beale)" and identifies the son of AVK with Jāfar Khān. If this identification is correct the Jāfar of Cimanī-carita was the son of AVK, husband of Cimanī and the son-in-law of AVK's brother of Mukhlis Khān. The love of Cimanī with a Brahmin youth Dayādeva was of course an extra-marital affair.

3. Vide Bernier's Travels, p. 271 — foot-note 4 — "Jāfar Khān entitled Umdat-ul-mulk was appointed Prime Minister by Aurangzeb (Alamgir) in 1662 and died in 1670 at Delhi. He was the son of Sādik Khān a cousin of Nūr Jahān's who had married one of her sisters hence his kinship to Aurangzeb."

4. Ibid, p. 77 — footnote 1 — "Aliwardi Khān Governor of Patna, who espoused the cause of Sultān Sujah, whom he followed to Bengal, where he was killed in July 1659." Cf. Mr. Moneer's account of AVK's life where AVK is said to have been put to death in A. D. 1657 at Benares (Epi. Ind. Moslemica — 1937-38, p. 9. Did AVK die in A. D. 1657 or 1659 ?

“ हिंदु काय ब्रजसि हृदयं कुत्र मे चोरयित्वा
लब्धोऽसि त्वं कथमपि मया मृत्युमाणाञ्जरेण ॥ ८७ ॥ ”

Dayādeva replied that he was Brahmin and showed her his Yajñopavīta (sacred thread)

“ विप्रोऽहं तत् प्रणयपदवीं तेऽधिगन्तुं न योग्यो ”

Cimanī said :—

“ मेवं ब्रूयाः पुनरपि सखे योग्य एवासि यस्मात् । ”

Dayādeva :—

“ त्वन्मायुध यद्वधि मनोमग्नमासीन्ममासं
विप्रोऽहं तत् प्रभृति पुरतः पश्य यज्ञोपवीतं ॥ ८८ ॥ ”

The two lovers passed their time happily as stated in St. 101 which concludes the romantic poem :—

“ अनुनिशमवशिष्टं कर्तुमासीन्न किञ्चित्
किमपि न कृतमेव प्रत्यभानुप्रमाते ।
यवनिपतितनूजे प्रोषिते भाग्यभाजो-
रिति विविधविलासैर्वांसराणि व्यहरीयुः ॥ १०१ ॥ ”

The poet is conscious of the beauty of this romantic poem as depicted by him :—

“ रस एव स ईश्वरः श्रुताविति निर्णीतमतोऽभिधीयते ।
चिमनीचरिते रसाश्रितं वचनं चेन्न मम भ्रमः भ्रमः ॥ १०२ ॥ ”

The poem seems to be a true story based on a contemporary love affair developed in the harem of Allāh Vardī Khān Turkmān. Whether any echo of this love story is found in Persian Sources, I cannot say at present as I am not conversant with these sources. With a view to helping further investigation of this story I represent its historical back-ground with the persons concerned in it as follows :—

The following table will show persons indentified by me on the strength of Cimanī-carita and other sources :—

Cimanī-carita = CC (A.D. 1656)	Persian Sources (= P) and Nasik Inscriptions (= N)
(1) Alaha Virdī Khān called अलहावीर, यवनपति in CC.	(1) Allāh Virdī Khān Turkmān (N and P)
(2) Cimanī is called “अलहबिरदीज्येष्ठबंधोः तनूजा” & “अलहबिरदीज्येष्ठसूनोः भौर्या” (in CC. St. 52)
(3) Mukhalisa (mentioned in CC, Stanzas 67, 71)	(3) Mukhālīs Khan (P) companion to Prince Parviz (1606-1629 A.D.)
(4) Jāfar (mentioned in CC St. 67)	(4) Jāfar Khān , son of AVK (Beale). Bernier refers to Jāfar but not by name.

The occurrence of the names Alaha Virdī Khān, Mukhlis, and Jāfar in the Cimanī-carita composed in A. D. 1656 by a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita and their indentification in other sources dealing with the life-history of Allāh Vardī Khān Turkmān is not a mere coincidence. We are, therefore, fully justified in presuming that the author of this romantic poem was in full knowledge of the love affair of the daughter-in-law of the celebrated Muslim noble of Shah Jahān's court. It appears that this noble, who employed a Brahmin tutor for the ladies of his household, may have patronised another Pandit of the name *Lal Bihari*¹ who is the author of a Persian version of Mitākṣara composed in A. D. 1657 or so.

As the poem Camanī-carita is not a historical Kāvya we cannot expect any history in it pertaining to the careers of the members of the family of Allāh Vardī Khān. In the foregoing study I have used two rare Manuscripts of the poem in the Govt.

1. Vide p. 228 of Archaeological Survey of India (1929-30) where Mr. Moneer has written a note on the Persian version of the Mitākṣarā. May I request Mr. Moneer to examine the possible identity of Allāvardi, patron of Lal Bihari with Allāvardi Khān Turkmān ?

MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute viz. No. 357 of 1884-87 and No. 698 of 1886-92. One of these MSS is dated Samvat 1764 = A. D. 1708 while the other is dated Samvat 1800 = A. D. 1744. I propose to publish the text of this poem after some time in collaboration with my friend Dr. Har Datta Sharma. I read the MSS of this poem about 15 years ago but I could not then determine with certainty its historical background. Contemporary *Kāvya*s, though not exactly of the historical type have a value of their own in giving to the history of a period that colour which is sometimes lacking in the dynastic and political history of the same period. Poetry as a reflection of contemporary life cannot fail to enrich the cultural history of a period, provided we are able to penetrate the gossamer of the poet's idealized narration and plant our feet on the terra firma of historical truth. I feel confident that close students of the Persian sources of the Mughal period will throw more light on the subject of this paper than what I have been able to do by presenting some new material regarding the household affairs of Allāh Vardī Khān Turkmān.

The Oriental Biographical Dictionary by Thomas William Beale (London, 1894), p. 47 contains biographies of three persons of the name Alahwirdi Khan (or more correctly Ilahwirdi Khan). Two of these persons are mentioned in Cimanī-carita as Alaha Viradī Khān and Jāfar respectively. Their biographies as given by Beale may be recorded here :—

(1) "Alahwirdi Khān — a nobleman of the reign of Emperor Jahangir. He was raised to the rank of 5000 in the time of Shah Jahan and held several offices of importance. He was appointed Governor of Patna and espoused the cause of Sultan Shujā, brother of Aurangzeb A. D. 1658 (A. H. 1068) and after the defeat of Shujā accompanied him to Bengal where he was slain together with his son Saif-ullah, by order of that prince in July A. D. 1659 (Zil-qa'da A. H. 1069)."

(2) "Alahwirdi Khān or more correctly Ilahwirdi Khān, title of Jāfar Khān, the son of Ilahwirdi Khān the first. He was raised to the rank of an Amir by 'Alamgir' with the title of Ilahwirdi Khān 'Alamgir-Shāhi'. He was appointed Subadar of Allahabad where he died in A. D. 1669 (A. H. 1079). He was an excellent poet and has left a Diwān."

The date recorded in this paper amply proves that the poem Cimanī-carita is based on a true story of the love affair of the daughter-in-law of Allāvirdi Khān Turkmān. The chronology pertaining to the author of the poem and the historical persons connected with the poem may be represented as follows to enable the students of Persian sources of the Mughal history to trace, if possible, any references to this love affair in these sources say between A. D. 1620 and 1660 :—

A. D.	Particulars
	AVK = Allāh Vardī Khān.
	NS = Nilakanṭha Śukla.
1606-1627	AVK came to India and was presented to the Mughal Court through his brother Mukhliskhān
1626	AKV made Superintendent of hunting excursions,
1627	AVK attached to Mahābat Khān for service in the field.
1636	AVK conquers Nasik forts according to inscriptions.
1637	NS composed his work on grammar called the Śabdaśobhā .
1653	AVK accompanied Dārā Shukoh to Persia for the capture of Qandhār.
1656	NS composed Cimanī-carita which mentions Alla Vardī Khān , Mukhlis , Jāfar .
1657	AVK was captured by Shujā at his house in Benares and put to death along with his son Saifullāh for faithlessness.
1659	According to Beal AVK and his son Saifullāh were slain in Bengal by order of Shujā.
C. 1659	Aurangzeb raises Jāfar Khān to the rank of an Amīr. (Beale)
1669	Death of Jāfar Khān at Allahabad, where he was Subadar.

In the present paper I have presumed that Jāfar Khān, the son of AVK was the husband of Cimanī, the heroine of the Cimanī-carita. Jāfar Khān's brother Saifullāh and his father AVK were slain by Sultan Shujā either in A. D. 1657 at Benares or in A. D. 1659 in Bengal. Jāfar died in A. D. 1669 i.e. about 10 or 12 years after the death of his father and brother. He was in the favour of Aurangzeb. The Cimanī-carita describes the love of Cimanī with the Brahmin¹ tutor Dayādeva Śarmā but we have no information in this romantic poem about the relation of Jāfar with Cimanī subsequent to her clandestine love with her tutor. The Cimanī-carita reminds us of Tennyson's Launcelot and Guenever.

1. The Cimanī-carita, depicting the love of a Muslim girl for a Brahmin tutor, reminds us of (1) Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāya and his yavanī and (2) Lolimbarāja and his Ratnakalā. Jagannātha flourished in the middle of the 17th century while Lolimbarāja lived during the last quarter of the 16th century (Vide my paper on Lolimbarāja and his Works — Indian Culture, Vol. VII, No. 3, pp. 327 ff.

42. Date of Padyaracanā of Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa Aṅkolkar — Between A. D. 1625 and 1650*

The *Padyaracanā*¹ of Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa Aṅkolakara was published in 1908. Its editors state² that they have no evidence to decide the date of this author but the MSS on which their edition was based were copied on paper which may have been older than a hundred years. They also state that Lakṣmaṇa was a poet of Mahārāṣṭra.

Aufrecht makes the following entries regarding the *Padyaracanā*³ in his catalogue of MSS :—

* Journal of Oriental Research (Madras), Vol. XV, pp. 184–193.

1. Kāvya-mālā No. 89, N. S. Press, Bombay, 1908.

2. “आङ्गोलकर श्रीलक्ष्मणभट्टः—आङ्गोलकरोपनामकः श्रीलक्ष्मणभट्टः कदा समुत्पन्न इति प्रमाणानुपलम्भाच्च शक्यते निर्णेतुम्; परं नायमेकस्माद्वर्षशतकादवाचीन इति शक्यते वक्तुम्। यदाधारेणास्याः पद्यरचनाया मुद्रणं जातं तत्पुस्तकद्वयमपि शताद्वर्षेभ्यः प्राचीनेषु पत्रेषु लिखितमिति। कविरयं जाल्या महाराष्ट्रो भवेत्.”

One of the 2 MSS used by the Editors was made available to them by the late Dr. K. B. Pathak, while the other was obtained from the collection of the late Śrī Rupadatta, the Rajaguru at Jaipur. The Editors have merely noted the names of the poets whose verses have been quoted by Lakṣmaṇa in his anthology, but they have made no attempt to fix the limits of the date of the Padyaracanā on the strength of these names.

The Kāvya-mālā edition of the Padyaracanā contains lacunae in the text of some verses on pp. 5, 12, 14, 15, 62, 63, 64, 69, 71, 73, 74, 77, 79, 90, 91, 92, 93, 95, 116, 117. Many of these could be filled up by using the three MSS of the Padyaracanā in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute.

3. The Govt. MSS Library (B. O. R. Institute) possesses the following MSS of the work :—

(1) No. 726 of 1886–92 — पद्यरचना dated Samvat 1797 = A. D. 1741.

CC I, 324 — “पद्यरचना metrics, by Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa. B. 3. 62. Bhr. 148.”

CC II, 72 — “पद्यरचना metrics, by Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa. Peters. 4. 27.”

CC III, 69 — “पद्यरचना metrics, by Lakṣmaṇa. Bd. 422.”

A perusal of the Kāvya-mālā Edition of the Padyaracanā will make it clear that the work is an anthology dealing with different topics in the usual style and has nothing to do with “metrics” as wrongly described by Aufrecht, who was evidently misled by the title पद्यरचना in giving the subject of the work.

The first 5 verses of the anthology are by the author himself as they are followed by the endorsement “समैव लक्ष्मणस्य.” In verse 1 the author salutes god Śiva (“पायाञ्चरो धूर्जटिः”). In verses 3 and 4

After verse 93 of the Kāvya-mālā Edition which appears on folio 52 of this MS, we find recorded the contents of the anthology chapter by chapter. These contents are followed by the following verses :—

“तदेतैर्व्यापारैरियमुपाचिता पञ्चदशभि-

The last 2 verses recorded above appear to be genuine though they are not to be found in the following MSS of the Padyaracanā which are incomplete :—

(2) No. 148 of 1882-83 — Incomplete ; contains folios 33 to 74. Colophon of Chap. XIV appears on folio 70. Old in appearance.

(3) No. 422 of 1887-91 — Very old and brittle ; incomplete ; about 46 folios — Colophon of Chap. XII appears on folio 44.

The MS “B. 3. 62” mentioned by Aufrecht consisted of 54 leaves and was in the possession of Acharatlal Vaidya of Ahmedabad in 1872 (Vide p. 63 of Bühler, Fasc. III — Gujarat MSS etc. 1872.)

the authorship of the work is ascribed to लक्ष्मण (" निमित्तिलक्ष्मणस्य " and " कृतिः लक्ष्मणीया "). Verse 3 clearly states the purpose of the anthology, viz. to give repose to logicians whose minds are distressed by the accumulated heat produced by logic. Lakṣmaṇa has composed this anthology which is as it were the shade of the Kalpavṛkṣa or the desire-yielding tree.

In the body of the anthology many verses are followed by the endorsement " लक्ष्मणस्य " which appears to indicate that these verses were composed by our author. The last 2 verses of the anthology are followed by the endorsement " एतौ लक्ष्मणस्य " which leaves no doubt about their authorship.

The total number of verses in the Padyaracanā is as follows :-

Chapter	Verses	Chapter	Verses	Chapter	Verses
I	47	VI	20	XI	40
II	39	VII	41	XII	41
III	74	VIII	43	XIII	68
IV	67	IX	58	XIV	90
V	25	X	23	XV	93
	<hr/> 252		<hr/> 185		<hr/> 332

The total number of verses as specified above comes to 769, and if we add the 2 verses found at the end of MS No. 726 of 1886-92 (Padyaracanā) this number would be 771.

We have now to see what exact contribution Lakṣmaṇa has made to the present anthology. The following table records verses in each chapter which are followed by the endorsement " लक्ष्मणस्य " and which may, therefore, be looked upon as the composition of our author :-

Chapter I - 13 Verses, 1, 2, 3, 4, 11, 17, 26, 29, 30, 34, 35, 42, 44.

Chapter II - 12 Verses, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 16, 17, 19, 27, 30, 31.

Chapter III - 7 Verses, 9, 33, 44, 45, 55, 56, 57.

Chapter IV - 14 Verses, 1, 2, 6, 7, 17, 23, 24, 32, 33, 36, 46, 50, 55, 56.

Chapter V - 3 Verses, 1, 2, 3.

Chapter VI - 3 Verses, 8, 9, 10.

Chapter VII - 2 Verses, 41, 25.

Chapter VIII - 7 Verses, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21.

Chapter IX - 4 Verses, 9, 17, 33, 43.

Chapter X - 4 Verses, 7, 8, 13, 18.

Chapter XI - 12 Verses, 7, 11, 16, 18, 19, 23, 31, 32, 33, 36, 36-a, 37.

Chapter XII - 12 Verses, 1, 9, 14, 15, 16, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30, 35, 36.

Chapter XIII - 25 Verses, 4, 5, 6, 15, 20, 22, 25, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 63, 64, 65, 66, 68.

Chapter XIV - 26 Verses, 2, 12, 17, 18, 21, 22, 23, 25, 28, 29, 33, 35, 37, 38, 41, 50, 51, 57, 62, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 81, 82.

Chapter XV - 8 Verses, 2, 28, 29, 51, 57, 70, 92, 93.

Total 152 Verses ascribed to Lakṣmaṇa.

It would be seen from the above analysis that out of the total of 769 verses of the Padyaracanā, Lakṣmaṇa claims no less than 152 verses i.e. about one fifth of the entire anthology. Evidently he wanted to shine among the learned of the past generations by incorporating his own compositions in this anthology of their verses. His purpose appears to have been served by the publication of the anthology in the Kāvya-mālā Series, which has already immortalised many poets and poetasters.

With a view to fixing the earlier limit to the date of the Padyaracanā we must record the names of authors mentioned in this anthology. These authors are as follows :—

In the above list we find that Lakṣmaṇa mentions and quotes from an author called अकबरीय कालिदास¹ who was of course patronized by Emperor Akbar (A. D. 1556-1605).

In view of the references to अकबरीय कालिदास found in the Padyaracanā we may fix A. D. 1610 or so as the earlier limit to the date of the Padyaracanā of Lakṣmaṇa. The later limit to the date of this anthology may be fixed at A. D. 1710 or so in view of the dated MS of the work copied in A. D. 1741 (B. O. R. I. MS No. 7.6 of 1886-92).

Mr. Krishnamachariar² states that Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa, the commentator of the Naiṣadha Kāvya of the Śrī Harṣa "also wrote a poem Padyaracanā." Let us now see if this statement is correct.

Lakṣmaṇabhaṭṭa, the author of the commentary on the Naiṣadha was the son of Rāmakṛṣṇa³ but the name of the father of Lakṣmaṇa the author of the Padyaracanā is not traceable in the Padyaracanā.

1. गदाधरभट्ट in his anthology रसिकजीवन composed about A.D. 1660 quotes verses of अकबरीय कालिदास, viz.,

(1) "हस्ताम्भोजाभिमाला.....कृपाणी ?"

(2) "हेमाम्भोरुहपत्तने.....शनैर्गच्छति"

(See Dr. H. D. Sharma's article on Hari Kavi—I. H. Q., X, p. 484) Lakṣmaṇa quotes 2 verses from अकबरीयकालिदास on pp. 11 and 21, viz.,

(1) "तुङ्ग ब्रह्माण्डसिंहासन.....यशश्चक्रवर्ती बधेल"

(2) "हस्ताम्भोजालिमाला.....कृपाणः"

"The verse "हस्ताम्भोजालिमाला" is common to रसिकजीवन and पद्यरचना. We have, therefore, three verses ascribed to अकबरीय-कालिदास."

In the same manner it is difficult to identify लक्ष्मण the author of the Padyaracanā with लक्ष्मण the author of a work called रत्नमाला as appears to have been done by Aufrecht (CC I, 536). In the Padyaracanā the author invokes God Śiva in the first verse while in the Ratnamālā he bows to God Kṛṣṇa (“ कृष्णं नमामि मनसा वसुदेव-सुनुम् ”). In the absence of any objective proofs to enable us to identify the three authors of the name लक्ष्मण¹ it is open to doubt if they are identical or otherwise. At any rate no a priori case for their identity has been forthcoming.

On p. 8 of the Padyaracanā the following verse is introduced as “ लक्ष्मणस्य ” in the manner of many other verses of लक्ष्मण the author of the anthology :—

“ अथ गङ्गा —

इयं चिद्रूपापि प्रकटत्तररूपापि भगवती
यदीयाम्भोबिन्दुर्वितरति च शम्भोरपि पदम् ।
पुनाना धुन्वाना निखिलमपि नानाविधमधं
जगत्कृत्स्नं पायादनुदिनमपायात्सुरधुनी ॥ ४२ ॥

—लक्ष्मणस्य ”

चरितटिका गूढार्थप्रकाशिका by लक्ष्मणभट्टशर्मा रामकृष्णभट्टसुनुः.” Vide also my article on the date of this commentator in the Calcutta Oriental Journal (Vol. II pp. 309-312) where I have proved that this author flourished between A. D. 1431-1730.

Aufrecht (CC I, 536) makes the following entry regarding the author of the Padyaracanā :—

“ लक्ष्मणभट्ट — Padyaracanā
— Ratnamālā ”

R. Mitra describes a MS of रत्नमाला (p. 286 of Vol. VI of Notices, 1882) as a “ collection of miscellaneous verses illustrating particular rhetorical maxims, with many riddles and enigmas.” In this description the name of Lakṣmaṇa's father is not found. The work consists of 354 Ślokas.

1. Peterson (p. 54 of Third Report) describes a palm-leaf MS of a work called सूक्तावली composed by लक्ष्मण (“ सूक्तानां संप्रदं चक्रे लक्ष्मणो लक्षसूक्तिकम् — verse 1). This MS was in the Temple of Śāntinātha, Cambay.

In the *Padyāṃṭataraṅgiṇī*¹ Haribhāskara composed in A. D. 1673 we find the above verse² quoted as follows :—

Folio 18a of MS No. 314 of 1884-86.

“ इयं चिद्रूपापि प्रकटजलरूपापि भगवती
यदीयाम्भोबिन्दुवितरति च शम्भोरपि पद्मम् ।
पुनाना धुम्बाना निखिलमपि नानाविधमघं
जगत्कृत्स्नं पायादनुदिनमपायात्सुरधुनी ॥ ४१ ॥

—लक्ष्मणस्य’

I am inclined to presume that Haribhāskara Agnihotri who composed his anthology in A. D. 1673 and who quotes one of Lakṣmaṇa's verses about Gaṅgā apparently knew the Padyaracanā for which I have fixed the chronological limits, viz. “Between A. D. 1610 and 1710.” If this presumption is correct we must suppose, on the strength of the identification of the two verses, that the Padyaracanā of our Lakṣmaṇa is earlier than A. D. 1673, the date of composition of the Pādyāṃṭataraṅgiṇī. I am, therefore, inclined to hold the view that the date of the Padyaracanā must lie, say between A. D. 1625 and 1650. This view is consistent with the statement made by the editors of the Padyaracanā that Lakṣmaṇa Aṅkoḷkar³ was a native of Mahārāṣṭra. It is possible to suppose that Haribhāskara, who was himself a native of Nasik in Mahārāṣṭra, knew the work of Lakṣmaṇa Aṅkoḷkar, another earlier author of an anthology similar to the Padyaracanā.

1. Vide my article on this anthology in the Calcutta Oriental Journal, Vol. III pp. 33-35. The exact date is 12th June 1673. . . .

2. This verse has been quoted in the Subhāṣitaratnabhāṇḍā-gāra (N. S. Press, 1911) p. 9 — verse 124.

3. Surnames ending in Kar current in the Mahārāṣṭra generally indicate that the native place of the holder of the surname is identical with the name of the place preceding the affix Kar. Lakṣmaṇa Aṅkoḷ-Kar may have been a native of Aṅkoḷ. There is a village of the name Aṅkoḷ in Chikodi Tālukā of the Belgaum District in the Bombay Presidency. I cannot say if Aṅkoḷ = Aṅkoḷ.

43. Some Verses about the Kāyastha-Parabhūs composed by Keśava Paṇḍita by the Order of King Sambhāji, Son of Shivāji
— c. A. D. 1675 *

In a work called the *Parabhū-prakaraṇa*¹ which contains an account of the Parabhū grāmaṇya of A. D. 1747 during the reign of the Maratha King Shāhu, grandson of Shivāji, some 33 verses are quoted as the composition of Śambhurāja or Sambhāji (“ शंभु-राजकृतश्लोकाः ”). The Parabhū-prakaraṇa is a work of anonymous authorship² composed by some one after A. D. 1759 and before about A. D. 1800.³ In view of these verses appearing in a later work removed more than 100 years from Sambhāji's death in A. D.

* Annals (B. O. R. Institute), Vol. XX, pp. 235-248.

1. Two Mss of this work are available to me viz. (1) No 567 of 1883-84 and (2) a Ms in the Limaye Collection of the B. O. R. Institute.

2. Verse 1 at the beginning reads :—

“ श्रीसिद्धिबुद्धिसहितं प्रणम्य गणनायकं ।
केनचिद्विदुषा रच्या लिख्यते परभूकथा । ”

The B. O. R. I. Ms (No. 567 of 1883-84) of the परभूपकरण has the following closing verse :—

“ इत्थं तु परभूवृत्तमभूच्छाहौ प्रशासति ।
स्मृत्यर्थं तत् फक्किमाभिरवधनात् कोपि पंडितः ॥ ”

It will thus be seen that the author of the work has taken sufficient care to keep himself anonymous. Both the above verses occur in the Calcutta copy of the work made by प्रभाकर गोविंद ज्योतिषी in A. D. 1810 (Śaka 1732). Vide Mitra's Notices, X., p. 296.

3. The Calcutta Ms of the work is dated Śaka 1732 = A. D. 1810 (Vide p. 296 of Mitra's Notices, Vol. X, 1892) Ms No. 4198. The latest date mentioned in Limaye Ms of the परभूपकरण is Śaka 1681 (= A. D. 1759).

1689 their authorship as mentioned in the *Parabhū-prakaraṇa*¹ is open to challenge. We must, therefore, record and discuss these verses to enable the students of the Maratha history to form their own judgment on the question of the authorship of these verses.

The text² of these verses based on the two Mss of the Parabhū-prakaraṇa available to me reads as follows :—

This work was composed possibly in connection with the Parabhū-grāma-nyā of A. D. 1823 with which Bālājipant Natu of Poona was closely associated. (Vide चांद्रसेनाय कायस्थप्रभु अस्सल आज्ञापत्रे by T. V. Gupte, Poona, 1918 — The आज्ञापत्र of Śaṅkarācārya published here on pp. 1–21 is dated Śaka 1748 = A. D. 1826. Nilakaṇṭha Śāstri mentioned in this आज्ञापत्र is identical with the author of the Kāyastha-Parabhū Dharmādarśa. In the B. O. R. I. Ms (No. 567 of 1883-1884) of the Parabhū-prakarṇa the following colophon has been written in the top-margin of folio 11^a as an addition after verse 33 :—

“इति श्री शंभुराजाज्ञया शंभुराजसभायां विद्वज्जनसहकेशवपंडितकृत-
 कायस्थपरभूनिर्णयः ॥ शके १५९७ राक्षसनामसंवत्सरे तद्दिनि रामचंद्रज्योतिर्विद्वा
 कल्याणस्थेन लिखितं ”

The above colophon suggests that the verses quoted above were copied from some Ms having the above colophon which states the following important particulars :—

- (1) The title of the verses taken together was कायस्थपरभूनिर्णय.
- (2) The verses were composed by केशवपंडित by the order of शंभुराज or Sambhāji in consultation with other learned men of the court of Sambhāji.
- (3) The verses were copied by one Rāmacandra Jyotirvid or Joshi of Kalyāṇa in Śaka 1597 or A. D. 1675.

This colophon also suggests that the Mss of कायस्थपरभूनिर्णय by Keśava Paṇḍita (from which verses were reproduced in the परभू-प्रकरण) actually existed, one such copy having been made in A. D. 1675 as proved by the above colophon.

The year of the Kalyāṇa copy of Keśava Paṇḍita's work viz. A. D. 1675 (Śaka 1597) seems to show that this copy was prepared in the very year in which the Parabhū grāmaṇya of Śaka 1597 took place according to a document^७ dated A. D. 1873 which gives some particulars about 9 Parabhū grāmaṇyas, the 4th of which took place at Kalyāṇa in Śaka 1595 = A. D. 1675. The identity of subject matter, date and place as proved by the B. O. R. I. Ms colophon and the list published by Rajawade is not a mere coincidence and hence it retains its evidential value unless contradicted by stronger contemporary evidence.

The contents of the 33 verses quoted already may be briefly indicated as follows :—

Bālāji Prabhū of the Kāyastha caste hailed from the village Pāncvaḍ founded by Shivāji. He was a scribe to Shivāji. Bālāji wanted to perform the Muñja ceremony of his son Khaṇḍa¹ and made arrangements accordingly. He went to Shivāji with an invitation for the Muñja ceremony. Shivāji directed Bālāji² to follow the advice of Sambhāji in this matter of the performance of the Muñja ceremony of his son. He, therefore approached Sambhāji and invited him to attend the ceremony. He also sought his order for performing the ceremony. Sambhāji refused to allow the performance of the ceremony, as according to the Śāstras the Kāyasthas could not do so. Thereupon Bālāji returned home rather disappointed and then dispersed his friends and relatives that had gathered at his house for the Muñja ceremony. — Keśava Paṇḍita composed by royal order these verses containing the substance of Sambhāji's advice to Bālāji Parabhū.

I am inclined to believe that Keśava Paṇḍita who composed the verses under discussion is identical with Keśava Paṇḍita, the author of the Rājārāma Carita published by Mr. V. S. Bendre. In fact the following verse 22 of Sarga IV (p. 42) of this poem composed by this Paṇḍita refers to Khaṇḍo Ballāla, who is no other than master Khaṇḍa, the Son of Bālāji Parabhū mentioned in the verses (Circa A. D. 1675) :—

“खण्डोबल्लाळमुल्याश्च कायस्थाश्चित्रगुप्तजाः ।
चंद्रसेनान्वयाश्चान्ये श्रीदाह्म्यकृतगोपनाः ॥ २२ ॥”

1. Khaṇḍo Ballāl Chitṇis died in A. D. 1726 (vide p. 263 of Marathī Riyāsat (Part II, Vol. IV, 1922) by G. S. Sardesai. His son Govind Khaṇḍo (A. D. 1716–85) was a Chitṇis to Raja Shahu.

2. Bālāji Āvji became Chitṇis to Shivāji in Śaka 1570 = A. D. 1648. This date is given in the Bakhar of Malhar Rāmrao and in the Śivapratapa but the Jedhe Chronology has no mention of it (vide p. 203 of शिवचरित्रप्रदीप—S. N. Joshi's article).

This verse tells us that in the expedition of Rājārāma Chatrapati to Jinji in A. D. 1690 Khaṇḍo Ballāḷa and other men of his caste were present. This caste is specified by our author by the adjectives —

“कायस्थाः चित्रगुप्तजाः, चंद्रसेनान्वयाः” and “दास्यकृतगोपनाः”

The origin of the Cāndraseniya Kāyastha Parabhūs as specified by the above adjectives in the Rājārāma Carita is analogous to that mentioned in the Sahyādri Khaṇḍa of the Skandapūrāṇa; but it is difficult to assert that Keśava Paṇḍita had before him a the text of the Sahyādrīkhaṇḍa as we find it today.¹

Now let us consider the chronology of Khaṇḍo Ballāḷa Chitṇis and Keśava Paṇḍita in parallel columns :—

Keśava Paṇḍita = KP	A. D.	A. D.	Khaṇḍo Ballāḷa = KB
		1648	Khaṇḍo's father Bālāji became Chitnis to Shivāji (according to Chitnis Bakhar and Shiva-pratāpa).
KP composed some verses by order of Sambhāji about the Kāyastha Parabhūs.	C 1675	C 1675	Probable date of the proposed Muñja ceremony of KB
KP received 1600 laris from Sambhāji	1684	1681-89	KB was Chitnis to Sambhāji.
KP's signature occurs in a document of 16-3-1686 (Rajawade Khaṇḍa VIII , 40)	1686

1. Verse 22 states “सह्याद्रिखंडे परमुकायस्थोत्पत्तिरीरिता” but this verse is omitted in the Rajapur Ms of the Kāyastha-Parabhū-Nirṇaya which appears to me to be the oldest Ms of the work. In fact its owner Mr. R. K. Patankar calls it “जरा जर्जरवर्णः” in the versified endorsement on its copy supplied by him to the B. I. S. Mandal, Poona. The date of the Sahyādrīkhaṇḍa is still a matter for investigation though it appears to have been composed before A. D. 1700.

Keśava Paṇḍita = KP	A. D.	A. D.	Khaṇḍo Ballāl = KB
KP composed Rājārāma carita which refers to KB in IV, 22	1690	1690	KB accompanied Rājārāma to Jinji with some men of his caste.
Rāmacandra Nilakaṇṭha asks the Havalḍar of Sangmeshvar to hand over certain lands to KP (Peshwa Daftar 31-Letter No. 53 dated 27-3.1692)	169?
Date of KP's death on 22nd February 1718 (Saturday) according to the genealogy of the Purohita family in my possession (Śaka 1640 Phālgun Shuddha 2) This date needs corroboration from other sources.	1718	1718	Death of KB's friend Parashurām Tryambak Pratinidhi (p. 288 of History of Satara Pratinidhis , Vol. I, 1924).
In a grant from Śambhu Chatrapati to KP's son Rāmachandrabhat dated Wednesday, 26th February 1718 we read :— “केशवभट निधन पावले.” (A copy of this Grant is in my possession as supplied by Devarukh court on 10th February 1931).		1726	Death of KB.

The above chronology makes it highly probable that the 33 verses' recorded in this paper are the genuine composition of

1. The Bharata Itihāsa Samshodhak Mandal, Poona, contains a copy of these verses under the designation “परम् कथा.” This copy was supplied to the Mandal by Mr. Raghunātha Krishna Patankar of Rajapur (Ratnagiri Dist.). Verses 22, 23, 24 and 28 are omitted in Keśava Paṇḍita, the author of the Rājārāmacarita. If this view is accepted the importance of these verses will be easily recognized especially in view of the fact that no other original work of this author except the Rājārāmacarita (edited by Mr. V. S. Bendre) has been so far discovered and published. As Keśava Paṇḍita was closely connected with Śrī Shivāji Mahārāja and also his sons Sambhāji and Rājārāma, an effort should be made by all interested in the Maratha history to search for more information about the life and works of this important personality who lived, moved and had his being in the personal presence of the three outstanding Chatrapatis between A. D. 1650 and 1700.

P. S. (1) Keśava Paṇḍita appears to have compiled a work on Dharmaśāstra called Dharmakalpalatā for King Sambhāji, son of Shivāji. A portion of this work called दण्डीनीतिप्रकरण 'is represented by a copy preserved in the Tanjore Mss Library (Ms No. 536—Vide Burnell's Catalogue p. 141 — "दण्डीनीति प्रकरण from नीतिमञ्जरी of शम्भुराज). This copy was made for Shāmji Nāyaka Puṇḍe in the year 'दुन्दुभि' which corresponds to A. D. 1682. Mr. V. S. Bendre informs me that Shāmaji Nāyaka Puṇḍe was appointed

This copy ends—इति श्री शम्भुराजाज्ञया शिवराजसभायां विद्वज्जनकेशवपंडितकृत कायस्थपरभूनिर्णयः ॥ इति श्री परभूकथा समाप्तिमगम् ॥ Then follows a Sanskrit versified endorsement by Mr. Patankar as follows :—

The above Ms is described under the title बुधभूषण in the Descriptive Catalogue of Tanjore Mss, Vol. XVIII (1934), p. 8665 — No. 18737. A second copy of the work is indicated as No 18738 but not described. A work called बुधभूषण is edited by Prof. H. D. Velankar for B. O. R. Institute (1926). Mr. V. S. Bendre intends to publish in the near future the दण्डनीतिप्रकरण referred to above so that we shall have before us three works of Keśava Paṇḍita viz. (1) राजारामचरितम् (A. D. 1690), (2) दण्डनीतिप्रकरण (before A. D. 1682) and (3) कायस्थपरभूनिर्णय (A. D. 1675).

(2)—As the march of Rājārāma Chatrapati to Jinji in 1690 became the subject of the poem Rājārāmacarita by Keśava Paṇḍita in the Marāthā country, the siege of Jinji (1689-1697) appears to have captured the imagination of the people in the south so as to become the subject of a Mono-Drama in Tamil called “Seyda-K-Kādi Nonḍi-Nāṭakam” (Ed. with Notes and English Introduction by Dr. S. M. H. Nainar, University of Madras, Annals of Oriental Research, 1939, Vol. IV, Part 1). This is a drama of the lame man, who sings in honour of Seyda-K-Kādī, a generous patron of Tamil poets, both Hindu and Muslim. This patron was a great friend of Vijaya Raghunāth Tevar alias Kilvan Setupati, (1674-1710). The author of the drama appears to have been a convert to Islam. The lame man gives in the drama his autobiography in which he recounts his adventurous journey to Jinji where the war between the Mughals and the Marathas was in full blaze after the execution of Sambhāji Chatrapati in A. D. 1689. The drama contains a contemporary picture in words of the Siege of Jinji and is full of references to contemporary Mughal commanders under Zulfiqar-khān and the Maratha commanders under Rājārāma Chatrapati. He refers to Rājārāma in the following manner:— "At Jinji, great among the far-famed cities, lived the son of Shivaji Raja, the lion to his foes, at whose feet the enemies prostrate. He was a stern upholder of justice. He was gifted with a beaming face and an attractive personality. He was addicted to the pleasures of life." We must remember that this is a contemporary picture of Rājārāma's personality by a Muslim convert and hence should possess some historical value for the students of the Maratha history. This Mono-Drama in Tamil edited for the first time by Dr. Nainar with an excellent historical introduction and based on only one Ms in the Govt. Oriental Library, Madras, deserves to be translated into Marathi or English for the benefit of the people of the Maharashtra. May I suggest to the Bharata Itihasa Samshodhak Mandal, Poona, to include such a translation of this Mono-Drama in its project of the Sources of Maratha History? As this institution has already published some volumes of the Canarese and Persian sources of the Maratha History, the publication of this Tamil source in the form of a translation will enrich our knowledge of this period. As Dr. Nainar observes the author of the Drama "sends the hero to Jinji and through him has contributed in his own way some interesting materials which help us in our historical studies."

[In the Śāhendravilāsa-Kāvya we find a reference to the siege of Jinji (vide p. 187ff of Indian Antiquary, 1904). This poem was composed by Śrīdhara Veṅkaṭeśa. Rājāram received help from the then Raja of Tanjore :—

“ बलैमंहाराज भवन्निदिष्टिर्दिष्टीन्द्रसैन्धवानि विदारितानि ।
स राजरामश्च तथाभिगुस्तद्वज्रति त्वां महती यशःश्रीः ॥ ”] .

APPENDIX

[I have compared the Limaye Ms (of the Kāyastha-Parabhū Nirṇay of Keśava Paṇḍita — 33 verses) with the Patankar Ms of this work (copy preserved in the B. I. S. Mandal). The variants of the Patankar Ms are noted below with respect to each verse. The Patankar Ms appears to represent the contemporary * text of the work].

* Keśava Paṇḍita has recorded in his verses the decision of Sambhāji Mahārāja about the right of the Kāyastha Parabhū to perform the Muñja ceremony. His references to contemporary persons should, therefore, be naturally indicated by the use of the form " अस्ति " as found uniformly in the Patankar Ms (= P) instead of the form " आसीत् " as used in the Limaye Ms (= L). The following examples will make the point clear :—

Verse 1 — (P) — " अस्ति पृथिव्यां शिवभूपः " for (L) — " आसीत् पृथिव्यां etc. "

List of Persons, Places and works mentioned in the Kāyastha-Parabhū-Nirṇaya composed by Keśava Paṇḍita in c. A. D. 1675 by the order of Sambhāji :—

- शिवभूष — Shivāji Mahārāja (1, 2, 6, 8, 29) died A. D. 1680.
- शंभुराज — Sambhāji Mahārāja (2, 7, 8, 9, 12, 19, 31, 33) died A. D. 1689.
- पांचवट नगर — Pācvaḍ at the foot of Raigad fort, called शिवनिर्मित (3) known as Vāḍi Pācāḍ.
- बालाजी परभू — Bālāji Avaji (3, 4, 10, 18, 31) became Chitnis to Shivāji c. A. D. 1648.
- खण्ड — Son of Bālāji Avaji, commonly known as Khaṇḍo Ballāl Chitnis (died in 1726) (4, 5, 10).
- दाहभ्यगोत्र — Gotra of the Kāyasthas (21).
- उशनस — Sage (22).
- शार्ङ्गधर — Sage (24).
- रामाजी परभू — (26) called by Sambāji as “ मम लेखकः .” According to Rajapur Ms he is called “ ग्रामलेखकः ” by Sambhāji.
- सहाद्रि खंड — Part of the Skandapūrāṇa (28).

केशव पंडित — (38) He composed the Kāyastha-Parabhū-Nirṇaya verses, numbering 29 (according to the Rājāpūr MS) and 33

(according to the Limaye Ms and the B. O. R. I. Govt. Ms No. 567 of 1883-84). He is also the author of the राजारामचरित edited by Mr. V. S. Bendre. His dates range from A. D. 1675 to 1718 a period of 43 years but he must have been at least 25 years old when he composed the verses under reference in A. D. 1675. This calculation would give us a life-time of 68 years for him. His birth date may lie between A. D. 1640 and 1645 but we require evidence on this point.

44. Bernier and Kavindrācārya Sarasvatī at the Mughal Court *

Bernier¹ in his letter to Monsieur Chapelain² despatched from Chiras in Persia on 4th October 1667 describes "the superstitions, strange customs and doctrines of Indous or Gentiles of Hindoostan." This letter is very valuable for students of the history of Sanskrit learning³ at Benares during the 17th century, which yet remains to be written on the strength of contemporary sources, Indian and foreign. We know from Sanskrit sources many eminent pandits of Benares and their illustrious works, but unfortunately no attempt has been made to reconstruct any biographical accounts of them from sources, other than Sanskrit works, which lack in historical materials, unlike the Persian chronicles or the Travel books of foreign observers which are full of chronological and other details so essential for the reconstruction of history. Bernier notwithstanding his "ignorance of Sanskrit, the language of the learned and possibly that of the ancient Brāhmins" has something¹ to say about books written in that tongue. His Agah, Danechmend-kan partly from Bernier's solicitation and partly to gratify his own curiosity took into his service one of the most celebrated Pandits in all the Indies who had formerly belonged to the house-hold of Dara,² the eldest son of king Shah Jahan. This Pandit, Bernier states, was his constant companion during a period of three³ years and he introduced Bernier to the Society of other learned Pandits,⁴ whom he attracted to his house.

3. Bernier's Travels begin with A. D. 1658, the year when Shah Jahan was made a prisoner. His son Dara Shikoh, a patron of Hindu Pandits was executed in A. D. 1659. "One of the most celebrated pandits in all the Indies" who was taken into the service of Bernier's patron Danishmandkhan after Dara's execution in A. D. 1659 was a constant companion to Bernier for three years. These three years must be say between A. D. 1660 and 1667 (the date of Bernier's letter to his friend).

The above information given by Bernier himself in A. D. 1667 raises our curiosity to know the name of the Pandit who kept company with Bernier for three years as also the names of other Pandits who came into learned contact with this acute Frenchman between A. D. 1656 and 1668. Unfortunately Bernier does not Kavindra-Candrodaya, record a list of no less than 69 Pandits who have paid their tributes in prose and verse to Kavindra for his services to the cause of Sanskrit learning by persuading Shah Jahan to abolish the pilgrim tax imposed by him on the Pilgrims to Benares and Allahabad. This list may be recorded here for reference :—

- (1) श्रीकृष्ण उपाध्याय, (2) महाराज मिश्र or हेमराजमिश्र, (3) जयराम भट्टाचार्य, (4) माधवभट्ट, (5) रामदेव भट्टाचार्य, (6) कूर्माचलवीरेश्वर पंडित (possibly from Kumaun), (7) खड्गमिश्र, (8) रघुनन्दनद्विवेद (9) रघुनाथदाक्षित, (10) क्षमानन्द बाजपेयिन्, (11) भट्ट्याभट्ट or भट्ट्याभट्ट, (12) केशवमिश्र, (13) सिद्धेश्वरभट्ट मीमांसक, (14) चक्रपाणि पंडित, (15) गणेशभट्ट धर्माधिकारिन्, (16) नागेश son of सोमराज पंडित, (17) परमेश्वराचार्य, (18) रामकृष्णनागर, (19) विश्वंभरमैथिलोपाध्याय, (20) जगदीशजानीक, (21) रामेश्वर पञ्चानन भट्टाचार्य, (22) जयकृष्ण उपाध्याय, (23) गौरीपतिमिश्र, (24) नीलकंठ आचार्य, (25) दामोदरभट्ट काल, (26) विश्वनाथ ज्योतिर्विद्, (27) धर्मेश्वर अग्निहोत्रिन्, (28) दामोदर उपाध्याय मैथिल, (29) ब्रजभूषणकवि, (30) श्रीस्वामिन्, (31) कृष्णचन्द्रभट्ट, (32) बालकृष्ण त्रिपाठिन्, (33) अनिरुद्ध मिश्र, (34) बालकृष्णज्योतिर्विद्, (35) पूर्णानन्द ब्रह्मचारिन्, (36) मुरलीधर grandson of कालोदासमिश्र, (37) कृष्णाचार्य, (38) महादेव पट्टवर्धन, (39) लीलाधरभट्ट, (40) बदरीनाथ उपाध्याय मैथिल, (41) हीराराम कवि, (42) मौनि वारेश्वर भट्ट, (43) श्रीमहापति उपाध्यय, (44) शिवदत्तमिश्र, (45) कविशेखर, (46) मूधर पाठक, (47) रघुनाथ उपाध्याय, (48) लक्ष्मण महापात्र, (49) श्रीस्वामिशिष्य, (50) तिलभाण्डेश्वर, (51) ब्रम्हेन्द्र सरस्वती, (52) ब्रम्हेन्द्रस्वामिन्, (53) नारायण चतुर्वेद, (54) भानभट्ट or भानुभट्ट, (55) तैलंग वैकुण्ठभट्ट, (56) गंगाराममिश्र, (57) जगन्नाथ पञ्चाननभट्टाचार्य, (58) मैथिलकायस्थ, (59) गुर्जर, (60) स्वामिन्, (61) दयालुमिश्र, (62) वीरेश्वरभट्ट, (63) कमलनयन दाक्षित, (64) ब्रम्हगिरि, (65) त्वरितकविराय or त्वरितगतिकवि, (66) रामभद्र बाजपेयिन्, (67) मौनिरंगनाथ भट्ट, (68) दिवाकरभट्ट, (69) रंगनाथभट्ट गुर्जर.

These Pandits of Benares were all of them contemporaries of Kavindra who was held in high esteem by Shah Jahan and his son Dārā. We must presume them to be living at the time Bernier visited Benares before A. D. 1667 when he wrote his letter from Shiraz in Persia. It is possible to suppose that Bernier may have come into contact at least with a few of them through the Chief of Pandits at Benares between A. D. 1656 and 1667.

record the names of these Pandits from whom he got his information about Sanskrit learning.

I am concerned in this paper with the question of the identification of the "Chief of the Pandits" at Benares described by Bernier in the following extract from Bernier's letter of A. D. 1667 referred to above :—

"When going down the river Ganges, I passed through Benares and called upon the chief of the Pandits, who resides in that celebrated seat of learning. He is a *Fakire*² or Devotee so eminent for knowledge that Chah Jehan, partly for that consideration and partly to gratify the Rajas, granted him a pension³ of two thousand roupies which is about one thousand crowns.

1. Possibly this Chief of the Benares Pandits is identical with Kavīndrācārya about whom M. M. Haraprasad Shastri writes as follows :—

"He journeyed to Agra with a large following and proceeded to the Diwan-i-am and there he pleaded the cause of the Hindu Pilgrims with so much force of eloquence that all the noblemen of the Court from Irak, Iran, Badak-Shan Balkh etc., were struck with wonder Shah Jahan and Dara Shikoh relented and abolished the tax (i. e. the pilgrim tax). That was a day of great rejoicing throughout Hindu India. It was on this occasion that the title of सर्वविद्यानिधान was conferred on him" — Indian Antiquary Vol. XLI, 1912, p. 11 (Vide p. iii of Introduction to Kavindra-Candrodaya ed. by Sharma and Patkar).

2. In his Kavīndrakalpadruma (India Office Cata. Part :VII, No. 3947) Kavīndra refers to his asceticism :—

"अधीलवेदवेदाङ्गकाव्यशास्त्राणि सर्वशः ।

ततः स्वीकृत्य संन्यासं ब्रह्माभ्यासं समाश्रितः ।"

3. If this grant of a pension to Kavīndra is confirmed by any other independent testimony it would prove beyond doubt our suggested identification of Kavīndra with this Pandit. Kavīndra, though a Sanyāsin as stated by himself in his कवीन्द्रकल्पद्रुम used to distribute gold to learned Brahmins as stated in the Kavīndra-Candrodaya :— Page 53 — "सुरनदीतीरे सुवर्णं ददौ and Page 41 — "देतसे कविबरासि मोहरा जो असे प्रभुवरात मोहरा (i. e. Kavīndra distributed gold Mohors to eminent poets). Evidently he used the royal patronage from Shah Jahan and Dara for rewarding poets and learned Brahmins though he himself was an ascetic. This reminds me of Kālidāsa's line "त्याग्य संसृतार्थानाम्."

He is a stout well-made man, and his dress consists of a white silk scarf, tied about the waist, and hanging half way down the leg. and of another tolerably large scarf of red silk, which he wears as a cloak on his shoulders. I had often seen him in this scanty dress at Delhi in the assembly¹ of the Omrahs and before the king,

The foregoing contemporary tributes to Kavindra establish the following points beyond doubt :—

- (1) His contact with Shah Jahan's Court and other princes (भूपाला : p. 8.)
- (2) Title विद्यानिधान conferred on him by Shah Jahan (p. 5.)
- (3) His all-sided learning and eminence acknowledged by all contemporary Pandits of Benares.

and met him in the streets either on foot or in a palkey. During one year he was in the constant habit of visiting my Agah,¹ to whom he paid his court in the hope that he would exercise his influence to obtain the pension of which Aurang-Zebe,² anxious to appear a true Musulman, deprived him on coming to the throne. I formed consequently a close intimacy with this distinguished personage with whom I had long and frequent conversations; and when I visited him at Benares he was most kind and attentive, giving me a collation in the university library,³ to which he invited the six⁴

1. Bernier was in the service of a learned noble with the title Danishmand Khān. This patron of Bernier was the only person who opposed the capital sentence against Dara Shikoh, passed by the Court of theologians for Dara's being a heretic (Vide pp. 415, 425 of Oxford History of India by V. A. Smith, 2nd Edn. 1923). Dara was executed in August 1659 (p. 422.)

2. Ibid p. 422 — Informal enthronement of Aurangzeb took place on 21st July 1658 but he re-entered Delhi for the second time in May 1659 and was enthroned in June 1659 with complete ceremonial.

3. The Editor of Bernier's Travels in footnote 1 on p. 341 possibly identifies this University library with the College at Benares maintained by Mirza Raja Jaisingh for the youth of good families. Tavernier travelled with Bernier from Agra to Bengal in 1665 and visited this college on 11th, 12th and 13th December 1665 (Vide pp. 234-235 of Tavernier's Travels, Vol. II). In this connection I have to point out that Kavindra had a Library of his own (See कवीन्द्राचार्य-सूचीपत्रम् published in the G. O. Series (No. XVII), Baroda, 1921. This Sūcī or Catalogue was obtained from a Maṭh at Benares (p. V of Foreword). Dr. Ganganath Jha states that Kavindra was a Sanyāsin and a rich man." It is surmised that this Library of Kavindra was dispersed after the death of its owner, who being an ascetic had no heirs. Several Kavindrācārya Mss are in the Oriental Institute, Baroda. These Mss can be identified as they contain an endorsement — "सर्वविद्यानिधानकवीन्द्राचार्यसरस्वतीनां पुस्तकम्" on their covers. The B. O. R. Institute contains a Ms of तत्त्वालोक of जनादेन (No. 762 of 1891-95) with the above endorsement. The date of this Ms is Samvat 1514 — A.D. 1458. The endorsement reads:— "श्रीमद्विद्यानिधानकवि-आचार्यसरस्वतीनां वेदान्ततत्त्वालोकः"

4. It may be possible to identify these Six Pandits with some of the 69 admirers of Kavindra who have contributed their prastis to the Kavindra-Candrodaya and who were contemporaries of both of Kavindra and Bernier before A. D. 1667.

most learned Pendets in the town. Finding myself in such excellent company, I determined to ascertain their opinion of the adoration of idols. I told them I was leaving the Indies scandalised at the prevalence of a worship which outraged common sense, and was totally unworthy such philosophers as I had then the honour of addressing. " 1

The above description by Bernier of the Chief of the Benares Pandits with whom he came into intimate contact for about three years leads me to believe that this Pandit is none else than Kavindrācārya Sarasvatī the object of the innumerable prāśastis or addresses recorded in the Kavindrācandrodaya. It is, therefore necessary for me to state my reasons for this identity of Bernier's Pandit with Kavindra and for this purpose I record below in parallel columns the chronology of the data furnished by Bernier's Travels and the Kavindrācandrodaya with respect to contemporary events :—

BERNIER'S TRAVELS = BT	KAVINDRACANDRODAYA = K
Bernier's Travels in India begin A. D. 1655	A. D. 1628 — Enthronement of Shah Jahan.

1. Ibid, p. 342 — The reply given by the Pandits to Bernier in defence of idol worship and which Bernier states " was so framed as to correspond with the tenets of Christianity " reads as follows :—

" Images are admitted in our temples because we conceive that prayers are offered up with more devotion where there is something before the eyes that fixes the mind ; but in fact we acknowledge that God alone is absolute, that He only is the omnipotent Lord. "

BERNIER'S TRAVELS = BT	KAVĪNDRACANDRODAYA = K

Bernier's letter to his friend dated 4th October from Shiraz in Persia A.D.1667

The above table shows that Bernier's account of the Chief Pandit of Benares begins with A.D. 1658 while the account of Kavindra as revealed by the Kavindrachandrodaya pertains to a period of Shah Jahan's reign which ends with A. D. 1658. It will thus be seen that, if we accept the identity of Bernier's Chief Pandit of Benares with Kavindra, Bernier supplies to us a sort of supplement to the information regarding Kavindra recorded in the Kavindrachandrodaya, the two contemporary sources thus revealing the personality of this learned Sanyāsi in the proper historical perspective. In fact no scholar has as yet identified Kavindra in any other contemporary historical source and so far we are required to be content with the Prastāsis as found in the Kavindrachandrodaya. We must, therefore, try to link up the two contemporary sources to enable us to form a picture of Kavindra more full of historical details than what it is at present in spite of the attempts of Dr. Jha and other scholars to bring this personality into historical relief.

The data collected by me in favour of my proposed identification of Bernier's Pandit with Kavindra has been recorded by me earlier in details in the several footnotes given by me above. I shall, therefore, state below the points of identification in brief to warrant the above supposition. These points are as follows :—

D. 1658 when Shah Jahan was made a captive and after A. D. 1659 when his son Dārā was executed. We know from other sources that Danishmand Khān was sympathetic towards Dārā and Dārā's circle of Hindu Pandits must have been treated sympathetically by Danishmand Khān.

In the light of the above points we may reconstruct a biographical account of Kavindra as follows:—

Kavindra or Ācārya Kavindra was originally an inhabitant of Puṇyabhūmi on the banks of the river Godāvarī. He learnt the Veda, the Vedāṅgas and other Śāstras and later took to asceticism and commenced meditation on Brahman. He had studied the Āśvalāyana Śākhā of Rgveda. In his very childhood he lost his interest in the world and having taken Sanyāsa he made Benares his abode. When Shah Jahan levied the pilgrim tax on pilgrims to Allahabad and Benares Kavindra, the acknowledged head of the Pandits at Benares exercised his influence effectively on the Mogol Emperor and made him abolish this tax. It was a joyous occasion for the Hindu community in Benares who felt extremely grateful to Kavindra for his miraculous influence with the Emperor which was responsible for the removal of the tax for good. This gratefulness is reflected in the tributes paid to Kavindra in the Kavindra-Candrodaya. Kavindra was well versed in all branches of Sanskrit learning. He appears to have had a fine collection of MSS as proved by the Kavindra List published in the G. O. Series, Baroda. In recognition of Kavindra's eminence in learning the Emperor Shah Jahan conferred upon him the title Vidyānidhāna or Sarvavidyānidhāna as stated in the Kavindra-Candrodaya. Shah Jahan had also given him a pension of Rs. 2000 but it was stopped by Aurangzeb as soon as he came to the throne in 1658-59. Dārā Shikoh the eldest son of Shah Jahān who was a lover of Hindu Philosophy had gathered many pandits round him. Kavindra occupied the foremost place among these pandits and he was included in Dārā's household as stated by Bernier.

After the deposition and imprisonment of his patron Shah Jahān in A. D. 1658 the pension of Kavindra was stopped and this misfortune, coupled with the execution of Dārā Shikoh in A. D. 1659 led Kavindra to seek a new patron viz. Danishmand Khān who was a patron of Bernier the celebrated French traveller. This patron had a soft corner for Dārā and his associates. It was his voice alone that was raised against the capital sentence passed on Dārā by a council of theologians. He entertained Kavindra in his service for some years at the request of Bernier. Kavindra wanted to use the influence of Danishmand Khān to renew the pension of Rs. 2000, stopped by Aurangzeb about A. D. 1659. How far this attempt was successful we cannot say as we have no evidence on the point. Danishmand Khān was, therefore, a common patron of both Bernier and Kavindra after about A. D. 1658-59 when the pataonage from Dārā and Shah Jahān given to him came to an end. For three years Kavindra was a constant companion of Bernier and when Bernier paid a visit to Benares, Kavindra received him warmly in the "University Library" where he had invited six eminent Pandits to discuss many matters of interest to Bernier. Bernier has given us in his letter of A. D. 1667 a detailed account of these discussions. What happened to Kavindra after say A. D. 1667 is a matter for investigation but as Danishmandkhān died in A. D. 1670 Kavindra must have been left without any patronage.

The foregoing connected account of the career of Kavindra between A. D. 1628 and 1667 is based on two contemporary sources viz. (1) Bernier's letter of A. D. 1667 and Kavindra-Candrodaya which was composed before A. D. 1658. It is also based on my identification of Kavindra, the head of Benares Pandits with the Chief of Benares Pandits mentioned and described by Bernier. If my identification is accepted by scholars interested in the problem they would be curious to know something about the common patron of Bernier and Kavindra viz. Danishmand Khān and record here some information about this Khān as recorded by Bernier himself :—

Bernier states (on p. 4) that he was reduced to penury by adventures with robbers and by the heavy expenses of the journey of nearly seven weeks from Surat to Agra and Delhi. He accepted a salary from the Great Mogol in the capacity of physician and soon afterwards by chance he procured a salary from "Danechmendkhān" (= Danishmand Khān) "the most learned man of Asia, formerly Bakchis or Grandmaster of the Horse and one of the most powerful and distinguished Omrahs or Lords of the Court."

On p. 100 Bernier states: "Danechmand Khān although he and Dara had long been on bad terms enforced this opinion viz. that Dara should be taken to Gwalior with all his powers of argument but it was ultimately decided that Dara should die." "Rouchenara Begam betrayed all her enmity against her helpless brother combating the arguments of Danech-Mend and exciting Aurnga-Zebe to this foul and unnatural murder."

On p. 186 Bernier informs us :— Danechmend-Kān was appointed Governor of Delhi and in consideration of his studious habits, and the time which he necessarily devotes to the affairs of the foreign department, he is exempted from the ancient ceremony of repairing twice a day to the assembly for the purpose of saluting the king."

1. Editor's footnote 2 reads :— "A Persian merchant by name Muhammad Shafi, or Mullā Shafi. He came to Surat about the years 1646 from which place he was sent for by the Emperor Shah Jahan who conferred upon him the command of 3000 men and made him paymaster of the army (Bakshī) with the title of Danishmand Khān (Learned Knight). In the reign of Alamgir he received still further promotion and was appointed Governor of Shahajāhanābad or new Delhi where he died in 1670."

On p. 352 Bernier in his letter of 14th December 1664 writes : — "Besides my Navab or Agah Danechmend-Khān expects my arrival with much impatience. He can no more dispense with philosophical studies in the afternoon than avoid devoting the morning to his weighty duties as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and Grand Master of the Horse. Astronomy, Geography and Anatomy are his favourite pursuits and he reads with avidity the works of *Gassendi*¹ and *Descartes*²."

On page 414 — Danechmend-Kān made an attempt to induce Bernier to renounce his religion by making him visit a place called Baramoulay where he might bear testimony to a miracle and be a convert to Muslim religion, but Bernier detected the cheating process and ran away from the place.

The above remarks regarding his patron Danishmand Khān made by Bernier make it abundantly clear that this Khān was a very cultured man of literary abilities and attainments besides being an influential person at the Mogol Court during the reigns of Shah Jahān and Aurangzeb. It is therefore, no wonder that he should patronize other devotees of learning like Bernier and the Chief of the Benares Pandits whom I have identified with Sarva-vidyānidhāna Kavīndrācārya Sarasvatī. It was the tie of learning that brought together a Frenchman of Paris, a Muslim of Persia and a Brahmin of Benares actuated by the only motive of exchange of thought, which we value so so much in modern times and on which depends all advancement of knowledge. As Danishmand Khān died in 1670 A. D. Kavindra may have lost the patronage he had been receiving from this Khān presuming that he survived after A. D. 1670, when he must have been a pretty old man. I am, therefore, inclined to assign the life-period of Kavindra between A. D. 1600 and 1675.³

1. Teacher of Bernier who died in October 1655 (p. XX of Travels) Bernier owed his great powers of accurate observation to his training under Gassendi, the French philosopher.

2. René Descartes (1596-1650).

* 3. Prof. Sri Ram Sharma in his Bibliography of Mughal India

Up to now we have recorded the contemporary estimate of the learning and abilities of Kavindra but have made no reference to the works composed by him. So far as I am aware only one work¹

(1526-1707 A. D.) published by the Karnatak Publishing House Bombay, 1939, gives an Appendix (III) pp. 154-165, on Sanskrit writers of the Mughal Period in which we find Kavindra's name (p. 160) among 63 writers of Shāh Jahān's reign :—

कवीन्द्राचार्य — He was a Vedic Scholar and wrote a commentary on the R̥gveda of which only a fragment is now available."

Other writers of Shah Jahan's reign are :—

अनन्तभट्ट, अनन्तपंडित, अनंतदेव, कमलाकरभट्ट, कमलाकर, कविचन्द्र, कृष्ण (1645), कृष्णदत्तमिश्र (about 1650), कालिदास (1632), गङ्गाधर (1633), गङ्गाधर, गोविन्द, गोकुलजित्, गौरीपति (1640), चिंतामणि (1630), जगन्नाथ पंडित, जगदानन शर्मन्, जिनार्जुन, जीवगोस्वामिन्, दयाद्विवेद (1628), दुर्गादास (1628), देवसागर (1630), धनराज, नन्दपण्डित, नित्यानन्द (1629, 1640), नीलकंठभट्ट, नीलकंठ दीक्षित, पुरुषोत्तम (1628), बलभद्र, भावदेवमिश्र, भावदेव (1649), "भट्टोजि दीक्षित* the famous grammarian and jurist was still alive" (p. 163), मणिराम (1642), मणिराम दीक्षित, माधवशुक्ल (1656), माधवज्योतिर्विद्, महादेव, मित्रमिश्र, रघुनाथ (1656), रत्ननाथ (1656), रामचन्द्र राजर्षि (1633), रामनाथ विद्यावाचस्पति, रामाश्रम, दत्त, विज्ञानानन्द (1641), विद्यानन्द, विद्याधर (1639, 1644), विष्णुपुरि, विष्णु, विश्वराम, विश्वरूप, विश्वनाथ देवज्ञ, विश्वनाथ पञ्चानन भट्टाचार्य, वेदाङ्गराय (1643), वेणीदत्त (1644), शिवराम, श्रीधर्मपतिशर्मन्, सहजकीर्ति, हरिदत्तभट्ट, (1630), A. D. 1632 अथर्वण प्रतिशाख्य टीका by an unknown writer.

I don't think that Bhaṭṭoji was alive after A. D. 1628 as his guru नृसिंहाश्रम composed a work in A. D. 1547 (Vide my paper on Bhaṭṭoji in S. V. O. Institute, Annals Vol. I, pp. 119-127).

- (1) MS in the possession of Govind Śāstri Nirantar
- (2) MS in the possession of Appa Śāstri Khāḍilkar, which is a copy of the above original ascribed to Kavindra has yet been published. We must, therefore, record here the MSS of works ascribed to Kavindra for the use of scholars interested in them.

Aufrecht records the following entries in his Catalogue regarding works and MSS of works composed by Kavindra :—

CC I, 88 — “ कवीन्द्र आचार्य सरस्वती

—Kavindra Kalpadruma¹

— Padacandrikā Daśakumāraṭikā²

L. 3041. K. 60. Bühler 558.

(3) MS from the Elphinstone College Library lent to the Editors by Shridhar Rāmakṛṣṇa Bhandarkar

(4) MS from Ganesh Narasimha Kirkire of Indore.

The Padacandrikā comments only on the 8 Ucchvāsas of the Daśakumāracarita and not on the Pūrvapīṭhikā and the Uttarapīṭhikā. The Editors express surprise why Dr. Bühler did not publish this and other two commentaries on the text then available to him for his edition of the work (1872). They refer to earlier editions of the work viz., (1) By H. H. Wilson (1846), (2) By Bābu Bhuvanacandra Basak (1869–1870) and (3) By Tārānath Tarka Vācaspati (about 1873).

CC II, 17 — कवीन्द्रकल्पद्रुम on poetical composition by Kavindra L. 4028. This is “ neither tantric nor bhakti ” (Vide p. 163 of Notices by H. P. Shastri, Vol. X, 1892). This MS consists of 1572 Ślokas. The topics of the work are गणेशस्तोत्रकीर्तनं, गंगास्तोत्रकथनं, यमुनास्तोत्रं, वितस्ता-स्तोत्रं, सूर्यस्तोत्रं, शिवस्तोत्रं, भवानीस्तोत्रं, नृसिंहरूपवर्णनं, श्रीकृष्णरूपवर्णनं, रामचन्द्ररूप-वर्णनं, हनुमत्स्तोत्रं, प्रास्ताविकश्लोककथनं, शिवरामवर्णनं, पत्रावलम्बनपद्यकथनं, पत्रप्रशस्ति-वर्णनं.

The Ms ends :—

“ तत्त्वज्ञानदूरीकृत महामोहसमवगतसप्तभूमिकासमारोहमहम्मददाराशिको कृता नारा-यणेल्यष्टाक्षरमन्त्रपूर्वका नमस्काराः सन्ति ॥ ” This reference to दाराशिको son of Shah Jahan is important as it shows the contact of Kavindra with this prince.

I have recorded the above entry from Aufrecht's catalogue with a view to indicating what works have been attributed by Aufrecht to Kavīndrācārya. It is not possible for me to examine all the items of this entry by a personal access to the MSS recorded by him. Such work must be left for future study but in the meanwhile I take this opportunity of requesting scholars interested in this historic personality to throw more light on the problem of the present study from any source whatsoever which would be helpful either for contradicting my hypothesis or corroborating it on the strength of contemporary evidence.

“ इति श्री सकलशास्त्रार्थसार्थकीकृतशेमुषीविलासरससान्द्रप्रवर्तिताशेषयशः समुद्रपारिषच्चन्द्र यतीन्द्रसर्वविद्यानिधानश्रीमत्कवीन्द्राचार्यसरस्वतीकृतायां दशकुमारव्याख्यायां पदचन्द्रिकाभिधानायां विधुतचरितं नाम अष्टम उच्छ्वासः ॥ ”

There are two MSS of the पदचन्द्रिका at B. O. R. Institute :—

Govt. MSS Library {No. 128 of 1866-68} . Mr. M. M. Patkar has published an article on this commentary (Vide Poona Orientalist Vol. IV, No. 3, pp. 134-135, 1939).

1. Vide p. 71 of Cata. of Bikaner MSS by R. Mitra, Calcutta, 1880 — MS No. 179 — The MS is described as “ A commentary on the 6th book of the शतपथब्राह्मण by कवीन्द्राचार्य सरस्वती ” The extracts given make no reference to कवीन्द्राचार्य.

2. Vide Burnell's Cata. of Tanjore MSS (1879), p. 163_a — हंसदूतकाव्य — This MS described in Des. Cata. of Tanjore MSS, Vol. VII, 1930, pp. 2893-96. The endorsement “ सर्वविद्यानिधानकवीन्द्राचार्य सरस्वतीनां ” indicates that the MS once belonged to Kavindra. The year of the copy is 1650 (Śaka ? or Saṁvat ?). If Saṁvat the year would correspond to A. D. 1594. The author of the work is unknown. Burnell's description “ Haṁsadūta by Kavīndrācārya Sarasvatī ” is misleading as it is not a work of Kavīndrācārya.

45. A Topical Analysis of the Bhojana-Kutūhala, a Work on Dietetics, composed by Raghunātha — Between A. D. 1675 & 1700 *

I have proved in a special paper¹ that Raghunātha, the author of a work on dietetics called the Bhojana-Kutūhala, was a protégé of the Queen Dipābāi, wife of Ekoji Bhosala of Tanjore, the step-brother of Shivaji the Great. Raghunātha composed some Marathi works at the instance of Queen Dipābāi. In one of his Marathi works called the Narakavarṇana he gives us a list of his Sanskrit works in which we find two works viz. (1) धर्माश्चर्यमहोदधि and (2) भोजनकुतूहल. The Dharmāścharyamahodadhi was composed in A. D. 1701. The Narakavarṇana was composed between 1701 and 1712 A. D. The Bhojanakutūhala was composed before A. D. 1700. As the author of this work was a Mahārāṣṭra Brahman he not only refers to the Deccani dietetics but records and describes the dietetics of other Indian provinces also at times. The B. O. R. Institute has a Ms² of the 1st Pariccheda of this work. With a view to facilitating a close study of this work it is necessary to acquaint interested scholars with its topics. I have, therefore, thought it fit to record below the topics of the treatise as found in the Ms itself. This Ms is No. 594 of 1899-1915 in the Govt. Mss Library at the B. O. R. Institute. It is dated Śaka 1723 = A. D. 1803.

The numbers against each topic in the following list indicate the numbers of the folios of the Ms.

46. Raghunātha, a Protégé of Queen Dīpābāi of Tanjore, and his Works — Between A. D. 1675-1712 *

Aufrecht¹ mentions an author of the name Raghunātha Sūri, who composed a work on Dietetics called the Bhajana-kutūhala. He mentions no other works of this author, though many other namesakes² of Raghunātha and their works are recorded by Aufrecht. I propose to examine in this paper the question of the identity of some of these namesakes with Raghunātha Sūri, the author of the Bhojana-kutūhala, with which I have dealt with elsewhere.³ When I studied this work on dietetics I had no idea that this author had composed any other works. Subsequently Mr. R. Rangachariar published a paper⁴ on the Bhojana-Kutūhala in which

* Journal of the University of Bombay, (N. S.) Vol. X, Pt. 2, pp. 132-140.

1. CC.I, 484 — “रघुनाथसूरि — Bhojana-Kutūhala.”

2. Ibid, pp. 483-486.

3. Annals (B. O. R. Institute), Vol. XXII, pp. 254-263.

4. Journal of S. M. Library, Tanjore, Vol. 1, No. 2 (1939-1940), page 29 — Raghunāthsūri and his Bhojana-Kutūhala.” Here the Colophons of the भोजनकुतूहल and धर्मासृतमहोदधि are recorded as follows :—

— “इति श्रीमद्विद्वद्बृहन्व्यापादारविन्दश्रीमदनन्तदेवोदयस्य रघुनाथविदुषः कृतौ भोजनकुतूहले द्रव्यगुणागुणकथनं नाम प्रथमः परिच्छेदः”

— “इति श्रीमत्सकलभूमण्डलमण्डलायमानश्रीमदनन्तदेवात्मजश्रीमदापदेवतत्सुतश्रीमदनन्तदेवोदयस्य रघुनाथविदुषः कृतौ धर्मासृतमहोदधिनिबन्धने गोदानविधिः”

Mr. Rangachariar identifies अनन्तदेव common to both the above Colophons with अनन्तदेव, the author of the मीमांसान्यायप्रकाश, who “is known to have flourished during the end of the 16th Century A. D.” The author of मीमांसान्यायप्रकाश was आपदेव and not अनन्तदेव. His genealogy is as follows :—

he disclosed another work of this author, viz., Dharmāmṛtamahodhi. This paper led me to an inquiry regarding any other works of this author and the evidence for proving the identity of the authors of these works with Raghunātha, the author of the Bhojana-Kutūhala. Fortunately for my inquiry I was able to get the necessary evidence to prove the authorship of several works attributed to the namesakes of Raghunātha, the author of the Bhojana-Kutūhala. This evidence is as follows :—

Raghunātha, the author of the BK (= Bhojana-Kutūhala) took to the composition of Marathi works after he had composed many Sanskrit works as stated by him in his Marathi work Narakavarṇana composed in Oṽī metre. A MS of this work is available in the Sarasvati Mahal Library at Tanjore.¹ In this work Raghunātha not only claims the BK as his own work but also gives us a list² of

एकनाथ → आपदेव (I) → अनन्तदेव (I) → आपदेव (II) (A. D. 1600-1650)
→ अनन्तदेव [a. of स्मृतिकौस्तुभ] (A. D. 1675-1700).

(Vide my paper on Āpadeva in the F. W. Thomas Com. Volume).

If the statement of the colophon of धर्माश्रुतमहोदधि is correct we must verify what अनन्तदेव is connected with रघुनाथ the author of the BK and the धर्माश्रुतमहोदधि.

Mr. Rangachariar further observes :— “ This Raghunāthasūri appears to be a native of northern parts and a Maharatta for he quotes Maharatta synonyms frequently in this work ”. (i.e. भोजन-कुतूहल). These remarks are correct as will be seen from the Marathi works of our author mentioned later in this paper.

1. Descriptive Cata. of Marathi MSS, Tanjore, by Ramachandrarao, 1929, p. 191 — No. 573 — नरकवर्णन रघुनाथकृत — ओव्या — folios 10. On folio 19 the author informs us :— “ जे जे पुसिले नृपनायकें ॥ ते ते सांगितलें शुके ॥ ते सर्वही दीपांबिका ॥ प्रति निरूपिलें रघुनाथें ॥ ४९ ॥ ”

Dīpāmbikā asked Raghunātha to compose Marathi works for the benefit of the masses who found Sanskrit difficult to understand (संस्कृत कठिन म्हणून प्राकृत). Raghunātha devotes in this work some Oṽīs (55-67) to the eulogy of his patron दीपांबिका called दीपांबास्तवन. She was a royal personage with three illustrious princes as her sons :— “ तीन पुत्रार्थ तिचे भूप । जयेचे पुत्र कुलदीप । दीपांबिका यथार्थरूप । नाम म्हणौनि शोभतसे. ”

2. Ibid, p. 191 — “ पूर्वी केले ग्रंथ बहुत ॥ तया माजी भोजनकुतूहल ॥ दुजे his earlier Sanskrit works. According to this list Raghunātha composed the following works :—

(1) Bhojana-Kutūhala, (2) Sāhitya-Kutūhala, (3) Prāyaścitta-Kutūhala, (4) Janārdana-Mahodadhi, (5) Dharmāmṛtamahodadhi, (6) Kāśīmīmāṃsā. The identity of the author of the Narakavarṇana, a Marathi work composed by Raghunātha, with his namesake, the author of the BK is clearly proved as the former mentions the BK as his own work in the Narakavarṇana represented by the Tanjore MS referred to above. We are thus in a position to have reliable information regarding Raghunātha's literary activity both in the Sanskrit and the Marathi fields as this information is vouched by the statement of the author himself. In fact the list of our author's works as recorded in the Narakavarṇana is a key to the author's literary career covering a period of at least one decade, if not more. We must, therefore, see if we can trace MSS of works mentioned in this list in the collections of various MSS libraries in India. We must also identify the royal patron Dīpāmbikā who inspired Raghunātha to compose Marathi works¹ for the benefit of the public who could not understand the difficult Sanskrit language. It is for students of the history of Marathi literature to trace the Marathi works of the author of the BK and give us a critical account of them for the benefit of Sanskritists. I am concerned in this paper with Raghunātha's contribution to the different branches of Sanskrit learning, indicated by the varied titles of his works recorded by him in the Marathi work Naraka-varṇana.

1. Ibid, p. 193 — Besides the Narakavarṇana MS there are 2 MSS of a work called पतिव्रताधर्म (on the duties of wives) in the Tanjore Library viz., Nos. 578 and 579. I have no doubt that रघुनाथ the author of this work is identical with the author of the नरकवर्णन and भोजनकुतूहल. On Folio 1 of MS No. 578 the author informs us :— “समस्त जनांस उपकारक ॥ हा मनां करूनिया विवेक ॥ पाहोनिया पुराणश्लोक ॥ भाषाप्रबंध करीतसे.” This work may have been composed earlier than the नरकवर्णन which states that the author wrote on क्षीधर्म by order of दीपाविका :— “मग दीपाविकेच्या वचने ॥ प्राकृत क्षीधर्मकथने.”

Before I discuss and record some information about Raghunātha's works referred to above I must try to identify his royal patron, viz., Dīpāmbikā because this identification will alone give us an exact chronology for the literary career of our author. In the Marathi works of Raghunātha he refers to Dīpāmbikā as follows :—

(१) नरकवर्णन — “ तीन पुरुषार्थ तिघे भूप । जयेचे पुत्र कुलदीप ।
दीपांबिका ययार्थरूप । नाम म्हणोनि शोभतसे. ”

(२) पतिव्रताधर्म — “ मग दीपांबिकेच्या वचनें । प्राकृत स्त्रीधर्मकथनें. ”

It is clear from the above references that Dīpāmbikā was a queen and she had three illustrious princes' as her sons (तिघे भूप कुलदीप.) and hence the name दीपांबिका or the mother of these कुलदीप्स was significant. The queen Dīpāmbikā mentioned by Raghunātha in the two works in Marathi appears to me to be identical with the queen Dīpāmbikā, wife of Ekarāja (or Ekoji) step-brother of the Maratha King Shivaji the Great. She has been mentioned in a contemporary Sanskrit work called the *Bhosalavamsāvali*² in the following verses :—

1. One of these three princes viz., Sarabhoji composed a mahā-kāvya called Rāghavacarita (vide pp. 17ff of Tanjore Library Journal Vol. I, No. 3). In the 10 introductory verses of this poem he refers to his grandfather “ शाहाजि ” (v. 2), his father “ एकोजी ” (v. 5) whom he calls तज्जाथिप. He refers to his mother queen दीपांबिका and himself and his elder brother शाहेन्द्र in verses 7, 8, 9, 10, which read as follows :—

“ विश्वंभरोऽसाविह दीव्यतीति । स्वयं च लक्ष्मीरवतीर्य भूमौ ॥ दीपांबिकेति प्रथिता पतिं तम् । अविन्ददिन्दुं किल रोहिणीव ॥ ७ ॥ तस्यामजायन्त सुतास्त्रयोस्य । शत्रे च शत्रे च निकामदक्षाः । तेष्वप्रजन्मा जगति प्रतीतः । शाहेन्द्रनामा जितभोजकीर्तिः ॥ ८ ॥ तस्यानुजन्मा तपनातिचण्डप्रतापभूमिः प्रथमानलक्ष्मीः । जगत्रयद्योतिजयापदानो । जयत्युदारः शरभेन्द्रनामा ॥ ९ ॥ प्रौढैः कवीन्द्रैः परिशीलनेन । विज्ञाय साहित्यविलासभेदान् । करोति काव्यं रघुवीरगाथा । पवित्रितं सैष मुदे बुधानाम् ॥ १० ॥ ”

• 2. Ed. by S. M. Divekar in the Śivacaritrapradīpa, Poona,

I have no doubt that the queen Dīpāmbikā mentioned by Venkaṭabhaṭṭa in his account of the genealogy of the Bhosalas of Tanjore is identical with Dīpāmbikā the royal patron of Raghunātha, the author of the BK. If this identification is accepted we must regard Venkaṭabhaṭṭa as contemporary of Raghunātha because the former composed his Bhosalavamsāvalī during the reign of Shahāji, the son of Dīpāmbikā and Ekoji' (or Vyankoji) the step-brother of 1925, pp. 129-134. In the Intro. (p. 11) we are told by the Editors that Venkaṭabhaṭṭa composed the Bhosalavamsāvalī during the reign of Shahāji, son of Vyankoji (also called Ekoji or Ekarāja). The author refers to the ancestors of Shivaji, viz., Ekoji, Parasoji, Bābāji, Māloji and Shahāji and then deals with Shivāji and his step-brother Ekoji. In verse 16 Shivaji is called as the very incarnation of God Śiva — “ शिवक्षमेशः शिव एव साक्षात् . ”

1. According to Sabhasad Bakhar (composed A. D. 1697) pp. 2-3, Shahaji had two wives viz., (1) Jijai, the mother of Shivaji the Great and (2) Tukai, the mother of Ekoji, the husband of Dīpāmbikā. The Jedhe Chronology refers to the meeting of Shivaji with Ekoji in Śaka 1599 (= A. D. 1677) in the month of Śrāvaṇa and the defeat of Ekoji by Shivaji in the month of Kārtika of the same year (vide pp. 28-29 of Śiva-Caritrāpradīpa). The poet Jayarāma Pinḍye in his Parṇālaparvatāgrahaṇākhyāna composed in Śaka 1595 (A. D. 1673) refers to Ekoji as “ एकमहीपति ” (I. 3) and his “ गौरीविलास ” assembly hall at Bangalore (बेंगलूरुखनगरे). In this poem Jayarāma gives Ekoji an account of his elder brother's (Shivaji's) exploits. In I, 51, Shivaji is called “ दाजीस्वामी. ” Jayarāma has given us an account of the life of Shahaji in his Rādhāmādhavavilāsa Campū (composed about A. D. 1653-58). In this poem one रघुनाथभट्ट चाऊरकर is mentioned (p. 230 of Rajawade's Edn.) as also one रघुनाथ व्यास (p. 245). On p. 267 एकराजा or Ekoji is mentioned along with his mother तुकार्ई (p. 268).

Shivaji the Great. Ekoji was the founder of the Maratha rule at Tanjore.¹ He ruled from A. D. 1676-83. At the time of his death in A. D. 1683 Ekoji was only 54 years old. Shivaji's expedition² into the Carnatic to claim his share of his father's jahagir from Ekoji, the husband of Dīpāmbikā, took place in A. D. 1676-77. Ekoji left three sons: (1) Shahaji, (2) Sarabhoji, and (3) Tukkoji. These sons ruled jointly.³ Shahaji died heirless in A. D. 1712 at the age of forty. After him Sarabhoji ruled jointly with Tukkoji till his death in A. D. 1728. Tukkoji succeeded Sarabhoji as sole ruler in A. D. 1728 and ruled till his death in A. D. 1736.

In view of the above chronology of the three illustrious sons⁴ of Dīpāmbikā we must put A. D. 1736 as the later limit for Raghunātha Sūri, the author of the BK. As the husband of Dīpāmbikā died in A. D. 1683 and as Raghunātha refers to her and her three sons as Kings (ऋष) I presume that Raghunātha composed the Marathi works when all these three sons were living. As Sarabhoji died in A. D. 1712 the later limit to Raghunātha's works will be about A. D. 1700 while the earlier limit may be about A. D. 1676 the year of Ekoji's capture of Tanjore. Perhaps he may have migrated to Tanjore about this time from the Mahārāṣṭra to seek patronage of the Tanjore rulers and their accomplished queens and mistresses.⁵

1. Vide p. 17 of The Maratha Rajas of Tanjore by K. R. Subramanian, Madras, 1928. According to a Maratha inscription in the Tanjore temple Ekoji captured Tanjore in January 1676. This inscription dates Ekoji's death in Śaka 1604 (A. D. 1683).

2. Ibid, p. 20, "Raghunātha, minister of Venkoji (or Ekoji), chaffing under his master's control instigated Shivaji to lead this expedition for his share of the inheritance."

3. This joint rule of brothers presents a fine contrast to Aurangzeb's murders of his brothers, which were accomplished a few years earlier than the joint rule of three brothers at Tanjore from A. D. 1684 onwards.

4. Vide p. 44 of Tanjore Gazetteer, by Hemingway, Madras, 1915. The periods of the reigns of these sons as given in her appeal to the East India Co. by Kāmākshi Ambābāi Sahib are:—(1) Shahaji (1687-1711); (2) Sarabhoji (1711-1727) and (3) Tukhoji (1728-1735).

5. Vide p. 24 of Maratha Rajas of Tanjore. Venkoji or Ekoji

Dīpābai or Dīpāmbikā was one of these eleven queens.¹ She appears to have been responsible for the wise administration of the Tanjore Kingdom under her sons.² Even during the life-time of her husband Ekoji, it was her advice that settled the quarrel between Ekoji and Shivaji. Shivaji gave her a territory of 5 lacs of hons in appreciation of her endeavour to settle the dispute between her husband and Shivaji amicably.³ Ekoji was given a territory of 7 lacs of hons by an agreement of 19 clauses which directed Ekoji to drive away all haters of the Hindus from his Kingdom. Dīpābāi's son Shahāji (1684-1712) was a capable ruler. He was a scholar himself and also a patron of learning. "Sanskrit works of a high order were produced in large numbers during the age 1676-had two wives and nine mistresses. Many of the royal mistresses were accomplished ladies. They were noted not only for their beauty but also for their scholarship and skill in music and dancing. In the Madhyayugina Caritrakośa by Chitrav Shastri (Poona 1937), 457, the following information about दीपाबाई भोसले (= दीपायिका) is recorded :—

She was the queen of Vyankoji. When Vyankoji refused to give his brother Shivaji a share in the ancestral property Dīpābāi settled the whole affair satisfactorily through Raghunāthpant Hanumante. Shivaji has praised her. She came from the Ingle family and had three sons शहाजी, सरफोजी and तुकोजी.

1. Vide p. 174 of Madhyayugina Caritrakośa, article on Ekoji Shahaji Bhosale (A. D. 1631-1685). We are informed here that Ekoji had three queens including Dīpābāi and that he died in A. D. 1687. This date of Ekoji's death is contradicted by the statement of the Tanjore inscription in Marathi which dates this death in Śaka 1604, i.e. A. D. 1683 (vide p. 17 of Maratha Rajas of Tanjore). For information about Ekoji's three sons who ruled Tanjore see pp. 431 (तुकोजी राजे), 797 (सरफोजी भोसले) and 758 (शहाजी भोसले).

2. Vide p. (त) ५ of महाराष्ट्रीय ज्ञानकोश, Vol, XIV (1925), article on तंजानरचे राजघराण — Shahaji (A. D. 1682-1711) ruled the state peacefully in consultation with his mother and her two brothers viz., (1) Sarfoji (A. D. 1711-1728) and (2) Tukoji (A. D. 1728-1735). Ekoji had three queens viz., (1) Dīpābāi (2) Saibai and (3) Anūbai. Dīpābāi alone had three sons while Anubai had two daughters.

1736." " Marathi works also have come down to us from this period. Translations, panegyrics and a few original works constitute the legacy in this field. The Deccan was the chief source of Marathi literature of Tanjore." "

I am of opinion that the literary career of Raghunātha, the author of the BK, was synchronous with the first half of Shahāji's reign. He was under the patronage of Shahāji's mother and we must assign him to a period between A. D. 1650 to 1700.

We shall now consider the different works of Raghunātha in the order in which he mentions them in his Marathi work Naraka-varṇana.

(1) भोजनकुतूहल — Aufrecht records the following MSS of the work :—

CC I, p. 419. — " K. 190.214. Burnell 72 b. Oppert. 1015, 3825, 6103, II, 6365. "

CC II, p. 95. — " Gov. Or. Libr., Madras, 63, Stein 185 (pariccheda 1), "

CC III, p. 90— " in 3 Pariccheda. Tb 172 (pariccheda 1), 173 (beginning of the same). "

(I have already³ pointed out the importance of this work for the history of Indian dietetics with special reference to the Mahārāṣṭra diet).

1. Vide pp. 30-36 of Maratha Rajas of Tanjore which deal with the literary activity at Tanjore during Shahāji's reign. In the account of the works of several writers of this period no mention is made of our Raghunātha, the author of the भोजनकुतूहल and other works.

2. Ibid. Vide also " तंजावरचे राजघराणे " by D. B. Parasnis, N. S. Press, Bombay, 1912, pp. 47-54 (Reign of Shahāji— A. D. 1684-1711). Mr. Parasnis gives in this book a picture of Shahaji to face p. 44 and that of Vyankoji Raje (A. D. 1675-1682) facing p. 17. The agreement of 19 clauses between Shivaji and Vyankoji is recorded on pp. 39-41 of this book from शिवदिविजय Bakhar. In clause 15 of this agreement there is a reference to " सौ. दीपाबाई, "

3. In a paper published in Annals (B. O. R. Institute), Vol. XXII, pp. 254-263.

- (2) साहित्यकुतूहल — Aufrecht¹ records only one MS of a work called साहित्यकौतूहल with a commentary उज्ज्वलपदा by यशस्वी कवि (I. O. 1616 fr.).

Raghunātha states in his Narakavarṇana that he composed a work called साहित्यकुतूहल and that it was devoted to चित्ररचना only (दुर्ज साहित्यकुतूहल । चित्ररचनेसहिता निबल). The India Office fragment bears the title साहित्यकौतूहल and its subject-matter is also चित्रकाव्य or artificial poetry and the different modes of its construction such as पद्मबंध, चक्रबंध, सर्वतोभद्र, etc., as stated in the I. O. Catalogue. It is however, difficult to prove the identity of यशस्वी कवि with रघुनाथ in spite of the similarity of subject-matter and the identity of the titles of this work, viz., साहित्यकुतूहल.

- (3) प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल² — Aufrecht (CC I, 362) records the following MSS :— “ — by Raghunātha, K. 10, B.

1. CC I, p. 715. The description of this MS as given on p. 337 of India Office Catalogue, Pt. III (1891), is as follows :—

“ Folios 66.....writing.....of about A. D. 1730 ”. “ First Chapter only. ”

“ Sāhitya-Kaūtuḥala, a versified manual of poetic composition, by Yaśasvin Kavi, son of Gopāla and Kāśī, with a commentary entitled Ujjvalapadā by the same author. ” The work deals with चित्रकाव्य. Aufrecht (CC II, 171) records another MS of the work, viz., “ BL 307. ” This MS is No. 307 described on pp. 154-155 of Dr. R. G. Bhandarkar's Lists (Private MSS), Part I, 1893. The identity of the author and commentator is clear from the following statements of the Text and Comm.

Comm. — (१) साहित्यकौतूहलव्याख्यां व्यातनुते सदुज्ज्वलपदां धीमान् यशस्वी कविः ।

(4) जनार्दनमहोदधि — Aufrecht (CC III, p. 43) records a MS of this work in the Adyar Library — जनार्दनमहोदधि Vaiṣṇava. Adyar Lib. 38. "

The statement of Raghunātha, viz., "जनार्दन महोदय भाषी" in the list of the works composed by him is probably a misreading for the correct title of his work "जनार्दनमहोदधि" because in the next line he refers to a similar title of his work, viz., "धर्माश्रितमहोदधि."

(5) धर्माश्रितमहोदधि — Aufrecht records only one MS of this work (CC I, 270) —

Compare Raghunātha's statement in the नरकवर्णन: — "प्रायश्चित्त-कुतूहल ॥ श्रीतस्मात्पर केवल ॥ रचिले प्रयोग । श्रीतानुष्ठान करावया ।"

In the extracts of प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल (p. 56 of Hultzsach III, 56) the expressions "अनेतेन गुरुणा" "अनेतदेवीयरघुनाथविरचिते" and "अनेतदेवोदयस्य रघुनाथविदुषः" appear to indicate that अनन्तदेव was the गुरु of रघुनाथ.

1. This work has been represented by only one MS in the Tanjore Library which is described on pp. 8572-74 of their Des. Cata. Vol. XVIII, 1934. In verse 2 at the beginning of the work Raghunātha refers to his guru as follows:—

"अनन्तस्वामिपादाब्जमिन्दरानिजमन्दिरम् ।

सस्मरञ्शारदां वन्दे वरदां वाग्विलासदाम् ॥ २ ॥"

In the Colophon he refers to his work as "श्रीमदनन्तदेवात्मजधर्माश्रितमहोदधि- देवतत्सुतश्रीमदन्तदेवोदयस्य रघुनाथविदुषः कृतौ." After the Colophon we find the following two verses:—

"बहियुगमरसचन्द्रसंमिते (१६२३) शालिवाहनशके वृषाह्वये ।

वत्सरे तपसि कुम्भगे रवीं शूलिनः प्रियतिथौ महाव्रते ॥

साम्बमीशमभिपूज्य तत्पदे वाक्सुमञ्जलिरसौ समर्पितः ।

तेन तुष्यतु स भक्तवत्सलः कोसलाधिपसुतासुतो हरिः ॥"

“धर्माश्रुतमहोदधि dh. by Raghunātha, son of Anantadeva, Burnell, 137.”

This MS is in the Tanjore Library. Possibly it did not migrate outside like other works of Raghunātha and especially the Bhojana kutūhala.

If the date of composition of this work, viz., Śaka 1623 (= A. D. 1701) as found in the only Tanjore copy of the work is genuine we shall have to adjust the chronology of other works of Raghunātha accordingly. If the work Narakavarṇana (before A. D. 1712) mentions Dharmāśrutamahodadhi composed in A. D. 1701 its date must lie between A. D. 1701 and 1712.

(6) कार्शीमीमांसा — No MSS under this title have been recorded by Aufrecht.

Apart from the five Sanskrit works attributed to Raghunātha recorded above, out of which four appear to have been represented by MSS, he mentions that he wrote some Marathi works viz. :—

(i) गोवर्द्धनोद्धारण — Perhaps the Tanjore Library may have a MS of this work.

(ii) स्त्रीधर्मकथने — Possibly same as पतिव्रताधर्म represented by two MSS in Tanjore Library.

(iii) नरकवर्णन — Same as नरकवर्णन of which only one MS is found in the Tanjore Library. As this work gives us a list of the author's works in Sanskrit and Marathi it is very important.

The Chronogram recorded above gives us Śaka 1623 = A. D. 1701 as the date of composition or rather the completion of the work as stated in the above Catalogue. If this date is genuine the relative position of Raghunātha's works will be as follows :—

नरकवर्णन — Before A. D. 1712 and after A. D. 1701 as it mentions all the three sons of Dīpābai as living. One of these sons, viz., Shahaji died in A. D. 1712. It mentions धर्माश्रुतमहोदधि, composed A. D. 1701.

धर्माश्रुतमहोदधि — A. D. 1701 (if the date recorded in the only Tanjore MS of this work is a genuine date of composition and not of copy). Other Sanskrit works may possibly have been composed before A. D. 1700.

But for this list it would not have been possible to identify several authors of the name Raghunātha recorded by Aufrecht. Professor P. V. Kane¹ also has made two separate entries for the authors of धर्माभूतमहोदधि and प्रयश्चित्तकुतूहल, the works of Raghunātha on Dharma.

I now give below the chronology of the period to which Raghunātha belonged and the relation it bears to Raghunātha and his works as discussed in this paper :—

A. D.

1600-1650 Āpadeva, author of मीमांसासम्पाद-प्रकाश flourished.

1675-1700 Anantadeva, the son of Āpadeva and author of मीमांसाकौस्तुभ, flourished. He may have been the Guru of Raghunātha as stated in the colophon of धर्माभूतमहोदधि and hence a contemporary of Raghunātha. अनन्तदेव was a descendant of the Maratha Saint एकनाथ (A. D. 1528-1600).

47. The Identification of Raghunātha, the Protégé of Queen Dīpābāi of Tanjore and his Contact with Saint Rāmadāsa — Between A. D. 1648 and 1682*

In my recent papers¹ on Raghunātha a Protégé of Queen Dīpābāi of Tanjore I have recorded an account of the several Sanskrit and Marathi works of this author on the basis of several MSS in our MSS Libraries. This account has also shown the following particulars about this author :—

(1) He went to Tanjore and composed some works under the patronage of Queen Dīpābāi possibly after the death of Ekoji Bhosale, her husband, the founder of the Tanjore Kingdom. Ekoji died in A. D. 1683.

(2) He was the pupil of Anantadeva, the author of Smyti-Kaustubha and other works on Dharmaśāstra.

(3) He was a Mahārāṣṭra Brahmin.

(4) He composed Sanskrit works like the भोजनकुतूहल, प्रायश्चित्त-कुतूहल etc. as stated by him in his Marathi work नरकवर्णन, a Ms of which has been preserved in the Tanjore Mss Library.

Since my papers were published I had an occasion to read the Introduction to the excellent critical edition of the दमयन्ती-स्वयंवर of

* Journal of Tanjore Sarasvatī Mahal Library, Vol. III, No. 1, pp. 1-12.

1. Vide, Journal of the University of Bombay, Vol. X, Part 2 (Sept. 1941) pp. 133-140 and Annals (B. O. R. Institute) Vol. XXII, pp. 254-263. In these papers I have dealt with the career of Raghunātha between A. D. 1675 and 1710. An edition of Raghunātha's भोजनकुतूहल is included in the 'Books under preparation' for the Gaikwad Oriental Series (Vide p. 11 of the List of this Series, 1942). Here Raghunātha is assigned to the 16th Century A.D. This chronology is obviously wrong as Raghunātha flourished between A. D. 1640 and 1710 or so. Dr. B. Bhattacharya, the Director of the Oriental Institute writes to me under date 29th June 1942 :—'The date of Bhojana-Kutūhala will be changed in the prospectus as suggested by you.'

रघुनाथपण्डित by Mr. A. K. Priyolkar¹ who discusses the question of identity of the several namesakes of the author of the दमयन्ती-स्वयंवर.² Among these name-sakes he mentions one 'रघुनाथ गणेश नवहस्त.' This रघुनाथ is different from रघुनाथ the author of the दमयन्ती-स्वयंवर. In a letter³ written by Saint Rāmadāsa to रघुनाथभट. गोसावी and published by Mr. S. S. Dev of Dhulia we find the close and intimate relations of the Saint with this रघुनाथभट. Mr. Priyolkar states elsewhere⁴ that many learned men from the Mahārāṣṭra migrated to Tanjore⁵ after Shivaji's death in A. D. 1680. Among these men he mentions रघुनाथ गणेश नवहस्त the author of दर्शपूर्णमासप्रायश्चित्त, प्रयोगरत्नभूषा and some portions of प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल. All these works are represented by Mss in the Library of the B. B. R. A. Society, Bombay.⁶ These remarks of Mr. Priyolkar clearly show that he identifies रघुनाथ गणेश नवहस्त, the friend of Saint Rāmadāsa with रघुनाथ the protégé of queen Dīpābāi of Tanjore, the subject of my two papers referred to above. Though Mr. Priyolkar published his book in 1935 Sanskrit scholars are not aware of this identity of the two रघुनाथs and it is the purpose of this paper to make this identity more clear by recording evidence in support of it as found in contemporary sources pertaining to two authors of the same name रघुनाथ.

The B. B. R. A. S. Ms No. 610 (प्रयोगरत्नभूषा) is very important as it gives the genealogy of its author for four generations in the colophon.¹ This genealogy is as follows :—

Raghunātha refers to his Guru अनन्तदेव in the following verse :—

"अनन्तलक्ष्मसंलक्ष्म (क्ष्यः) करुणावर्णालयः ।

He also refers to his Guru on folios 71, 183, 195 and 216 as pointed out by Prof. Velankar, who rightly observes :— 'Anantadeva lived towards the middle of the 17th century...Raghunātha, therefore, must have lived a little later.'

The surname नवहस्त' of our author is disclosed in the following colophon of B.B.R.A.S. Ms No. 619 of प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल —

‘इति नवहस्तरघुनाथभट्टविरचितप्रायश्चित्तप्रकरणं समाप्तम्’

We have already stated that अनन्तदेव was the Guru of Raghu-nātha. It appears from the following statements of Raghunātha that Viṣṇu or Ananta was his family deity (कुलदेवत) —

‘नश्यत्यखिलपापघस्तमनन्तमुपास्महे’

Professor Velankar has already recorded the names of works and authors quoted by Raghunātha in his works प्रयोगरत्नमूषा² and the प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल.³

These authorities are sufficient to show the learning of Raghu- nātha, who was obviously under the influence of his Guru अनन्तदेव, the celebrated author of Smṛti-Kaustubha and other works on Dharmaśāstra. As he composed his Sanskrit works first and then took to the writing of Marathi works under the patronage of queen Dīpā-bāi of Tanjore we may easily infer his early contact with Ananta-deva which gave him good grounding in the Shastric learning, sufficient to elicit a compliment from Saint Rāmadāsa to the effect that he was सर्वज्ञ¹ and that there was complete identity of Rāmadāsa and Raghunātha Bhaṭṭ.²

The evidence recorded above from the Mss of the *Prāyaścitta-Kutūhala*³ and Prayoga-ratnabhūṣā about the genealogy, surname and Guru of Raghunātha may now be linked up with the evidence found in contemporary documents published by Mr. S. S. Dev of Dhulia in 1915 in Vol. IX of 'रामदास आणि रामदासी' (श्रीसंप्रदायाचीं पत्रे). I record below a brief analysis of such of these documents as reveal the personal history of Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta, the author of the Bhojanakutūhala, Prāyaścitta-Kutūhala etc.

Letter No.	Date	Particulars
1	1674 ⁴	Letter from Saint Rāmadāsa to Raghunātha (= R) in Rāmadāsa 's own hand-writing (Modī Script). An excellent specimen of Rāmadāsa 's confidence in R and his highest regard for R.
28	1679	This letter describes R as रघुनाथभट son of गणेशभट, residing at चाफळ. It also refers to him as 'अभिहीत्री', 'वेदमूर्तिपरमयोग्य' and 'कुटुम्बवत्सल.'

2. Ibid, p. 4 — "तुमचे जे काही आहे ते सकल माझेचि आहे"

3. The Ujjain Ms of Prayashchittakutūhala is dated Śaka 1689 = A. D. 1767. (Vide p. 19 of List of Mss in the Ori. Mss Library, Ujjain, Part II, 1942). On p. 43 of this list a Ms of the 1st परिच्छेद of the भोजनकुतूहल of रघुनाथ is recorded but it bears no date.

4. Letter No. 12 dated Śaka 1595 = A. D. 1673 refers to some inām land of रघुनाथगोसावी of नानेघोल. It is addressed by मोहीबखान to the officials of प्रांतसीराला.

Letter No.	Date	Particulars
29	1679	This Letter describes R as 'रघुनाथभट अग्निहोत्री' and 'वसिष्ठगोत्री'. It refers to some inām land given to R at विलासी (in the Satara District of the Bombay Presidency).
33	1680	Letter from शम्भु छत्रपति (son of Shivaji the Great) to देशाधिकारी and देशलेखक of प्रांत मलकापूर. It refers to R as 'रघुनाथ भट वसिष्ठगोत्री' in charge of worship (देवार्चन) of the God at चाफल and the inām enjoyed by him in this connection.
51	1682	Letter from भास्कर गोसावी to दिवाकर गोसावी. It refers to R as 'रघुनाथ भट पंडितराय' and as उपाध्याय of Saint Rāmadāsa ('श्रीचे उपाध्ये'). R is mentioned as staying with Rāmadāsa ² during the latter's illness.
52	1682	This letter refers to R as 'वेदमूर्ति रघुनाथ भट नव-हस्त' the 'उपाध्ये' and 'पुराणिक' of Saint Rāmadāsa .
55	1683	This letter is a दानपत्र from R to his son-in-law 'भैरवभट महाबलेश्वरकर' the son of दिवाकर गोसावी. The letter states that Saint Rāmadāsa conferred on R some income in connection with his duties as उपाध्याय and पुराणीक at the temple at चाफल. R had mind to donate this income to भैरवभट at the time of the marriage of भैरवभट with R 's daughter. R is now proceeding on a pilgrimage (महायात्रा) and hence taking an opportunity to donate his inām at विलासी (प्रान्त शिराळे) to his son-in-law. R is also handing over along with this दानपत्र the previous documents to his son-in-law in respect of this inām for safe custody and protection. This दानपत्र contains the 56	1683	This letter is addressed by R to the entire assembly of devotees of Saint Rāmadāsa . In this letter R calls himself 'रघुनाथभट नवहस्त.' The letter repeats the contents of the previous दानपत्र by R to his son-in-law भैरवभट and bears the same date viz. माघ शु. १ शके १६०५, 'रुधिरौद्वारि संवत्सर इन्दुवासर.' R expresses in the concluding portion of the letter the hope that all the devotees of Saint Rāmadāsa would co-operate with his son-in-law in the same manner in which they had co-operated with himself in the successful conduct of his duties now transferred to R 's son-in-law Bhairava Bhat.

98	1698	This letter is addressed by राजाराम ¹ छत्रपति to the देशाधिकारी of प्रान्त मलकापूर. It orders that the इनाम at बिलासी formerly enjoyed by रघुनाथभट should be continued undisturbed with the family of दिवाकर गोसावी (the father of भैरवभट, the son-in-law of रघुनाथभट).
109	1700	This letter is addressed by श्रीकराचार्यपण्डितराय to the देशाधिकारी of प्रान्तजावली. It recounts the history of the inām transferred by 'वेदमूर्तिरघुनाथ भट पण्डित उपनाम नवहस्त वसीस्टगोत्री' to बहिरंभट (= बहिरंभट the son of दिवाकर गोसावी). The letter orders that बहिरंभट and his brother रामचन्द्रभट should enjoy uninterruptedly the above inām as they have been carrying out the duties attached to this inām : पुराणवृत्ति and उपाध्यपणवृत्ति. The two brothers are given some land as inām at 'सायेगाव ता। मेढे'. The pilgrimage undertaken by R is also referred to in the preamble of this letter (महातीर्थयात्रा A. D. 1683).

113	1701	This letter is addressed by श्रीकराचार्यपण्डितराय to the official of the village सायगाव (ता मेढे) in respect of the inām given to रामचन्द्रभट and बहिरंभट referred to in letter No. 109 of A.D. 1700.
137	1702	Letter from शिवछत्रपति ¹ to the सुकादम of the village बिलासी (प्रांत सिराले) ordering that दिवाकर गोंसावी should enjoy unmolested the inām land there as in previous years. (We have already seen that this inām was transferred to दिवाकर's son भैरवभट by R in A. D. 1683).
138	1702	Letter from शिवछत्रपति to the देशाधिकारी of प्रांत-मलकापूर in respect of the inām land at बिलासी referred to in letter No. 137. It mentions the pilgrimage of R to वाराणसी (Benares) and his transfer of his inām to his son-in-law बहिरंभट महाबलेश्वरकर (in A. D. 1683).
139	1703	Letter from सरसुभेदार of प्रांत कन्हाड with almost identical contents (Vide letter No. 138).
241	1716	Letter from राजा शंभु छत्रपति to the देशाधिकारी प्रांत-मलकापूर in respect of the inām at बिलासी. It refers to the visit of भैरवभट to the छत्रपति at पनाला Fort (near Kolhapur). It mentions :— <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. वेदमूर्ति रघुनाथभट अग्निहोत्री and his pilgrimage to Benares. 2. Documents pertaining to this inām given by सिवाजी राजे but subsequently lost.
242	1716	Letter from राजा शंभु छत्रपति to the सुकादम of the village — contents same as those of Letter No. 241.

I shall now record briefly the chronology of Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta and his contact with Saint Rāmadāsa as revealed by the data recorded in this paper :—

1. Vide p. 872 of म. च. कोश.—शिवछत्रपति संभाजी of Kolhapur (A. D. 1693-1760). शंभु छत्रपति, शिवछत्रपति in letters Nos 137, 138 and f39 mean one and the same person viz. King Sambhāji of Kolhapur (A. D. 1693-1760).

A. D.

1674 - It appears from Rāmadāsa's letter to Raghunātha (= R) that R was already a middle-aged person in A. D. 1674. This inference is consistent with the epithet पण्डितराय used by भास्कर गोसावी in his letter (No. 51) of A.D. 1682. R was also reputed to be a man of considerable learning at this time. Most probably he composed his works भोजनकुतूहल and प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल etc. before A.D. 1674 or so.¹

1650-1675 - Literary activity of अनन्तदेव the Guru of R.

1674 - Shivāji's Coronation at Raigad.

1676-77 - Shivāji's expedition into the Carnatic.

1676 - Ekoji Bhosale, the step-brother of Shivāji, captures Tanjore.

1679 - R was residing at Chafal, the headquarters of Rāmadāsa. In this connection I may state that the temple of श्रीरघुपति was built at Chafal in Saka 1570² = A. D. 1648 and Shivaji came to Chafal and met Rāmadāsa in A. D. 1649. If these facts are reliable we may conclude that R was appointed उपाध्याय and पुराणीक at Chafal temple sometime about or after A. D. 1648 and was given the inām at बिलाशी subsequently. R enjoyed this inām upto A. D. 1683, when he relinquished his duties at Chafal as also the inām in favour of his son-in-law भैरवभट महाबलेश्वरकर.

1. I have come across a rare MS of the भोजनकुतूहल (1st parichheda) which is a contemporary copy of the work belonging to Syamji Nayak Punde and bears his endorsement 'शामजी नायकपुण्ड्योपनाम्नाम्.' Syamji Nayak was the Maratha Subhedar of Karnatak about A. D. 1682. The B. B. R. A. S. Ms (No. 618) of प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल is 'at least 300 years old' according to Prof. H. D. Velankar. If this statement is correct the B.B.R.A.S. Ms No. 618 will be another contemporary copy of Raghunātha's work. Both these contemporary Mss lead me to infer that the भोजनकुतूहल and प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल were composed by Raghunātha say between A. D. 1650 and 1675.

2. Vide p. 270 of ऐतिहासिक प्रस्तावना By V. K. Rajwade, B. I. S. Mandal, Poona-1928 — 'रामदास स्वामीच्या चरित्रांत लिहिलेले आहे कीं, स्वामींनी चाफळास श्रीरघुपतीचें देऊल शके १५७० त बांधलें व शिवाजीराजे शके १५७१ च्या वैशाख शुद्ध ४ स मंदवारी चाफळास स्वामीस भेटण्यास आले. राजांची व स्वामीची भेट वैशाख शुद्ध ९ स गुरुवारी झाली.'

1680 – Death of Shivāji the Great. Sambhāji's letter refers to R as in charge of the worship of the God at Chafal.

1682 – Bhāskar Gosāvi refers to R as Paṇḍitaṛāya and as Upādhyāya and Purāṇik of Saint Rāmadāsa.

Death of Saint Rāmadāsa. Sambhāji defeated by the Siddis. (Vide p. 125 of Burgess : Chronology, 1913).

1683 – R decides to go to Benares on a pilgrimage and donates his inām at Bilasi to his son-in-law Bhairavabhat Mahabalesvarkar.

Prince Muhammad Muazzam's army traverses Konkan. Sambhāji stops it at the Ghats. It retreats to Ahmadnagar.

Sambhāji attacks Chaul but fails to take it.

Francois Martin purchases the village of Pondicheri from the Raja of Vijayapur. (Vide page 126 of Burgess : Chronology).

Death of Ekoji Bhosale, the husband of Queen Dīpābāi, the patron of R.

1684–1712 – Rule of Ekoji's son Shahāji at Tanjore. Many Pandits gathered at Tanjore during his reign.

R enjoys Dīpābāi's patronage at Tanjore and composes some Marathi works.

1701 – R composed his धर्ममृतमहोदधि — which is mentioned in his नरकवर्णन.

1712 – Death of Shahāji, son of Dīpābāi.

The foregoing chronology shows us the historical background of Raghunātha's life-history, say from A. D. 1648, when the temple of Raghupati was built at Chafal by Saint Rāmadāsa upto A.D. 1712, when Shahāji, the son of Dīpābāi died at Tanjore. This life-history is mainly divided into 2 periods : 1. Life-history before Raghunātha's pilgrimage to Benares in A. D. 1683 and 2. that between A. D. 1683 and 1712. The first period pertains to Raghunātha's contact with and training under Anantadeva, the great-grandson of Saint Ekanātha of Maharashtra as also his contact with Saint Rāmadāsa say, between 1648 and 1682 A. D., the year of Rāmadāsa's death. The disturbed political conditions in Maharashtra after Shivāji's death in A. D. 1680 as also the demise of Saint Rāmadāsa must have led Raghunātha to undertake the Mahā-yātrā and after its completion to migrate to Tanjore, where conditions of life were more favourable for learned pandits requiring means of livelihood and peaceful atmosphere for their spiritual and academic pursuits. Queen Dīpābāi, the able administrator of Tanjore during her son's rule (A. D. 1684-1712) was a pious lady who appears to have gathered round her learned pandits of high character like Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta, who by his deep learning and personal contact of many years with the premier Saint of Maharashtra must have been highly respected by the Queen Mother Dīpābāi and her three illustrious sons to whom Raghunātha refers as follows in his Narakavarṇana :—

“ तीन पुरुषार्थ तिचे भूप
जयेचे पुत्र कुलदीप ।
दीपांबिका यथार्थरूप
नाम म्हणौनि शोभतसे ॥ ”

We have already noted that Raghunātha's daughter was married to Bhairava Bhat, the son of Divakara Gosavi and that in A. D. 1683 Raghunātha relinquished his duties as उपाध्याय and पुराणीक at Chafal Math in favour of his son-in-law Bhairava Bhat. The original surname of Bhairava Bhat's family was महाबलेश्वरकर but since he became the उपाध्याय of Chafal Math the original surname was changed and at present the descendants of Bhairava Bhat are called by the surname उपाध्ये. The genealogy of this family has been recorded by Mr. S. S. Dev but he nowhere gives us the genealogy¹ of Raghunātha Navahasta, the author of Bhojana-kutūhala and other works. Whether Raghunātha had any male issue is doubtful but it is possible to investigate the genealogy of his family. His surname was नवहस्त which is equal to नवाथे or नवाध्ये, a surname current among the Karhada Brahmins of Maharashtra at present. I understand that there is a family of Navathes (Karhada Brahmins) at Dhavadshi near Satara. The gotra of this family is also वसिष्ठ which is identical with that of Raghunātha Navahasta mentioned many times in contemporary documents. If Raghunātha Navahasta was a Karhada Brahmin, the marriage of his daughter with Bhairava Bhat Mahabalesvarkar, who is obviously a Deśastha Brah-min would provide us an early specimen of intercaste marriages between the Karhada and Deśastha Brahmins in the 17th century. It is, therefore, necessary to see if we can trace the genealogy of Raghunātha Navahasta among the extant Navathe families in the different parts of Maharashtra.

48. A Rare Manuscript of Janārdana -
Mahodaya by Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta,
Friend of Saint Rāmadāsa —
Between A. D. 1640 & 1682 *

Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta, a friend of Saint Rāmadāsa of Mahārāṣṭra, flourished between A. D. 1640 and 1712 as I have proved elsewhere.¹ He mentions a work called “जनार्दनमहोदय” as his own work in the list of his works recorded by him in his Narakavarnana in Marathi, composed under the patronage of queen Dīpābāi of Tanjore.² I was under the impression that the title “जनार्दनमहोदय” was probably a misreading for “जनार्दन-महोदधि” which is the name of a work recorded by Aufrecht.³ Secondly Raghunātha composed a work called “धर्माश्रितमहोदधि” which he mentions in his list of works referred to above. Since expressing this view my friend Pandit Raghunātha Shastri Patankar of Rajapur has sent to me his own article on Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta published by him in 1931 in a Marathi journal⁴ (now stopped) together with an actual MS of जनार्दनमहोदय, now the property of the Sanskrit Pāṭhaśālā at Rajapur. This MS has been briefly described by Pandit Raghunātha Shastri in his Marathi article under reference but for the benefit of the students of the history of Sanskrit literature I must present a critical analysis of it, especially because the work is unknown to Aufrecht's Catalogus Catalogorum. I am thankful to Pt. Patankar for sending me the MS of जनार्दनमहोदय and also for drawing my attention to his article referred to above.

This MS of Janārdana-mahodaya (= JM) belongs to the collection of MSS acquired by the above Pathashala from Pandit

1. The B.B.R.A. Society contains 2 MSS of करवीरमाहात्म्य, one of which contains the text with the comm. सनाभि by ज्योतिर्विद्राय दाजी (Vide pp. 277-278 of Velankar's Catalogue of B. B. R. A. S. MSS). There are two MSS of this text in the Govt. MSS Library but they are late copies prepared in Śaka 1789 = A. D. 1867. This माहात्म्य is ascribed to Vedavyāsa. It describes the holy places of Kolhapur.

2. Vide my paper in the B. I. S. Mandala Quarterly, Pōona, (Vol. XXIII pp. 17-25) 1942 on “The Antiquity of Some Iconographic verses about the Mahālakṣmī of Kolhapur etc.”

The MS is incomplete and we have no means of knowing the number of chapters it contained originally.

The foregoing analysis of the available sections of the MS before us gives us the following particulars about the work and its author :—

(1) The title of the work is जनार्दनमहोदय as stated in the several colophons recorded in the work. This title exactly tallies with that mentioned by the author in his list of self-composed works found in the Marathi work नरकवर्णन.

(2) The author of the work JM is रघुनाथ, pupil of अनंतदेव, the great writer on dharmaśāstra who composed स्मृतिकौस्तुभ and other works in the middle of the 17th century.

(3) In addition to the identity of the name रघुनाथ, the author of the JM, and his guru's name अनंतदेव as also the identity of the name of the work viz. जनार्दनमहोदय which he claims as his own work we find close parallelism of expression in the introductory and closing verses of the जनार्दनमहोदय and प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल which read as follows :—

The section on आधानप्रायश्चित्त ends :—

“ अवादीत्यमनन्तेन गुरुणा करुणाब्धिना ।
आचारगोचरं प्रायश्चित्तं तत्र निरूपितम् ॥ ”

Compare JM :—

“ अवादीत्यमनन्तेन शिष्टेष्टजनतुष्टये ।
प्रातःकृत्याद्यनुष्ठानं तेन तुल्यं तु मत्प्रभुः ॥ ”

Compare again प्रायश्चित्तकुतूहल (ending verse) :—

“ अवादीत्यमनन्तेन शिष्टेष्टजनतुष्टये ।
प्रायश्चित्तविधिर्हीन्य संसंक्षेपोधिरुदतः ॥ ”

(4) Irrespective of the above proofs regarding the identity of authorship we can say that the work JM represented by the big fragment before us was composed later than c. A. D. 1630 as it refers to भट्टोजिदीक्षित (on folio 19 of the first Chapter). I have proved elsewhere that Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita flourished between A. D. 1560 and 1620 and consequently the reference to Bhaṭṭoji in the JM clearly proves that the JM is later than a. A. D. 1630. Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta, the author of several works in Sanskrit and Marathi flourished between A. D. 1640 and 1712 or so.

(5) As the title जनार्दनमहोदय indicates and as the contents of its fragment before us prove the JM is a sort of manual of Vaiṣṇavite ritual and worship. In the 3rd section of the MS we find some matter on the worship of राम and हनुमान्.* The material for Rāma worship is introduced by our author with the following verse on folio 42 :—

“ भयातः संप्रवक्ष्यामि नानायन्त्राणि मन्त्रिणां ।
नानार्थदानि रामस्य नानाकल्पागमात् पृथक् ॥ ”

Then again the incomplete material in this section about हनुमन्मन्त्र (folios 125 - 129) is also important in view of the life-long devotion of Saint Rāmadāsa for Rāma and Hanūmān. I have proved in a special paper the contact of our author with Saint Rāmadāsa between A. D. 1648 and 1682, the year of Saint Rāmadāsa's death.

(6) Students of Saint Rāmadāsa's literary biography should investigate the influence exercised by this learned Sanskrit Pandit, the author of the JM, on Rāmadāsa's writings and teachings say between A. D. 1648 and 1682. In a complete edition¹ of Rāmadāsa's works we find the following sections :—

- (1) रामायण (Pages 494 — 593).
- (2) श्रीरामनवमीची उत्साहपद्धति (p. 388) dealing with the manner in which the Rāmanavamī festival should be celebrated.
- (3) मांस्तीची प्रार्थना (p. 631) or a prayer to God Māruti or Hanūmān.
- (4) मनाचे श्लोक (pp. 593 - 605). These *Śloka*s are very popular in Mahārāṣṭra as they contain spiritual advice saturated with devotion to Rāma.
- (5) राममंत्राचे श्लोक (pp. 605 - 608). Stanzas emphasizing the value of राम नाम.

(7) In Rāmadāsa's letter² dated A. D. 1674 to Raghunātha, the author of the JM and other works, Rāmadāsa calls Raghunātha “ सर्वज्ञ ” or “ all - knowing ” and further shows his extreme confidence in Raghunātha by identifying himself with his learned friend (“ तुमचे जे काही आहे ते सकल माझेच आहे ”). We have, therefore, reason to believe that the constant presence of such an intimate pandit by the side of this illustrious Saint of Mahārāṣṭra must have wielded considerable influence on Rāmadāsa's writings. At any rate the material regarding राम and हनुमान् worship in the fragment of the ŶM before us leads me to infer that it is a connecting link between the author of the ŶM and his saintly friend Rāmadāsa. If this suggestion is accepted the date of composition of the ŶM may be taken to be earlier than A. D. 1682, the year of Rāmadāsa's death.

2. Vide Jour. of Tanjore S. M. Library, Vol. III, No. 1 (1943), p. 4 of my paper on Raghunātha.

(8) The material incorporated in the ŶM about the goddess महालक्ष्मी of करवीर or Kolhapur is also important. Raghunātha was a Karhāḍa Brāhmin of the surname नवहस्त (or नवाथे) of Vasiṣṭha Gotra as I have shown already.¹ The goddess महालक्ष्मी of Kolhapur is the family deity of the Karhāḍa Brahmins in Mahārāṣṭra. This fact explains why Raghunātha has thought fit to incorporate in his ŶM the material about the goddess महालक्ष्मी of करवीर or Kolhapur.

(9) M. M. Prof. P. V. Kane does not mention the ŶM in his *History of Dharmasāstra*² though he mentions other works of Raghunātha and deals with the works of his guru अनन्तदेव in a special Section (No. 109) and assigns his literary activity to the "third quarter of the 17th Century" i. e., between A. D. 1650 and 1675. This period³ is consistent with the chronology of his pupil Raghunātha, the author of the ŶM represented by the big fragment of MS analysed by me in this paper.

I now close this paper with a request to scholars in Mahārāṣṭra and outside that they should try to trace a complete MS of the Ŷanārdana-mahodaya of Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta.

49. A Contemporary Manuscript of the Bhojana - Kutūhala of Raghunātha belonging to Śāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe — Between A. D. 1650 and 1685 *

Recently I published some papers¹ on the life and works of Raghunātha, the author of a work on dietetics called the Bhojana-Kutūhala. As a result of my investigation I have been able to prove on contemporary evidence the following facts about the life-history and chronology of this Deccani author :—

(1) The full name of this author was Raghunātha Gaṇeśa Navahasta; (2) He was the Upādhyāya of the Chafal Maṭha of Saint Rāmadāsa between about A. D. 1648 and 1683; (3) He was a very intimate friend of Saint Rāmadāsa as we find from a letter addressed to him by this Saint; (4) In A. D. 1683 he renounced all his property in the Satara District in favour of his son-in-law Bhairavabhat and then proceeded on a mahāyātrā or pilgrimage; (5) He later migrated to Tanjore and composed some Sanskrit and Marathi works under the patronage of Queen Dīpābāi the wife of Ekoji Bhosale, the brother of Shivaji the Great, between A. D. 1683 and 1712 or so; (6) During his stay in Mahārāṣṭra he was the pupil of Anantadeva, the author of the Smṛti-Kaustubha. Raghunātha's Bhojana-Kutūhala was most probably composed in Mahārāṣṭra prior to his mahāyātrā of A. D. 1683.

Since the publication of my papers my friend Rajavaidya S. A. Jagtap of Kolhapur sent me a bundle of MSS of Raghunātha's Bhojana-Kutūhala. These MSS may be briefly described

2. Keśava Paṇḍita compiled a work on Dharmaśāstra called धर्म-कल्पलता for King Sambhaji, Son of Shivaji the Great. A portion of this work called दंडनीतिप्रकरण is preserved in the Tanjore MSS Library (MS. No. 536). This copy was made for Shamji Nayak Puṇḍe in the year हुंडुमि which corresponds to A. D. 1682-83 (“शके राज्या-भिषेकीये हुंडुभसंवत्सरे लिहमिदं पुस्तकम्”). The copy contains the following endorsement :—“ दण्डनीतिव्यवहारमञ्जरी श्रीशामजीनायक पुंड्योपनाम्ना ग्रंथः पत्र-संख्या ३१ ॥ ” This endorsement is identical with that on the Jagtap Ms of the 1st Pariccheda of Raghunātha's work described above. The identity of endorsements regarding the ownership of the copies of भोजनकुतूहल and दण्डनीतिव्यवहारमञ्जरी leaves no doubt about the contemporary nature of these copies.

2. This big work on dharmaśāstra was composed by Sābāji Pratāparāja, a protégé of निजामशाह. He describes निजामशाहनगरी, which is evidently Ahmadnagar. “ अहमदपुर ” mentioned by Sābāji in this work is identical with the निजामशाहनगरी (Vide Dr. H. D. Sharma's paper on this work in Poona Orientalist, VIII, pp. 1-26).

कुतूहल definitely prove that he flourished after A. D. 1600.¹ This earlier terminus further supports my chronology for Raghunātha, viz. between A. D. 1640 and 1712 or so to which I have referred in my earlier papers on him. I am, however, mainly concerned in this paper with the MS of the 1st Pariccheda of the भोजनकुतूहल belonging to Śāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe, about whom my friend Mr. V. S. Bendre has supplied to me the following historical information:—

The Puṇḍe family belonged to Shrigonde village in the Ahmadnagar District of the Bombay Presidency. Sesavā Naik Puṇḍe of this family was contemporary of Māloji Bhosle, the grandfather of Shivaji the Great. His son Bābāji Naik Puṇḍe was Shivaji's Vakil at the Bijapur Court but was recalled from that Court in November-December 1673. Bābāji Naik died between July and November 1675. Bābāji's son Shāmji Naik Puṇḍe was Potdar (Treasurer) of Shivaji. He accompanied Shivaji in his Karnātak expedition. Later in December 1680 Shāmji was sent to Karnātak under Harji Mahādik in charge of the Karnātak province. Shāmji left Rāigad for Karnātak in March 1681 but was arrested at Jinji under the orders of Sambhāji, son of Shivaji, in August 1681.

In view of the above information about Shāmji Naik Puṇḍe we may suppose that the MS of the 1st Pariccheda of the Bhojana-Kutūhala belonging to this Maratha officer was copied for him sometime prior to A. D. 1681-82 or in this very year, when another MS, viz., that of दण्ढनातिव्यवहारमञ्जरी was copied for him in the year हुनुमि as proved by the Tanjore MS of this work. It seems certain, however, that Raghunātha composed this work in Mahārāṣṭra prior to A. D. 1680 or so when he was under the influence of his guru Anantadeva, the author of the Smṛtikaustubha. The three Paricchedas of the Bhojana-Kutūhala clearly show that our author had made a very close study of the Dharmaśāstra literature possibly under the guidance of Anantadeva, who was the direct descendant of the Maratha Saint Ekanāth (1528-1600 A. D.)²; and who flourished in the "3rd quarter of the 17th Century," i. e., between A. D. 1650 and 1675. This period is synchronous with the period of Raghunātha's stay in Mahārāṣṭra and his contact with Saint Rāmadāsa as I have already shown in my papers. Whatever be the

1. I have published a paper on this work in which I have recorded my evidence for this date of the परशुरामप्रताप — (Annals, B. O. R. I. XIV 56-164).

2. Vide p. 453 of P. V. Kane's History of Dharmaśāstra, Vol. I (1930).

exact date of composition of the Bhojana Kutūhala the association of the Jagtap MS of the 1st Pariccheda of this work with Shamji Nāyak Puṇḍe, a Maratha officer of Shivaji and Sambhaji, say between A. D. 1650 and 1685, clearly proves that this MS is a contemporary copy and hence extremely important both from the historical and textual points of view as will be seen from the facts noted below :—

(1) The B. O. R. Institute MS of the 1st Pariccheda of the भोजनकुतूहल (No. 594 of 1899-1905) is dated A. D. 1803. On folio 45a of this MS we find the following verse about the properties of the Custard-apple or सिताफल :—

“ सीताफलं सुमधुरं सीतलं पित्तनाशनं ।
सुकरचिकृद्वाते हितं न कफकृत् परं ॥ सिताफल ॥ ”

When I read this verse I was under the impression that the Sitāphal or Custard-Apple was known to Raghunātha (c. A. D. 1650). I now find that this verse is missing in the Shāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe's MS of the भो. कुतूहल. It appears therefore, that the above verse was added to this work by some Vaidya during the Peshwa period when the Sitāphal had gained sufficient popularity in the Deccan.

I have projected a special paper on the history of Sitāphal from Indian sources. In this connection I obtained the following remarks from the Horticulturist to Government, Bombay, through the favour of Mr. B. Sahay, I. C. S., Secretary of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research, New Delhi, in May 1942 :—

“ Sitāphal and Rāmphal — The names of the two varieties of Custard Apple, Rāmphal and Sitāphal are in themselves almost enough to show that from very early times, the trees have been grown and honoured by the Hindus.”

This view about the antiquity of Sitāphal and Rāmphal is not warranted by any evidence from Indian sources prior to A. D. 1500 or so as I propose to show in my projected paper on this subject referred to above.

(2) In the B. O. R. Institute MS of A. D. 1803 we find the following verse about the properties of पोपया or papayā fruit :—

Folio 46 —

“ वातकुम्भफलं ग्राही कफवातप्रकोपनं ।
तदेव पक्वं मधुरं पित्तघ्नं रोचनं गुरु ॥ पोपया इति ॥ ”

The above verse is found in the Jagtap MS of A. D. 1851 (Saka 1773) and reads as follows :—

Folio 396 —

“ वातकुंभफलं ग्राहि कफवातप्रकोपनं ।
तदेव पक्वं मधुरं पित्तघ्नं रोचनं गुरु ॥ पोषये ॥ ”

The above verse regarding Papayā found in the MSS of A. D. 1803 and 1851 is missing in the contemporary MS of Shāmji Nāyak Punde's ownership.

The Horticulturist to Government, Bombay, makes the following remarks about Papaya :—

“ Papayā — It was introduced into India by the Portuguese. Since Papayā seeds were sent from India to Naples, it is believed that the plant must have been introduced into India at an early date or shortly after the discovery of America.”

(3) In the B. O. R. Institute MS of A. D. 1803 we find the following verse regarding the properties of the fruit अननस or pine-apple :—

Folio 40 —

“ आमं तु कौतुकं रुच्यं कफपित्तकरं गुरु ।
अन्नप्ररोचकं हृद्यं श्रमक्लमनिबर्हणं ॥
पक्वं तु पित्तहृत्स्वादु रसमातपदोषनुत् ॥ अनानस ॥ ”

The above verse is found in the Jagtap MS of A. D. 1851 and reads as follows :—

Folio 36^a —

“ आमं तु कैतकं रुच्यं कफपित्तकरं गुरु ।
अन्नप्ररोचकं हृद्यं श्रमक्लमनिबर्हणं ॥
पक्वं तु पित्तहृत्स्वादु रसमातपदोषनुत् । ”

The above verse regarding Ananas is missing in Shāmji Nāyak Punde's MS of the भोजनकुतूहल.

The Horticulturist to Government, Bombay, makes the following remarks about Ananas ;—

“ Ananas — It is a native of Brazil. It was introduced by the Portuguese into Bengal in 1594. Its introduction is particularly mentioned by Indian authors such as Abul Fazl.”

From a comparison of the Shāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe MS of about A. D. 1680 with the late MSS of A. D. 1803 and 1851 of the 1st Pariccheda of the भोजनकुतूहल we see that the verses regarding (1) Sitāphal, (2) Ananas and (3) Papaya found in the 1803 and 1851 copies are exactly missing in the contemporary copy of c. A. D. 1680. These omissions are not a mere matter of accident especially when Raghunātha, the author of this work on dietetics, has taken special care in recording the properties of all important articles of diet known to him as current in the Deccan in the 17th century. It is, therefore, reasonable to conclude that the Custard-Apple, the Pine-apple and Papayā were not so popular in his time as to find a mention in his treatise specially devoted to dietetics. At any rate the omission of these late additions to Indian materia medica in a treatise of c. A. D. 1650 represented by a contemporary copy before us is quite significant and convincing regarding their late character and popularity. We have, however, reason to believe that Saint Rāmadāsa, the friend of Raghunātha, was quite acquainted with the fruits Añjīra, Papayā, Sitāphal, Ananas, etc.¹

It appears, however, that the Chillies (or Miracī) had become current in the Deccan in the 17th century. The Bhojana-Kutūhala MS of Shāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe contains the following verse regarding them :—

Folio 55 —

“ मरीचं क्षुपजं रुच्यं दोषलं सर्वरोगकृत् ।

विशेषतः प्रमेहार्शोविकारेषु न शस्यते ॥ मिरसिंगा ॥ ”

The term “ मिरसिंगा ” for Chillies is even now current in some parts of the Konkan and I shall prove in a separate paper on the history of Chillies that this term was applied to Chillies after their introduction into India in the Maratha Country. At any rate the mention of "मिरसंगा" and their properties in the Shāmji Nāyak Puṇḍe's MS of the Bhojana-Kutūhala of c. A. D. 1650 proves beyond doubt the antiquity of about 300 years for the term "मिरसंगा."

In the बागप्रकरण (pp. 627-628 of रामदासाचे समग्र ग्रंथ by G. G. Gondhalekar, Poona, 1906), we have an exhaustive list of plants to be planted in the garden. In this list there are references to पोपये, अंजीर, सिताफळ and अननस as follows :— “ पोपये, खेलेले, खपान, ” “ शेवे, कविट, अंजीर, सीताफळे, ” “ जांब, अननस, देवदार. ” The above references are historically important presuming that the texts in which they occur are genuine works of Saint Rāmadāsa.

The Horticulturist to Government, Bombay, makes the following remarks about Chillies :—

"The introduction of Chillies is believed to be of recent date, having been brought by the Portuguese from West Indies. Hove alludes to Capsicum as growing in Bombay in 1887."

Evidently the reference to मिरसंगा or Chillies and its properties by Raghunātha, a Deccani author of the Satara District of the Bombay Presidency about A. D. 1650, proves their popularity and cultivation in the Deccan about this time, if not many years earlier. This popularity has increased by leaps and bounds during the last 300 years. In fact at the present time the foreign origin of Chillies is absolutely forgotten by Indians. During the latter half of the 18th Century the Chillies had already captured the palate of the Marathas as stated by Rāghava Āpā Khāṇḍekar¹ in the following verse in his Sanskrit anthology (c. A. D. 1800) :—

"मिरसिं विना सुपाको मरहट्टानां कश्चिन्न रुचिदोऽस्ति"

50. Samudra - Saṅgama, a Philosophical Work by Dara Shukoh, Son of Shah Jahan, Composed in A. D. 1655 *

Beale in his *Oriental Biographical Dictionary*¹ states that Dara Shukoh was the author of "a work entitled Majma 'ul-Bahrain (i. e. the uniting of both Seas) in which he endeavours to reconcile the Brāhmaṇ religion with Muhammadan, citing passages from the Qurān to prove the several points. In 1656 he likewise with the same intent caused a Persian translation to be made by the Brāhmaṇs of Banāras of the Anikhat a work in the Sanskrit language etc."

In Aufrecht's Catalogous Catalogorum there is only one MS recorded of a work called *Samudra-Saṅgama*² which is identical with Ms No. 1043 of 1891-95 in the Govt. MSS Library at the B. O. R. Institute, Poona. The title "Samudra-Saṅgama" corresponds to the "uniting of both Seas" or Majma 'ul-Bahrain referred to above. Most probably the Samudra-Saṅgama is a Sanskrit adaptation of the Persian work of a similar title mentioned by Beale.

* B. I. S. Mandal Quarterly, Vol. 24 (1943), pp. 75-88.

1. New Edition, London, 1894, p. 117 — article on Dara Shukoh. The Chronology of Dara's life as found in this article is as follows:—

Dara, born — 20th March 1615 (29th Safar, A. H. 1024).

His marriage — A. D. 1633 (A. H. 1043).

Battle between Dara and Aurangzeb — 29th August 1659 (21st Zil-hijja A. H. 1069).

Dara caused the Upanishads to be translated by Benares Pandits — A. D. 1656.

2. A work of this name is recorded by Poleman in his list of Indic MSS in U. S. A. (1938) as follows:—

Page 277 — MS No. 5463 समुद्रसंगम (by विज्ञापन ?) Cosmology, 44 ff. 8.25 × 4.75 (Harvard 1212).

Perhaps this is identical with Dara's work समुद्रसंगम.

Prof. Kathawate who acquired the MS of the Samudra-Saṅgama for the Govt. of Bombay in 1891 has described its contents in detail in his *Report*¹ for 1891-95 and hence I need not deal with them in this paper.* I shall only discuss here the date of composition of the work in question as recorded in our MS No. 1043 of 1891-95 which begins as follows :—

“ ॥ सर्वत्र प्रकटः स सर्वावभासः स आदिः सौतस्तदतिरिक्तं वस्तु नास्तीति प्रतिवेशी सवासी च सहगः सर्वमेव सः पटच्चरे दरिद्रस्य क्षौमे राज्ञः सर्वतः भाति संस-दिभेदोयमभेदो रहसिस्फुटः ईशस्य ज्ञानं भूयः त छपः सर्वमेव सः प्रणामानामानंत्य परमप्रकाशप्रकाशके जगत्सृष्टिनिमित्तेस्माकं सिद्धानां सिद्धे परमेश्वरेण सत्कृते सन्मानिते च तथा पवित्रतमे तत्परिवारे महत्तरे तत्प्रतिनिधिरूपे च अथ कथयति वीतराग विगत-शोक संदोह महम्मद दाराशुकोह ॥ एवं यद्विज्ञाय सकलतत्त्वतत्वं निर्णाय च सत्यै-कात्मवादतात्पर्य आसाद्य ” etc.

It appears from the above passage that महम्मद दाराशुको, who is described by the adjectives “वीतराग,” “विगतशोकसंदेह,” is the author of the present work. One बाबालाल is mentioned in line 6 on folio 1^b of the MS. He appears to be some contemporary mystic and perhaps a guru² of Dara Shukoh as he is reverently men-

मुद्दीन इब्न अरबी — The greatest mystic (A. D. 1165-1240).

I have taken the above notes from Prof. Haq's remarks (pp. 57-63) on the Muslim Saints and Divines referred to by Dārā. Khan Bahadur Prof. A. K. Shaikh was kind enough to send me an English Trans. of Dārā's Risala-i-haq-numa (Compass of Truth) by S. C. Basu, Panini Office, Allahabad, 1912. Dārā composed this work in A. H. 1055-56. In the extract from Dārā's Saflnat-ul-auliya (A. H. 1049) given by Basu in his Trans. I find one Hazrat Sheikh-Zun-nun Misary quoted on page V. He seems to be identical with “जुन्नून मिसीरी” mentioned in the above quoted extract from समुद्रसंगम.

1. Compare the following Colophon of Majma 'ul-Bahrain “Praise be God for his favours, who granted me the grace of completing this tract, entitled Majma 'ul-Bahrain in the year 1065 A. H. which corresponds to the forty-second year of the age of this un-afflicted and unsorrowing Fakīr, Muḥammad Dārā Shikūh” (Vide p.
75 of the edition of Majma-ul-Bahrain by M. Mahfuz-ul-Haq — Bib.
Indica No. 246, 1929).

- (2) the Author (वैतराग महम्मद दाराशुको) was running the 42nd year of his life.
- (3) The present MS was completed in Samvat 1765, in the dark fortnight of the month of Mārgaśīrṣa on the 7th tithi which was a Monday (day of Candra).¹

The Hijra year (1065) was completed on 20th October 1655² and hence we must infer that the work was composed subsequent to this date. Dara was born on 29 Safar 1024 A. H. (20th March 1615 A. D.).³ According to the method of calculating age in Hijra years then current, he completed his 41st year on 28th Safar 1065 (28th December 1654.) He was 41 years and 10th months old when the Hijra year 1065 ended (last day of Zilāijā) on 28th October 1655. As he had not completed his 42nd year when the Samudra-Saṅgama was composed we must infer that this work was composed between 21st October (1st Moharam 1066) and 27th December 1655 (28 Safar 1066 A. H.) the date of Dārā's completion of his 42nd year.⁴

The foregoing details of the chronology of Dārā's present work are in harmony with the following facts about his life and his contact with Benares Paṇḍits as known to contemporary authors :—

(1) Bernier⁵ in his letter dated 4th October 1667 from Chiras in Persia to Monsieur Chapelain refers to Dārā's heresy as follows :—

1. This date is equivalent to 23rd November 1708 (Vide p. 219 of Indian Ephemeris, Vol. VI).

2. Vide p. 113 of Indian Ephemeris, Vol. VI.

3. Vide p. 117 of Beale's Ori. Bio. Dictionary.

4. I am thankful to my friend Mr. V. S. Bendre for the verification of these chronological details.

5. Vide p. 345 of Bernier's Travels (Constable, 1891) — The Editor quotes a passage regarding Dara's heresy from Alamgīr Nāmā written in A. D. 1688 by Mirza Muhammad Kazim :— " He (Dara) was constantly in the society of Brāhmanas, Īogis and Sanyāsīs..... He was under such delusion about this Bed that he collected Brāhmanas and Sanyāsīs from all parts of the country, and paying them great respect and attention, he employed them in translating the Bed."

"In conclusion I shall explain to you the Mysticism of a Great Sect which has latterly made a great noise in Hindustan in as much as certain Pendets or Gentile Doctors had instilled it into the minds of Dara and Sultan Sujah, the elder son of Chah-Jehan."

(2) Dara when Governor or Viceroy of Benares in 1656 caused a Persian translation to be made from the Sanskrit texts of the Upanishads. This translation was made by a large staff of Benares Paṇḍits. It has been rendered into Latin by Anquetil—Duperron and published by him at Paris in 1801.¹

(3) Bernier makes the following remarks about Dārā elsewhere² in his travels :—

"Born a Mahomedan, he continued to join in the exercises of that religion ; but although thus publicly professing his adherence to its faith, Dara was in private a Gentile with Gentiles and a Christian with Christians. He had constantly about him some of the Pendets or Gentile Doctors on whom he bestowed large pensions and from these it is thought he imbibed opinions in no wise accordant with the religion of the land etc."

(4) I have suggested in my paper³ on "Bernier and Kavindrācārya Sarasvatī at the Mughal Court" that "one of the most celebrated Pendets in all the Indies who had formerly belonged to the household of Dara" was identical with Kavindrācārya Sarasvatī,

1. Vide footnote 5 on p. 323 of Bernier's Travels. Duperron's version is criticised in the Edinburgh Review (Jan. 1803) by Alexander Hamilton, who was in India and who later was Professor of Sanskrit in the East India College at Haileybury. Hamilton pays a glowing tribute to Dara's abilities.

On p. 592 of Elphinstone's History of India (1874) it is stated that "Dara had written a book to reconcile the Hindu and Mahometan Doctrines." Cowell in his footnote on this page states that the Persian translation of the Upanishads made by Dara's order was finished in Ramazān A. H. 1067 (A. D. 1657). He also invites our attention to "the account of Nādir-un-nikāt or Seven days' dialogue between the prince and Bābā Lāl in Wilson's Hindu Sects (Collected Works Vol. I, p. 348). Evidently this Bābā Lāl is the same as his name-sake referred to in the समुद्रसंगम.

who after Darā's murder in A. D. 1659 was taken into service by Danechmandkan, the patron of Bernier himself. Kavīndrācārya's contact with Dara before A. D. 1659 may have been responsible for the production of such works like Samudra-Saṅgama in A. D. 1655 about which year Dara caused a Persian translation of the Upanishads to be made from the Sanskrit original.

(5) Another noted Sanyāsī revered by Dara was Gosvāmī Nṛsimhāśrama. Dr. C. K. Raja recently published a Sanskrit letter¹ of Dara addressed to this Sanyāsī. I have proved in a special paper² that this Sanyāsī was identical with Brahmendra Sarasvatī, who is a signatory to a Nirṇayapatra drawn up at Benares in A. D. 1657.

(6) In a Hindi work called the कवीन्द्रकल्पलता represented by a MS³ in the Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, there is a Section⁴ containing Dohas in praise of Dara Shukoh. This work was recently brought to my notice by Prof. Dasharatha Sharma of Bikaner. Its author is no other than Kavīndrācārya Sarasvatī who held much influence over Emperor Shah Jahan, to whose praise he devotes a big section⁵ of the present work. According to Prof. Dasharatha Sharma this poem was composed "Somewhere between 1638 and 1657." This poem is a direct contemporary testimony from Kavindrācārya himself about his intimate contact with Emperor Shah Jahan and his brilliant but unfortunate son Dara Shukoh, the author of the Samudra-Saṅgama. The Mishra Brothers state that Kavindrācārya composed a Hindi work called, समरसार in Saṁvat 1687 (A. D. 1631).¹

(8) In the history of Hindi literature by Mishra Brothers called the मिश्रबंधुविनोद² we are told that Dārā was the author of two Hindi works composed in A. D. 1654 (Saṁvat 1710) viz. (1) दोहास्तवसंग्रह and सारसंग्रह. A work called "बाबालालसे बातचीत" containing Dārā's discussion with बाबालाल on philosophic matters is mentioned in the Marathi Biographical Dictionary called the Madhyayugina Caritrakoṣa.³ Very probably this बाबालाल is identical with सद्गुरुबाबालाल mentioned by Dārā at the beginning of his present work Samudra-Saṅgama. Poleman⁴ refers to a work called सारसंग्रह (or सारसंग्रहराज) on medicine in Sanskrit and Bhāṣā. I cannot say if this सारसंग्रह is identical with the सारसंग्रह of Dārā Shukoh referred to above.

(9) In A. D. 1597-98 Emperor Akbar had the Yogavāsiṣṭha translated into Persian. This translation was very lengthy and not very useful. Dara Shikoh, therefore, got it retranslated into an abridged form in A. D. 1656.⁵ After this paper was drafted I secured a critical edition of the Majma'-ul-Bahrain with English Translation, Notes and Variants by Prof. M. Mahfuz-ul-Haq of the Presidency College, Calcutta, 1929 (Bib. Ind. No. 246). From a perusal of the English Translation of this work I have gathered an impression that the Sanskrit Samudra-Saṅgama is an adaptation of the Majma'-ul-Bahrain made almost simultaneously in the year 1065 A. H. which is recorded as the date of composition in the ending portions of both these works. Dārā may have got this Sanskrit abridgment² made by some Benares Pandit in his employ in A. D. 1655.

I have already referred to बाबालाल mentioned in the समुद्रसंगम as “चैतन्यस्वरूप ज्ञानमूर्तिसद्गुरु on folio 1 of our MS of A. D. 1708. Prof. Haq has also drawn our attention to the reference to this Hindu Saint found in the Majma'-ul-Bahrain (p. 24 of Eng. Trans.) where he calls him Bābā Lāl Bairāgī and puts him side by side with those Muhammadan Saints and divines who have been the best representatives of the Sufi order in Islam. Prof. Haq observes :—“ The inclusion of the name of a Hindū in such an exclusive list of Muslim divines shows unmistakably the high esteem in which this devotee was held by Dārā Shikūh.”

Prof. Haq has collected much valuable information about the contact of Dārā with Bābā Lāl. I shall here record a brief summary of it as it would be useful to know the Hindu influence on Dārā's mind in his quest for Truth.

Bābā Lāl (= BL) was a Hindu devotee of the Punjab. His actual name was Lāl Dayāl. He was a Khatri of Kasur living at Asthān, at Dhianpur near Batāla. He was a friend of Mīyān Jiv. He came down to Lahore and conversed with Dārā.

On folio 8a of the B. O. R. I. MS of the Samudra-Saṅgama Dārā quotes from वासिष्ठरामायण as follows :—

“ तदुक्तं वासिष्ठरामायणे —

कर्पांतवायवो यांतु यांतु चैकत्वमर्णवाः ।

नयंतु द्वादशादित्या नास्ति निर्मनसः क्षतिः ॥ ”

2. On page 32 of his Introduction Prof. Haq refers to an Arabic translation of Majma-ul-Bahrain preserved in the Imperial Library, Calcutta. He also refers to an Urdu translation by Gokul Prasad lithographed at Lucknow in 1872. These translations show the popularity of the work.

A work called “ Mukālima -i- Dārā wa Bābā Lāl ” we find a summary of the questions asked by Dārā on the various topics of Hindu religion and the replies given to them by BL. These conversations took place on Dārā’s return from Kandhār in 1062 A. H. i. e. 3 years before the composition of the Samudrasanġama in 1065 A. H. (A. D. 1655). Dārā refers to BL in his work called “ Hasanāt -ul -‘Ārifin ” composed A. H. 1064 as follows :—

“Bābā Lāl Mandiya is one of the perfect *Ārif*s and I have seen none in the Hindu community who is equal to him in majesty and firmness. He told me ‘ There are ‘Ārif>s, and perfect (divines) in every community through whose grace God grants salvation to that community.’”

Dārā’s private secretary Chandar Bhān took a verbatim report of the whole dialogue between Dārā and BL and thus prepared the book “ Mukālima -i- Dārā Shikūh wa Bābā Lāl.”

In the Curzon Collection of the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal (1908–1910) there is a copy of Puthi Urī in Persian which contains memoirs of BL and an account of BL’s interview with Dārā in 1059 A. H. (= A. D. 1649.)

Prof. Haq notes the following paintings in which BL and Dārā are portrayed :—

Plate No. XXII in Binyon’s Court Painters of the Grand Moghals (Oxford University Press, 1921)—Binyon states :— “Lāl Swāmi.....was a Kshatriya born in Malwa in the reign of Jahangir ; after having been initiated he settled near Sirhind in the Punjab, where he built himself a hermitage together with a temple and was visited by a large number of disciples. Among those who were attracted by his teaching was Dārā Shikoh ; two learned Hindus who were in this prince’s service have recorded in a work entitled Nadīr-al-Nikāt the conversation that took place between them in the year 1649.”

(2) In plate XIX of Binyon’s book BL appears in a group of 12 Indian divines viz. Rāy Dās. Pīpā, Nāmdīv, Sā’in, Kamāl, Awghar, Kabīr, Pir Machandar, Gorakh Jadru (?), Pir Panth Swāmi (?), and is styled there as Lāl Swāmi.

(3) A painting was exhibited at the Second Meeting of the Indian Historical Records Commission in which Dārā and BL are shown in each other’s company.

(4) An unidentified painting in Percy Brown’s Indian Paint- ing under the Mughals (Plate No. XLVI) portrays in the opinion of Prof. Haq the meeting between Dārā and Bābā Lāl.

In Prof. Haq's edition of the Majam-ul-Bahrain I have not found any reference to the Samudra-Saṅgama. He states that a very difficult task which confronted him was that of identification and transliteration of Sanskrit terms which had been so mutilated in the Persian text that in many cases it became almost impossible to identify them correctly. Prof. Haq, therefore, availed himself of the help of Dr. S. N. Das-Gupta in going through some portion of the English translations and further the identification and translation of Sanskrit terms was carried out for Prof. Haq by Prof. N. Chakravarti. I believe that this difficulty could have been overcome by the above professors had they known about the MSS of the Samudra-Saṅgama, which being a Sanskrit counterpart of the Persian original executed in the year 1065 A. H. had the advantage of Dārā's own supervision in its composition, even if we presume that the work was written by some Benares Paṇḍit for Dārā.

Now that the Persian original of the Samudra-Saṅgama has been critically edited and translated by Prof. Haq the work of editing the Samudra-Saṅgama would be made easy. In fact my friend Mr. K. Madhav Sarma, Curator of Anup Sanskrit Library, Bikaner, intends to edit the work. He has secured a MS of this work already and I am keeping at his disposal the oldest dated MS A. D. 1708 (No. 1043 of 1891-95) in the Government MSS Library, B. O. R. Institute.) Mr. Sarma will have to identify and transliterate correctly the Persian terms in the Samudra-Saṅgama in the same manner as the Sanskrit terms have been dealt with by Prof. Haq in his edition of the Persian original. At any rate we have now two MSS of the Sanskrit work, one of which was copied 53 years after the date of its composition and hence possesses great value for purposes of textual reconstruction. As I don't possess any first-hand knowledge of Dārā's Persian works I must rely on Prof. Haq's scholarly exposition of "Dārā's Religious Views" (pp. 26-30 of Introduction to Majam-ul-Bahrain) from which I note the following points for the information of Sanskrit scholars :—

(1) According to one authority Majam-ul-Bahrain, the last original work of Dārā, was the very work which brought about his death.

(2) The earlier studies of Dārā were purely Sufistic in character.

(3) Dārā writes in his translation of the Upanishads that after his discipleship of Mullā Shāh he came in close contact with the the divines of various religions and perused the Psalms, the Gospels and the Pantateuch. Before A. H. 1062 Dārā expressed no opinion on various religions more especially Hinduism.

(4) In his Shathiyat (1062 A. H.) Dārā quotes Bābā Lāl's aphorism that "Truth is not the monopoly of any one religion".

(5) In 1065 A. H. Dārā composed Majma-ul-Bahrain (or समुद्रसंगम) in which he expressed his views in a fearless manner as follows:—

"I have written this book for the members of my family and have nothing to do with the common ones of both the religions."

(Cf. समुद्रसंगम folio 1 — "स्वानुभवानुसारेण च निर्णय तत्त्वार्थं स्वकुटुम्बे-
स्वनुकंपया कृतोयमारंभः। न पुनरज्ञानिनो विभिन्नमतसंबन्धिनोर्बोधनेन मम
प्रयोजनम् ॥")

(6) In the Samudra-Saṅgama Dārā appears as a student of comparative religion, showing the points of identity between Hinduism and Islam without exalting or undermining either.

(7) Prof. Haq states that "Dārā had not renounced his own faith and become a Hindu as is asserted by a biased section of the community (p. 27 of Intro.). Dārā believed in the Kurān and was of opinion that "the Vedas were in accordance with the Kurān or rather they were an interpretation of that".

(Cf. समुद्रसंगम folio 6b —

"अपौरुषेय ग्रंथोऽस्माकं कुराणं सिद्धानां वेद इत्युच्यते")

(8) Dārā was indicted by the ecclesiasts of Aurangzeb's Court for his apostasy, but Prof. Haq states:— "Any one can choose to be the champion of Islām and remove all those who stand in the way of the realization of his political ambitions." It was obviously the mixture of politics and religion in Dārā's days that made Dārā a martyr to his views.

I now close this paper on the Samudra-Saṅgama of Dārā Shukoh with a request to Sanskrit Scholars and the students of the Mughal history to reconstruct the history of Dārā's contact with Benares paṇḍits which yet needs careful exploration and reconstruction on the basis of contemporary sources, both Sanskrit and Persian. In fact this Samudra-Saṅgama of various historical sources can alone lead to historical truth, divested of the mythical gossip that generally gathers round the life-history of unique historical personages of every age and clime. May Dārā's soul rest in eternal peace. Dārā died a Socratic death.

51. The Identification of Gosvāmi Nṛsimhā- śrama of Dara Shukoh's Sanskrit Letter with Brahmendra Sarasvatī of the Kavīndra - Candrodaya — Between A. D. 1628 & 1658 *

Dr. C. Kunhan Raja¹ published in 1940 an interesting Sanskrit letter of Mohamed Dara Shukoh, the son of Shah Jahan and half-brother of Aurangzeb. The particulars of this letter as given by Dr. Raja may be noted below :

- (1) The letter is "written to Gosvāmi Nṛsimha Sarasvatī² as noticed in lines eleven to thirteen of Section (24)."
- (2) It is "more an address than a letter."
- (3) Its MS is in the Adyar Library (No. XI. D. 4) [Vide p. 2 (b) of Adyar Cata. II, 1928 and MS No. 3111 of R.A.S.B. Cata. IV, as also Kavīndrācārya Śūcī, G.O.S. Baroda, No. XVII, preface. See also Ind. Office Cata. VII, (1904) MS No. 3947 on p. 499 and Mitra's Notices X, MS No. 4028].
- (4) The MS bears the date Samvat 1805 (1748 A. D.) "मितिराश्वीनशुक्लतीयायां संवत् १८०५ अष्टादशशतसप्तपञ्चमाब्दे" This cannot be the date of the letter. It must be the "date of transcription or more probably the date given should be Samvat 1705 (1648 A. D.) if it is Dara Shukoh's date."
- (5) The letter of Dara Shukoh must have ended with Section (24) — "इति अष्टाक्षरमन्त्रपूर्वका नमस्काराः सन्ति" ॥ २४ ॥. The remainder (Sections 25 to 31) must be another letter by one रामानुज and it men-

1. Vide pp. 87 to 94 of Adyar Library Bulletin, Vol. IV, Pt. 3, October 1940.

2. The text of Dara Shukoh's letter reads "गोस्वामि नृसिंहाश्रमेषु" tions a letter from साहजीक, who may be साहजी of Tanjore (1684-1711 A. D.) or Shah Jahan (1628-1658 A. D.)

(6) Both the letters are found in the same MS.

(7) There is no need to alter the date "Samvat" 1805 as it is reasonable to take it as the date of transcription.

I am concerned here with the first of these letters which gives the name of Dara Shukoh and the addressee Nṛsiṃhāśrama at the end of Section 24, which reads as follows :—

“.....सच्चिदानन्दस्वरूपेषु महायतिवरभूषेषु परिकल्पितनिर्विकल्पसमाधिविध्वस्तसंसारमहाश्रमेषु श्रीगोस्वामिनृसिंहाश्रमेषु प्रकटितपरमानन्दसंदोहतत्वज्ञानदूरीकृतमहामोहसमवगतससभूमिकासमारोहमहामदाराशिकोहकृता ओन्नमोनारायणायैत्यष्टाक्षरमन्त्रपूर्वका नमस्काराः संति ॥ २४ ॥”

I propose to identify “गोस्वामिनृसिंहाश्रम” with ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती who was a resident of Benares and a contemporary of Shah Jahan (1628-1658 A. D.). My evidence for the proposed identification is as follows :—

(1) There is a निर्णयपत्र¹ dated Śaka 1579 (= A. D. 1657) endorsed by about 75 learned Brahmins of Benares who had assembled to settle the Caste dispute about the देवर्षि Brahmins. This निर्णयपत्र of A. D. 1657 contains the following endorsements :—

(1) “संमतार्थोऽयं पूर्णेन्द्रसरस्वतीयतेः”

(22) “संमतश्चार्थोऽयं ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वत्याख्ययतेनृसिंहाश्रमस्य।”

It is clear from the second endorsement quoted above that there lived at Benares in A. D. 1657 a Sanyāsin called नृसिंहाश्रम² who was more popularly known as “ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती.” He was also contemporary of another Sanyāsin “पूर्णेन्द्रसरस्वती” whose endorsement appears first on the above निर्णयपत्र, which is endorsed by such worthies as गागाभट्ट, खण्डदेव etc.

2. This नृसिंहाश्रम is different from नृसिंहाश्रम, the Guru of Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, who composed works in A. D. 1547 and 1558 (Vide my paper on Bhaṭṭoji's date in Annals (Tirupati), Vol. I, (1940), pp. 117-124.

(2) Rāmāśrama quotes Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita¹ in his Durjana-mukha-Capeṭikā. Bhaṭṭoji's career ended about A. D. 1620. Rāmāśrama² is, therefore, later than Bhaṭṭoji. He is also later than पूर्णेन्द्रसरस्वती and ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती as these persons are mentioned by him in his बुर्जनमुखपेटिका (B.O.R. Institute MS No. 139 of 1891-95, folio 2 — पूर्णेन्द्रब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वत्यादिभिः ") He may have been a junior contemporary of पूर्णेन्द्र and ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती quoted by him as authorities.

(3) The Kavindra-Candrodaya, Poona, 1939 (between A. D. 1628 and 1658) contains the following tribute to कवीन्द्राचार्य सरस्वती from his contemporary of Benares :—

P. 29 — " स्वस्ति श्रीमत्समस्तगुणरत्नाकरेषु ... सावर्भौमप्रभृतिसकलमही-पालसंतोषावहसकलकलाविराजमानेषु ४ महोदारमहाकावपरमात्तश्रीसर्वविद्या-मिधानकवीन्द्राचार्यसरस्वतीप्रभुवरेषु ५ ॥ ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वतीनाम् ॥ "

P. 2 — श्रीकृष्ण उपाध्याय refers to पूर्णेन्द्र and ब्रह्मेन्द्र in his description of कवीन्द्राचार्य which reads :

" विख्यातकीर्तिः पूर्णेन्द्रब्रह्मेन्द्राद्यभिनन्दितः । "

P. 24 — Pūrṇendra and Brahmendra are again mentioned as leaders of the Sanyāsins of Benares in the following line in the कवीन्द्रचन्द्रोदय —

" ब्रह्मेन्द्रपूर्णेन्द्रयतीन्द्रवृन्दमुख्यैरशेषैरभिनन्द्यमानः ". We may compare the epithet 'यतीन्द्रवृन्दमुख्य' as applied to ब्रह्मेन्द्रयती here with the epithet " महायतिवरभूष " used by Dara Shukoh in his address to नृसिंहाश्रम.

1. Folio 2 of B.O.R. Institute MS No. 139 of 1891-95. " महोजि-दीक्षितैः भागवतं स्वीकृतम्. "

2. One रामाश्रम composed a work तत्त्वचन्द्रिका (Ms No. 2906 described by R. Mitra, Notices, X, Calcutta, 1888). He was a pupil of one नृसिंहाश्रम (colophon — " इति परमहंसपरिभाषाजकाचार्यभगवन्नृसिंहाश्रमपूज्यपाद-शिष्य श्रीरामाश्रमविरचिता तत्त्वचन्द्रिका संपूर्णा । शकाब्दाः १६७८ ") who is earlier than 1756 A. D. Is this नृसिंहाश्रम identical with नृसिंहाश्रम (A.D. 1547, 1558) or with नृसिंहाश्रम (alias ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती) endorsing a निर्णयपत्र in A. D. 1657 at सुफिमठ in Benares ?

The foregoing evidence may now be briefly recorded as follows :—

A. D. 1628-1658 — Brahmendra Sarasvatī was a pre-eminent Sanyāsin of Benares, highly respected by his contemporaries as shown by references to him in the कवीन्द्रचन्द्रोदय¹ (Ms of A. D. 1678) a contemporary record of Shah Jahan's time.

A. D. 1620-1660 — Rāmāśrama, the author of दुर्जनमुखचपेटिका, who was possibly a junior contemporary of ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती refers to him in this work.

A. D. 1628-1658 — Dara Shukoh in his address to नृसिंहाश्रम calls him यतिवरभूष, an expression similar to the expression “यतीन्द्रवृन्दमुख्यैः” applied to ब्रह्मेन्द्र in the कवीन्द्रचन्द्रोदय in which the contact of कवीन्द्राचार्य with Shah Jahan and Dara Shukoh is expressly stated on p. 23 as follows :—

“ येन श्री साहिजाहाँ नरपतितिलकः स्वस्य वक्ष्यः कृतोऽभूत् ।

किं चावश्यं प्रपन्नः पुनरपि विहितः शाहिदाराशकोहः ॥ ”

A. D. 1657 — The निर्णयपत्र of A. D. 1657 drawn up at मुक्तिमण्डप in Benares discloses for the first time that ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती is identical with नृसिंहाश्रम (“ ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वत्याख्ययतेः नृसिंहाश्रमस्य ”).

In view of the above contemporary evidence of the *Kavindra Candrodāya*², the Durajanamukha-Capetikā of one Rāmāśrama, Dara Shukoh's Sanskrit Address and the *Nirṇayapatra*³ drawn up at Muktimanḍapa in Benares, I am inclined to believe that गोस्वामि-

3. This is a valuable document as it contains the endorsements of about 75 learned men of Benares who lived in the middle of the 17th century. Though this document is published in the Marathi book — “चितलेभट्टप्रकरण” by R. S. Pimputkar in 1926 I propose to edit it again as an appendix to one of my projected papers with historical notes on the identification of at least some of these learned men. It may be noted here that some of the contributors to Kavindra Candrodāya are signatories to this निर्णयपत्र of A. D. 1657.

दुसिहाभन to whom Dara Shukoh sent his Sanskrit address is no other than ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती referred to in contemporary documents by this popular name.

Dr. Hara Datta Sharma and Mr. M. M. Patkar¹ make the following remarks regarding ब्रह्मेन्द्रसरस्वती of the Kavindra Candrodaya :—

“ 51 Brahmendra Sarasvatī, pupil of Devendra and the author of the Vedāntaparibhāṣā (CC I, 389^a) and *Advaitāmṛta*² (CC II, 88^a). ”

These remarks need to be examined in the light of the evidence brought forth in this paper.

52. The tradition about Liaison of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja with a Muslim Lady (Yavanī)— Is it a Myth? *

Like the life-history of many of his celebrated contemporaries, the life-history of Jagannātha Paṇḍita is shrouded in mystery. Some of the traditions about this dominant personality of the middle of the 17th century are taken as facts of history by the orthodox pandits while they are dismissed as myths by modern writers. No attempt seems to have been made to examine all these traditions from the historical point of view, which requires a painstaking investigation not only in contemporary sources but in subsequent sources, whether Sanskrit or non - Sanskrit.¹

1. In this connection Dr. Qanungo's paper on "Some sidelights on the character and court-life of Shah Jahan" published in the Journal of Indian History, Madras, Vol. 8 (1929), pp. 49 and 50, is noteworthy. Some points from this paper pertaining to Jagannātha may be recorded here :—

(i) Jagannātha is referred to in the Padshahnama as a Kalāwant (musician).

(ii) On the 22nd Rabi-us-Sani Jagannātha Kalāwant presented to the emperor 12 literary pieces composed in the name of His Majesty (Shah Jahan), who was so pleased that Jagannātha was weighed against silver and the whole amount of Rs. 4,500 was presented to Jagannātha.

(iii) Jagannātha Kalāwant was first given the title of Kavirāya and after some time that of Mahā Kavirāya.

(iv) Jagannātha (Kalāwant) headed the list of authors at the Mughal Court. Dr. Qanungo identifies Jagannātha Kalāwant with Jagannātha, the author of Rasagāṅgādhara and Āsafaharī (Āsafvilāsa). I have noted these points from Prof. V. A. Sastri's remarks on p. 23 of his Jagannātha Paṇḍita.

In a recent volume¹ on Jagannātha Paṇḍita Prof. V. A. Ramaswami Sastri of the Annamalai University has devoted one Chapter² to "Jagannātha's Life-history" and gathered all known data about this history. It is a laudable attempt as it provides us with all earlier references on the subject and thus lays bare the points which need further investigation. I have been collecting materials on these lines but as it will take a long time to put them in print I have thought it advisable to make a beginning by putting on record some evidence on the tradition about the liaison of Jagannātha with a yavanī or muslim lady, which is always mentioned with wonder and amazement by the orthodox paṇḍits and with a prying curiosity and hidden admiration by some of our modern Sanskritists with a reformist and cosmopolitan bias.

In support of Jagannātha's liaison with a Muslim lady some verses³ are cited. Prof. Sastri states that, "these verses are not found in any one of his (Jagannāth's) works. ... As there is no direct reference to any Muslim beauty in this work (in the Śṛṅgāra Samullāsa of the Bhāminīvilāsa) it is doubtful whether he had been intimate with a Muslim lady. The stanzas cited might be the productions of his enemies whom he had not spared and in revenge were probably fathered upon him." Prof. Sastri concludes his discussion¹ of the topic as follows :—

"It may be remembered in this connection that Shah Jahan interdicted Hindu - Muhammadan marriages in Kashmir. Therefore, it is unlikely that he tolerated his protégé Jagannāth's marriage with a Muslim lady." Against this conclusion of Prof. Sastri I have to point out that the practice of maintaining liaison with Muslim ladies was not uncommon in the 17th century or even in the 16th century. For instance Lolimbarāja² who belonged to the latter half of the 16th century had his liaison with Ratnakalā a Muslim beauty who is constantly referred to in his works. Then again a Brahmin Dayādeva Śarmā had his liaison with Cimanī³ the daughter - in-law of Allāhvardī Khān Turkmān (between A. D. 1606 and 1660) one of the great grandees at Shah Jahān's court. It is, therefore, quite probable that Jagannātha Paṇḍita maintained his liaison with a yavanī in spite of his contact with Shah Jahān's court.

Now let us see if we can record the earliest mention of the tradition of Jagannātha and his contact with a yavanī (or Muslim beauty). So far as my investigation goes I have found such mention in the commentary of Sadāśiva on the Gaṅgālaharī of Jagannātha Paṇḍita. Sadāśiva observes at the beginning of his commentary :—

“ भन्न एवं श्रूयते । कवि जगन्नाथो दिल्लीवल्लभाश्रितस्तद्यवनीसंसर्गदोषभाक्

The above extract is found in a MS at the B. O. R. Institute (Govt. MSS Library)—No. 433 of 1884-87, which bears the date¹ Śaka 1750 = A. D. 1828.

As the tradition about Jagannātha and his yavanī is recorded in a MS of Sadāśiva's commentary copied in A. D. 1828 we can safely infer that it was current towards the end of the 18th century. I have not examined the date² of Sadāśiva's commentary but it is obviously earlier than A. D. 1828. It is thus clear that this tradition is at least about 150 years old.

the Gaṅgālaharī of Jagannātha. These verses are, therefore, 100 years old and as they are connected with the tradition about Jagannātha's yavanī recorded by the commentator Sādāśiva we may not be wrong if we consider them practically of the same age as the tradition i.e. about 150 years old, if not more.

Dalapatirāma composed his commentary in A. D. 1807. It is doubtful whether the 9 verses found in a MS of A. D. 1843 formed part of Dalapatirāma's commentary. It is, however, certain that they were current in A. D. 1843 and possibly many years earlier¹ as I have already observed above.

The extract given above states that these verses were composed by Paṇḍitarāja (Jagannātha) —“ इमे श्रीपंडितराजकृत श्लोकाः.” We are concerned here with verses 6, 7 and 9 in the extract, which are practically identical with those quoted by Prof. Ramaswami Sastri, in his discussion about Jagannātha's yavanī.

verses about this yavanī found in a MS of A. D. 1843 make it abundantly clear that this tradition had crystallized by the end of the 18th century and that it is about 150 years old. We cannot, therefore, brush it aside without tracing its origins in earlier sources. At any rate we should keep it open for further investigation and should not treat it as a pure myth without any foundation in fact. It has been my experience that traditions dismissed as improbable by responsible scholars' with critical acumen have been proved by me on contemporary evidence, the genuineness of which has now been acknowledged by them. I would, therefore, request my friend Prof. Sastri to examine the tradition about Jagannātha's yavanī more closely on the strength of all sources, contemporary and subsequent ones, and then express a decisive opinion on it. Sanskritists are not to blame if they are unable to prove facts of letter written from Delhi on 1st July 1663 makes interesting reading :—(Vide pp. 274–276 of Travels, Vol. I, Constable, London, 1891).

A physician and surgeon called Bernard was a favourite of Jahangir. He was paid 10 crowns per day. He fell in love with a damsel of Jahangir's Court. Her mother resisted the overtures of Bernard. Jahangir offered him a present for an extraordinary cure effected by him in his Seraglio. Bernard refused the gift before the Court assembly and in lieu thereof asked for the damsel in question then waiting for the customary salām at the court. "The whole assembly smiled at this refusal of the present and at a request so little likely to be granted, he being a Christian and the girl a Mahomedan and a Kencheny; but Jehan-Guyre, who never felt any religious scruples, was thrown into a violent fit of laughter, and commanded the girl to be given to him 'Lift her on the physician's shoulders' he said, 'and let him carry the Kenchen away.' No sooner said than done. In the midst of a crowded assembly, the girl was placed on Bernard's back who withdrew triumphantly with his prize and took her to his house." This story of Bernard and his yavanī may be favourably compared with that of Jagannātha and his yavanī.

My friend Dr. Dineshchandra Sarkar has admitted the genuineness of this evidence on p. 351 of his "Successors of the Sātavāhanas" — (Appendix on Aśvamedha), Calcutta, 1939.

traditions' about the personal history of Sanskrit authors but it is their sacred duty to bring to the notice of historians such facts or traditions which need further investigation. I myself have been struggling continuously in this direction for the last twenty-five years but the results of my labour have hardly touched the very fringe of the uncharted field of the history of Sanskrit and allied literature represented by the innumerable manuscripts in our Manuscript Libraries.

1. Mr. Ramrao Martand Bhamburkar in his Life of Pandit Jagannātharāya and Saṅgīta Gaṅgālaharī, Baroda, 1928 (Pages 137 + 72) has collected and recorded all facts and fiction about Jagannātha. The volume makes interesting reading but it is difficult to penetrate the mist of tradition as recorded in this volume. He has composed a Marathi play called यवनीपरिणय based on Jagannātha and his yavanī. It is in three acts. Mr. Bhamburkar makes Jagannātha a contemporary of Emperor Akbar (A. D. 1556-1605) while Prof. Ramaswami Sastri gives us "c. A. D. 1590-1665" as the date of Jagannātha, which I think is acceptable. I appreciate Mr. Bhamburkar's fervour but not his chronology, which is somewhat misleading and contrary to contemporary evidence. In Mr. Bhamburkar Jagannātha has found a kindred spirit to render his Gaṅgālaharī ably in Marathi songs, which are characterized by a felicity of diction and ease of style, qualities rarely to be found in some of the Marathi renderings of Sanskrit poems.

53. The Influence of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja on some Deccani Authors of the Seventeenth Century — Between A. D. 1650 and 1700*

Like all great men Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja had his enemies during the period of his life (between c. A. D. 1590-1665)¹. In spite of these enemies the banner of his fame, though it may have been torn by his contemporary rivals, is kept fluttering even to this day and will continue to flutter so long as Sanskrit literature continues to live. In spite of a few contemporaries, who may have been in conflict with his way of life² or his literary activities there were others who were influenced by his poetry and learning. I propose in this paper to record how the influence of this mighty mind affected the Deccani poets and pandits. My data on this topic is not exhaustive but only representative and hence may be made more elaborate by additional facts from contemporary sources, if available on a fresh research in sources hitherto known or in sources which remain still untapped.

The first dated reference to Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja by a Deccani³ author is found in an anthology called the Padyāmṛta-

* Journal of the Mythic Society, Vol. XXIII, No. 1, pp. 29-37.

1. Vide p. 35 of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja by Prof. V. A. Ramaswami Sastri. (Annamalai University Series No. 8) 1942.

2. For instance, the tradition about his liaison with a Muslim lady (yavanī). Vide my paper on the subject to be published shortly in the Bhāratiya Vidyā, Bombay.

3. Vide my paper on "The Date of Padyāmṛtatarāṅgiṇī of Bhāskara — Samvat 1730 (12th June 1673)" in the Calcutta Oriental Journal, Vol. III, pp. 33-55 (1935). Bhāskara's family hailed from त्र्यंबकेश्वरपुरी near Nasik (Bombay Presidency) as stated by him in this anthology :—

“ त्र्यम्बकेश्वरपुरीकृतवासादमिहोत्रीकुलनीरधिचंद्रात् । पुण्यपूर्णपुरुषोत्तमभट्टादुद्भूतं सुकृती हरिभट्टः ॥ ” tarāṅgiṇī completed on Thursday, 12th of June 1673 by Bhāskara (alias Hari) at Benares. In this work on anthology a verse is quoted and its authorship ascribed to Paṇḍitarāja. This verse as found by me in Manuscript No. 376 of 1884-87 in the Government Manuscripts Library at the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, reads as follows :—

Folio 7^b — पण्डितराजस्य ।

“ दिङ्नागाः प्रतिपेदिरे प्रथमतो जास्यैव नेतव्यताम्
संभाष्य स्फुटविक्रमोऽथ वृषभो गौरैव गौरीपतेः ।
विक्रान्तेनिकषः करोतु कृतमं मामत्रिलौकीतले
कण्ठे कालकुटुम्बिनी कण्ठया सिक्तः सकण्ठीरवः ॥ २०८ ॥ ”

I have not identified the above verse but presuming that it was composed by Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja as stated in the manuscript of the anthology we must regard it as the earliest quotation from Jagannātha by a Deccani writer, whose family came from Tryambakeśvara near Nasik. The author of the anthology, Bhāskara (alias Hari) as also his father Āpājibhaṭṭa, were both residing at Benares. Āpāji (c. A. D. 1650) as also his son Bhāskara (A. D. 1650-1690 or so) may have come into contact with Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja. At any rate Āpāji was a contemporary of Paṇḍitarāja (A. D. 1590 to 1660 or so) and must have read the works of Jagannātha produced during his life-time, say between A. D. 1610 and 1650. It is, therefore, possible to suppose that his son Bhāskara was familiar with Jagannātha's poetry. If these suggestions are accepted we may reasonably presume that the verse ascribed to Paṇḍitarāja by Bhāskara in his anthology of A. D. 1673 is the earliest quotation from Paṇḍitarāja by a Deccani writer of the second half of the seventeenth century¹.

The next Deccani author to be influenced by the writings of Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja was Hari Kavi ' alias Bhānubhaṭṭa, who was a resident of Surat² in Gujarat. He wrote some works by the order of Kṛṣṇa Paṇḍita, the guru of the Marāṭha King Sambhāji (A.D. 1680-1689) and of Sambhāji himself. He composed his Sambhurājacarita or a poetical life of his patron Sambhāji in A. D. 1685. He composed an anthology called the Subhāṣitahārāvali in which he quotes five verses and ascribes them to Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja. My friend Dr. H. D. Sharma has been able to identify two of these verses in Jagannātha's works. These two verses are as follows :—

गङ्गाधर mentioned in verses 3 and 5 needs to be identified.

The last three verses quoted by Hari Kavi and the only verse quoted by Bhāskara need to be identified, if possible, in the known works of Paṇḍitarāja. It is possible to suppose that some of the stray poetic composition of Jagannātha has been lost to us. Even his Rasagaṅgādhara has survived in an incomplete form.

Dr. Hara Datta Sharma was the first to point out these verses in the *Subhāṣitahārāvalī*¹ of Hari Kavi though he was not then aware that this poet had any connection with the Marāṭhā King Sambhāji, the son of Shivāji the Great. In my elaborate paper on Hari Kavi referred to above I have examined all the fragments of Hari Kavi's works discovered by Bühler in 1875 and linked up the literary activities of this poet with the Marāṭhā history of the seventeenth century².

The influence of Jagannātha on Hari Kavi is not confined merely to his quotations from Jagannātha's work. In his हैहयेन्द्र-काव्य written in a sustained classical style we find the influence of Paṇḍitarāja almost in every line of the fragment that has come down to us. This fragment is manuscript No. 327 of 1875-76

1. Vide Ind. Hist. Quarterly, Vol. X, 1934, pp. 485 ff.

2. It is a pity that no student of Marāṭhā history has been able so far to discover any reference to Hari Kavi in contemporary records. This is due to the dearth of these records especially for the period of Sambhāji's reign (A. D. 1680-1689). The story of Hari Kavi's contact with Sambhāji was unknown to Marāṭhā history till the publication of my paper in 1935. Prof. Scherbatsky edited the Haihayendracarita from the fragment of manuscripts made available to him by Bühler. He could not, however, establish its connection with the Marāṭhā King Sambhāji. Vide Memoirs of the Imperial Academy of Sciences, Vol. IV, No. 9 (1894).

acquired by Bühler in 1875. On folio 21 of this fragment we find Hari Kavi's appreciation of Jagannātha's poetical composition :—

“ कमलपटलस्फारस्सूजंमनोहरसौरभो-

 नहि सुभगतां लोकेर्विदस्यनेकगुणानुतां

This poem was composed by Hari Kavi by the order of King Sambhāji as also its commentary called the शंभुविलासिका (Manuscript No. 829 of 1875-76). In the commentary Hari Kavi himself explains the above reference to Jagannātha as follows :—

Fol. 71^b — “ विशेषतः कवि प्रशंसति ॥ कमलेति । माधुरीकत्रः ॥

These references clearly prove the influence of Paṇḍitarāja on a Deccani poet who flourished between A. D. 1650 and 1700 and who, though resident of Surat in Gujarat had some contact with the ruling line of the Marāṭhā Kings, Shivājī' and Sambhāji on whom he has showered much praise in his works.

The third Deccani author to be influenced by Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja was Vāmana Paṇḍita, who is assigned by Marāṭhi scholars to the latter half of the seventeenth century¹ to which Hari Kavi belonged as we have stated above. He rendered Jagannātha's Gaṅgālaharī into Marāṭhi verse using the original metre used by Jagannātha viz. शिखरिणि. It is, therefore, known as Samaśloki. This rendering of Vāmana Paṇḍita is very popular in the Deccan. If the date assigned to Vāmana Paṇḍita is correct his Samaśloki rendering of the Gaṅgālaharī is perhaps the earliest and the finest tribute to Jagannātha's poetic genius by a Deccani poet of Vāmana's fame and popularity. "That which comes from the heart goes to the heart" and Jagannātha's Gaṅgālaharī did not fail to go to the heart of a poet like Vāmana, whose early life² followed

1. Vide p. 247 of महाराष्ट्र सारस्वत by Bhavé, 1919. Vāmana flourished towards the close of Śālivāhana Śaka — 16th century. He is believed to have died in Śaka 1617 (= A. D. 1695). The Mahārāṣṭriya Jñānakosha ed. by Dr. S. V. Ketkar (Vol. XX, 1926) p. (व १४७) assigns Vāmana Paṇḍita to the period A. D. 1636-1695 (See also p. 729 of मध्ययुगीन चरित्रकोश by S. Chitrav, Poona, 1937). According to Mr. V. Bhavé Vāmana belonged to Bijapur. He studied Persian in his early life and Sanskrit later at Banāres. He composed some Sanskrit prakaraṇas such as (1) सिद्धान्तविजय, (2) अनुभूतिलेश. He composed निगमसार in A. D. 1673 and अपरोक्षानुभूति in A. D. 1675. He translated the शतक of भर्तृहरि, the गङ्गालहरी of जगन्नाथ and the भगवद्गीता into Marāṭhi verse.

2. If Jagannātha flourished between c. A. D. 1590 and 1665 and Vāmana between A. D. 1636 and 1695 and as Vāmana studied Sanskrit at Banāres, there is reason to believe that Vāmana may have come into personal contact with Jagannātha especially during the closing years of Paṇḍitarāja's career and perhaps as a result of this contact Vāmana may have undertaken to translate the Gaṅgālaharī into Marāṭhi verse. A manuscript of Jagannātha's चित्रमीमांसाखण्डन is dated A. D. 1652-3. This work mentions his रसगङ्गाधर, which mentions the five लहरी of Jagannātha, including the गङ्गालहरी. We may, therefore, presume that the गङ्गालहरी was composed before A. D. 1650 and was thus available to Vāmana for translation; close on Jagannātha's literary career. The flower of Jagannātha's poetic genius was not born to blush unseen or to waste its sweetness on the desert air but it emitted its fragrance far and wide, away from the Mughal court and the banks of the Ganges, where lived some of his contemporary rivals and enemies in the latter half of the seventeenth century¹.

The chronology of the Deccani authors influenced by Jagannātha Paṇḍitarāja may now be recorded in the following table :—

Name	Chronology	Remarks
Bhāskara Agnihotri.	Composed works in A. D. 1673, 1676 & 1695.	Hailed from Nasik but resided at Benares.
Hari Kavi alias Bhānubhaṭṭa.	Composed works about A.D. 1685.	Family hailed from the Decan, though residing at Surat in Gujarat in the seventeenth century.
Vāmana Paṇḍita,	Between A. D. 1636 and 1695.	Native of Bijapur but later went to Benares and studied Sanskrit there.

I close this paper with a request to Sanskritists and historians for collecting more data on the subject of this paper.

1. Leaving aside Jagannātha's rivals we must study in detail the life-history of Jagannātha's pupils who were influenced by his poetry and learning. Jagannātha was a Tailanga Brahmin. A work called कुलप्रबन्ध was composed by हरिहर भट्ट an ancestor of कृष्णकवि (court-poet of Sevai Jayasing). This हरिहर states that his uncle नारायण was the pupil of जगन्नाथ पण्डितराय. Nārāyaṇa's brother रामकृष्ण was in the favour of Raja Ramsing I of Jaipur who came to the throne in A. D. 1667. Verse 77 of कुलप्रबन्ध reads as follows :—

“लब्धा विद्या निखिलाः पण्डितराजाजगन्नाथात् ।
नारायणस्तु देवादल्पायुः स्वपुरीमगमत् ॥”

हरिहर brings the history of this तैलंग Brahmin family upto A. D. 1700 (Vide B. I. S. Mandal Quarterly XXII, p. 16, 1941).

54. Nīlakaṇṭha Śukla, a romantic and pugnacious Pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita and his Works — Between A. D. 1610 and 1670 *

So far only two MSS of the poem Cimanī-Carita were known. Both of them are in the Govt. MSS Library under the following numbers :—

(1) No. 698 of 1886-92, dated Saṁvat 1800 = A. D. 1744.

(2) No. 357 of 1884-87, dated Saṁvat 1744 = A. D. 1688.

Both these MSS record the date of composition of the work represented by the chronograms “मिहरमुनींदु” in MS No. 357 of 1884-87 and “महीरमुनींदु” in MS No. 698 of 1886-92. In 1928 I proved in a note¹ published in the Annals of the B. O. R. Institute that the chronogram “मिहरमुनींदु” found in the MS of A. D. 1688 was correct, being equal to 12 (मिहर = मिहिर = Sun), 7 (मुनि), 1 (इंदु) = Saṁvat 1712 or A. D. 1656. Recently I have published a paper² on the historical background of the चिमनीचरित in which I have presumed the identity of the author of the Cimanī-Carita with the author of a work on grammar called the Śabda-Śobhā composed in A. D. 1637, both these authors having the same name and surname viz. नीलकण्ठ शुक्ल. After the publication of this paper my friend Dr. V. Raghavan of the Madras University informed me that there is a third MS of the Cimanī-Carita in the Anūpa Library of Bikaner. Through the courtesy and kindness of the Director-General of Education of Bikaner and the Librarian of the above library I got prepared a copy of this MS which bears No. 3036 of that Library. This MS is very important as it is dated “Saṁvat 1726” = A. D. 1670. It was written 14 years after the date of

* New Indian Antiquary, Vol. V, pp. 177-183.

1. Annals, Vol. X, pp. 331-332.

2. Vide pp. 149-158 of the Poona Orientalist, Vol. VI, (1941 - “The Historical Background of the Cimanī-Carita, a Romantic love-poem by a pupil of Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita dealing with the love of the daughter-in-law of Allāha Vardī Khān Turkmān (Between A. D. 1606-1659).”

composition of the Cimāṇi-Carita. It is also older than the B. O. R. Institute MS of A. D. 1688 by 18 years. We get, therefore, the following dates of the work and its subsequent copies :—

- A. D. 1656 — Cimāṇi-Carita composed by श्रीलकण्ठ शुक्ल.
 „ 1670 — Date of the Bikaner copy of the poem.
 „ 1688 }
 „ 1744 } — Dates of the B. O. R. I. MSS of the poem.

It is clear from the above dates that the Bikaner MS of the poem is the oldest dated copy and hence very useful from the textual point of view. This copy contains the correct reading of the chronogram viz. “मिहिरसुनीन्दु” unlike the approximately correct reading “मिहरसुनीन्दु” or the hopelessly incorrect reading “महीसुनीन्द्रु” or its suggested emendation “महीसुनीन्द्र” (= 1471 Samvat) by Peterson. The Bikaner MS justifies my correct interpretation of the date viz. A. D. 1656 and at the same time illustrates the importance of the oldest-dated copies of works not only for determining their texts but also for the verification of dates left uncertain by the readings of comparatively later copies of these works. It should, therefore, be noted that in the present stage of our chronology we must endeavour to bring to the notice of scholars all dated MSS¹ of works and then to point out the oldest dated MSS of these works. I have accordingly published some papers² on these lines with a view to studying the chronological perspective of both the original works and their subsequent copies. With these remarks about the oldest dated MS of the Cimāṇi-Carita I record below my evidence regarding the identity of the authors of the Cimāṇi-Carita (a love poem) and the Śabda-śobhā (a work on grammar). This work was composed in A. D. 1637.³ A MS of this work is dated 1680 (Samvat 1736).⁴ This is the oldest dated MS of the Śabdaśobhā so far discovered by me. In the concluding verses¹ of the Śabdaśobhā we get the following details about its author :—

- (1) He was the son of शुक्र जनार्दन.
- (2) He was the son of the daughter of one वछाचार्य.²
- (3) He was the pupil of भट्टोजिदीक्षित and had studied शब्दशास्त्र.
- (4) His name was नीलकंठ कवि.

There are similar verses³ at the end of the चिमनीचरित, which

1. These verses read as follows in MS No. 183 of A 1882-83 :—

“ शुक्रजनार्दनपुत्रो वछाचार्यस्य दौहित्रः ।
 अभ्यस्तशब्दशास्त्रो भट्टोजिदीक्षितछात्रः ॥ १ ॥

 त्रिनवषडेकमब्देतिक्ताते विक्रमादित्यात् ।
 शिवरात्रौ शिवपदयो निजकृतिराधायि नीलकंठेन । ”

The chronogram त्रिनवषडेक = Samvat 1693 = A. D. 1637, the date of composition.

2. This वछाचार्य needs to be identified.

3. I quote verses from the Bikaner MS of the Cimani-Carita dated A. D. 1670 :—

“ शुक्रजनार्दनपुत्रो वछाचार्यस्य दौहित्रः ।
 पठितालंकृतिशास्त्रो भट्टश्रीमंडनछात्रः ॥
 हीराभिधान पातिव्रत महसिप्राप्त निजजन्मा ।
 कवि नीलकंठशर्मा निरमास्चिमनीचरित्रमिदम् ॥
 मिहिरसुनीन्दुमितेब्देतिक्ताते विक्रमादित्यात् ।
 शिवरात्रौ शिवपदयो निजकृतिराधायि नीलकंठेन ॥

इति नीलकंठकविकल्पितं चिमनीचरित्रे समाप्तम् । संवत् १७२६ ॥ ”

The genealogy of the author as recorded in the above verses is as follows :—

जनार्दन शुक्र × हीरा daughter of वछाचार्य

 Son

नीलकंठ [pupil of भट्ट श्रीमंडन who was his guru in alamkārasūtra (पठितालंकृतिशास्त्रः). Compare the epithet “ अभ्यस्तशब्दशास्त्र ” in the verses of शब्दशोभा].

bear close objective similarity to the verses at the end of the Śabdaśobhā, besides furnishing identical details regarding parentage. The verses of the Cimanī-Carita give us two important details about नीलकंठ शुक्ल viz. (1) हारा, the name of his mother, (2) भट्ट श्रीमंडन the guru of नीलकंठ in अलंकृतिशास्त्र. While in the शब्दशोभा he states that he was the pupil of भट्टोजिदीक्षित, in the चिमनीचरित he states that he studied almkṛtiśāstra under भट्ट श्रीमण्डन,¹ whose identity needs to be investigated. It is clear from the verses about Nilakaṇṭha in the Cimanī-Carita and the Śabdaśobhā that these works are by the same author as they contain identical particulars viz :—

- (1) नीलकंठ, the name of the author.
- (2) शुक्ल जनार्दन, the name of his father.
- (3) वछाचार्य, the name of the मातामह of the author.

(4) Both the works viz. शब्दशोभा (A. D. 1637) and चिमनीचरित (A. D. 1656) were completed and dedicated to god शिव on a शिवरात्रि day. (In both these works we find the following line common :— “ शिवरात्रौ शिवपदये निजकृतिराधायि नीलकंठेन ”). To these details common to both the works we may add the following found in either of these works:—

- (5) भट्टोजिदीक्षित was his guru in शब्दशास्त्र.
- (6) भट्ट श्रीमंडन was his guru in अलंकृतिशास्त्र.

(7) हारा was the name of his mother, the daughter of वछाचार्य, who was the maternal grandfather of नीलकंठ.

My study of the Cimanī-Carita has proved the romantic nature of Nilakaṇṭha Śukla. He appears to have composed this work in his old age (in A.D. 1656) when he was no longer under the influence of the veteran grammarian Bhaṭṭoji Dikṣita, his early guru in शब्दशास्त्र. We must, therefore, see if our author of a romantic bent of mind composed any works on the lines of the Cimanī-Carita, based on a contemporary scandal in the harem of Allāh-Vardi-Khān Turkmān, a great Muslim nobleman of Shah Jahan's Court (between A. D. 1606 and 1660 or so).

1. I wonder if भट्ट श्रीमण्डन, the guru of नीलकंठ in Alamkāraśāstra is identical with मण्डनमिश्रं साहित्यरसपोषिन्, the author of नानार्थशब्दानुशासनम् (Vide Burnell's Cata. of Tanjore MSS, p. 50, London, 1879). This work is described as a dictionary of homonyms alphabetically arranged according to the finals. It appears to have been based on the lexicon Vaijayanī to a considerable extent. (Vide Aufrecht CC I, 285).

A poem of the name ओष्ठशतक by one नीलकंठ has been recorded by Aufrecht¹. The only MS of this poem is described by Weber² in his Catalogue of Berlin MSS. It is in the Chambers Collection and consists of 118 verses. This small work of नीलकंठ is devoted to a poetical description of a young lady's lower lip as stated in verse 2 at the commencement of the poem. The concluding verses³ of the poem mention details about the author, which are practically the same mentioned in the चिमनीचरित; viz. (1) father's name शुक्र जनादन, (2) वल्लभाचार्य maternal grandfather, (3) भट्ट श्रीमंडन, the guru of the author in alamkārasāstra, (4) हीरा, the mother of the author. In fact there is almost complete objective identity of the verses in the चिमनीचरित with those in the ओष्ठशतकम्. It is, therefore, clear that the author of the शब्दशोभा and the चिमनीचरित composed this romantic poem viz. the ओष्ठशतक represented by the rare MS in the Berlin library.

There is another work mentioned by Aufrecht⁴ called the जारजातशतक. It is also represented by a MS in the Berlin Library (Chambers Collection) described by Weber in his catalogue on the यः परकीयं काव्यं स्वीयं व्रूतेऽथ चोरयेद्योऽयम् ।

इह तावपि प्रसक्तौ मन्तव्यौ जारजाततया ॥ ”

The purpose of the जारजातशतकम् as defined by our author नीलकण्ठ in the foregoing lines seems to be a tirade against literary plagiarism, a subject of perennial interest in all countries and in all ages characterized by literary activity. This whole poem is not before me but judging by the 2 introductory verses I have reason to believe that the poem contains a fling and also a sting at some of the contemporary critics of Nīlakaṇṭha, the author of the शब्दशोभा, चिमनीचरित and ओष्ठशतक,² who may have entertained feelings of

It contains a chronogram :—

“ मुनिमि हि कांशुपहाधरमहीमिते रादम् ” which Weber corrects as —

(“ मुनि सितांशु महीधर महीमिते वर्षे ? ”)

= 1777. This chronogram is continued as —

“ व्यक्तिकानो (कान्ते) नृपसाहसांकसमयात् ”)

If Weber's correction of the chronogram is approved the date of composition of the work is Sam. 1717 = A. D. 1661. चिमनीचरित was composed in A. D. 1656 (Sam. 1712).

Śukla even from the very commencement of his career as the work was composed in Samvat 1687 i.e. A. D. 1631. He composed his work on grammar six years later in A. D. 1637. This work also was completed by the author on a Śivarātri day like the शब्दशोभा and the चिमनीचरित. I close this paper with* the following tabular statement regarding the works of Nīlakaṇṭha Śukla :—

55. Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara, the Commentator of the Mañābhārata — His Genealogy and Descendants *

In April 1938 Mr. Sadashive Vishnu Chaudhari, the present Registrar of the Law College, Poona, approached me with a request that I should investigate the tradition current among his family members about their direct descent from Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara, the celebrated commentator of the Mahābhārata. He further told me that he was unable to link up his known genealogy with that of Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara as we find it recorded in his works partially. I gladly agreed to investigate the above tradition as I was then preparing a paper¹ on the identification of Nārāyaṇatīrtha, the author of the work Bhāṭṭabhāṣāprakāśikā with Nīlakaṇṭha's guru in Mīmāṃsā of the same name. Some information² given by Mr. Chaudhari about his family together with what

1. This paper was published in June 1938 in the now extinct Mīmāṃsā Prakāśa, Poona (Vol. III, No. 6, pp. 65-71) edited by the late Pt. V. R. Kinjawadekar.

2. I note here for ready reference the dates recorded by me in my paper on Nārāyaṇatīrtha as also those discovered by me subsequently :—

A. D.

1680 — Nīlakaṇṭha composed his Śivatāṇḍavāṇīkā.

1687 — Date of a Ms of आदिपर्वटीका by नीलकण्ठ (folios 120) dated Śaka 1609 = A. D. 1687 (vide p. 94 of Cata. of Vāṅgīya Sāhitya Pariṣat, Calcutta, 1935).

1691 — Date of Berlin Ms of भा. भा. दीप belonging to गोविंद चतुर्धर (Weber, p. 107).

1693 — Nīlakaṇṭha composed his गणेशगीताटीका at Benares.

1746 — Śivadīkṣita, the grandson of Nīlakaṇṭha composed his धर्मतत्त्व-प्रकाश at प्रतिष्ठानतीर्थ or Paithan.

1746 — Gaṅgārāma Dīkṣita, the great grandson of नीलकण्ठ, received a grant from King Shahu.

I could collect from a study of the works of Nīlakaṇṭha has already been recorded by me incidentally in the above paper, though I could not then record the full evidence in support of my statements based on the information supplied by Mr. Chaudhari. I, therefore, propose to record here the full evidence regarding the genealogy of Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara as reconstructed by me on the basis of my study of his works and the information supplied by Mr. Chaudhari.

In all the colophons of Nīlakaṇṭha's works he is called the son of Govinda Sūri.¹ We may, therefore, take it that Govinda was the father² of Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara. This parentage of Nīlakaṇṭha is temporary records' of the priests at Tryambakeśvara near Nasik so far as the names of Śiva Dikṣita and his father Govinda Dikṣita are concerned. Both the father and the son are described² in these records as bearing the surname चौधरी³ and having Shrigonde as their native place but residing at Vārāṇasī or Benares. It appears that नीलकण्ठ, गोविन्द and शिव normally resided at Benares and were educated at this seat of learning, though the family hailed from Kopargaum in the Ahmadnagar district of the Bombay Presidency.

Like Nīlakaṇṭha an author of the name कमलाकर went to Benares from कूर्परग्राम and composed there a work called आचारप्रदीप (B. O. R. I. Ms No. 84 of 1884-86). कमलाकर seems to have been a contemporary of नीलकण्ठ and possibly his neighbour at Kopargaum. He quotes Bhaṭṭoji Bhaṭṭa in the above Ms which is dated A. D. 1729 and refers to gods शुक्रेश्वर and कचेश at Kopargaum (" ग्रामे कूर्पर-संज्ञिके..... यत्रास्ति शुक्रेश्वरः । गोदा पश्चिमवाहिनी विजयते देवः कचेशः परः ").

The genealogy of Nīlakaṇṭha's family so far reconstructed is a Ms of it recorded by Hultzsch. See Report in Sanskrit Mss in South India, No. III, Madras, 1905 (Ms No. 1780, 263 leaves)-P. 5— " Śiva Dikṣita of Benares, son of Govinda 'of the Caturdhara family wrote the धर्मतत्त्वप्रकाश No. 1780) at प्रतिष्ठान in A. D. 1746."

1. Mr. Vasudeva Vishnu Meghashyam of Trymbak near Nasik has kindly furnished the pertinent extracts of these records to Mr. S. V. Chaudhari, from which I am quoting in this paper.

2. The record reads " गोविन्द दीक्षित पु. शिव दीक्षित. उ. चौधरी गांव श्रीगोदे मुक्काम वाराणसी." We already know from धर्मतत्त्वप्रकाश that शिव दीक्षित was born at Benares. It appears that at the time of their visit to Tryambakeśvara both the father and son must have been residing at Benares as stated in the above extract.

3. In verse 10 at the beginning of his शिवताण्डव टीका composed in A. D. 1680 Nīlakaṇṭha refers to his surname चौधरी in the expression — " श्रीमच्छौधरीनीलकण्ठवशिना." This statement shows that the surname चौधरी was current in Nīlakaṇṭha's time, if not earlier. (Vide folio 2a of Ms No. 994 of 1884-87 of शिवताण्डवटीका — B. O. R. Institute) — Historian V. K. Rajawade derives the surname चौधरी from the Sanskrit word चक्रधारी (= चक्रधारी = चक्रधारी = चक्रधारी = चौधरी). Vide p. 72 of B. I. S. Mandal, Itivṛtta, for 1913 — Note No. 14 — "चौधरी."

may now be linked up with the subsequent genealogy of the family as filed on 2nd September 1854 with the Inam Commissioner Poona, by Vaman Shiv Dikshit Chaudhari of the Village Pathardi¹ in the Ahmadnagar District. This genealogy is as follows :—

A comparison of the above genealogy with that given by Śiva Dikṣita in 1746 A. D. shows that the names of गोविंद and his son शिव are common to both these genealogies. The earlier and the later fragment of genealogy being thus riveted at two joints, the accuracy and continuity of the genealogy of the Chaudhari family from Govinda (c. A.²D. 1600), the father of Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara, up to A. D. 1854 is now proved beyond challenge.

Three days before the composition of the work Dharmatattva-prakāśa by Śivadikṣita at Paiṭhāṇa the Maratha King Shahu gave a village as inām to Gaṅgārāma Dikṣita, the son of Śiva Dikṣita—on Wednesday, 6th August 1746.² The Sanad in respect of this inām is

1. Vide p. 644 of Bombay Gazetteer XVII (Ahmadnagar) Bombay, 1884 — The villages Pathardi and Nivādūṅge belong to Shevgaon Paragana of 161 villages in the Ahmadnagar District. The members of the Chaudhari family migrated from Kopargaum in the Ahmednagar District to Shrigonde and Pathardi in this district and Paiṭhāṇa (प्रतिष्ठान) on the left bank of the Godāvari river in the Nizam's territory, 2 miles east of the Ahmadnagar frontier and about 50 miles north-east of Ahmadnagar (Ibid, p. 351).

2. Shahu's Sanad is dated Rājyābhīṣeka Śaka 73, 'Kṣaya Saṃvatsara, Bhādrapada, Śuddha Pratipadā, Saumyavāsara—Wednesday, 6th of August 1746. धर्मतत्त्वप्रकाश was completed on the 4th day reproduced in the Appendix to this paper from a certified copy of it furnished by the Alienation Record Office, Poona, to Mr. S. V. Chaudhari on 16th December 1927. In this Sanad Gaṅgārāma Dīkṣita is described as the son of Śiva Dīkṣita, of the surname Chaudhari, gotra Gotam, Śūtra Āśvalāyana, hailing from Benares, then resident at Paīṭhaṇa. Gaṅgārāma Dīkṣita obtained this Sanad through the good offices of Fattesing Bhosale (A. D. 1707-1760) who was regarded by Shahu as his own son.

The names in the genealogy reconstructed and recorded above are supported and supplemented by the Tryambakeśvara Records¹ referred to by me already. Mr. V. V. Meghashyam who possesses these records states in his letter to Mr. S. V. Chaudhari dated 30th April 1941 that he has in his possession some writing of Nīlakaṇṭha Dīkṣita, son of Gaṅgārāma Dīkṣita dated Śaka 1706 = A. D. 1784. This date is consistent with King Shahu's Sanad to Gaṅgārāma Dīkṣita issued in A. D. 1746.

The value of the above entries for the reconstruction of a complete genealogy of the family will be easily recognized.

Hall in his *Bibliography*¹ states that Nilakanṭha "resided at the village of Kūpar, now called Koṇpar to the west of the river Godāvarī, near the temples of Śukreśvara and Kaceśvara in Mahārāṣṭra". The above statement occurs in Hall's description of a Ms of the Vedāntakāṭaka. I have no means of verifying it but presuming that the topography of the residence of Nilakanṭha at Kopergaum recorded above is based on any references in the Vedāntakāṭaka itself, I have to point out that in the description of Kopergaum in the *Bombay Gazetteer*² we find a reference to the temple of Kaceśvara as follows :—

"In the elbow of the Godavari and surrounded on three sides by its bed stands a fortified cut-stone enclosure (65' x 58' x 60') with massive black walls. It has one gate but the side towards the river is open. In the centre is the cenotaph or thadge, a very small work of timber and brick upon a coarse stone plinth with no writing or ornament. Near the site of the old palace in the island stands the temple of Kaceśvara a set of plain modern buildings held in great honour." The editor of the Bombay Gazetteer in a footnote on the above passage records "the local story of the Kaceśvara temple" which is the same as the story of Kaca and the Devayāni found in the Purāṇas. This footnote is concluded with the remark : "To this day a stone Shukra and Kach sit side by side on the island and receive much worship."

If the images of Śukra and Kaca are still worshipped on the island at Kopergaum they must be identical with those in the temples of Kaceśvara and Śukreśvara referred to by Hall in 1859. If Hall's remarks are based on Nilakanṭha's own statement we shall not be wrong in supposing that the residence of Nilakanṭha

2. Vol. XVII (Ahmadnagar) 1884, p. 723 — Kopergaum is 60 miles north of Ahmadnagar. It is on the north bank of the Godavari. It was the 'favourite residence of Raghunātha Rao Peshwa. In an island in the Godavari there were two palaces which have been pulled down and sold. Raghunatha Rao Peshwa died at Hingani three miles off and his cenotaph is still at this place.....In 1818 Kopergaum was occupied by Madras troops. — In the Marathi ballads (लावण्या) by Paraśarāma (Ed. by V. N. Kolharkar, Bombay, 1924) there is a reference to कच and शुक्र at Kopergaum—Vide Pp. 38-39 (लावणी २१) — "गुह्य शुक्र कचेश्वर ऋषी गोदातीरवासी." This ballad refers also to the garden of Raghoba Dada Peshwa on the island. Paraśarāma belongs to the last quarter of the 19th century, at Kopergaum was near these temples situated on the island in the elbow of the Godāvarī. This tentative suggestion regarding the topography of the house of the Chaudhari family at Kopergaum say about A. D. 1750 needs to be verified on the strength of other contemporary evidence.¹

We have already referred to the three brothers² of Nilakaṇṭha viz. (1) शिव, (2) कृष्ण and (3) श्यम्बक. All these brothers were

1. Śiva Dikṣita in his धर्मतत्त्वप्रकाश composed in A. D. 1746 states in the following verse that Govinda Caturdhara, the father of Nilakaṇṭha lived at Kūrpara town on the bank of the Godāvarī, where stood in the centre कवि and कच :—

“ विख्याते कविकचमध्यवर्ति-
गोदोदक्तीरे नगरमहिम्नि कूर्परालये
गोविंदः श्रुतिनयसिन्धुपारदश्च
श्रीचातुर्धरकुलमण्डनं पुरासीत् ॥ ”

This reference to कवि (= शुकाचार्य) and कच by the grandson of Nilakaṇṭha leaves no doubt that the Chaudhari family had its residence near the temples of Kaceśvara and Śukreśvara on the island at Kopergaum referred to in the the Bombay Gazetteer.

2. Vide Ms No. 1523 of Nilakaṇṭha's commentary on the Hari-varṇṣa described by Weber in his Catalogue of Berlin Mss, Vol. II (1886), pp. 112-113. In the following verses Nilakaṇṭha refers to his native place कूर्परग्राम, his gotra गौतम, his surname चातुर्धर, his father गोविंद, his mother फुल्लाम्बिका and his younger brother शिव, कृष्ण and श्यम्बक :—

“ ज्ञानाचार्यशिवोत्तमोत्तमकचास्या तद्व्या गौतमी

The above verses have been discussed by Wilhelm Printz in his Inaugural Dissertation : “ Bhāṣā-Wörter in Nilakaṇṭha's Bhārata-bhāvadīpa etc. ”, Berlin, 1910, p. 9. I am thankful to Dr. V. S. Sukhtankar for drawing my attention to these verses.

younger than Nilakanṭha. It remains to be investigated if these brothers left any descendants, whose lines could be traced among the present members of the Chaudhari family residing either in the Mahārāṣṭra or outside.¹

From the data recorded above the following facts regarding Nilakanṭha's family and its subsequent history become clear :—

(1) Nilakanṭha mentions his own gotra "Gautama" which is the gotra of Mr. S. V. Chaudhari, the present Registrar of the Law College, Poona. This gotra has been recorded in King Shahu's grant of A. D. 1746 to Gaṅgārāma, the great grandson of Nilakanṭha.

(2) The genealogy of Nilakanṭha's family as given by his grandson Śiva Dīkṣita has been linked up with the genealogy filed with the Inam Commission in A. D. 1854 by Mr. Vāmana Śiva Dīkṣita, who is the 6th in descent from Nilakanṭha Caturdhara.

(3) The surname Chaudhari now current in the family was also current in Nilakanṭha's time as Nilkanṭha in his work composed in A. D. 1680 calls himself "श्रीमच्छौधारे नीलकण्ठ."

(4) The place of residence of Nilakanṭha's father Govinda was somewhere near the temples of Śukreśvara and Kacēśvara on the island of the river Godāvarī at Kopergaum. Śiva Dīkṣita, the grandson of Nilakanṭha, refers to these images of कवि (= शुक्र) and कच in his work composed in A. D. 1746. The memory of this residence may have then been fresh in the mind of Nilakanṭha's grandson.²

(5) From Kopergaum the members of the family of Nilakanṭha Govinda Chaudhari migrated to (Shrigonde, Pathardi,

1. Mr. S. Chitrav states that the descendants of Nilkanṭha are now residing at Benares (Vide p. 499 of Madhyayugīna Caritrakośa, Poona, 1937).

2. Even Nilakanṭha seems to refer to शुक्र and कच on the island of the Godāvarī in the following line of verse 1 from his commentary on the Harivaṃśa which I have quoted above :—

"ज्ञानाचार्यमिबोत्तमोत्तमकचास्या तद्वया गौतमी"

Here ज्ञानाचार्य = शुक्राचार्य = कवि mentioned by Śiva Dīkṣita, गौतमी = river Godāvarī. कच mentioned in the above line is also mentioned by Śiva Dīkṣita. So in Nilkanṭha's line the images of शुक्र and कच stood on the bank of the Godāvarī.

Nivaḍuṅge and Paiṭhapa in the Ahmadnagar district or near its border and settled there. The education of the early descendants of Nīlakaṇṭha upto A. D. 1750 or so appears to have been carried out at Benares. Perhaps the contact with Benares lessened after Shahu's grant of the village Nivaḍuṅge to Gaṅgārāma in A. D. 1746.

(6) It remains to be seen if any member of this Chaudhari family composed any important work after the composition of the Dharmatattvapraṇāśa by Nīlakaṇṭha's grandson Śiva Dikṣita¹ in A. D. 1746. Perhaps with a settled life in the Ahmadnagar District the ambition for achieving eminence in the literary sphere, so characteristic of Nīlakaṇṭha's life did not stir up the Chaudharis to take to learned pursuits in the manner of their illustrious ancestor.

P. S. — After this paper was completed I happened to read a letter² of A. D. 1683 addressed to one नारायण दीक्षित by हरि दीक्षित from Benares. In this letter one “गोविंद दीक्षित चौधरी” is mentioned as the son-in-law³ of the addressee नारायण दीक्षित. This letter is addressed to नारायण दीक्षित then in Konkan according to Mr. Pimputkar. In the preamble of this the writer informs नारायण दीक्षित the father-in-law of “गोविंद दीक्षित चौधरी” as follows:—

“I took your leave and came to Benares. Thereafter your son-in-law Govinda Dikṣita Chaudhari was approached by certain Vaidika Brahman Pandits who bore some rivalry to him. They said to him that they would no longer bear any feelings of rivalry to him if he

I am inclined to identify गोविंद दीक्षित चौधरी of the above letter of A. D. 1683 with गोविंद चौधरी the son of नीलकण्ठ चतुर्धर who composed one of his works in A. D. 1680. If this identification is accepted it shows that in A. D. 1683 Nilakanṭha's son Govinda was already a married man, holding some status in Benares society of Mahārāṣṭra and other Brahmans. The letter also reveals for the first time the name of the father-in-law of Nilakantha's son. This man was obviously in Konkan as stated by Mr. Pimputkar and his name was नारायण दीक्षित."

APPENDIX I

Genealogy of Nilakanṭha Caturdhara, the commentator of the Mahābhārata :—

The above genealogy has been reconstructed by me on the strength of manuscripts of the works of the Nilakanṭha Caturdhara and other members of his family. It is correct so far as the main line is concerned but needs more evidence for the verification of names in the branch-lines. Some names have been inserted in the above genealogy on the strength of extracts from the records of priests at Trymbakeśvara as they were sent to me by Mr. Sadashiv Vishnu Chaudhari, the present Registrar of the Law College, Poona. It will be seen from the above genealogy that there is unbroken continuity of descent from Govind Caturdhara (c. A. D. 1625) to Sadashiv Vishnu Chaudhari (1942).

56. Some contemporary Manuscripts of the Works of Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara, the Commentator of the Mahābhārata — Between A. D. 1687 and 1695*

In my paper¹ on Nīlakaṇṭha Caturdhara, the commentator of the Mahābhārata I have recorded the following contemporary Mss of Nīlakaṇṭha's works :—

A. D. 1687 — Ms of आदिपर्वटीका dated Śaka 1609 — A. D. 1687 (p. 94 of Cata. of Vaṅṡiya Sāhitya Pariṣat, Calcutta, 1935).

A. D. 1691 — Berlin Ms of भारतभाषदीप belonging to गोविंद चतुर्थर (Weber p. 107).

In August 1943 Messers R. D. Kamat and D. D. Kamat of Bombay presented to the B. O. R. Institute about 100 Mss in memory of their father the late Mr. Divakar Bhalchandra Kamat² whose interest in Sanskrit literature was responsible for the collection of these Mss. In this Kamat collection I find the following contemporary Ms of Nīlakaṇṭha's commentary on the Mahābhārata :—

* Journal of S. M. Library, Tanjore, Vol. IV, No. 1, pp. 1-7.

Vide pp. 146-161 of the Silver Jubilee Volume of the Annals (B.O. R. Institute), 1942.

2. Mr. D. B. Kamat B.A. (Allahabad), B.T. (Dacca) was the Headmaster of Govt. High school at Osmanabad (Nizam's State). Sanskrit was one of his subjects for his degree examination at the Maharaja's College, Jaipur. From 1912 to 1927 he was at Aurangabad as Inspector of Schools. During his inspection tours in the whole of the Marathwada he collected many old Mss from the neighbourhood of Aurangabad and Parabhani Districts of the Nizam's State. He had collected all the Mss now at the B. O. R. Institute with the idea of studying them after his retirement but unfortunately he died at Osmanabad on 16th August 1934. Between 1927 and 1934 he was at Raichur, from which place he was transferred to Osmanabad in May 1934. (I am thankful to Mr. R. D. Kamat for sending me the foregoing particulars regarding his father's interest in Sanskrit Mss now with the Institute — P. K. Gode).

Vanaparvan (folios 439) containing the text and Nilakanṭha's commentary on it. The Ms was copied in Samvat 1751 — (A. D. 1695) as will be seen from the following colophon — Folio 439^a — “ संवत् १७५१ भाद्रपद शुद्ध ९ ।

श्रीविक्रमाकंशरदिदुशाराद्रिभूमौ १७५१

श्रीयंबकेण रघुनाथसुतेन काश्याम् ।

श्रीनीलकण्ठकृतभारतभावदीपो

श्रीशंकरार्पणधिया लिखितः सनाभिः ॥ १ ॥ ”

It is clear from the above extract that this Ms was copied at Benares by Tryambaka, the son of Raghunātha in A. D. 1695. On folio 439^a we find the endorsement ‘वनपर्व ४३२ इदं पुस्तकं रघुनाथपण्डितस्य’ which is in the same hand as the four-lined stanza in the above extract. Most probably Tryambaka, the copyist, prepared this copy for his father Raghunātha.¹

I have already pointed out that Nilakanṭha composed his शिवताण्डवटीका in A. D. 1680 and his गणेशगीताटीका at Benares in A. D. 1693. In view of these dates the Mss of his works copied in A. D. 1687, 1691 and 1695 are contemporary copies and hence valuable for a critical edition of his commentary भारतभावदीप, portions of which are represented by these dated Mss.

In the list of Nilakanṭha's works recorded by Aufrecht² no work of the name ‘विधुराधानविचार’ is found. There is, however, a Ms of it in the library of the Oriental Institute, Baroda. It is described by Pandit K. S. Ramaswami Sāstri Śiromaṇi in his Catalogue of Mss of Śrauta-Sūtras and Prayogas (Des. Cata. of Mss Vol. II, 1942, G. O. S. No. XCVI) on page 79 as follows :—

“ No. 526 विधुराधानविचार by Caturdhara Nilakanṭha son of Govinda Dikṣita — Śaka 1799 — Place of origin :—वृद्धिकपुर.”

1. But this suggestion becomes doubtful as the words ‘रघुनाथ पण्डितस्य’ are written as a correction in bold hand superimposed on some previously written words hidden by the application of yellow pigment.

2. Vide CC, I. p. 301—Nilakanṭha's works :— 1 मन्त्रकाशीखण्डटीका, 2 मन्त्रभागवत, 3 मन्त्ररामायण and comm., 4 महाभारतभावदीप, 3 वेदान्त-कतक, 4 शिवताण्डवव्याख्या, 5 षट्त्रयीसार, 6 हरिवंशटीका. CC, II. 65— 7 गणेशगीताटीका, 8 सौरपौराणिकमतसमर्थन. To these works we may add 9 रुद्रसारसंग्रहव्याख्या रुद्रमीमांसा (Madras Ms R. No. 2070, -p. 2803 of Tri. Cata. Madras, 1922, Vol. III, Part I), 10 विधुराधानविचार (Baroda Ms).

Pages 338-339 — विधुराधानविचार. 'It is discussed here whether a widower is allowed to kindle the sacrificial fires once again according to the śāstras or not. The author quotes in this connection many authorities and comments upon several texts bearing on the subject.'

The Ms begins :—

“ अथ चतुर्धरनीलकण्ठप्रणीतापत्नीकाधानविचारः ।

श्रीशं वन्दे —

यशेश्वरं नमस्कृत्य बहून् ग्रन्थान् विभाव्य च ।

अपत्नीकस्याग्निहोत्रायस्ति नेति विचार्यते ॥

तत्रायं पूर्वपक्षः etc.”

Colophon — “ इति चतुर्धरवंशावतंसमोविन्ददीक्षिततनुजनीलकण्ठस्य कृतिः समाप्ता । ”

If this work is a genuine work of Nilakanṭha it is a definite addition to the works of Nilakanṭha so far known.

The B. O. R. I. Ms of the Vanaparvan (Kamat collection) was copied at Benares by one श्यंबक son of Raghunātha in Samvat 1751 = A. D. 1695. As regards the identification of this copyist श्यंबक रघुनाथ I have to put forth the following hypothesis :—

श्यंबक रघुनाथ may be identified with श्यंबक रघुनाथ हणमंते, the son of रघुनाथ नारायण हणमंते (A. D. 1653-1683) the celebrated minister of kings Shahaji and Shivaji. He died at Valan on his way to Karnāṭak in A. D. 1683. His brother Janārdanapanta succeeded him as Minister during the regime of Chatrapati Rajaram. रघुनाथपण्डित हणमंते is responsible for the compilation of राजव्यवहारकोश under instructions of Shivaji the Great.

श्यंबक रघुनाथ composed a work 'आशौचनिर्णय' in Sanskrit, which is popularly known as श्यंबकी. This work was most probably composed during the reign of king Sambhaji (A. D. 1680-1689)¹. Prof. P. V. Kane² however, assigns श्यंबकपण्डित to about 1.60 A. D.

1. Vide p. 672 of मध्ययुगीन चरित्रकोश by S. Chitrav, Poona 1937.

2. Ibid p. 442 — article on 'श्यंबक रघुनाथ हणमंते'. See also भारत इतिहास मंडळ वार्षिकवृत्त (Saka 1836 = 1914 A. D. क्र १५) quoted in this article.

3. Vide p. 517 of History of Dharmasāstra Vol. I, 1930 (B.O.R.I.) 'आशौचनिर्णय' by श्यंबकपण्डित son of रघुनाथ, son of नारायण of the अहिरbut this chronology seems to be incorrect. There are some Mss of the आशौचनिर्णय in the Govt. Mss Library at the B. O. R. Institute, one of which viz. No. 334 of 1891-95 is dated Samvat 1842 — A. D. 1786. As त्र्यम्बक पंडित was a contemporary of Nāgojibhaṭṭa, his reference to नागोजिभट्टीय pointed out by M. M. Prof. Kane is obviously a contemporary reference to Nāgojibhaṭṭa.

In June 1943 Mr. Śrīdhar Śāmarāo Haṇmante the present descendant of the celebrated Minister of Shivaji, Raghunātha Nārāyaṇa Haṇmante read a paper on the History of the Haṇmante Family based on certain documents, copies of which have been kindly made available to me by the Secretary of the Bhārata Itihāsa Samshodhaka Mandal, Poona. I give below the genealogy of the Haṇmante family reconstructed on the basis of these documents:—

सगोत्र (divided into अशंस) (pr. at Nir. P.) quotes निर्णयसिन्धु and नागोजिभट्टीय about 1760 A.D.

Page 701 — “त्र्यम्बकपण्डित son of नारायण of the अङ्गिरसमुद्रलगोत्र about 1760 A. D. a. of आशौचनिर्णय.” This statement “son of नारायण” is not correct as त्र्यम्बक was son of रघुनाथ.

1. I have to thank Mr. N. M. Khuperkar M. A. of the B. O. R. Institute for drawing my attention to this paper as also the authorities of the B. I. S. Mandal for lending to me this paper together with the copies of the documents, some of which I note briefly as follows:—

No. 1 — Dated 6th Feb. 1689 — mentions तिमजी रघुनाथ and his inam village बाणेरे.

No. 2 — Account sheet dated A. D. 1708 — mentions मातुश्री आमा.

No. 3 — Dated 10th December 1700 — mentions बाणेरे.

No. 4 — 26th Dec. 1700 — mentions villages बाणेरे and माण.

No. 5 — 6th Dec. 1708 — Letter of तिमजी रघुनाथ who mentions मातुश्री आमा and तीर्थरूप आबा and village बाणेरे.

No. 6 — 30th Jan. 1709 — mentions बाणेरे.

No. 7 — 13th Dec. 1713 — Letter of तिमजी रघुनाथ to चित्तामणिदेव of Chinchwad — mentions मातुश्री आमा — refers to some deposit with चित्तामणि देव.

No. 8 — Letter of रघुनाथ त्रिमल to श्रीस्वामी (of Chinchwad) asking for settlement of his account, as the writer was in financial difficulties.

I have already pointed out that Nilakanṭha composed his शिवसायबयटीका in A. D. 1680 and his गणेशगीताटीका in A. D. 1693. These dates prove the contemporaneity of the four dated Mss recorded in the above table and discussed in this paper.

She refers to the death anniversary of her Guru बासुदेवस्वामी. She states further that she had expressed her desire to donate her properties for religious purposes when she met प्रतापसिंहराजे छत्रपति of Satara.

(This document has been recorded under No. 547 of 1st August 1854 in Government Records.)

57. Vāñcheśvara alias Kuṭṭi Kavi and his Contact with Patvardhan Śārdars of the Southern Maratha Country *

Aufrecht¹ refers to Vāñcheśvara, the great commentator of the *Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi*² as follows :—

“ वाञ्छेश्वर होशनि कर्णाटक of सहजिन्द्रपुर (Tanjore) son of Narasimha, grandson of Vāñchānātha (Māhiśaśataka)³ wrote about 1800 : Hiraṇyakeśisūtravyākhyā.⁴ ”

Aufrecht records three Mss of the Hiraṇyakeśisūtravyākhyā but no Ms of the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi or other works of our author. In the introductory verses of this work Vāñcheśvara states that he composed the following works :— (1) माहिषशतकश्याख्या, (2) हिरण्य-केशिसूत्रश्याख्या, (3) दत्तचिन्तामणि, (4) आद्यचिन्तामणि, (5) ब्रह्मसूत्रार्थ-चिन्तामणि, (6) काकतालीयवादार्थ.

The writer of the Introduction to the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi states

* Annals (B. O. R. Institute), Vol. XX, pp. 9-20.

1. Cata. Catalogorum, I, 561.

2. Edited by M. M. Venkatasubrahmanya Shastri, Law Journal Press, Madras, 1934. Vide my critical review of this edition in the Annals of the Bhandarkar Institute, Vol. XVII, 1936, pp. 400-405, where I have recorded an alphabetical list of works and authors mentioned in the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi. This edition is based on a single Ms of the commentary in the possession of Mahāmahopādhyāya Venkata Subrahmanya Shastri of Madras (died 1928), who was the son of the daughter of Vāñcheśvara, the author of the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi.

3. Vide B. O. R. Institute Ms No. 148^a of 1866-68—माहिषशतकम्.

4. Cat. Catalo., I, 766 — “ सत्याषाढहिरण्यकेशिन्-श्रौतसूत्र comm. by Vāñcheśvara “ composed about 1800 ”—Khn. 10, Burnell 21^a, Bühler 553.—Burnell describes the Ms of this commentary as follows:—Hiraṇyakeśisūtravyākhyāna by Hośanikarnāṭaka- Vāñcheśvara of Śahajīndrapura (or Tanjore) written about 1800 A. D. The author belonged to a Canarese (? Mysore) family settled in South India ”...“ This seems a very excellent commentary, considering the state of learning at the time it was composed. ” that Vāñcheśvara composed the following works :—(1) हिरण्यकोश-सामान्यसूत्रव्याख्या, (2) धूर्गानन्दिका, (3) श्लेषार्थचन्द्रिका, (4) तर्कसंग्रहव्याख्या.

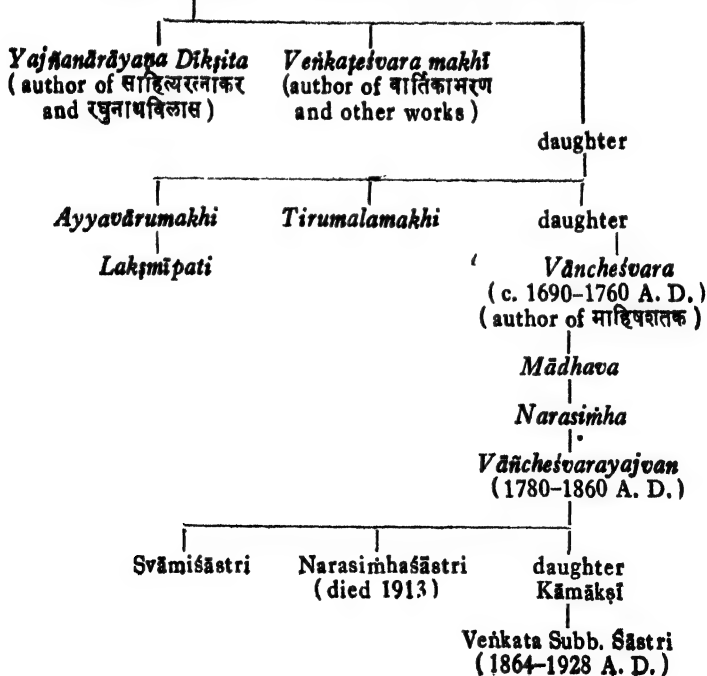

These titles of works ascribed to our author show him to be a voluminous writer. Kuṭṭi Śāstri or Kuṭṭi 'Kavi' was the popular name of Vāñcheśvara. He travelled far and wide from Benares to Rāmeśvaram. Several pass-ports² were issued to him by M. Elphinstone and other officers between A. D. 1816 and 1824. Kuṭṭi Kavi was descended³ from Govinda Dīkṣita, the well-known minister of Acyutadevarāya of Vijayanagar (1529-1542). According to the genealogy recorded in the edition of the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi Kuṭṭī Kavi (= Vāñcheśvara) was born in A. D. 1780 and died in 1860 evidently at an advanced age of about 80 years. If these dates are correct he must have been about 36 years old when the British Resident at Poona (M. Elphinstone) issued to him a pass-port on 26th November 1816 permitting him to pass without molestation to Rāmeśvaram. This pass-port is historically important as it enables us to know for the first time the 'contact of Kuṭṭī Kavi with the Patvardhan Sardars of the Southern Maratha Country. This pass-port bears No. 292 of the Poona Residency and mentions the bearer as "in the Service of Mhadhow Row Purshuram Patwardhun." It allows the bearer to carry with him a Dooly, a camel, six Tutts, five armed men and five followers. Pandit Āryasvāmī informs¹ us that this and other pass-ports were issued to Kuṭṭī Kavi while he was returning from Benares and during his halt at Poona, Dharwar and also at the village Cinchini, where he was honoured by Madhavrao Parashuram Patwardhan. He stayed with the Patvardhans upto 1818 and then started for Mysore. This information is corroborated not by the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi but by the *Hiranyakeśi Śrautasūtravyākhyā*² which was composed in response to a request from the ministers of the Patwardhans as stated by him in verses³ 12 to 22 at the beginning of the Hiranyakeśiśrauta-

2. The Govt. Mss Library has a fine copy of this work. It is No. 16 of 1866-68. It was prepared on 23rd April 1867 by a copyist of the name Vyankāji Nārāyaṇa Ghalsāśi who calls himself Karhāḍkar and who states that he copied by order of "Meherban Bular Saheb" who is identical with Dr. G. Bühler, vide folios 46^b (or 111^b — "इति श्रीवांछेश्वरसुधीविरचिते श्रौतसूत्रव्याख्याने द्वितीयोऽध्यायः समाप्तः । शके १७८८ ... नकल लिहिणार व्यंकजी नारायण घळसाशी कऱ्हाडकर याने मेहेरबान बुलरसाहेब यांचा हुकमाने तयार केली असे." On folio 39^a (or 305^a) we have the endorsement which reads :— "सखो अनंत लिमये यांचा पुस्तकावरून नकल तयार केली असे." It is clear, therefore, that the original Ms of the commentary belonged to one Sakhō Anant Limaye. His identity with a minister of the Patvardhan Sardar would be discussed in this paper on the strength of evidence furnished by the above commentary.

sūtravyākhyā. He informs us that he came into contact with the Patavardhan Sardars on his way to Benares for pilgrimage¹ (v. 12). On account of this association he has thought it advisable to record the genealogy² of these Sardars, who belong to the Cittapāvana

* In the Tanjore Mss Catalogue IV, 1929, p. 1684 where the Ms of this commentary is described we have the words “ हिमयोपपदाः ” for “ लिमयोपपदाः ” the correct reading. Evidently the copyist was not aware of the surname लिमये current in the Deccan.

While Kuṭṭi Kavi states that his contact with the Patvardhans came about on his way to Benares, Pandit Aryaswami states that this contact took place on Kuṭṭi Kavi's return journey from Benares (काशीतः आगमनसमये... अयं यज्वा ... माधवराव परशुराम पट्टवर्धनादिभिः प्रभुभिः अतिमात्रमादृतः— p. 16 of Intro. to Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi.)

caste and whose first great ancestor was known by the name Hari (v. 13). He obtained the glory of Kingship by the grace of god *Gaṇeśa*¹ and had an illustrious son by name *Rāmacandra*² (v. 14). He obtained unparalleled princely glory from the Sovereign. He had a son with a highly religious mind called *Parasurāma*³ (v. 15). He protected his kingdom like King Daśaratha of old — a kingdom which extended from the river Tuṅgabhadra to the river Godā and was conquered by his valour (v. 16). He has four sons renowned in all quarters. Prince Rāmacandra, endowed with all good qualities, is the first of them (v. 17). His brother is Hari, who is devoted to the worship of Gods and Brahmanas. His brother is Mahādeva by name. He is noted for his kindness to all beings (v. 18). His brother's name is Gaṇapati, who is very much praised (by the people) and who has, as his ministers, many highly moral and religious personages (v. 19) like Sakhārām and others. This Sakhārām is a Brahman of *Kapī gotra*⁴ and surnamed Limaye and is equally religious like the other minister of the name Ṣog (v. 20). He belongs to the Satyāśāḍha Sūtra and is devoted to duties in accordance with Śruti and Smṛti. It was his wish, "I should write a commentary on the Sūtra (Hiraṇyakeśisūtra) following the Vedābhāṣya and easy to understand. In accordance with this wish I have gladly undertaken to write this commentary but where am I, a person of small intellect as compared with the Sūtra, which has come directly from the mouth of the sage (muni)?" (vs. 21-22).

In view of the details furnished by Kuṭṭi Kavi in the foregoing verses it is clear that the credit of the composition of the commentary on the Hiraṇyakeśisūtra must go to a great extent to Mr. Sakhārām Limaye, the minister (amātya) of Mahādevabhaṭṭa Patvardhan as it was at his request that our author commenced the composition of this work. We must now examine the date of composition of this commentary.

According to Burnell¹ this commentary was "written about 1800 A. D." Aufrecht² also repeats this statement about the date of this commentary. Burnell's statement is, however, wrong as it is directly contradicted by the date of commencement of the work recorded in verse 31 by Kuṭṭi Kavi himself. This date corresponds to A. D. 1816 (Śaka 1738).³ The question now arises : What period of time was required by our author to complete this voluminous commentary on the Hiraṇyakeśisūtra and in what year it was completed by him? This question can be answered on the strength of the following extract on folio 43^b (266^b serially) of Ms No. 16 of 1866-68 of this commentary :—

“वाङ्मेश्वरसुधीभिश्च वेदशास्त्रप्रवर्तकैः ।

साक्षात् व्यासस्वरूपेक्ष कृतोऽयं ग्रन्थविस्तरः ॥ १ ॥

1. Cata. of Tanjore Mss, Part I, 1879, p. 21. Bünnell gives extracts from the beginning and end of the Ms described by him. In these extracts we do not find the verse containing the year in which the composition of the commentary was begun by Kuṭṭi Kavi. This verse as recorded in the B. O. R. I. Ms No. 16 of 1866-68 reads as follows :—

“वस्वग्न्य(ग्न्य)द्विक्षितिमिते शके वाङ्मेश्वरः सुधीः ।

हिरण्यकेशिनां सूत्रं व्याख्यातुमुपचक्रमे ॥ ३१ ॥

The chronogram वसु, अग्नि, अद्रि, क्षिति gives us Śake 1738 = A. D. 1816 as the year in which Kuṭṭi Kavi states, he began the composition of the commentary. This date is in harmony with the date of the pass-port given to Kuṭṭi Kavi by M. Elphinstone, the British resident at Poona on 26th November 1816. In this pass-port Kuṭṭi Kavi is stated to be in the service of Mahādevabhaṭṭa Patvardhan, the son of Parashuramabhau Patvardhan.

3. In the Tanjore Catalogue, Vol. IV, p. 1929, p. 1687 the correct date of the commencement of the commentary represented by the chronogram “वस्वग्न्यद्विक्षिति” is mentioned and the discrepancy of this date with the date given by Burnell has been also mentioned. No reference has, however, been recorded in this description to the date of completion (A. D. 1828) of the commentary found recorded in B. O. R. I. Ms No. 16 of 1866-68.

हिरण्यकेशीसूत्रस्थपदमावार्थदीपकः ।

पीताम्बरेण लिखितो तन्मुखाभिसूतो यथा ॥ २ ॥

शके १७५० सर्वचारी नाम संवत्सरे मागशीर्वकृष्णाष्टम्यां इंदुवासरे समापितं ॥ ”

This extract is obviously recorded by Pītāmbara who wrote down to dictation this commentary as composed by Vāñcheśvara and delivered orally (तन्मुखाभिसूतो यथा). It was completed in Śaka 1750 (= A. D. 1828) on Monday (8th tithi, Kṛṣṇapakṣa of the month of Mārgaśīrṣa, the name of the Samvatsara being Sarva-dhārī. We do not know the place where the completion of the commentary was effected. It is, however, certain that a work commenced by Kuṭṭi Kavi in A. D. 1816 was completed by him after full 12 years in A. D. 1828. The statement of Mr. Vyankaji Narāyaṇa Ghaṭṣāśī which follows the above extract reads as follows :

“सखोपंत दादा लिमये यांचा पुस्तकावरून नकल तयार केली आहे ॥ शके १७८९ प्रभव नाम संवत्सरे चैत्र कृष्ण ४ चतुर्थ्या भोमवासरे तारीख २३ माहे अमेल सप्त १८६७ इसवी रोजी नकल लिहणार व्यंकाजी नारायण घटसाशी याने लिखितं ॥ श्री कृष्णार्पणमस्तु ॥ ”

Mr. Ghaṭṣāśī states on 23rd April 1867 that he completed his copy from the original Ms belonging to one सखोपंत दादा लिमये. Elsewhere (on folio 39^a or 305^a serially) he refers to this owner of Ms as सखो अनंत लिमये. It is very much probable that Sakhopant Limaye² whose Ms was copied for Dr. Bühler is identical with

1. The sheet at the beginning of the Ms which records the मन्त्रसंख्या contains the following endorsement :— “तारीख २२ माहे भे सप्त १८६७ इसवी रोजी नकल समाप्त झाली असे हस्ते व्यंकाजी नारायण कऱ्हाडकर.” Evidently this appendix was prepared on 22nd May 1867. Folio 65 records the date 2nd April 1867 and the scribe calls himself “कऱ्हाडकक्षेत्रस्थ.” Folio 46 records the date 25th March 1867, Folio 75, 4th June 1867, Folio 37, 17th April 1867, Folio 43-23rd April 1867, Folio 58—8th May 1867 copied at अष्टे (“अष्टे येथे समापित”), Folio 56—21st May, 1867. These dates show that the Ms was being copied from March to June 1867 at the village अष्टे [from the copy of सखो अनंत लिमये as stated by the scribe on folio 58 (सप्तमप्रश्न)]. The B. O. R. Institute acquired in 1938 about 450 Mss from Mr. Shambhuraō Govinda Limaye of अष्टे. It is probable that he belongs to the family of सखो अनंत लिमये referred to above.

Sakhāram Limaye of Kāpi Gotra living in A.D. 1816 and acting as an amātya or minister to Mahadeva Parashuram Patvardhan. It seems, however, possible that a copy of the commentary in question commenced in A. D. 1816 and completed in A. D. 1828 by Kuṭṭi Kavi was given to Sakharan Limaye and it was from this original contemporary copy that Bühler's copy i. e. No. 16 of 1866-68 was made and completed on 23rd April 1867.

It is now clear that the Hiraṇyakeśīsūtravyākhyā was composed between A. D. 1816 and 1828 and was not composed "about A. D. 1800" as stated by Dr. Burnell.

We have already mentioned a work called the Dattacintāmaṇi among the list of works composed by Kutṭi Kavi. This is a treatise dealing with adoption. In the beginning of this work he tells us that he composed the following works¹ :—

(1) “विवृति शतकस्य” i. e. commentary on the माहिष शतक composed by his grandfather, (2) “हिरण्यकेशीसूत्रस्य विवृति”, (3) “काकतालीय-वादाथ” (4) “निर्णयो मलमासस्य” and (5) दत्तचिन्तामणि.

Let us now try to fix the relative chronology of some of the works of Kutṭi Kavi on the basis of evidence recorded in this paper. The following tabular statement will be of some use in fixing the relative chronology in question :—

1. Hultzsck : Reports on San. Mss, No. II, Madras, 1895. Appendix pp. 144-145 — Extract No. 1528. Hultzsck summarises this extract on p. vi of his Report II as follows :—

In verse 10 at the beginning of the Hiranyakeśisūtravyākhyā Kuṭṭi Kavi calls himself "मलमासनिर्णयपटुः". If we understand this epithet to refer to his composition of मलमासनिर्णय we shall have to look upon the मलमासनिर्णय as earlier than A. D. 1816. With reference to item Nos. 4, 5 and 7 to 11 the chronology indicated is only probable as the Mss of these works are not before me and hence I have no means of making a closer study of the problem of their exact chronology. I may, however, note here the Mss of the works of Kuṭṭi kavi mentioned by Aufrecht. These are as follows:—

(1) दत्तचिन्तामणि¹ — dh. by Vāñcheśvara, son of Narasiṃha Hz. 1091. 1528 (Vide CC III, 53).

(2) आद्यचिन्तामणि — No Mss recorded by Aufrecht. The Madras Edition of this work of 1934 is based on a rare Ms.

(3) माहिषशतकव्याख्या — Burnell 164^a (Vide CC I, 444) and BC 434 (CC III, 96).

(4) काकतालीयवादाथ — Hz. 2, p. 144 (CC III, 19).

(5) मलमासनिर्णय² — Hz. 1528 p. 144 (CC III, 93).

(6) आद्यचिन्तामणि³ — Some works of this name are mentioned by Aufrecht but none is ascribed to Vāñcheśvara.

"No. 1528 is a copy of Dattacintāmaṇi, a work on the same subject by Vāñcheśvara, the son of Narasiṃha or Nṛsiṃha, grandson of Mādhava and great grandson of another Vāñcheśvara. He also wrote a commentary on his great-grandfather's Māhiṣaśataka (Tanjore Cata. p. 164^a), a commentary on the whole Hiranyakeśisūtra (a portion of this is found in No. 682), a logical work entitled Kākatāliya-vādārtha and the Malamāsanirṇaya. According to the colophon of No. 682, his great-grandfather, whose name was likewise Vāñcheśvara, had been the minister of (the Maratha king) Tukoji of the family of Bhosālā. Govindadīkṣita, an ancestor of Vāñcheśvara had been the prime-minister of Raghunātha, one of the (Nāyaka) rulers of Tanjapura (Tanjore)."

1. Mentioned by Kane: Hist. of Dharma., I, 557.

2. Ibid. p. 601.

3. Not mentioned by Mr. Kane, who mentions works of this name by Vācaspatimiśra and Śivarāma. On p. 736 Mr. Kane refers to Kuṭṭi Kavi as „वडेश्वर, son of नरसिंह, author of दत्तचिन्तामणि and मल-मासनिर्णय." The correct name appears to be "वांछेश्वर" (= वांछानाथ)—Vide Krishnamachariar: History of Classical Sanskrit Literature, Madras, 1937, p. 1086, footnote.

(7) ब्रह्मसूत्रार्थचिन्तामणि — No Ms has been recorded by Aufrecht under this title.

(8) धर्मानन्दिका — No Ms recorded by Aufrecht.

(9) श्लेषार्थचिन्तामणि — Do

(10) तर्कसंग्रहव्याख्या — Do

(11) हिरण्यकेशिसूत्रव्याख्या — 3 Mss (Vide CC I, 766).

On the basis of the evidence recorded in this paper the following conclusions may be arrived at :—

(1) The literary activity of Kutṭi Kavi lies mainly between A. D. 1816 and 1840 or so.

(2) The commentary on the Hiranyakesīsūtra was commenced by him in A. D. 1816 and completed in A. D. 1828.

(3) Kutṭi Kavi gives us a genealogy of the Patvardhan Sardars of the Southern Maratha Country at the beginning of the commentary on the Hiranyakesīsūtra. This genealogy is correct so far as it goes.

(4) Kutṭi Kavi composed the above commentary at the express desire of Sakharām Limaye of kapi gotra, whom he describes as the amātya or minister of Mahadeva Parashurām Patvardhan. The surname of another minister mentioned by him is Jog, who needs identification.

(5) Sakharām Limaye mentioned by Kutṭi Kavi as amātya appears to be identical with Sakho Ananta Limaye of Aṣṭe (Dist.

1. My surmise about this identity has since been corroborated by the genealogy of the Limaye Family of Aṣṭe, kindly sent by Mr. Shambhurao Limaye on 7th July 1939. I reproduce below only the pertinent portion of this genealogy :—

* Shambhurao Limaye is a middle-aged man in 1939. He states

Satara) who was a Faḍḍīs or Finance minister of the Patvardhans with his native place at Aṣṭe (Aṣṭekar). The B. O. R. Institute acquired in 1938 about 450 Mss from Mr. Shambhuraḥ Govind Limaye of Aṣṭe, who is evidently descended from Sakhopant Dādā or Sakho Anant Limaye. This Limaye collection contains Mss with the endorsements that they belonged to Sakho Ananta Limaye Aṣṭekar Faḍḍīs. These endorsements are dated A. D. 1829, 1831, 1833, 1834 and 1835.

(6) The B. O. R. Institute Ms No. 16 of 1866-68 of the Hiraṇyakeśisūtravyākhyā by Kuṭṭi Kavi was copied for Dr. Bühler between March and June 1867 at Aṣṭe from the original belonging to Sakho Anant Limaye and dated A. D. 1828, the date of completion of the commentary.

(7) Of the eleven works known to have been composed by Kuṭṭi Kavi, Mss of about six have been traced and recorded in Catalogues. An effort should be made to locate the Mss of the remaining five works.

(8) For the present the relative chronology of only three works has been established in this paper, according to which the Hiraṇyakeśisūtravyākhyā (begun in A. D. 1816 and finished in A.D. 1828) was started first. The Dattacintāmaṇi which mentions this commentary was composed later while the Bhāṭṭacintāmaṇi, which mentions both the above works is evidently the 3rd work in this order. The Malamāsanirṇaya may have been composed before A.D. 1816 as Kuṭṭi Kavi calls himself "Malamāsanirṇayapaṭu" in the above commentary. The remaining works are not mentioned in this commentary, an omission which may suggest that they were composed after A. D. 1816. This point, however, needs further investigation.

(9) Kuṭṭi Kavi was a very learned man. Judging by the details recorded in the several pass-ports issued to him by Mount Stuart Elphinstone, the British Resident at Poona in A. D. 1816 and other officers, Kuṭṭi Kavi appears to have been very influential as well.

that the Aṣṭe branch of the Limaye Family originally hailed from the village Someśvara near Ratnagiri. The Someśvara line was styled as "Dharmādhikāri Limaye." “ दादाभिधान लिमये सखपंत नाम । लिप्याचनः अखणमंगलवेदमार्गः । ”

Sakhopant appears to have been a pioneer in the work of collection and preservation of Mss, later started in 1866 by the Bombay Government.
